Somebody may ask whether it is reasonable to expect such an achievement when we are faced with the threat—perhaps we should say the certainty—of automation reducing the number of jobs in many industries. But the Economic Council, besides aiming at fuller employment of a much larger labor force, also stresses the need for increased productivity per worker. Apparently this means a real increase in goods produced, not an increased productivity per manhour offset by a short work-week, for the Council wants productivity gains of 2.4 per cent a year for each employed person. Since this compares with a productivity increase of one per cent from 1956 to 1963, it is obvious that we have a lush future before us, if we can match performance to goals.

Sukarno's Fairy Story

President Sukarno says that Indonesia will not declare war on Malaysia. Presumably he does not consider guerrilla activity constitutes warfare.

Meanwhile Sukarno's aides are preparing the ground in case it is thought an all-out assault is advisable, by arranging to blame it on the British.

They predict "another Suez incident," saying that the British will use Malaysia (presumably they mean Indonesia's guerrilla attacks on Malaysian territory) as a pretext for an attack on Indonesia.

It is easy for us to reject this suggestion as absurd but it may convince some people in Asia and Africa, and even elsewhere.

It will probably be impossible to convince them that the development which makes Indonesia's claim ridiculous is a change in government. The thought of a Labor Government seeking a pretext to launch an assault on a former colony of a European power is preposterous. Truth to tell there is greater danger the opposite mistake will be made—that the Labourites will bend over backward to seek excuses for Sukarno's conduct, and will mislead Indonesia into believing that Britain will not fight for Malaysia if it has to do so.

Take the whole range of imaginative literature, and we are all wholesale borrowers. In every matter that relates to invention, to use, or beauty or form, we are borrowers.—Wendell Phillips in The Lost Arts.

Fruit Can Cause Hive Discomfort to Some People

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do certain fruits cause hives? I had a crop of itching hives especially in the evening, after eating peaches, melons and plums, and drinking grape juice.

Baking soda seems to help the itching but does not stop the hives. — T. J. B.

Fruit (not to mention a lot of other things) can cause hives in some people, but won't bother others at all.

Many people have minor allergies. They do not have hay fever or other severe reactions (hives being a very frequent one) to certain things they eat: seafood, meats, fruits, vegetables.

You obviously have at least a strong suspicion that fruit (or certain kinds of it) is the culprit in your case. Sometimes such a sensitivity appears only when rather considerable quantities are eaten — things which are in season. For some people it happens with tomatoes, or strawberries or other items. Or melons. Or peaches. Or almost anything imaginable.

Baking soda may ease the itch but it won't either cure or prevent the hives.

You'll have yourself trouble (and itching) if you accept the fact that avoiding the fruit to which you are sensitive is the only effective cure, or means of prevention.

As the suspected fruits come in season, try them one at a time (otherwise you'll never be certain). If hives follows one of these fruits, you have three choices: Avoid it entirely; or experiment to see whether you can stand just a little without a reaction; or have hives.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 43 and have been having 10 or 12 hot flashes a day and I perspire profusely. Are hormones advisable at this time and is there a possibility of any side effects from them? I enclose the required 20 cents in coin and a long, unstamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." — Mrs. M. H. J.

Hormone medication, usually in pill form, is very widely used. You'll find a thorough discussion of this in the booklet. Side effects are possible with virtually any medication in at least some cases, but moderate hormone dosage for this purpose very rarely causes any difficulty.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any cure for cellac disease or sprue in an adult? I have been on a diet for three years now and cannot eat anything with gluten. It causes dysentery constantly.

You have suggested gluten-free bread, but that seems to be for "low-gluten" patients and does not suit me. Soya flour can be used but is not very palatable. — S. K.

A gluten-free diet is the best treatment for non-tropical sprue. This is one of the malabsorption disorders — the body cannot absorb gluten. However, with proper diet it can be arrested and occasionally cured. Gluten is the protein portion of the wheat kernel. When this portion is removed from the starchy foods of the diet, the diarrhea lessens.

The diet, I concede, is difficult to prepare because of the necessity for avoiding wheat products. Plain rice flour can be used to make bread. The diet can become monotonous, however. Corn products can also be used.

I suggest that you see whether there is a visiting nurse association in your area with a nutritionist. Or perhaps a hospital dietitian could help you with specific suggestions of such products as are available in your locality.

The Rubber Controller of the W.P.T. Board warned today : a prepared statement said the shortage of civilian tires is likely to become "still more acute" within the next few months because of the step-up in military tire production.

He said that tire rationing representatives throughout Canada have been instructed to continue to screen all applications for tire permits so that only the most necessary vehicles be supplied until the situation improves.

At the same time, he revealed that one of the first steps taken to boost military production was the cancellation of plans made three months ago for an increase in the output of tires urgently needed for essential civilian users, such as doctors, nurses, police, firefighters and milk truckers.

Our Canners Are Skilled

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Over the years the quality of canned foods has improved, and we have all become so used to it that we hardly know the difference between some kinds of canned or fresh foods.

It is interesting to note that a Quebec firm won an unprecedented 10 prizes in the recent World Canned Food Olympics. In spite of its somewhat over-pretentious name, which a specialized type of trade fair.

As might almost be expected, it is held in, Paris, France, traditional home of the best in food. Competitors were open to every country in the world. Brand names and place of origin of the products were kept secret from the jury of French food experts.

It would be difficult to say how this particular company's winnings reflect the general level of skill among Canadian canners. It suggests that the skill would be high, since competition for quality in food is so keen.

Ottawa Offbeat
'Deputies' Deputy' Dave Sim Has Faded From the Hill

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Dave Sim, who came out of Kitchener in the early '30s as a young Parliamentary secretary and remained to become a Hill legend, has faded, almost unbelievably to old hands here, from the Federal scene.

He was the Government's senior departmental manager, top administrative boss of National Revenue, very much a "Deputies' Deputy" — in fact, to everybody in the Capital "Mr. Civil Service" — but nowhere around town was there a shirt so honestly unstuffed as Dave Sim's.

He has gone with a fanfare of publicity trumpets, but the biographical-personality pieces, (as they are known by the Government public relations people who grind them out), being what they are, some of the best Dave Sim stories remain to be told.

Dave Sim's finest hour probably came during the war years when he was Prices' Board Chairman Donald Gordon's Controller of Alcoholic Beverages, and in time's very nick, broke up a nifty little conspiracy that would have shrunk the contents of the well-remembered 10-cent glass of draught beer clear across Canada.

The Ottawa boilermen, unable to raise the price of a draught, figured to come out ahead by lowering the level.

They had gathered, secretly, in the basement of a mid-town hotel to sign a "smaller glass pact," which, if it had been ratified through Eastern Ontario usage, would have become the measure all across the provinces and indeed, the country.

MORE, NOT LESS

But up in the Wartime Prices' Dave Sim got wind of it, raced three blocks to the street rendezvous, burst in on the astounded conspirators and stopped them cold.

It was sheer, beautiful bluff, for in fixing the price of beer — and most other things — nobody in the Finance Department, which ran the Board, had thought to fix the size of glasses.

But in what appeared to be a towering rage of righteous indignation — but which in fact was just a fancy piece of playacting — Dave Sim told them if they were going to change the size of glasses, they would have to make them bigger, not smaller, and doughty Donald Gordon would see to it that they did.

There was no more tampering with the 10-cent beer.

Too bad Dave Sim still isn't around!

Those who have been around The Hill some years recall those end-of-session nights during wartime when the Prices' Board Boss and his Deputies came to the Commons prior to the Parliamentary wind-up and then remained to toast the departing MPs on their way home.

There was the night that Donald Gordon was dancing a jig on a table in the Speaker's Dave Sim pumping away on his accordion — and in walked stern and solemn-faced Minister Mr. King.

That was maybe the night, Dave Sim has suggested, when Mr. King first got the idea of not only rationing liquor but watering it.

In any event, it was only a week or so later that Mr. King, who regarded spirits, wine and beer as tools of the devil, made his Pitt - Street - Full - Armor - of - God" speech to Canadians, informing them, in effect, that while they could win the war sober, it was less certain they could survive.

ANYTHING TO DECLARE?

Dave Sim has heard a lot of Prime Ministerial speeches down the years from behind through St. Laurent and Diefenbaker to Pearson, but his rhetorical effort of Mackinaw rates as the greatest.

In one fell swoop, by watering and rationing liquor, he pleased everybody: delighting, of course, the temperance folk, pleasing the churches, satisfying even the drinkers by curbing them down instead of off, helping the distillers by enabling them to spin out their stocks and gratifying the provinces by allowing them to collect more taxes on less alcohol.

The only time anybody can remember ever seeing anybody happier than happy was the not so many years ago when Prime Minister Pearson, then all External Affairs Minister, was on an extended tour.

In some way he managed to slight a newspaperman — or, at least, the reporter imagined he had been slighted, and full of resentment, in a fit of pique, cabled his paper a report that Mrs. Pearson was bringing home gifts worth thousands of dollars.

Then the resentful newsman informed the National Revenue Department that if it didn't collect every nickel of duty, he would "expose" it for "favoritism" to VIPs.

The Pearsons, of course, expected to pay every nickel of duty due and the Revenue Department routinely expected to collect it. But Dave Sim, nonetheless, was disturbed about the implication of the "threat" of "exposure." So from then on, the Department not only collected as it always had done but put on a magnificent show of examining the baggage of every VIP, with swarms of special Customs Officers asking about this and peeking into that. Even, as it was to turn out, the Queen Mother, on her Ottawa arrival, didn't escape the "anything to declare" customs greeting.

Clicks Tell Eggs to Hatch

UNESCO FEATURES

Why do eggs in a clutch all hatch within an hour or so, even though they may have been laid over a period of several days? Because eggs communicate with each other, according to a group of U.N. scientists engaged on a research project at Cambridge University.

A "library" of recorded egg noises was made by one of the scientists. It was found that the most important noise is the clicking that starts about 24 hours before the egg hatches. This can be heard quite clearly. If the egg is held close to the ear.

When an egg starts to click, it stimulates nearby eggs to do the same, which in why all the eggs in a batch tend to hatch together. This was demonstrated by putting a noisy ticking clock beside some eggs: the chicks in the eggs nearest the clock was another egg telling them to get on with the hatching.

Conversely, an infertile egg in a clutch slows down the hatching, by acting as a communications barrier.

When a chick inside the egg makes it click is not known. But, one thing is certain: it is not trying to help its way out. This was shown in an experiment where "windows" were made in the eggs by cutting away the shell and treating the membrane inside to make it transparent.

Bilingualism Good Asset

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Apparently the value of bilingualism has not always been appreciated in sociological circles as a mark of exceptional intellectual ability.

In arguing that the ability to speak more languages increased intellectual capacity, a McGill University psychologist attempted to refute contrary arguments which have been advanced in some studies over the past 50 years.

Tests in Montreal, Dr. Elizabeth Anisfield told the American Association for the Advancement of Science, indicated that bilingual students have livelier and more flexible minds than monolingual students.

This would seem the most obvious kind of horse sense. Surely the person equipped to switch from his native tongue to another not fluently must have developed mental muscles of real value in all aspects of life.

The political and racial overtones of the current Canadian controversy tend to obscure the simple fact that facility in another language and in Canadians the most obvious second language would be the other official tongue—is something all should want. It benefits extend from the commercial to the literary and even to the social, and should surely be sought by all with the time, ambition and inclination.

and a few other folk, maintained a night - long vigil outside the Churchill home, taking shelter in cars from torrential rain.

WIFE RESTS

The most sorrowful vigil was maintained by 79-year-old Lady Churchill, who finally went to bed for a few hours rest after remaining all day at the bedside of her husband of 56 years.

But she was up again when her actress daughter, Sarah, arrived from Rome in the early morning after a plane delay.

Sarah's arrival meant that all three surviving Churchill children were on hand.

Lord Moran, 82, Churchill's long-time friend and physician, issued a bulletin just before 10 p.m. Friday stating:

"There has been little change in Sir Winston's condition during the day.

"He is slipping into deeper sleep and is not conscious of pain or discomfort."

GAVE NEWS

The news that Sir Winston was ill was given to the world in the afternoon by Moran and Lord Brain, eminent neurologist, in this bulletin:

"After a cold, Sir Winston has developed a circulatory weakness and there has been a cerebral thrombosis:

One London newspaper, The Sun, says Sir Winston was in a coma.

Medical authorities said a cerebral thrombosis is commonly known as a stroke and the bulletin indicated Sir Winston was in "extremely grave" condition.

The spokesman said a cerebral thrombosis is a clotting of the artery carrying blood to the brain, which causes obstruction in the flow of blood, with a resultant loss of function for the area of the brain supplied. Churchill survived at least two previous strokes, in 1951 and 1953.

LOOKS SHAKEN

Randolph Churchill, Sir Winston's son, looked pale and shaken when he emerged from his father's home just before midnight. He was accompanied by his son, who is named Winston.

Mary, the second daughter, wife of Christopher Soames, was also obviously under severe strain as she brushed past reporters with her husband. She answered their questions with a sorrowful gesture.

There were some undignified scenes caused by jostling among journalists and onlookers. Police eventually cleared the crowd from the street after photographers and television crews had been sent sprawling to the sidewalk from buses on which they had perched.

The British press, of course, extends blanket coverage to the Churchill illness today but generally refrains from editorial comment.

The tabloid, Daily Sketch, however, says: "Few among the young people of 1965 can perhaps fully comprehend the boundless debt that is their's for this greatest of all Englishmen.

"But together with the oldest in the land, and the millions who fought and worked for victory under his inspired leadership, they will feel instinctively the bond of warm affection that surrounds Lady Churchill and her family at this time."

These feelings were reflected in the words of a girl outside the Churchill home.

"I want to be able to tell my grandchildren about this," she said.

FLOWERS ARRIVE

Flowers for Lady Churchill arrived at intervals Friday at the big black double door marked 28 Hyde Park, behind which Sir Winston slept in a rear room overlooking his garden.

At about 6:15 a.m. today, a basket of red roses was delivered.

At least one light was visible from the front during the night but as dawn broke more lights came on as the household staff began duties.

Extra police arrived ready to control the expected crowd of well-wishers flocking to pay tribute to Sir Winston.

The Queen, at her country Sandringham Castle in Norfolk, asked to be kept informed. Prime Minister Herold Wilson visited the Churchill home for 15 minutes Friday night.

Lady Churchill, wearing a floral dressing gown, appeared briefly at a second-floor window at about 7 a.m., gazing down on a knot of people.

ier aim of settling all noncmonetary issues first.

Union officials were still studying the proposals when the strike began. The proposals closely resembled the pattern-setting contract which ended a 16-day union strike at General Motors in mid-November last month.

The GM settlement was valued at 38.88 cents an hour.

But George Burt, Canadian head of the auto workers, said the main issue preventing a settlement was a production standards clause which governs the speed at which men must work.

The economic offer made Friday included 31 cents an hour in wages, plus improvements in pensions, unemployment benefits, vacations and other fringe benefits.

Kenneth Hallsworth, Ford's director of industrial relations, said the proposals would ensure that Ford would remain fully competitive with respect to wages and benefits.

SEEKS THREE-YEAR PACT

The company's offer calls for a three-year contract with a wage increase of 2½ per cent—six cents an hour—effective immediately, plus an additional five-cents-an-hour increase in two years' time. Skilled trades would get an additional seven cents an hour.

A further 5½-per-cent increase would start Dec. 1, 1965, and another raise of 2.8 per cent would start a year after that.

The hourly base rate under the previous contract ranged from $2.35 to $3.10.

Normal retirement benefits would be increased more than 50 per cent from the current basis of $2.80 a month for each year of service to $4.25 for the employees retiring after Dec. 1, 1964, plus an additional $4.25 monthly through age 70.

The offer also includes four weeks' annual vacation after 15 years' service, the equivalent of two additional paid holidays a year, and $100 a month for the years for survivors of deceased employees. Unemployment settlements would be increased to between $30 and $38 a week from $40 a week.

Square Dance Clubs Hold Jamboree at Moira School

About 200 people from local square dance clubs turned out last night for an inter-club dance at Moira Secondary High School.

The dance, one of many held throughout the year, featured one of Canada's best square dance callers, Earl Park of Yorkton, Saskatchewan.

Belleville was represented by five clubs, the Dancelers, Whirlaways, Hits and Misses, Single Beau Nots and the Teen-Twigjers. The local clubs consist of two adult groups, one for single people and one for married couples, plus a teenage group.

Also attending the dance were 25 couples from Peterborough, 30 couples from Kingston, 10 couples from Trenton and one couple from Hastings.

Mr. Park began his calling career in 1949 when he was delegated by the Rotary Club of Yorkton to head its Youth Committee. Mr. Park says he never called professionally, although people seem to think he is, he said. He and his brother operate a jewellery store in Yorkton.

Mr. Park has two clubs of his own in his home town as well as rural groups which he visits regularly. He has also been holding guest appearances on Saturday nights. He is featured at many weekend camps throughout Canada and the United States.

During 1965 Mr. Park will take part in the Edmonton Jamboree, the Stall, B.C., Convention, the Glasgow, Montana International Convention, as well as working at camps throughout the states of Colorado and Michigan as well as in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia.

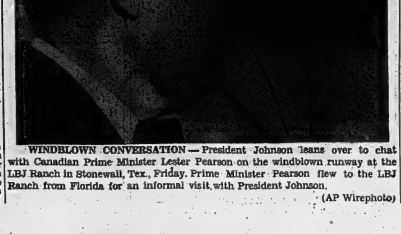
GOING TO HONOLULU

Next month from now Mr. Parks says he will be in Honolulu with a conducted tour of Canadian square dancers, consisting of three Ontario couples, 25 Saskatchewan couples and two British Columbia couples. Mr. Parks' wife Jean, and 10-year-old daughter, Dawna Lee are also very active in square dancing circles.

Meanwhile back in Belleville there is an organization known as the Quinte Twirlers' Square Dance Association operated under the direction of the Recreation Committee consisting of the five afore mentioned clubs with Robert (Bob) Williamson as its president.

There is in the neighborhood of 600 local members ranging from teenagers up-wards to 70 years of age. Dancing is held every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights with classes being held on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The organization uses the facilities of Prince Charles and Queen Elizabeth Schools as well as one commercial hall.



The local association first began in Belleville in 1961 under the direction of the Recreation Committee with 32 members. To date the association has some 600 members each club having its own callers.

Stop Fretting About Friends And Enjoy Retirement More

By THOMAS COLLINS

Your retirement will be more satisfying if you forget how little will be richer, if you will stop fretting about having a lot of friends after age 65.

It is an old-fashioned idea anyway — few people nowadays have any blood brothers or sisters, and few have any wide circle of people they even know well. But most people who retire seem not to realize this. So deeply imbedded in them is the belief they must have lots of good friends that they frequently are making themselves miserable trying to collect a bunch.

It has been difficult to find a retired couple who saw the "friendship" thing clearly, and who also would talk. In an unlikely place — an airliner flying from Madrid to New York — such a couple showed up. They were the Alfred P. Boomers. They had been retired for four years, and were now returning from a long-dreamed trip to Spain.

According to the Boomers, a retired couple can gather all sorts of so-called friends around them. But it takes great effort. And it's not worth it.

SAME TECHNIQUES

"The techniques you use exactly the same techniques a 20-year-old social climber uses," Mr. Boomer said. "The only difference is, you're retired. The couple can join all the 'right' organizations which they can identify from reading the newspaper. They then can jump in and work, work, work until they begin to feel that meanwhile cultivating carefully all the most popular people they can access. Joining a fashionable church, and contributing to the charity that is currently in vogue.

"It really is quite simple — just work, self - promotion, and some cynicism," he added. "You can wind up with the wide circle of 'dear, dear friends' that the climber gets. And they're about as worthless . . ."

Mrs. Boomer thought her husband was stating the matter a bit brutally, but agreed he was correct. "When we married nearly 30 years ago," she said, "we have had probably 24 separate sets of friends. By the time the young ones got married, then the young mothers set, then the P. T. A. crowd, then the church set, then the business friends. They've all come and gone, and been gradually forgotten. They were sociability in their time. Nothing more."

The Boomers thought that radio and TV started undercutting the concept of "a circle of friends." Then, too, over the last 30 years people have developed their inner resources, more sophistication.

"Most affairs you engage in with your so-called friends are boring," Mr. Boomer said. "Maybe not golf or fishing, but all the social affairs. On any given evening you would prefer reading, working or television to the gaff we get with a lot of folks."

The Boomers conceded retired people need some friendly contacts. At least somebody to talk to now and then. They said that the social initiative could be taken care of at the market, at the church, with the neighbors, and in a couple of small civic organizations.

"What retired people fail to understand, I think," said Mrs. Boomer, "is that a casual neighbor or somebody you meet last week is going to do about as much for you these days as a circle of friends. After all, nobody wants to loan you money.

"If you have illness, if your home burns, if any sort of disaster strikes you, the nice people around you are going to respond, even if they hardly know you. The holidays, invitations out, anniversaries, joint shopping, being a driver in the country — these don't call for a circle of friends. The people up the street who don't have a circle of friends either will be around. . ."

So, most of you retired people who are depressed and rattling around because you don't have many friends, and who are embarrassed you aren't popular anymore, should get the monkey off your back. Most retired people, particularly the most sophisticated ones, have given up on "friends."

Pearson

tin, State Secretary Dean Rusk and McGeorge Bundy, key presidential advisers on national security, had been greeted by the Johnsons.

The addition of the three foreign affairs officers injected an international business note to the visit which, as announced last Monday, was to be confined to the two leaders and their wives.

MEETING STILL INFORMAL

George Reedy, White House press secretary, said the meeting was so informal in intent, however, that it would be difficult to say just what main points would emerge in the Pearson-Johnson talks.

The president, wearing a peaked cap, dark glasses and beige garabdine jacket and slacks, drove a cream-colored convertible to pick up Martin and Rusk from their plane and took them on a brief tour of the Johnson ranch before he and the Pearsons arrived.

After preliminary greetings, the people got out on to an electric golf cart where more pictures were taken and then into a helicopter, presumably for a short flight.

Pearson, with neat dark-blue suit, polka-dotted blue tie and homburg in hand, came down with the word a-ttire. Martin was also formally attired, as was Dean Rusk.

It was a pretty sunny day with a slight wind.

LOOKS RESTED

You can certainly tell you have been to Florida," Mrs. Johnson told Pearson, pointing at a flower in his lapel buttonhole. Pearson looked well rested but not overly particularly sunburned. He said they'd had good weather.

The president then brought forward Him, his omnipresent beagle.

"This is the fellow you have been wanting to see," Johnson told the friendly pooch. Pearson patted the beagle then said Johnson: "I don't have to ride him, do I?"

The president, who has talked other guests on to his ranch horseback, said on Thursday their concern over former British prime minister Sir Winston Churchill was "deeper" than on Friday. Then they went over to a microphone forbrief official statements.

SAYS RELATIONS WARM

Johnson referred to the "warm and friendly relations" between the two countries. He invited the group to enjoy itself "on the deck" and the "antelope play." The area abounds with antelope.

Pearson said they would be discussing matters of common interest in the "usual informal way."

Rusk, introducing Martin, said he was in the hemisphere and greet colleagues from Canada. Martin was "one of our great friends in the hemisphere and in NATO." Martin said he was glad to be here.

Then the president, hands in pockets, ushered the men to the golf cart and thence to the helicopter.

At one point, the president referred to Pearson as prime minister "Wilson"—British prime minister—but no one seemed to notice.

Tribute to King's Wife World's Finest Piece of Architecture

By SHERLEY and BOB MASAKI

AGRA, India — There was no moon when we arrived here. But we saw the Taj Mahal at the second beat, by sunset, when it is neither whitened whence by translucent glow. Like all of the world's truly great sights, it succeeds on many levels.

There is an unearthly unreality about its perfection at this time of day when the moon has been admirably removed. No factory smoke or apartment development mars behind the tomb. When the mourning Shah Jahan — "King of the World" — planned it for his beautiful dead queen, he conceived of his own tomb, a black marble replica of the Taj, directly across the Jumna River and joined to it by a bridge. But before his reign ended, he was imprisoned by his son in Agra Fort, and spent the last seven years of his life gazing wistfully at his half-finished project from his quarters.

To this day, nothing mars the view of the Taj from front or rear. It seems to float on air like a half-fallen teardrop, serene, symmetrical, and subtly changing with the sun's rays.

Muslims believe that until the dead rise on Judgment Day their spirits must have the wherewithal of life. Hence the surrounding wall of the compound, to protect the queen's privacy, courts and paths for her nocturnal walks, pools of water for her thirst, fruit trees for her hunger and symmetry so she can find her way back to her tomb.

DEPICTED FROM AFAR

The Taj as often is depicted from afar that few visitors realize there is more to see up close and inside. The arch of the main entrance is surrounded by an inlay of black-and-white marble inscriptions from the Koran. The facade is covered with exquisite abstract and floral patterns of semiprecious stones.

The same motif is carried out even more elaborately on the marble lattice screen surrounding the tom inside. A single flower is made of 127 chips; the best leaf shows its dark side, light side, and the shadow of the bent portion falling across the light side — three tones of green in a single leaf. Thousands of these delicate patterns line the walls and 80-foot dome of the interior.

The mighty Akbar's imposing Agra Fort, across the Jumna, is a massive complex surrounded by a mile and a half of red sandstone walls 70 feet high. Perhaps the most striking structure, contrasting with the red sandstone elsewhere, is the elegant white marble "Pearl Mosque," with its graceful scalloped arches, Moghul kiosks, and necklace-like string of tiny domes.

All the trappings of the Moghul's 16th and 17th Century grandeur age are inside: Turkish baths inlaid with colored glass, harem waterfall that sparkled halfway over a thousand glowing candles, jasmine gardens, Regal audience halls, noble quarters and pavilions, fountains, and a wealth of inlaid screens, carved marble, and inlaid glass are everywhere, eternal witnesses of the vanished glory of the Moghul empire.

But perhaps its most trenchant memorial is the fantastic abandoned city of Fatehpur Sikri. Akbar built it as a temporary capital 23 miles from Agra on the advice of a holy man who said it would please the gods and bring him the son and heir he desperately wanted.

This was not just a fort or palace, but an elaborate walled community on a commanding ridge overlooking the plain at where the conqueror Babar defeated the Hindu princes and established the Moghul empire. Behind its stupendous main gate the largest used in India, the visitor enters an Imperial repository of princes and noblemen, arbiters and poets and philosophers and musicians, harems and queens.

As in all Moghul compounds, each building seems to emerge into yet another court and yet another complex of pavilions and gardens.

In the court of public audience, Akbar, mounted on an elevated throne, dispensed justice to high and low alike. In his private audience hall, a fluted central pillar blossoms in stone lotus patterns, and from this top-posing perch the emperor received foreign emissaries.

In a central court, the king and queen played a "board game." But instead of wooden pieces, the moves were made by live dancing girls. The checkerboard is there where the dice were thrown still are there.

"DREAM PALACE"

Most famous of "Dream Palace" overlooking his domain on one side and a pool on the other. The pool mirrors the pool with the musicians' pavilion, whence they woke him each days with the sounds of flute and strings. Nearby is the queen's pavilion, delicately carved with stone lattices and fountains where the sun's rays danced in the water. She was the most-sulking-est of nine of his time. Though fiercely loyal to her husband, she maintained a harem of 4,000 beauties — then the largest in India — where he studied (secretly, lest he offend his muslims) all the religions of the world. He promulgated a universal faith, compounded of all the religions. But he never forced it on his empire, and it died with him. In a nook in a corner of the library, separated from it by a small moat, he carried on his secret studies, hundreds of years ahead of his time.

The most exquisite building in the city is the shrine to a holy man, Sheikh Salim Chishti, in a colonnaded court surrounded by scores of cupola crowns. It stands his white marble tomb, a work of screens and lattices inlaid with lace, trimmed with snakelike corbels. Its doors are of ebony and marble, the canopy over the tomb of sandalwood inlaid with mother-of-pearl and ivory, bowed imparting the effect of tapestry. The walls are fretwork, the floor of inlaid marble and pietra dura. It is like a miniature intimate Taj, the summary of all that was finest in Moghul art.

Mr., Mrs. J. O. Sager, Tweed, Happily Wed for 60 Years

Congratulatory messages from Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Lester Pearson, Premier John Robarts and leader of the Opposition, John Diefenbaker, were received by Mr. and Mrs. John O. Sager of Tweed, who, December 30th, celebrated their 60th anniversary of their marriage.

Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East, presented a framed scroll on behalf of the Ontario government.

The couple were married back in the old Lodgetown home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Sager is the former Effie Jane Fisher. The couple took a wedding trip to Toronto before taking up residence in Tweed. They later moved to Thomasburg.

Formerly employed with the Dominion Express Company as traveller clerk and later as express messenger on the old Tweed local, Mr. Sager later successfully operated a business with the CPR between Toronto, Monkland and Ottawa and north to Sudbury.

Mr. Sager served as secretary of the Tweed Agricultural Society for 15 years and also as chairman of the Victoria County Council. He is a past Noble Grand of the Tweed IOOF, and also a member of the I.O.O.F.

Mr. and Mrs. Sager are members of St. John's United Church. Their sons were both active in church work.

They have one daughter, Mrs. James A. Goldie of Peterborough.

ALBERT COLLEGE
(A Story of a Church School)

"My friends in England with whom I spoke often and long of Albert College (it was and had been my life from 1912-1952) would finally exclaim: 'What does Albert have that Eton or Harrow have not?' 'Have they a swimming-pool?' No. . . . 'Well, then, you see? . . . .'

From an interview with Miss Jessie Tuite, former Dean of Women and a present member of the Board of Governors of Albert College.

"The 18 years of Dr. Howard's principalship saw the college advance from the weakness of depression years to a new place of strength," notes Dr. W. L. Smith, Professor of Church History at Queen's, in his account of "Albert College, 1857-1957."

"All the back debts were paid up. Arts work was discontinued in 1942 because the school needed all its capacity for pupils in junior and high school." Salaries were increased. "The war brought its problems of supply, staff and finance as shortages, enlistments and rising costs had their effect."

It was another testing time, but the faith of all was an achievement of the school in moral and spiritual growth and life. Howard wrote, "This phase of our life was an ever-increasing wonder to me. Our chapel services were an inspiration . . ."

In 1953 Rev. Andrew Mackenzie became the eighth Principal of Albert College. After the war building plans were adopted and fulfilled.

"Among these," says Registrar, Mr. Taylor Franklin, "was the new, very modern 40-bed wing which was added to the girls' residence "The Manor" as a mark of our centenary year."

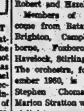
This modern addition lends sharp contrast to the lovely Manor (which back in 1936 was bought "for back taxes and $1,000"), with its hand - carved stairway, stain-glass dormer-scene, and white cornice high ceilings, fashionable in houses of the 1890's when built by the original owner, Mr. Ball. "He was" Mr. Franklin adds, "the legal advisor for the Canadian Pacific Railroad which was being built across Canada at the time."

It was back in 1906 that Dr. Howard sent for the teacher of elocution and speech to come to his office one day and said:

"Miss Tuite, beginning next term, I would like you to be the Dean of Women at "The Manor" which will be the girls' residence."

"Of course, you can imagine my surprise. I'd never dreamt of such a thing," recalls Miss Tuite in a recent interview about the matter. "I told him, 'Never! But Dr. Howard was a hard and difficult man to say 'no' to. He "took her," he said, "you were a student of Albert College. You are a graduate of and a teacher at Albert College. Now your Alma Mater and I need you. These are difficult days. Your acceptance would solve a lot of difficulties for me and the school . . ."

"Needless to say, I finally accepted.



"Nor, must I confess, have I

CONCLUSION NEXT WEEK

Concert Will Be Presented By Chapter

On Wednesday, January 20th, the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra will be heard at Belleville Collegiate auditorium under the patronage of the Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. Guest artists at the concert will be Robert and Roxelanne Reid.

Members of the orchestra come from Batawa, Belleville, Brighton, Campbellford, Colborne, Foxboro, Frankford, Havelock, Stirling and Trenton. The orchestra, formed in December 1950, is conducted by Stephen Choma, aided by Marion Stratton who is also lead violinist.

MR. STEPHEN CHOMA

Mr. Choma, conductor of the orchestra, was born in Montreal of Czechoslovak parents. He attended Tillsonburg High School which he left after a school orchestra at the age of 19. Later he joined the London Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Choma received six years of training at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto under Professor Defeff. The violin he plays now was smuggled out of Czechoslovakia after the war and was made in Italy in 1780 by Giovanni Florital Farrara.

CHIEF ARTISTS

Guest artists Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid are residents of Greenville. Mr. Reid is director of Bridge Street United Church choir, where Mrs. Reid is soprano soloist. Both studied at the Royal Conservatory and performed with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and Toronto Mendelssohn Choir.

The evening of fine music will offer much listening pleasure to those who appreciate a good performance.

regretted it. I really found I enjoyed being a dean. It entailed problems and all. At first the Manor needed much repair and furniture had to be bought. But little by little as the years passed by, such matters as the installation of bed and of my 17 years as Dean I had grown very fond of my work at the Manor. Many comfortable rooms which opened on to the main hallway at the foot of the stairs.

"Here in the hall, stood a table with a book in which the young girls signed out after the week-end they called for any of my girls. They filled in spaces as to where they were going and the time of their return. The rules were the boys might take the girls out two days a week: Wednesday afternoons and Saturday nights from seven to ten, and from two to five on Sundays, however, walks might be taken in certain areas around the campus from two to five.

"I must say the regulations were never disobeyed. I have always been a firm believer in being most strict over regulations from the very beginning. I can never lead in matters of forming good disciplines. My husband and my girls both knew these rules were rules not to be broken, and they respected them."

The sympathy and understanding which Miss Tuite gave her students is acknowledged by them in a flow of regular letters from all parts of the world and from which they write. And in appreciation of the guidance and strength of character her leadership gave them, a stained glass window was recently unveiled and dedicated to honor her at Albert College Memorial chapel. At the unveiling, Principal Edwards read a statement which in part was as follows:

"Her friends (former students and many others), who are here today, are here to do honor to one who made a lasting contribution to the life of the school, and who has influenced for good more lives than she has even remotely aware of by her teaching, her example and her zest for life . . . we extend to her our gratitude and wish her many years of happiness and health."

Reader's Saturday Column

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION:

Could you please send me the recipe for Almond Chicken Soy Guy? There are chicken pieces in a batter in a little bit of sauce, sprinkled with shredded almonds. I have tried to make it, but it always turned out too dry. I have had it at several Chinese restaurants and it is delicious . . . Barbara Q.

ANSWER:

This is one version.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Split Pea Soup (see Thursday); Fruited Scones (see Thursday); Tomato Jelly on Lettuce with Cottage Cheese Dressing; Citrus Fruit Cup; Coffee.

ALMOND BOO GUY (Chicken with Almonds):

Cut 4 single raw chicken breasts into 1"-pieces, discarding bones. Dip in Batter: One cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2/3 cup water. Mix all ingredients until smooth. Fry batter - covered chicken pieces in about 1" deep of hot peanut or other cooking oil, turning until brown on all sides, about 5 to 7 minutes. Remove from pan to baking dish. Fry 6/8 all but 2 tablespoons oil. Stir in 2 tablespoons cornstarch and when blended stir in 1 cup pineapple juice, ¼ cup soy sauce and ¼ cup hot water in which you have dissolved 2 chicken bouillon cubes. Stir until thick. Add ¼ teaspoon accent. Taste. If it requires salt add pepper and if — also more soy sauce if desired. Pour over chicken pieces and bake, covered, at 300 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with shredded almonds and serve.

QUESTION:

Could you tell me how to make the almond cookies which you always seem to get for dessert in Chinese restaurants? . . . R. S.

ANSWER:

Yes — I can give you a Canadianized version, which I believe you'll appreciate favorably.

ALMOND COOKIES (48 good keepers):

½ cup butter, ¾ cup granulated sugar, ¾ cup finely ground blanched almonds (see below), 2 eggs, grated rind ½ lemon, (1 teaspoon), ½ tea spoon almond extract, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted but not sifted flour.

Beat butter and sugar together until pale and airy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating between additions. Add almonds and all flavorings. Beat, then add flour and mix well.

METHOD:

1) This may be done from start to finish in beater bowl and makes the whole process very easy. Blanch almonds, then chop the almonds to a powder in it — it takes 30 seconds.

2) Drop by teaspoonfuls onto buttered cookie sheets 2" apart. If desired press lightly to flatten with tines of fork dipped in water, like you do peanut butter cookies. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 7 minutes until rims and bottoms are lightly brown. Cool. If desired these may be topped with a whole blanched almond or bits of candied cherry before baking.

We Must Ask Ourselves Is It Kind as Well as True?

By DR. STUART E. ROSENBERG

One day my daughter came home from school and told me she had learned about a kind of bee which has a powerful stinger, but which is so constructed that once it stings it dies in the process. And I thought how much like human beings it is that we, too, persist in hurting others thoughtlessly and needlessly, we are destroying something good and worthwhile within us. For we are so constructed spiritually and emotionally that when we hurt others we are also hurting ourselves.

WE MUST ASK

How often these ethical guideposts to thought and to action which may keep us from wrongdoing in our fellowmen. We ought to ask ourselves two things: Is it true? Is it kind? And as we shall see, both are really one.

Is it true? It is important to ask this. There is no substitute for truth. Those who have developed into strong, creative and mature personalities have ultimately discovered that there is no effective escape from the truth. It has a way of catching up with us. No matter how difficult it may be to face, truth always has a healing power. When we deal with people honestly, we feel clean and good inside. We are armed with a mighty weapon.

ADMIRABLE QUALITY

But truth alone will not do. We must not only ask ourselves: Is it true? We must add: Is it kind, as well?

It is very tempting to say what we think. Often we think of this as an admirable quality. We learn to admire people for their forthrightness, directness, frankness. We always have a reserve we stand with such people, even if "true words when spoken often leave the heart broken."

But upon closer analysis we find that the English poet William Blake was right when he said:

"A truth that's told with bad intent

Beats all the lies you can invent".

There are many people who pride themselves on their truthfulness and their frankness, but who also behave in a sickening way. They trumpet their ideas about as if only they had a monopoly on truth. They and no one else were capable of acting correctly. There is a kind of smug self-righteousness about such people, not unlike Uriah Heep, the young clerk in Dickens' David Copperfield, who protested that he was the "umbliest person going," but who was actually ambitious and unscrupulous.

A GOOD CAUSE

We must deal truthfully with people, but ideally as well, as person who believes in a cause should believe in the truth of the cause. Yet let him always remember that people are human beings and should be dealt in a humane way. You do not hurt your cause when you deal compassionately with people. On the contrary, ultimately this is the only way to foster a great and good cause.

A Lift for Living

Pull in for Public Worship When Travelling Road of Life

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

Going to church on a cold day is quite a test of courage and determined devotion. The discussion across the chilled countryside — about the car and horsedrawn sleds some times took hours to reach the place of worship.

Upon arriving at the church the people were likely to be even more uncomfortable than while on their journey. In some churches it is regarded as sacrilege to have a stove in the church. Still other churches made no provision for heat because the deacons dreaded an accidental fire. Sometimes square pews were curtained off to keep out chilly drafts. Quilts, blankets, bearskins and even carpets were brought into the pews to fortify worshippers against the cold.

Small, individual foot-stoves were used by the worshippers. Hot coals were fed into the little stoves from "Sabbath Day homes," which were small buildings near the churches with fast great fireplaces in the centre. A caretaker kept the fire blazing so that the congregation could replenish their foot-stoves. When the sanctuary was unbearably hot the whippers stepped out of the church for a few minutes, standing in the roaring fire in the Sabbath Day house. They then returned to the worship service.

Many an early preacher delivered his sermon with his overcoat and mittens on and a muffler over his head and gesticulated with mittened hands.

Despite the hardships that established, there have always been some difficulties involved in going to church. Some of these were under the suspicion of Roman authorities as troublemakers and were harassed by religious authorities.

CHIEF OBJECTIVES

In our own day we are less likely to be kept from church by cold weather or other evil perspective than we are by other interests. The chief complaint of the worshipper today is that he is sleeping, later breakfasts, television, Sunday reading, the car, golf, fishing, skiing, green and a host of other distractions.

Nevertheless, this weekend there will be worshippers in virtually every Christian church throughout the world. Some churches will be packed to the doors, some will have only a few, but wherever a service is held there will be some people who have made the effort to get there. Some are poor in health. A few have company they prefer to leave behind. Other interests and duties call persistently to others. But, in spite of all the excuses God counts by those who are present.

Millions attend public worship services because they wish to be led into the presence of the Most High and to be shown the meanings of life and the way to live better. The church is a place with a message. It bears the Light by the reflection of whence we came, what we are, where we are headed and what we should become, by God's grace. The church stirs conscience, offers insight and hope. In a time when the world is absorbed with Left and Right, the devout wish to be reminded that there is still an Above and a Below. The church bids us look up and say "Our Father." It urges us to look out upon the world responsibly and with compassion. It points to Christ as Savior and Standard of conduct.

Moreover, people go to church because this holy institution provides a regular time and place that is especially suited for worship. While we have God in with us in our homes, in our work and play, and while it is true that we can worship in places other than churches, the fact is that regular, established reflection upon life's greatest meanings is neglected unless we have a regular time and a specific place for it. Even the streamside, the lakeside, the meadow and the forest are all their revelation of God's wondrous handiwork, are not ideal environments for worship. The distractions are too many. A bird's sudden flight, a fish's leap, a bounding hare or deer will interrupt one's thoughts and lead him away from worship. The church has walls and stained glass windows for shutting out distractions. Through the hymns and Scriptures, prayers and sermons are designed to help keep one's mind centred on God.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVEN, Sports Editor

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Hockey, the American-published magazine story said, is not recognized in the United States as a major sport.

Hockey, it stated, is not an American game. The country lacks arena facilities and there are not enough glamorous heroes like the baseball Mantles and Mays.

I have read several hockey articles published in American slick magazines and from a Canadian viewpoint the majority would qualify as scripts for television comedies.

A lot of them plainly revealed that the writers know little outside of interviews. Two of them carried Bobby Hull's birthplace as a small hamlet in the far northern Canadian wilds, which stated that Hull is a prodigy of the Ontario backwoods."

One editor, however, had a point. He wrote, "with only six teams in the league (National) just so many people can get to see a game. Nor has the game been on United States national television."

"You cannot expect a fan to get excited about something which he knows nothing about."

Ask the average American who lives away from the hockey centres south of the border who will win the Stanley Cup and five gets you ten he'll answer "Northern Dancer."

Up here in the frozen neck of the woods ask an Eskimo who will win the world series and he'll blink and say "two-to-one on the Yankees."

What few American sports editors outside the National and American League centres who write about hockey, say they do not believe in the National League system of playoffs. I'll buy that.

I have the knack of criticism fall where they may, but not a few people I have talked with...on the subject agree with me that the Stanley Cup playoffs are strictly for the birds—and the club owners.

You cannot stuff it down this threat that a club—take a team—that finishes on top of a 70-game schedule is not the best club in the league. What right has a club that finishes third or fourth in the final standing —and it has happened—the right to call itself the champions because it emerged on top of a maximum 16-game playoff schedule?

Okay, okay, it's the honor and glory and a short cut to a big split for the owners. The NHL brass tosses in some thousands of dollars for bonuses—and banks the rest of the bullion.

Some American critics of hockey state the game does not provide enough scoring. There is too much scrambly stuff and rough play. Yet they love—and who doesn't!—the professional football where quarter-line backers, pulled like tanks, crash into one another with the impact of a charging elephant.

On another sports front millions of Americans turn out to watch their professional basketball teams in action. Many of my hefty friends with which the lower part of Lefty Lee—saying that pro basketball is strictly for the long-legged stocks that play B.

In my view it is methodical, monotonous and boring. You see the first play and you see them all unless you are looking at the Harlem Globetrotters in action. In my view it is the best sleep producer since pills were invented.

Up and down. He scores. Up and down. He scores. Wide-eyed rooters go wild as the tally mounts most of the time to three-figure scores. A guy "fools" five times and he is "great" at the end of the game. The whole thing semi-hination oil the floor is the scorekeeper and his battery of adding machines.

Now, I see where some basketball genius is going to darkest Africa to recruit and train a team of the Watusi tribe in the fine art of the hoop game.

The Watusis average a height of seven feet. A baby born less than two feet tall is not regarded as a "keeper." They use giraffes as baby horses and when the animal's stilts reach maturity they are in great demand as firestarters by the local telephone companies.

They wear headdresses that tower some two feet in height, so don't be surprised in the near future to see a team of nine-foot hoopsters cavorting over a basketball court dropping, not tossing, balls in the basket.

Gump For Hodge Says Worried Blake

Leone (Gump) Wessley will replace Charlie Hodge in nets tonight when Montreal Canadiens attempt to snap their three-game losing streak.

The Canadiens, unhappy with recent play of the National Hockey League's All-Star goalie recalled Wessley from Quebec Friday on a game-to-game basis. Coach Toe Blake said "Hodge needs a rest."

Wessley, who lost his NHL job early last season because of Hodge's excellent goaltending, has played in one league game this year. He allowed just one goal in a 4-1 victory at Chicago while Hodge was injured.

Also called up from Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League was right-winger Leon Rochefort. He will replace Keith McCreary, returned to Hershey Bears of the AHL, when Canadiens tangle with Bowlen Bruins in Montreal in one of three games scheduled tonight:

Detroit Red Wings, with goalie Roger Crozier back from a three-day rest in Florida, play the Maple Leafs at Toronto while New York Rangers meet the Black Hawks in Chicago.

First place, now the property of the Hawks, could be at stake when Montreal and the Toronto Canadiens play at Chicago, the Leafs at Boston and the Rangers at Detroit.

Blake admits that a new goalie may not solve the problems of the Canadiens who have been outscored 16-12 in their three home losses. But he feels if a change can be made "we might as well do it right now."

Montreal's troubles began after they edged the Hawks 2-1 at Chicago and New York which opened up a three-point first-place lead. Since then, the Hawks have been unbeaten and ahead of the Habs and Toronto has climbed to within one point of Montreal.

Although the letdown has been general throughout the team, they've paid for it by their first-half All-Stars have been singled out for poor play. Hodge's 19-goals against in three games has evaporated his Vezina Trophy lead. All-Star rearguard Jacques Laperriare has been on the ice for 12 of the goals.

Siepa to curb the lethargy it were taken Friday when several trial players were signed. manager Sam Pollock to discuss their shortcomings. Worsley Jay Robertson are slated for immediately.

"Hodge needs the rest now," Blake explained, "but I'm not saying that Worsley is here for any special length of time. In other words, Hodge could be back in the nets by Sunday night.

Two Champs In Women's Golf Final

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP) Two former champions and today in the final of the 36th women's South Atlantic Amateur golf tournament at the Halifax test in the winter competition.

Phyllis Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., the club champion, played Doris Phillips of Belleville, Ill., 1954 champ and runner-up last year.

Miss Phillips reached the final Friday by stopping Mrs. Hamilist, Mrs. Phillip Codone- of West Caldwell, N.J. She won on the 19th hole.

Miss Preuss easily defeated the Canadian Open champion, Margie Masters of Ottawa, 5 and 4.

MONTHES ARE LOSERS

THE HAGUE (CP - AP) Ottawa Montagards suffered their first loss of their European hockey tour when they were upset 6-5 by the local Hya-Hoki squad Friday night. They had beaten the same Dutch squad 7-2 Thursday night. Ottawa scorers were Guy Beauregard, Claude Chaput and Larry Lerock.

Make-Or-Break For Both

Patterson Will Retire If Beaten

By AL. COLLETTE

MARLBORO, N.Y. (CP) — The stricken slow was slumbering in an upstairs kitchen of the almost mountain training camp where Floyd Patterson is preparing for his 12-round bout with Toronto's George Chuvalo.

It smelled good downstairs in the big room that serves as Patterson's boxing quarters, with the ring taking up most of the space. Leaning against the ropes, Floyd said he will "retire" if he is badly beaten by Chuvalo.

The two heavyweights meet in New York's Madison Square Garden, Monday, Feb. 1.

"I know this is a make-or-break fight for both of us, but I don't think in terms of losing," said Patterson. "Chuvalo is no 'washerwoman' and I'll be satisfied with a decision."

The lightweight champion Cassius Clay had called Chuvalo a "washerwoman" because of his former reliance on throwing punches all over the lot.

Although he said he had been seen Chuvalo in the ring, Patterson doesn't believe the "slow" style of the Canadian bruiser used to knock out his last four opponents will make a difference.

FOUGHT MANY

"I fought lots of fighters I had never seen before and beat them," He mentioned Tom Durelle of Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., whom he outpointed in eight rounds in 1956 when he was only 19.

For several moments, it seemed as though the brief interview Thursday never would get off the ground. Every visiting boxing writers who had journeyed 90 miles from New York City crowded around the unsmiling Patterson.

Press conferences appear to be a painful ordeals for Patterson.

Finally, someone asked, "what do you call Floyd?"

"One ninety-seven," came the reply.

That broke the ice. What would he weigh for the fight? "Not much less—194 to 197."

Chuvalo, training farther north in the Catskill Mountains at Grossinger's resort near Monticello, weighs around 206 and probably will have a good 10-point advantage at ring time.

Twice heavyweight champion of the world before he lost his title to Sonny Liston,, who then was dethroned by Clay, Patterson was mindful he is disturbed by what he feels is the poor "image" he left behind after he was knocked out twice by Liston in the first 'round.

He wants to redeem himself. Looking past Chuvalo, Patterson said: "If I was fortunate enough to meet and beat Clay, I would want to fight Liston again."

Would he comment on Chuvalo's statement that he knows the flaws in Patterson's style and will knock him out?

"There are flaws in every individual. I am constantly trying to cover my flaws."

Petes Clobber Juniors 13-4

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Belleville "B's" home - ice bubble burst with a resounding bang here last night when they took a 13-4 shellling at the hands of Peterborough Pete Byes before a small, half-frozen crowd.

It was the "B's" first OHA Eastern Junior loss of the season here — and they earned it all the way.

The Petes climbed into a comfortable 5-1 lead in the opening frame, made it 9-3 after forty minutes and coasted home on slaughter in the third. They outshot the "B's" 34-24 and outplayed them by an even wider margin.

Belleville's loss left them a point back of Peterborough, in second place. The "B's" and Don Byes have a return go at it on Monday night in Peterborough at 8:30.

Bob Ethier gave the "B's" a brief 1-0 lead in the game's first minute but seconds later Peterborough tied it and never stopped after from then on.

Jim Rutherford scored two later Belleville goals and Jim Woodcock got one. Grant Hagerman earned two assists, Rutherford, Jim Johnston, Ron Townsend and Larry Stewart one each.

Terry Blewett showed the way to a 30-point scoring spree by the Petes. He scored three goals and helped on another. Al Saltern bagged two goals and two assists and Richard Scantlebury had two goals. Doug Tucker contributed a goal and three helpers, Jim Bell, Paul LaPlante and Joe Johnston one and two apiece. Percy Chittick and Rob Lacey also had goals, Gary Foster and Colin Ingham two assists each and Pete McCarthy one.

Bob Moon, Belleville's starting goalie, appeared to injure his knee when he fell into the net late in the first period. He was replaced by Bill Bell starting the second period. Neither got much support.

Of 19 penalties called, the winners drew ten. Misconducts were served by Joe Johnston and Bob Boyle following remarks to referee Phil Scarrow. Several high sticking deals and rushes of minor stashes kept the penalty box busy during the last two periods.

PETERBOROUGH GOALS: Caley, Ingham, Foster, Johnson, Scammell, Bell, Davy, Lacey, McCarthy, Chittick, Blewett, Saltern, LaPlante, Tucker.

BELLEVILLE: Moon, B. Bell, Ethier, Boyle, Rutherford, Hagerman, St. Denis, Townsend, Marcelle, Scantlebury, Blewett, White, Woodcock, Fleming, Moody, Benson.

Referees — Phil Scarrow of Trenton.

Linesmen — Ken Johnston and Bill Hurst, of Belleville.

Minor Hockey Results

The Belleville Minor Hockey Association's "Hang Gun," the tykes and novices, braved the cold for regular scheduled games at Memorial Arena last evening.

TYKE

Canadians edged the Rangers 3-2. Scoring for the winners were Stephan Saucy, Ralph Meagher and Scott James. Barry Marta potted both Ranger goals.

Hawks and Bruins played a 2-3 deadlock. John Ashley fired the Bruin' marker while Tim Furt and Ricky Sweet scored for the Hawks.

Wings downed the Leafs 4-2. John Ross started for the Wings with a three-goal performance. Howie Meeks scored the other goal. Richard Chatterly and Peter Crawford were the Leaf marksmen.

NOVICE

Bruins blanked the Leafs by a 3-0 count. John Schwager and Marvin Jackson clicked for the shut goals.

Generals and Wings played to a 2-2 tie. David Sullivan triggered both Wing goals. Kevin Joudrey notched his performance for the Generals.

Richardson Defeated By Lerner

CALGARY (CP)—Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg defeated Ernie Richardson of Regina 7-6 Friday in the final of the 8 event in the Masters curling championships.

Lerner advanced to the tournament final today against Bob Pickering of Avonlea, Sask., winner of the A event.

Billy Mills Top Figure In Boston Meet

BOSTON (AP) — Lt. Billy Mills, the sensational marine with an Olympic gold medal, is the central figure in the Boston Knights of Columbus games tonight which launch the eastern indoor track season amid an armed truce.

Mills, surprise Tokyo victory over the 10,000 metres, was voted outstanding athlete in the Olympics and America's Sportsman of the Year.

The 25-year-old distance runner, not known for his abilities in the mile, has asked to run that headline race against 1963 winner Bill Dotson of Kenai, British Olympian Mike Wigg, former Oregon four - minute miler Keith Forman, 1963 runner - up Jim Irons of Toronto and 1960 England champion Dave Farley.

ENTRIES LATE

The meet has had to be hastily revised to accommodate a late "rush of collegiate entries. The pre-meet mark came after a possible NCAA ban on participating in AAU meets was postponed until March 1. Nine schools planned to defy an NCAA edict if it had been invoked. Now seven more colleges and universities have joined in the entry list.

After a misunderstanding about expenses was cleared up and an announced withdrawal cancelled, Bill Crothers — the bespectacled Toronto pharmacist — is back in the meet. He is one of four Olympic silver medalists in the field. The others are Paul Drayton, England's John Cooper and Ralph Boston.

Crothers is the three - time winner of the K. of C. 1,000, who is dropping down to the 600 in search of matching the indoor mark of 1:09.3. His competition includes Olympian Olan Gaskell, Nebraska's Gil Gebo and Lt. Frank Tomeo of the Quantico marines.

Linesman Hayes Suspended By NHL

Refused Eye Test

BEACHVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Linesman George Hayes, 46, a National Hockey League official for 19 years, said Friday he has been suspended for refusing to undergo an eye examination.

He said in an interview at his home near this Oxford County community that his refusal was a "matter of principle."

"If taking the test is the only way to get back, I guess I'm through," he said.

"It's a rotten slap at an official's integrity to make him take an eye test. The first time I heard of these tests was three years ago. I told them how I felt and I haven't changed my opinion.

"It's a man's work on the ice that counts, not what he does with a chart in the doctor's office," he said. "I haven't been near a doctor in years. I find I stay healthier that way."

Hayes was banned Thursday after a deadline for the examination passed. He was penalized to work the Toronto-Montreal game because no other linesman was available.

Although there was no official announcement from the league, referee-in-chief Carl Voss confirmed that Hayes had been suspended.

He declined to give details and would not say whether Hayes would be reinstated or whether taking the test would automatically end the ban.

"He has not been fired," Voss said.

Hayes is one of the National Hockey League's four regular linesmen. He works between 90 and 100 games a year. Salary for an 80-game contract is between $5,000 and $6,000.

Additional work is paid for on a per-game basis.

Rangers Whip Habs

Flyers Rally, Tie Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers couldn't be blamed for losing faith in storybook endings.

The Flyers, leaders in the Ontario Hockey association Junior A series, found themselves trailing St. Catharines Black Hawks 3-0 with seven minutes left to play Friday night.

They rallied for four goals within two minutes and three seconds and apparently had the Black Hawks on the run. But St. Catharines rulned it all by scoring with five seconds remaining, and Niagara Falls had to settle for a 4-4 tie.

In the only other league action Friday night, Kitchener Rangers scored two goals in the third period to wrap up a 4-1 win over Montreal Junior Canadiens at Kitchener.

The tie at Niagara Falls gave the Flyers a two-point lead over Toronto Marlboros. St. Catharines remained in seventh place in the eight-team league, while Montreal and Kitchener's win pulled them to within a point of fifth-place Montreal.

St. Catharines got goals from Brian McDonald, Mickey Chervaty and Garry McMillan as they built up their 3-0 lead over the Flyers. But in a rash of scoring just past the 14-minute mark Jean Pronovost scored twice and Dave Woodley and Brian Bradley once each to put Niagara Falls ahead.

The Black Hawks pulled goaltender Jim Keough in the last minute of play and the move paid off when Ken Hodge scored his 38th goal of the season to give St. Catharines a tie.

At Kitchener, Sandy Fitzpatrick scored twice for the Rangers. Bob Jones and Randy Legge also scored.

Chris Bordeleau got the Montreal goal.

The Rangers had a slim 2-1 lead going into the third period but Fitzpatrick and Jones put the Canadiens down with goals a minute and five seconds apart midway through the period.

'Trotters' Clobber St. Hubert

TRENTON (Special) — Trenton's BCAF Globetrotters shot down their BCAD buddies from St. Hubert, Quebec, 30-8 in an exhibition hockey game here last night.

The Trotters used the visiting goalie for target practice in preparation for their annual battle with the NHL Oldtimers, scheduled for the Community Gardens here Wednesday night. That game will start at 8.00 p.m.

Trenton bombed St. Hubert for a 9-0 first-frame lead, made it 13-0 in the second and set up a 14-1 while holding a 7-3 margin in the third.

Frank Lewis was the top goal-getter with four, followed by Austin Scott and Roger Lavoie with three goals apiece. Chipping in with pairs were Jim Peterson, Ralph Plane, Harold "Bugs" McDonald and Ernie LaLiberte. Joe St. Pierre and Vince Steiner added singletons.

J. Audet potted a pair for St. Hubert and John Castenguay got the other one.

Hewitt First To Broadcast Hockey Game

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

On March 23, 1923, Foster Hewitt became the first person to broadcast a hockey game. It was an Ontario Hockey Association senior final between Toronto Parkdale Canoe Club and Kitchener Greenshirts at the old Mutual Street Arena in Toronto.

"That's when 'He shoots! He scores!' was born," Hewitt recalled this week on his election to the Hockey Hall of Fame as a game builder. "The public seemed to like it at the time, so I just kept it up."

Hewitt has bellowed those famous two sentences thousands of times since that memorable occasion 42 years ago. Fans across Canada have heard them with Hewitt behind the microphone in rinks from Toronto to West Germany.

Now 80, and looking years younger, Hewitt reminisced about the good teams he has seen over that period—from the time he was a cub reporter with the Toronto Star and was ordered to broadcast the Toronto - Kitchener game over The Star's radio station, CFCA.

PROS TOPS NOW

"That game went 30 minutes overtime so I had a real baptism into hockey broadcasting," he said.

He was reluctant to name the teams and players he regards as the greatest, but he mentioned a few of his favorites.

"In the 1920s amateur hockey possibly was superior to the professional game but the pros came into their own in the early 1930s and, of course, they are vastly superior to the amateurs as we know them now.

"In that first game I broadcast, there was a real great one. That was Eric Kitchener goalkeeper, George Hainsworth. He was on his way up to Montreal Canadiens of the National League and a great career.

"The 1924 Toronto Granites (Olympic champions that year at Chamonix, France) were one of the great teams of all time." Two players he mentioned on that Granites line were Hooley Smith and Dunc Munro, fellows who went up to the big league by way of Stanley.

RECALLS GREAT NAMES

He talked glowingly of NHL clubs in the 1930s—of Boston Bruins with the rambunctious Eddie Shore and iron-man Dit Clapper on the defense, of course, the Kraut line of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Porky Dumart;" of the Detroit Red Wings with their line of Larry Aurik, Marty Barry and Herbie Lewis; of Toronto Maple Leafs' Kid line of Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher and Busher Jackson.

As for individual players, he talked of the "thrilling" Howie Morenz of Canadiens, of Shore, "one of the all-time greats," Nels Stewart of Montreal Maroons fame "as a goal-getter in a class by himself," and of Rocket Richard, Gordie Howe, Syl Apps, and now Bobby Hull. His favorites?

Shore and Apps. The Boston defenceman "was the ultimate in showmanship" and Apps, smooth centre with Toronto Leafs, "wasn't colorful but he was an efficient and workmanlike player.

"Those two would be my choices. They seem to come out in my mind much quicker when we talk of my favorite players."

Hewitt predicts the six-team NHL will expand to eight or 10 teams "possibly in the next decade."

"I can see the time when more teams will originate in the United States and the major league going to the U.S. West coast."

Art Asbury Is Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Art Asbury of Oxtongue Lake, Ont., was one of 23 North American power-boat drivers named today to the 1964 Gulf Marine Racing Hall of Fame.

The others, all from the United States, included Ron Musson of Seattle and Don Christy of Baltimore, both named for the fifth time.

BOXER RETIRES

LONDON (AP)—Dave Charnley, British lightweight champion and former European champion, retired from boxing Friday. The 29-year-old Londoner, who twice lost to Joe Brown of the United States in fights for the world crown, said he plans to go into the real estate business.

Seniors, Juniors Defeat Trenton

BCI Cagers Win Pair

By DAVID TEMPLER

The B.C.I. cagers defeated Trenton H.S. in the Junior and Senior divisions of Quinte COSSA basketball while Trenton bantams snatched a 9-point victory.

The BCI wrestlers took the decision on the mats with 7 out of 13 matches.

In the senior game, the Trenton nine defence couldn't resist the onslaught of B.C.I.'s outside marksmen and were overpowered 54-31. The Collegians playing a tight man-to-man defence contained the Trenton offence.

The shooting, rebounding and checking of Ron Walsh (with 24 points) and Doug Perks (with 19 points) were vital factors in BCI's margin of points.

The other scorers for B.C.I. were Mott (8); Swan (6); Anderson (4); Hurst (2); and Gulls and Desaulniers with one apiece. For Trenton the high scorers were Chambers (11); Potts (10), Fyon and Wheeler (1405h.), and Ernie Marscle (1407h.). For Trenton the winning team was Sheridan 7 (1631h.), Ferguson (1 2 7th.), Reavy (1568h.), and Wellman (958h).

The B.C.I. fast break gave BCI the edge in every quarter. Mark Sheridan's ball control, the shooting and play-making of Jim McCreary and Tom Lornie's long shots were decisive factors in the game.

The scorers for BCI were: Lornie 18, McCreary 15, Sheridan 7, Chalmers 7, Fouma 5, Harder 5, Loynes 2, Wellaley 1 and Morton 1.

For Trenton the high scorers were: Hasley 10, Larry 9 and Cole 8.

In the bantam game the Trenton team was unquestionably in control the first half and led by 19-10. In the last half BCI regained its feet but could not recover enough to overcome the final three point deficit. The score was 31-28. For Trenton Schaulefe scored 16. For BCI the high was Cass with 8.

WRESTLING

In wrestling BCI took 7 out of 12 matches. The winners for BCI were Bowers (95lb.) Casselman (101lb.), Joe Marscle Blain (9), and Wes Cass (140lb.), and Ernie Marscle (147lb.). For Trenton the winners were Shanklin (165lb.), Ferguson (1 2 7lb.), Reavy (156lb.), and Wellman (95lb).

District Rinks Play At Utica

UTICA, N.Y. (CP)—A Bradford, Ont., rink, skipped by Peter Fleischaker raced undefeated through the first two rounds of Mitchell Cup competition the Utica Men's Bonspiel Friday.

In the premier event, Fleischaker downed Utica No. 5 rink 8-4 and the Cataraqui rink from Kingston, skipped by Gib Seymour, 7-5.

Arch Ashley's Marmora, Ont., four and Montreal Caledonia, skipped by Gerry Boyd, won first-round matches but lost in the Mitchell Cup second round.

In consolation, Allen Medal play, the St. Thomas rink of Harold Fry, the Quinte rink from Belleville, skipped by Ernie Wilkinson, and the Montreal St. George's rink of Bill Miller all were victorious, after losing first - round Mitchell Cup games.

At Harness Racing Tracks

Canadians Bet Record $178,696,444

OTTAWA (CP) — Bettors at Canadian harness racing tracks kept the wheels at the pari-mutuel wickets unusually busy in 1964.

A record $178,696,444 was wagered on trotters and pacers during the year. And for the first time racing's "country cousin" officially — not stripped the betting at thoroughbred tracks where the year's total reached $161,515,218, also a record.

The 1964 three were 1,108 days of racing at harness tracks under federal supervision compared to 933 a year previous. There were 497 days of thoroughbred racing in 1964, four more than in 1963.

The federal agricultural department, which supervises betting at all harness tracks in nine provinces and Blue Bonnets in Quebec, issued figures showing $69,196,644 was bet in nine provinces.

QUEBEC TAKE BIGGEST

In the 10th province, Quebec, tracks took in $109,500,000 during the season. The number of racing days was not available.

The increase for tracks under the agriculture department's supervision was a whopping $4,462,968. Quebec tracks increased their handles by $30,800,000.

Biggest single-day handle at any one track during the year was the $435,661 wagered at Blue Bonnets in Montreal on Oct. 4. The smallest was at North River, P.E.I., when $322 was bet Feb. 12.

Ontario, the stronghold of the thoroughbreds, had 431 days of harness racing, 15 more than 1963. The amount wagered was $57,436,041, up $19,083,943.

Living Doll Will Live on Without Robert Cummings

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That living doll, Julie Newmar, finds herself bereft of a co-star, but she thinks she'll be able to carry on, thank you.

Last week CBS announced that Robert Cummings had asked for and received his release from My Living Doll, in which he played psychiatrist to a robot (Julie). It was the first time within memory that a star had walked out of a series during its first season, and his action left the trade puzzled. Cummings remained silent.

It had been an ill-kept secret that Bob and Julie did not get along well at all. In fact, there were reports of shouting matches.

Julie seemed not at all perturbed about the loss during a luncheon interview. She claimed to be on a diet, then ate everything in sight.

And what about her relationship with Cummings?

She put down her fork for a brief moment. "Oh, dear," she said. "I, unfortunately, am a woman of complete honesty. I would like to tell everything, but Mr. Cummings' relations with CBS have not been settled legally. If I spoke my mind, I might get involved in possible litigation.

FROM DIFFERENT SCHOOLS

"Let us say that Mr. Cummings and I come from different schools of acting. He is from the movies—and there is much to be learned there. But I am stage-oriented, and the two systems did not blend too harmoniously perhaps."

My Living Doll was fairly well received by the critics, but faced the rugged opposition of Bonanza on Sunday night and hence fared poorly in the ratings. The show was shifted to Wednesday night, where Julie has confidence it will prove its worth.

Julie is hopeful the series will go on and on.

"This is by far the most challenging role I have ever played," said she. "I have learned more about acting and about myself than in all my career so-far. A television series is the only thing we have in this country that approaches the repertory theatre. I hope we will have a long, long run."

Juniors, Bantams Lose

Quinte Wins Senior Tilt

By ROBT. SNEFJELLA

Quinte Secondary School's senior basketball team combined some "par excellence" shooting, rebounding and hustle to trounce Brighton's Secondary's senior by a 98-49 score. Brighton's juniors and bantams fared much better, however, defeating Quinte 52-35 and 42-37, respectively.

In the senior game Quinte swamped Brighton 30-4 in the first quarter, with Rock Taylor and Bill Leslie each contributing eight points.

Brighton actually outscored the winners in the second quarter by a 22-18 margin.

The third quarter was also closely contested with Quinte outscoring the visitors 21-15.

The final period was a repeat of the first, as Quinte scored 27 points and allowed only eight.

Tony Meddings of Quinte was high scorer in the contest, hooping 26 points. Bill Leslie of Quinte and Hockey of the losers each contributed 22 points.

Quinte juniors matched Brighton's rebounding but were unable to store on long shots throughout the game.

The first half was sloppily played, with many fouls being called. At the end of the third quarter three Quinte players were fouled out of the game.

High scorers in the game were Bob Bowerman for Quinte and Bob Moon of Quinte, each having 16 points. Ted Rogers, Phil Hamilton and Jeff Marshard had 14, 11 and 8 points for the winners. Mike Hickey and Rod Reed each scored seven points in the losing cause.

The bantam game was an evenly matched one, though at times the sloppy play was pretty much unlike Australian football.

Henry Blake of Brighton and Quinte's Paul Goodfellow and Ted Shaw all shared scoring honors with 12 points each. Other scorers for the winners were T. Graham with 10, and Zuber and Heeney with 7 and 6.

Glen Easton hooped six points for Quinte.

Senior game:

Quinte (98)—Meddings 26, Leslie 22, Taylor 12, Valyear 10, Reppard 7, Bylsma 7, Medvid 3, Brooks 5, May 4, Johnson, Boulet, Wright.

Brighton (49) — Hockley 22, R. Brown 11, D. Brown 8, Theriea 4, Brundale 2, Holland 2, Crews, Crowe.

Peewees Blank Wellington 6-0

Belleville Rollins whitewashed Wellington 6-0 in an OMHA peewee game played in the county last night.

Rollins scored at the rate of two goals per period, while holding the Wellington boys off the scoreboard.

Brian Cousins fired both first-period goals. Fred Stickle and Dennis Cone gained assists on the goals.

Austin Wilson and Rick Meaghan topped the Belleville lead to 4-0 in the second. Terry Meagher drew one assist.

In the third, Bill Buchanan rapped home two unassisted markers to complete the scoring.

The extreme cold made it necessary for many of the players on both teams to wear ear muffs and scarves, according to one report.

BUYS TV RIGHTS

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company, which has a five-year $36,000,000 contract to televise American Football League regular season games, announced Friday night it has purchased the television rights to the AFL's championship and all - star games for the next five years.

METS MAKE TRADE

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Mets, in an effort to solve their centrefield problem, traded veteran outfielder - first baseman George Altman to Chicago Cubs Friday for Billy Cowan, a right-handed slugger who was voted minor league player of the year in 1963. The 26-year-old Cowan, five inches younger than Altman, is expected to take over for the Mets' regular centrefielder.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

Because of the many requests for information, we produce herewith more facts on skiing in Ontario.

Here, in Ontario's eastern ski region, new area called the North Star Club, is greeting ski fans this winter at Arden on Highway 7, near Napanee. This new club site has a rope tow on a 300-foot elevation with run of up to 1,000 feet. A new rope tow at Cambellford graces its newly-developed slope. And, further north, Candlac Skiways at Dacre has added another T-bar lift at its fine location on Mount St. Patrick, west of Renfrew.

This is a sampling of improvements in Ontario's major ski areas, and the odds for plenty of snow in 1965 still appear to be good. Last year brought little of the fleecy stuff and the absence of snow two years in a row, claim ski experts, is highly unlikely in this part of North America.

With the season just really under way, the time is ripe for planning an Ontario winter vacation. Ontario Motor League suggests out a comprehensive guide book called "1965 Scope," which details facilities and prices and other pertinent facts. This, and information on area accommodation are obtainable from the Ontario Department of Tourism and Information, 67 College St., Toronto 2, Ont.

Lift fees range from $1.25 to $2 per day for rope tows and T-bars at the majority of Ontario centres, and you'll pay from $4 to $6 for chairlifts.

All-season lodges run from $12 to $15 per person to $40 per couple, full American plan. Typical rates at hotels and motels close to ski areas run $4 to $8 single and $7 to $14 double.

However, a handy Ontario skier holiday yardstick, covering food, lodging and lift charges, is $12 to $14 per person per day. And it is also handy to know that U.S. visitors still are receiving seven to eight percent premium on their dollar. The Canadian dollar remains pegged at about 92½ cents in U.S. terms, and exchange is promptly given at any chartered bank.

See you on the trail.

Winter shouldn't ever come as a surprise. We have it every year. Every year it brings special driving problems and places even more responsibility on the driver for his own safety and the safety of other motorists and pedestrians.

But there is no need to let snow put you in a spin. Follow these tips and drive with more assurance and less trouble:

A few simple aids in your car trunk can save you time, temper, and maybe a tow-truck bill. Here is what you need:

Shovel; bag of sand or ashes; tire chains; traction plates.

Trot Body Elects 1965 Officials

TORONTO (CP) — Georges Gigure of Montreal was elected first vice-president Friday of the Canadian Trotting Association at its initial meeting of the new year.

Allan Dickenson, Mount Hope, Ont., elected last year, will carry on another term as president.

John Thompson, South Mountain, Ont., was elected second vice - president with Gordon Findlay, Toronto, continuing as secretary-treasurer.

Ontario members elected to the executive board were: Scott Burchell, Perth; Douglas Palmer, Schomberg; Max J. Webster, Brantford, Leslie Barclay, Toronto and J. W. Brown, New Liskeard.

Portland, Vancouver Closing In

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Firing brilliant blasts in single periods, Portland Buckaroos and Vancouver Canucks moved closer to the top of the Western Hockey League standings Friday night.

Second - place Portland defeated San Francisco Seals 5-1 to move within one point of the league - leading Seattle Totems while Vancouver consolidated its hold on third place by defeating Victoria Maple Leafs 5-2.

The night's action leaves Seattle atop the ladder with 49 points, Portland second with 48 and Vancouver third with 46. Victoria and Los Angeles are tied for fourth and last playoff position at 35 points apiece. San Francisco trails with 31.

Playing before a San Francisco crowd of 8,483, the Buckaroos broke open a tight game with three goals in the third period, after settling for a 2-0 lead in the first 40 minutes.

In Vancouver, Canucks eased a hometown crowd of 4,430 with four unanswered goals in the second period.

Victoria took a 2-0 lead in the first 20 minutes, lost the game in the second, and traded goals with Vancouver in the final period.

It was the 13th Vancouver victory in eight games against Victoria, the Canucks' only Canadian rivals in the six - team league.

Ellis Takes Over Lead

Littler Drops To Second

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Gene Littler shot a 62, nine big strokes under par. Then he has 70, one under par.

So is Littler leading the field to begin the third round of the $34,500 San Diego Open tournament today?

No. Second place.

In front was West Ellis Jr., of West Caldwell, N.J., with rounds of 68-65—133, as play resumed at the par 35-36—71 Stardust Country Club. Littler trailed with 62-70—132. The third round promised a struggle between the well - known and the less - known pros.

Tied at 133 were Tony Lema, the British Open champion, and Doug Wysong, undoubtedly the best player ever to emerge from McKinney, Tex., 30 miles north of Dallas.

Still within hailing distance at the halfway mark was George Knudson of Toronto with 69-68—137.

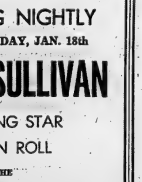
Hot Reds Defeat Americans

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The sizzling Providence Reds won their eighth game in 11 American Hockey League outings, by surprising the western division - leading Rochester Americans 4-2 Friday night.



The victory moved the eastern division cellar - dwellers to within two points of Baltimore and Springfield in the scramble for third place.

Spare goaltender Ross Brooks was called out of the press box to replace Eddie Giacomin in the first period after Giacomin suffered a nose injury in a pile-up in front of the net. Brooks held off the high-scoring Americans, allowing two goals in the approximately 30 minutes he played.

Len Ronson put the Reds on top in the opening period, but Bronco Horvath tied it. Then Eddie Kachur scored his ninth goal in 12 games since joining Providence, putting the Reds ahead to stay.

Eddie MacQueen and Bob Blackburn scored in the second period, both times while Rochester had a man in the penalty box.

Gerry Ehman of the Americans was the lone third-period scorer.

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low-interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

For advice and assistance call your National Employment Office

Everyone benefits when winter work is increased. DO IT NOW!

Organization Sponsors International Good Will

DEAR DORIS — We have been flooded with mail lately and I have just found out why. I hasten to ask you to correct your information regarding the procuring of pen pals through your department.

Please change the address to: Overseas Correspondence Department, Box 333, Station "F", Toronto 5, Ontario, Canada.

Also, we charge a fee of 30 cents per person and they can have two pen pals for that if they wish; and we ask that a self-addressed, stamped envelope be included.

Director, United Nations Association in Canada, Overseas Correspondence Department.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DIRECTOR — Thank you. Our readers will note the change. Your service is a fine effort towards international good will and worth a good deal more than your nominal charge.

DEAR DORIS — I wrote to you for advice before and found it helped me greatly. I have a terrible problem now.

My father will not let me attend school dances. I've asked him if he would take me and he says "What do you want to go to those d- dances for?" My mom and him argue a lot over us kids. I do not go out with boys. I am 14.

My father never takes our family anywhere. None of our family can talk to him without getting yelled at and he can't say a word without it being a swear word. He thinks he's right all the time. I am losing my respect for him very fast.

Doris, I have confidence in you; what can I do? — LOSING RESPECT.

DEAR LOSING — I'm sorry. It's no fun being the butt of bickering and rudeness. And it's a disgraceful waste of life for two adults to carry on so.

Yet they may have some deep regard for each other, underneath. And your dad may have had a tough time as a lad; with no chance at all for fun and dances. Let's hope he has that excuse.

Bide your time. Resolve that your own home and children will be treated to a happier lot. And try to link up with a social group at school or church where you can get some fun with others without an objection from the Big Noise.

DEAR DORIS — I am a boy 17 years of age and I just started going with this girl and I like her very much. Her parents do not seem to like this for some reason. I was wondering what to do. — TEARS.

DEAR TEARS — Tears won't help. Dress your best, watch your manners, keep your promises to take good care of your girl and bring her home on time. Parents have an uncanny way of knowing it when a boy is made of the right stuff.

Temperance Workers Burn Ears of Premier

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Temperance Federation burned the ears of Premier John Robarts with a slashing attack on the evils of alcohol Friday, demanding remedial legislation from the government to end alcohol abuses.

The federation said there were 100,000 alcoholics in Ontario. It added:

"For every alcoholic there are at least three drinkers who frequently drink to excess, commit crimes, beat their wives and children, smash furniture, produce shoddy work and damage machinery because of hangovers. . . ."

The abolition of liquor advertising and an end to the licensing of clubs, in so-called "dry areas" where local option votes have not been held or have been turned down, was demanded by the temperance group.

URGES NO EXTENSION

In the face of reports that legislation may be proposed at the forthcoming session of the legislature to extend drinking hours in beverage rooms, the federation urged no extension "in view of the effect on social and domestic life of long and late drinking."

Their brief also said minors convicted of drinking under age should be forced to disclose their source of supply. The federation claimed 63.3 per cent of Ontario alcoholics began drinking in their teens.

Liquor advertising—especially the sponsorship of breweries of National Hockey League telecasts—was said to be an area of great concern to the federation.

Legislation making breath analyzer tests, or chemical tests, mandatory for drivers suspected of drinking who have been involved in auto accidents also was urged.

British Motor Vehicle Imports Not Hampered

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said Friday night British motor vehicle imports to Canada will not be hampered by the new United States - Canada agreement on duty-free motor vehicle trade any more than by the less extensive plan introduced more than a year ago.

Mr. Sharp, who joined Industry Minister Drury for the press conference where the agreement was announced, said the Canadian government recognizes that to some extent the Commonwealth preference British now enjoys will be impaired.

He said everything possible is being done to minimize the agreement's effects on the British.

INCREASES AID

TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican Church of Canada gave $268,000 to anti - poverty and hunger - aid projects in 1964, church headquarters announced Thursday. The sum was $70,000 more than in 1963.

Some Auto Workers Will Suffer Under New Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister MacEachen has ordered his department agencies to co-ordinate plans with provincial labor agencies to minimize any short-term job displacement over the new Canada - U.S. auto trade agreement, a spokesman said Friday.

Although "substantial" increases in auto industry employment are expected by the labor department, it is recognized that some workers, particularly in the components industries, will suffer.

The spokesman said the department has consulted the industry department, which has called much of the negotiations, and with the auto industry's union representatives.

The labor department agency most directly concerned is the new manpower consultative service which can recommend payment of half the cost of moving a displaced worker to a new job.

Under the vocational assistance and training act, worked out in conjunction with the provinces, the federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost of retraining workers, and 90 per cent of the living allowance while they are being trained.

INSTRUCTS NEB

Mr. MacEachen has also instructed the National Employment Service to give preferential treatment to displaced auto industry employees in helping them find new work.

The spokesman said George Burt, president of the United Auto Workers, went away from a recent meeting with Mr. MacEachen "relatively satisfied" with the new program.

Canadian parts manufacturers, protected in the past by a tariff barrier ranging from 17½ to 23 per cent, no longer will have this wall and will have to compete with U.S. parts manufacturers who benefit from a larger volume.

Industry Minister Drury, who announced the new program, said a main aim is to provide jobs for a growing labor force.

Replacement parts manufacturers were excluded from the new program because, Mr. Drury said, the business is spread over a large number of small firms which would suffer greatly.

Offers to Pay For Increase In Forces

SAIGON (Reuters) — The United States has offered to pay for an immediate increase of 100,000 men in South Viet Nam's armed forces to step up the war against Communist guerrillas, well - informed sources said today.

The sources said this would boost military strength to nearly 660,000.

The offer was made by U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor in the Vietnamese government amid reports that U.S. fighter aircraft had acted to cut Communist supply routes in central Laos.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For January 17

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Be aware of situation which is not as it appears. Prepare for surprises. Exciting romantic incident plays role. Emphasize creativity. Give — and you will also receive.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Full Moon stresses realization of basic factors. Involved are your relatives — and short journeys. Key to success is communication. Talk and listen. Know you must be alert, aware.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Fortunate if you have family backing. Not so good if you oppose respected friend. Key is charm, harmony and tact. Before day is over this message could mean much! Absorb it.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Full Moon stresses conflict, the facing of issues. If you avoid self-deception you can succeed. Otherwise, you paint a rosy picture — which vanishes under pressure. Be perceptive.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): There are "hot" areas. You can bring light to them. What is required is persistence and courage. This day sees you making important decision. If in a private one. Heed inner voice!

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Accent on social affairs, reunions, entertainment. Share knowledge. Encourage loved ones in their studies. Day when you can achieve degree of fulfillment. Do so!

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Family member requires special attention. Key is creative thinking. Don't fall into emotional rut. Instead, stress change, travel, variety. Attend church of choice.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Study . . . enhance knowledge. Definite gain indicated through . . . liten word. Added skills now will quicken income. Utilize developed intellect, mental energy.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Full Moon places emphasis on frank discussion of money affairs. Key is being versatile. Experiment. Realize there are alternative methods. Don't be bogged down.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Conserve energy. Refuse to argue. Present case in frank, intelligent manner. Don't be "bullied!" Then realize you must relax. Please mate. Show you do care.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Analyze motives. Refuse to be susceptible to false flattery. Seek truth — even if it hurts. Aspects feature changes. And involve member of opposite sex.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Full Moon position coincides with creative endeavors, emotional conflict. Make views known. Avoid one who gossips. . . . les time. Value your dignity!

If today is your birthday . . . you possess drive, determination and courage necessary to accomplish major goals.

General Tendencies: Full Moon highlights business-labor news. Breakthrough due in connection with long-standing dispute.

For January 18

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Be aware of one who wants you to spend . . . and spend. Tighten budget. Avoid extravagance. Individual who flatters may have ulterior motive. Highlight maturity.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Family members may express some unusual opinions, desires. Set example by making concessions. Otherwise, there is unhappiness, friction. Get details out of way early.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Many persons offer suggestions, ideas. But now you must depend upon your own initiative. Be selective. Otherwise, the end result is confusion. Key is simplicity, concentration.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Obtain valid hint from today's Aries message. Emphasize thrift. One who offers "bargain" may not be sincere. Friends mean well . . . but they do not possess all facts.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Avoid arrogance. Cycle high. But one in authority asks favor. Comply. Then your prestige rises. Good to enlarge horizons . . . spread influence . . . catch up on correspondence.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Be aware of intrigue, behind scenes activity. Check with reliable organization. Be sure of facts. Then proceed with quiet dignity, confidence.

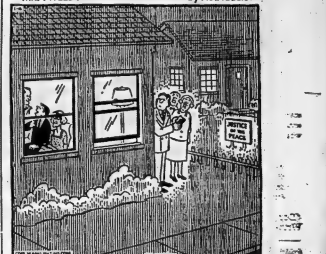
Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Know difference between friend and one who merely pretends. Money is at stake. Stick to tried-and-true. If you "wander," you may pay through the nose...Understand?

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be sure of legal rights. Newspaperwise would become tangled in red tape. If you are prepared, you succeed. Stand tall. Follow through on promises.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Plan program. Be aware of alternative methods. Flight through maze of indecision. Have facts, figures on hand. Journey may be necessary. Key is determination.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Be discreet. Associate due to confide money problem. Express willingness to co-operate. Basic changes may be necessary. No time to indulge in stubbornness.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Plan for future. Pace may appear slow. Be patient. Bide your time. Observe and learn. Key is being aware, ready for action. Study methods of self-improvement.



Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Give attention to hobbies, special interests. Obtain hint from today's Gemini message. Adhere to health rules. Be moderate in eating, drinking habits. Then day is productive.

If today is your birthday . . . you are capable of rising to great heights. But you require love and inspiration.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Leo, Virgo, Libra. Special word to Aries: Be creative — and independent.

Once she said: "I never think about after the war. You see,
I think Winston will die when it is over . . . he is 70 and I am 60, and we are putting all we have into the war, and it will take all we have."

From the birth of their first child, Diana, in 1909, Clementine resolved to keep the family as far as possible from the glare of limelight and hostility that often fell upon her husband. Baby Diana had to be guarded in her perambulator for fear a suffragette might attack her.

WAS A DREAMER

Diana grew up to be the intellectual dreamer of the family. Her two sisters married
John Milner Bailey, son of a South African millionaire, and Duncan Sandys—later in divorce, and she died in 1963.

The unpredictable Sarah, born in 1914, is the family's ballet tallist. Her mother nicknamed her "Mule," for her stubbornness.

Randolph, born 1911, never attempted to follow in his expected of him as a young man, though he has had a headline-making career as politician, journalist and gadfly.

Mary, born 1922, has been ister Christopher Soames and Parliament, has had office biography.

Probably the greatest tragedy in the Churchill's married life was the death of their daughter Marigold Frances at the age of three in 1921. Lady Churchill would never speak of it even years after the event.

Churchill once said jokingly of his wife that they had tried to "two or three times" in the last 40 years to have breakfast together, but it was so disagreeable we had to stop or our marriage would have been wrecked."

His true feelings lay almost too deep for words. In his biography, he wrote: "It was among the most fortunate and joyous event which happened to me in the whole of my life. For what can be more glorious than to be united in one's walk through life with a being incapable of an ignoble thought."

MOIRA VALLEY BOY SCOUTS

MADOC — The meeting of the District Council, Moira Valley Boy Scout Association was held in the Stirling High School, Wednesday night. Uniform and council members present were: Commissioner, Bonarisw, Madoc, Marmora, Stirling, Sulphide and Thomasburg.
President James R. Thompson was chairman for the meeting.

Business arising from the previous meeting was discussed ed which included the report on Cub registration, which now showed an enrolment of over 600 boys. D.C. Joe Irish, ADC
Russell and ADC Ernest Harvey gave their reports of their visitation throughout the area during the past two months.

Reports were received from each group. Some recorded Christmas parties and activities, of good deeds being done, hikes planned and paper, bottle and sock drives.

The Bonariew pay recently formed, has now received its charter. Group Scouts will be on the 64-65 "Fit for Adventure," outlining the program with suggested themes for group activities.

NEW UNIFORMS

It was reported that the new Cub uniform had been introduced as from January 1st. The traditional blue and yellow uniform will give way to a grey uniform, although the familiar green cap with the gold zipper will continue to be used. It was noted that it would probably be the end of 1966 before a complete changeover to this new uniform.

Requests and suggestions were made in connection with Baden-Powell week, February
21st to 28th, with "Duty to God" as an obligation of every member. Cub Scouts are planning parades, use of Scouts as ushers and to take up the collections. In Show Displays and to have Scout news of the local group and of the observances of the anniversary printed in local newspapers.

The religion life badge was discussed. The emblems was made of the standard required.

The Stirling D.C.J. Irish and ADC Russell plan to attend the Presidents' and Commissioners' conference in Toronto on Saturday, Jan. 16th, at the Batimore Hotel.

The next executive meeting will be held in February at Stirling.

Ann Landers

Ann Suggests Both Ladies Stick to Plain Ginger Ale

DEAR ANN LANDERS — A friend of mine showed up at a dinner party in a green sequin dress that resembled fish scales. She was wearing a yellow gold necklace — a life-like replica of a snake, complete with emerald eyes. From her ears hung a couple of jeweled turtles. To top it off she had a butterfly clip in her hair. She was a sight with all that animal life on her.

Later in the evening (after she had had a few drinks) she came over in a belligerent mood and said, "You haven't said anything about the way I look." I had had a few drinks, too, and replied, "I think you look hideous, now that you mention it."

ANN LANDERS

Her husband caught her arm just as she was about to hit me. As he led her away she shouted, "You've always been a jealous cat. Don't ever speak to me again."

I really do like her in spite of her big mouth. We have been friends since high school. What do you recommend in a case like this? — E.T.

DEAR E.T. — Both you ladies (?) ought to stick to ginger ale.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My 18-year-old sister got herself into a jam and had to go stay with my aunt who lives in Ohio.

This knocked our family for a loop. Mom, who has been depending on her older brother for advice and help since our dad died three years ago, cries all the time.

Uncle is very strict and old-fashioned. He is making home a jail for my 17-year-old sister and me. (I am 15.) He has told mom we should not have any dates. We are allowed to go to school functions only if he drives us over and comes to get us.

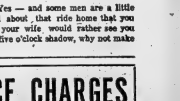
Uncle says a girl should get out—with boys until she is ready to get married and that means 21 years old. Please print your advice. If anyone ever needed help, we do. — PRISONERS AT HOME.

DEAR PRISONERS — Keeping girls cooped up is no way to insure good behavior. It usually produces opposite results.

Girls who feel restricted tend to go hog wild once they get loose. They are determined to do everything they have been told they should not do — just to "get even."

Summing up: High school girls should be permitted to date provided they are reliable and trustworthy. This means adhering to a curfew and going out only with boys who have been properly introduced to the family. (I hope this helps.)

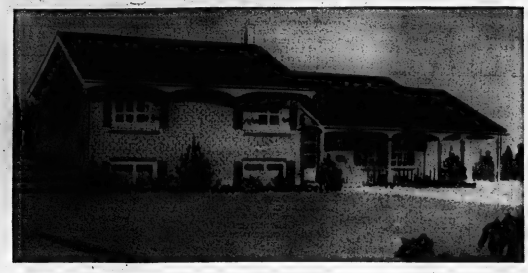
DEAR ANN LANDERS — I sure do get a kick out of your column. What is the matter with the wives in this country anyway? They are the most suspicious bunch of females in the whole world.



Almost every day some dizzy dame will write in and say, "I think my husband is fooling around but I'm not sure." Why do they always want to believe the worst of a guy?

I keep a razor in my locker at the plant and sometimes I shave before I leave for home. Mine is one of those heavy beards and I have to shave twice a day if I want to look right.

Whenever I do this my wife accuses me of meeting somebody after work — especially if I come home a little later than the usual six o'clock. Aren't some women nuts? — SQUARE SHOOTER.



DEAR SHOOTER — Yes — and some men are a little nuts, too. What's so special about that ride home that you have to shave for it? Since your wife would rather see you home at six o'clock with a five o'clock shadow, why not make her happy?

OVER 120 QUINTE FAMILIES TOOK THE ROAD TO GREATER HOME VALUE LAST YEAR . . .

HERE'S WHY-

To sum it up — It's The Most House For The Least Money! 120 homes in one year is quite a few, but, Rollins' Construction Ltd. is well equipped to build many more quality homes. Our home-buyers know this. Many of them have bought a "Rollins Home" more than once. After you choose the home you want from Rollins' many plans available, construction is started immediately. During construction meticulous care is given to the finest detail to ensure that you get everything just as you wanted it. Rollins' workmen are extensively trained craftsmen with a minimum of 10 years in the trade. Your home is inspected many times during its erection by Maurice Rollins himself and, it is continued to be inspected regularly for one full year after you move in. Listed below are just some of the many extras you receive in a "Rollins Home" at absolutely no additional cost to you.

A "Rollins' Home" Is Definitely The Best New Home Buy In The Area!

In spite of the large number of "Rollins Homes" built in the Belleville area you can be sure that your home is constructed with only quality brand name materials. Moreover, in a "Rollins Home" you receive many extras that you would not normally get in a home of comparable price. To name just a few: Storms and screens, thermopane front window, 50% more insulation than required, walls and roof are 25% stronger ceramic tile bath area, birch or mahogany cupboard, a one year written guarantee, etc., etc. The easiest way to compare the quality of a "Rollins Home" is to see them for yourself. Soviet Leaders Make First Visit Outside Russia

Brezhnev and Kosygin In Warsaw for Talks

By VINCENT BUIST

WARSAW (Reuters) — Russian Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin arrived in the Polish capital today for what was expected to be the first Soviet-bloc summit strategy session since the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev in October.

Their arrival by train from Moscow cleared up a mystery over their whereabouts. They left Moscow Saturday night and, although it was presumed they would arrive here Sunday afternoon, there was no news about them until today.

It was thought earlier that the absence from the public scene today of both Russian and Polish leaders could have meant that secret exchanges were being held prior to the first formal meeting of the Warsaw pact — the Communist equivalent to NATO—Tuesday.

The Communist leaders are meeting mainly to decide how to counter the West's proposals for a nuclear Multilateral Force (MFL). But informants said this was only the formal excuse for a wide-ranging policy review.

Pearson Is Back in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson, sun - tanned and rested, today was back in the Canadian capital following a 10-day Florida vacation and a important signing of a North American free trade auto pact with U.S. President Johnson.

The prime minister and Mrs. Pearson flew into Ottawa Sunday evening from Washington where he stopped overnight to meet with several officials, including U.S. Vice - President Elect Humphrey.

The Pearsons stepped off the Jetstar aircraft to be greeted by several cabinet ministers and the U.S. ambassador to Canada, W. Walton Butterworth.

At a short press conference, the prime minister said it might be worthwhile exploring whether the techniques involved in the auto pact could be applied to other industries.

He had been asked whether the agreement, signed by the two leaders, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and External Affairs Minister Martin at the LBJ Ranch Saturday, was a possible first step towards a continental common market.

Mr. Pearson said that the auto industry was better fitted for such a free trade plan than most industries. Before any expansion to other industries was considered the auto plan should be examined on its merits.

COULD EXPIRE

But he said it could be worthwhile exploring whether the techniques used in the motor vehicle field could be applied to other industries.

"I don't know whether it would be possible," he said.

The agreement, announced Friday in Ottawa and Washington, provides for the abolition of North American tariffs for manufacturers of most motor vehicles and original parts. It is expected to increase Canadian vehicle production by

Generals Get Cabinet Posts In Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet Nam's young generals took a more open hand in the direction of the government today as three of them were reported named to posts in Premier Tran Van Huong's previously all-civilian cabinet.

The government also moved to step up the war effort by giving its ministries power to draft personnel and requisition property.

Reliable sources said Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu becomes deputy premier and takes over the defence ministry from Huong. The air force commander, Brig.-Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, became minister of youth and sport, and army security chief, Brig.-Gen. Linh Quang Viein, was made information minister.

Crucial Meetings Ahead

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN (AP)—European leaders start this week a series of visits that will help shape future co-operation between the United States and its allies on the use of nuclear weapons.

The United States controls well over 90 per cent of the strength. It will probably continue to do so for many years—though perhaps with increasingly influential advice from its allies.

The U.S. government would like to tie the allies into an accord that would give them nuclear roles, and at the same time prevent them from developing nuclear weapons on a national scale.

The major allies, West Germany, Britain and France, have aims of their own. Britain wants to cut its military, spending and move toward disarmament. President Charles de Gaulle wants to develop the small French nuclear force and, with it, his country's influence.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard has an election coming up in West Germiuy. He wants to show the voters he is getting the best kind of defence that he is making progress toward a multilateral force, a fleet of surface ships armed with Polaris missiles. This would give West Germany its first nuclear role, though a small one.

De Gaulle opposes MLF. He does not seem to think the West Germans need play a nuclear role at all, certainly not just now.

But at the same time, France and West Germany are pledged to co-operate on defence and foreign affairs. Erhard hopes to get de Gaulle's go-ahead for plans to extend this co-operation to the six nations fusing their economies in the Common Market: West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

On Thursday, after Erhard gets back from Washington, Harold Wilson arrives in Bonn. Britain's prime minister will have a cold time of it if Erhard and de Gaulle have made any solid agreement.

BRITAIN BURDENED

Britain's small but expensive nuclear force is considered a very heavy burden on its economy.

Seek Million Dollars for Defence of 18 Charged in Deaths of Civil Rights Trio

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Appeals for cash went out today as 18 men awaited arraignment in Mississippi's case of the three murdered civil rights workers.

The FBI said two other men would be arrested soon.

The two are Horace D. Barnette, 25, and James E. Jordan. Both used to live here but moved elsewhere after the killings. Their present whereabouts was an FBI secret.

A federal grand jury in Jackson indicted 18 white men on charges of conspiracy in the case. Those arrested here and at nearby Philadelphia Saturday were freed on bond.

No arraignment date was set.

At least two - fund raising groups were bidding for defence donations.

One—with a goal of $1,000,000 —said collection boxes will be placed at every business establishment in the state and every public official would be tapped for contributions.

The 18 arrested included Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 41, and Chief Deputy Cecil Price, 26, both of Philadelphia.

Price was among 10 men the FBI said actually plotted the Ku Klux Klan conspiracy to intercept, "shoot and kill" the three men near Philadelphia, some 40 miles northwest of here, last June 21.

Barnette and Jordan also were among the 10 men listed. The FBI said both gave written eyewitness statements about the killings, which set off a massive FBI investigation.

An effort by a Meridian law firm to have Jordan subpoenaed as a witness in a minor traffic incident was rebuffed by FBI agents last week.

Barnette's lawyer denied that any statement was given.

Asked if the two men were under FBI protection, a department spokesman said: "We certainly have a continuing interest in their security."

The federal government has no authority to file murder charges in the case. There was no word on plans for state action. The Neshoba County grand jury, which would consider any state charges filed, meets next month.

Governor Paul Johnson has said murder charges will be filed "if evidence warrants."

"It is an odd thing that so much hell is being raised over three people missing in Mississippi when 10,000 are missing in New York," he said in New Orleans last week.

The governor did not elaborate on what he meant by "missing."

The three dead men were found buried deep in a clay dam on a farm near Philadelphia Aug. 4. An undisclosed informant directed the FBI to the location.

The victims were James Chaney, a 21-year-old Meridian Negro, and two white New Yorkers, Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman. 20.

Dinner Guest in S. Africa Apt to Arrive With Pistol

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—In South Africa the dinner guest is apt to arrive with a pistol.

This sort of thing has become part of the way of life in this racially segregated country. Many of its white people fear attack.

There are estimates that about half of the 3,000,000 whites have guns of some short or another. Many do not know how to use them.

Tear-gas pistols and tear-gas canisters are readily available.

Women are buying a new brassiere designed to conceal a small revolver.

Realistic plastic guns, firing small steel pellet capable of maiming at close range, sell for 25 cents.

Much concern as to what the future may bring. The determination of most whites to back the government's apartheid, or segregation, policy has been strengthened by various factors: Angry utterances against South Africa's race policies at the United Nations, ineffective sanctions aimed at breaking down this country's apartheid barriers and scattered acts of sabotage within South Africa. .

Under Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd and Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster, architect of his country's stringent security laws, most would-be African nationalist leaders, academics and white agitators are either in jail or otherwise rendered ineffective.

Many whites with liberal leanings have been placed under house arrest. Others have fled from the country to escape the long arm of Vorster's security police.

Last year's sabotage incidents and disclosures at sabotage and anti-Communist trials have made white South Africans increasingly security - minded. Many politicians and military leaders now are looking toward the borders of this republic and viewing the possible future threat from nearby independent black states, some of which harbor and train black saboteurs and agitators.

Texans Coming, Money in Fist, Gleam In Eye, to See Johnson Inaugurated

WASHINGTON (CP) — Part coronation and part unabashed political clambake, the inauguration rites Wednesday for an American president will take on a gloss of Texan grandeur.

"Y'all come," Lyndon Baines Johnson insisted across the United States last fall in fashioning his landslide election victory last November.

They're coming, Texans and all, money in fist and gleam in eye to participate in the anointing of the 36th U.S. president and the first from the Lone Star state.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: It is unlikely that the record - breaking temperatures of the last few days will recur for a few days at least. As a storm moves away today strong northwest winds will develop which will cause gusts enable drifting through southern Ontario's snow belt. They will decrease markedly again tonight though and on Tuesday morning another storm will be moving southeast from Lake Superior.

Today's Chuckle

The tongue is the deadliest of all blunt instruments.

From Monday through Wednesday, Washington will be no place for tightwads, politically-unattached citizens or most Republicans. For many native Washingtonians, it will be a time to meditate over television sets behind closed doors.

More than 30,000 visitors are expected. The White House itself will be so full—22 guests—that some presidential cousins will have to stay at hotels and Luci Baines, youngest Johnson daughter, will be on a cot.

Those lucky, well-heeled and strong enough to be able to face the quadrennial three - day round of receptions, concerts and frolics will be underwriting with substantial contributions the estimated $1,600,000 cost.

The participants almost to every man, woman and child are there only because they have some sort of political connection. Democratic party of course.

The inauguration proper will start Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. EST with the president's inaugural address delivered before the high-domed capital buildings. For weeks, special viewing stands have been erected there, at the White House and along the route of the massive parade to follow.

If the schedule holds up, President Johnson—attired in a business suit rather than more formal attire of the past—will raise his right hand to be sworn in at noon precisely.

He will be the best-protected president in American history, covered by rifle-bearing Secret Service men using TV scanners. His limousine has been overhauled with bullet-proof glass added to the bubble-type viewing dome. His reviewing stand for the parade includes a high wall of armour plate and thick glass - all precautions ordered after the assassination of president Kennedy.

The fervent hope is for a non-recurrence of the bitter-cold weather in Washington—and the snow that smote the capital in 1961.

In recent weeks, about 150,000 invitations to "attend and participate in" the inauguration have been mailed out. Another 50,000 will go out after as souvenirs, because that is all the official invitation is.

The inaugural ball Wednesday is a special phenomenon spread over four different sites. The president will call at each. Precision orchestras — Louis Armstrong to local bands — are involved and four military bands will contribute to a touch of everything "but the minuet and the Gregorian chant."

Little Weaker After Spending Restful Night

British Officials Start To Prepare for Funeral

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) Sir Winston Churchill's strength is gradually ebbing and his physician, Lord Moran, today announced that "he is a little weaker."

The valiant 90-year-old warrior was slowly giving way to the cerebral stroke that felled him last Friday. A crescendo of sympathy and sorrow was welling up around the world as British officials quietly began preparations for the great homage that will be due the wartime leader in the event of his death.

There was no doubt that although a commoner, Churchill would be accorded a state funeral with all the honors due a sovereign. It would be the greatest honor since the death of the Duke of Wellington in 1852.

The 82-year-old Lord Moran, who served Churchill all through the Second World War, arrived at Churchill's residence at 11:17 a.m. (6:17 a.m. EST) and issued his medical bulletin 30 minutes later.

The bulletin said:

"Sir Winston had a restful night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

This was the seventh bulletin since Churchill was stricken with cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Moran was asked by reporters whether Churchill was taking nourishment.

The grey - haired doctor replied: "I can't answer that."

Before driving away, Moran said the next bulletin would be issued at 8:30 p.m. (3:30 p.m. EST).

Moran examined Churchill twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a serious start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

Medical experts said the bulletin meant Churchill's condition was deteriorating. He was getting worse and it was what had to be expected, they said.

Tanker Crash Kills 30

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Thirty persons died Saturday when a KC-135 jet tanker loaded with fuel smashed into a quiet section of modest homes in the city's worst disaster.

The toll included 22 residents of the area and seven crew members of the plane that left McConnell Air Force Base three minutes before it plunged almost vertically into Piatt Street.

Five houses were consumed by the flaming fuel that splashed from broken tanks. Only the shells remained of six houses and 25 others were damaged.

Emmit Warmsley, 37, his pregnant wife and their three children were among the dead.

Albert Boden, 22, his wife and their three children also died in the holocaust.

Joe Martin, Jr., 25, and his brother, Gary Linn Martin, 17, died at the scene.

SEEK HOMES

While military and civilian authorities carried on the grim task of cleaning up the area seven local businessmen set about finding a home for those displaced by the tragedy.

City Fire Chief T. A. McGaughey estimated damage to civilian property at $155,000. The plane, a modified version of the

Marmora Parents, Children Homeless in Morning Fire

MARMORA (Special) — A Marmora family of six, including four small children, was forced to flee in their night clothes early this morning when fire destroyed their Forsyth Street Home.

Homeless are Mr. and Mrs. Beverley Pollock who were alerted to the fire at three o'clock a.m. Mrs. Pollock escaped and her year old baby.

The parents carried their four children to safety but were unable to save any of their household belongings or personal clothing.

The house, owned by Mrs. Marguerite Keatings, was completely destroyed. Mr.-Pollock is unemployed.

The homeless family spent the remainder of the night at the home of neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warren and today the children are staying temporarily with their grandmother.

An appeal went out today for clothing for the destitute parents and their four children, Anne 9, Carl 8, Randy 2 and Dwayne 1.

Marmora volunteer fire department fought the blaze for two and a half hours in zero weather.

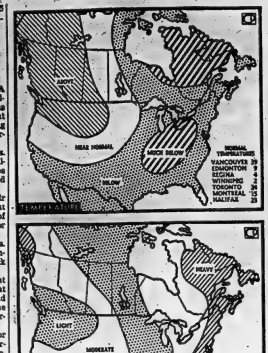
GOOD RELATIONS RESUMED

JAKARTA (AP)—In a ceremony Sunday night in Jakarta's presidential palace, President Sukarno swore in Subjarvo Tjondronegoro, the first Indonesian ambassador to The Netherlands since the resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries in 1963. Indonesia broke diplomatic relations with The Netherlands in 1959 following a dispute over West New Guinea.

Man Clinically Dead Now Sitting Up

TORONTO (CP) — James Madgett, 39, of Toronto was clinically dead Friday. His pulse had stopped. Sunday, he was sitting up in a hospital bed, eating a meal.

Mr. Madgett was reported in good—a nursing sister called it "miraculous" — condition Sunday night.



Friday, he was in the office of Dr. E. Laurie Morgan for a routine check-up when he suffered a seizure. He had apparently died.

Dr. Morgan applied external heart massage while his nurse called firemen and an ambulance. As the doctor continued the massage, firemen gave Mr. Madgett inhalator treatment.

The ambulance took him to hospital where treatment continued. But the patient's pulse did not respond and a coroner was called.

Then, about an hour after it had stopped, the pulse began beating faintly. And Mr. Madgett gradually emerged from a coma into a natural sleep.

IN MEMORIAM

DAFOE — In loving memory of Albert Dafoe who passed away January 18th, 1947.
Those we love we never lose,
For life holds all who've gone before.
Loved, remembered, treasured,
And always in our memory.
—Ever remembered by his family.

CLARK — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, George M. Clark, who passed away January 18th, 1953.
Deep in my heart lies a picture,
Of one I loved so dear and good,
It's the picture of my dear father,
Whose memory will never grow old.
—Lovingly remembered by granddaughter Lorna and grandson Earl.

CLARK — In loving memory of a dear grandfather, George M. Clark, who passed away January 18th, 1953.
His charming ways and smiling face,
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each,
And God believed it all.
—Ever remembered by his grandson, Brian and family.

Mac White and his rink of Bill Henderson, Al McCullam and Ron Benn will represent the Quinte Curling Club in the playdowns leading to the Ontario finals in the British Consols. They won the right on Friday when they defeated a rink skipped by Murray Johnston and which included, Al Shukster, Jim Pettitcrew and Dave Brown by 11-15, the game being called at the end of ten ends of a 12-end game. White scored a couple of threes and a two and that broke the back of the opposition.

Play will open at the Cataraqui Curling Club on Tuesday morning and it is expected there will be rinks from Trenton RCAF, Belleville, Trenton, Napanee, Cataraqui, Kingston Curling Club, Cornwall, Brockville, Gananoque and Picton possibly. The first draw will be at nine o'clock and this is a knockout draw. If the White rink survives the draw they will play in the Ontario finals at Cobourg in February.

A rink of Fred Maund, Bill Gault, Cec Kirkwood and Ernie Wilkinson have returned from Utica, N.Y. and again report a most enjoyable time. The boys were beaten in final match but at Utica fellowship counts and rinks are present from all over Ontario and the United States. Only medals are given for winning.

Congratulations are in order to the school boys' rink that took part in the Ontario finals at Oshawa on Saturday. The boys who have not played regularly together for any length of time, were up against very stiff opposition and in the games they lost they were by small scores. If they stay together another year they will be a tough rink to beat because all of the boys have the natural ability to curb and thoroughly enjoy the sport.

Hockey Game Was Played Under Water

TRENTON — The most unusual hockey game of the season was played Saturday night in the RCAF swimming pool when the Trenton Flying Frogmen took on the Quinte (Belleville) Aqua Divers in an underwater match.

Playing with a special type of wooden paddle, the five players to a side knocked around the three-pound brass "puck" on the bottom of the pool. Players were face plates, fins and snorkels.

The score was 5-0 for Trenton and Belleville may call a return match within a week or so.

LOTS OF TRAVELLING

Stanley H. Sears, service bureau officer for Branch 110 of the Royal Canadian Legion, reports in the monthly branch bulletin he has travelled 249 miles in 1964 in the service of veterans.

During the year, Mr. Sears made 19 trips to out-of-town veterans who were unable to come into town; 44 visits to local veterans who asked for assistance; 13 applications for pensions or adjustments were processed and certified; 89 persons phoned Mr. Sears to ask for advice or instruction; 41 persons were interviewed in his office; 68 letters were received regarding veterans or their dependents and 41 of these were answered, the others being handled in personal contact.

TRENTON — Notarian Jack Goldberg has received a personal letter of congratulation from the president of Rotary International, Charles Pettingill, complimenting Mr. Goldberg for his work in editing the Trenton club bulletin for the past ten years.

"The letter will be one of my most treasured momentos of the years past and future in Rotary," comments Mr. Goldberg in the latest edition of the Rotary Service Wheel.

In the January 14 bulletin, Mr. Goldberg notes that the following Trenton Rotarians are in a community service: Daniel Senik, public relations for the Trenton Chapter of the Ontario Heart Foundation; Robert Smithkin, and R. D. McDonald in the Community Concerts Association; T. S. Ketcheson, chairman of the Trenton Board of Education; Jack Hadley and W.J. Wilkinson, school board members; Clifford A. Baker, chairman of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission and C. V. Graham, town councillor.

WMS to Hold Presbyterial Meeting

TRENTON—On Wednesday, January 20, the Women's Missionary Society of Kingston Presbyterial will meet in St. Andrew's Church in Trenton. Delegates will be present from as far east as Gananoque, south to Picton and north to Madoc. An estimated 120 women will be in attendance for the sessions which begin at 2.15 p.m. on Wednesday and go on through the evening.

Officers will present their annual reports and special workshops will be carried on, showing the most effective ways of presenting the missionary work of the church. Mrs. Denton Taylor of Belleville is planning to show by film strips, the best way to teach children the all important task to which the church is called.

The main speaker for the conference is Miss E. L. McClelland of Toronto who is the national treasurer of the society. It is planned to have Miss McClelland speak in the evening thus enabling business women to have the opportunity of hearing this interesting and well informed speaker.

The closing meditation and installation of officers will be conducted by Rev. D. A. Wilson, minister of St. Andrew's.

Mrs. J. Craig of Belleville will preside at all sessions and the arrangements for the meeting in the church will be in the hands of Mrs. W. J. McLaren who is president of St. Andrew's Auxiliary.

RCAF Officer Promoted to Squadron Leader

The promotion of Flight Lieutenant Cleveland Knight to the rank of Squadron Leader has been announced by Air Transport Command Headquarters.

Squadron Leader Knight, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Knight of Maxwell Hill, Christ Church, Barbados, was born in that West Indies island and received his education there. In 1949, he came to Canada and furthered his education at Sir George William University in Montreal.

Squadron Leader Knight joined the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1951 and received his Radio Officer's wings at RCAF Station, Rivers, Ont., in May of 1952. After serving with the James Bay Squadron during the Korean airlift, he was transferred in 1955 to 4 Operational Training Unit at RCAF Station Trenton. He served as a Radio Officer instructor until 1959, when he was sent to the staff of the Telecommunications branch of Air Transport Command headquarters.

Squadron Leader Knight received news of his promotion while vacationing in Barbados with his wife, the former Dorothy McKemie of Bank Hall, Barbados, and his 3 children; Brenda, 9, Kevin 8, and Wendy 6 months. The Knight family now live at 311 Farley Ave., in Belleville, Out.

Plumbers, Garagemen Swamped By Calls for Aid in Cold Spell

After four days of sub-zero temperatures the Bay of Quinte district is again enjoying milder weather, but local fuel merchants and plumbers, as well as garagemen, are still trying to keep up with maintenance and service calls.

Pumphouse officials say that the four days of sub-zero weather was nothing like a record, but the cold nevertheless made itself felt by waterpipe freeze-ups and hard-to-start autos.

Local plumbers reported an avalanche of service calls as frost-broken and frozen pipes put domestic water systems out of business.

The local Public Utilities Office also reported numerous calls to thaw out frozen underground leads.

And the calls for assistance in thawing out frozen pipes and drains were still continuing this morning.

Temperatures commenced to moderate on Sunday and today the zero weather is being pushed out of the area by the arrival of snow. Approximately six inches of fluffy stuff had fallen by noon today.

Elderly Couple Die in Fire Near North Bay

NORTH BA (CP)—An elderly couple, married less than three weeks, died early today in a fire that destroyed their house in neighboring Widdifield Township.

Alex Lafortune, 65, and his bride Maria, 79, were married in North Bay New Year's Eve.

The man's body was found on a cot and that of his wife in the kitchen. The house was destroyed.

Sanford Hubble, 85, Flees From Burning Home Sunday

An 85-year-old Belleville resident, Sanford Hubble of 153 James Street, escaped from his burning home early Sunday morning in sub-zero temperatures. Mr. Hubble, who lives alone, made his way to safety through the smoke-filled house.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than five hours but because the fire had such a great head start, they were unable to save the building or its contents. Both were fully covered by insurance.

Three firemen were sent to hospital, none of them seriously injured. Firemen George Woodhouse and Ray Reid were injured when the roof above them collapsed. They were inside the building along with several other firemen when the incident occurred. It is believed Mr. Woodhouse is suffering from an ankle injury.

Fireman Fred Smith was attacking the blaze from the outside of the building. He had climbed a ladder to the upper storey. The chimney began falling away from the building and Mr. Smith decided he had better get down. While he was coming down the ladder he slipped on the icy rungs and fell about six feet to the ground.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined but it is believed to have been due to a faulty chimney. Deputy Fire Chief, T. Poste said that the fire had got a great head start before the department was called. Mr. Poste said that no matter where firemen cut into the walls, fire leaped out. He said it had been burning in the partitions for quite a while.

When the department first received the alarm, they were told the call was for a chimney fire. However, when the first truck arrived on the scene firemen discovered the whole house was ablaze and radioed for additional help.

Mr. Hubble was taken to the home of his son.

Boeing 707, was valued at $3,000,000.

Utilities in the crash area were shut off because of broken water and gas mains. They were largely restored Sunday night but not before many residents in undamaged houses spent a cold night at home.

Brig.-Gen. Murray Bywater, named to head an investigation of the crash, said everything about the plane's takeoff was normal.

The craft, loaded with 80 tons of fuel for a test mission with a B-52 bomber, was given clearance to make a left turn and climb on a prescribed course.

"In a very few seconds, the pilot called mayday, mayday, mayday, and gave his call sign," he said. "The control tower operator cleared him to land" and asked what his trouble was.

"There was no reply."

Bywater said the plane was dumping fuel but that it was too early in the investigation to say whether the pilot had power or control difficulties.

The plane was in a steep bank at Col. Tom Murphy, director of safety for the Second Air Force, said some witnesses indicated it came in at about an 80-degree angle — almost vertical. He said there were some reports that the plane was inverted just before impact.

Why did Mr. & Mrs. Graham open a Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit Account?

It all started when Mary Graham saw all the bargains advertised in the newspaper. Several stores were having big sales and she showed Jack the low prices on portable T.V.'s, and, of course, the specials on fur jackets. These sales were a "once-a-year" chance for the Grahams to take advantage of good buying opportunities but they didn't have the ready cash. The next day Jack Graham was discussing his problem with his Scotiabranch manager. He learned the details about Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit and Jack quickly saw its many advantages. After a few questions about his job and how much he committed monthly income was available for Cheque-Credit, Jack and Mary Graham were well on their way to getting the things they needed—and at sale prices, too.

Cheque-Credit gives you the extra money you need—when you need it!

1 You select the monthly payment that you can afford and then apply for twelve times that amount.

2 When your application has been approved you receive a book of special personalized cheques.

3 You are not confined to spending in specified stores. Your cheques are good for anything you need, anytime, anywhere in Canada.

4 The charge on Cheque Plan Cheque-Credit is $6.00 per year for each $100 borrowed. You pay only on the amount of credit actually used. You do not pay anything for the money held in reserve for your account.

5 Your monthly payment is approximately one-twelfth of the amount of credit you have used so far.

6 Each month you will receive a statement of cheques written, payments to be made, and the amount of credit still open.

7 Each payment you make rebuilds your Cheque-Credit reserve, giving you a continual supply of credit.

Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit is life-insured, too, at no extra cost to you. Find out today all about Cheque-Credit at your nearest Scotiabranch.

if you fail to keep your automobile liability insurance in force and you are responsible for an automobile accident resulting in a claim?

You do!

Here are the reasons why you should always carry automobile liability insurance:

1. If your automobile insurance lapses, you become liable to a fine of up to $500 unless you immediately renew your insurance or pay a $20 uninsured motor vehicle fee at a motor vehicle licence agency office.
2. Payment of the $20 fee gives no protection whatever against a subsequent judgment against you. Some judgments may be in excess of $25,000—a serious blow to the future of any young man and to his family as well.
3. If there is a claim against you as an uninsured motor vehicle owner and you are liable, the claim will be paid by the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, but you must repay the fund. You will not be allowed to own or operate a motor vehicle until you make arrangements to repay the fund.

When you apply for your 1965 Ontario licence plates be sure you have an automobile liability insurance policy in force and avoid payment of the extra $20 fee. Be a safe, responsible driver and protect your future.

Shulman Urges Reform

Dr. Morton Shulman, the energetic and courageous chief coroner of Metropolitan Toronto, is in the news again.

This time he is advocating an amendment to the Criminal Code to provide greater freedom for physicians to perform abortions.

Dr. Shulman thinks that abortions should be legal to prevent children being born with serious physical and mental defects. He would also permit them when pregnancy impairs a woman's mental or physical health. At present abortions are legal only when a physician considers it necessary to save a woman's life.

A third case of pregnancy which Dr. Shulman would permit to be terminated by an abortion is where conception results from incest or rape.

His proposals seem reasonable. Such an amendment to the Code would only be permissive —there would be nothing to force any person who objects to abortion for religious reasons to undergo such an operation.

Legalization of abortions where conception is the result of incest or rape, (particularly the later), seems highly desirable.

It is difficult to understand how the law can deny such relief to a woman who has been wronged.

As a safeguard to a woman's health, the change might not mean too much. We would think that, if it was evident that pregnancy would impair a woman's mental or physical health, there would be many doctors who would be able to persuade themselves that her life was in danger so that an abortion, under present laws, was legal.

As for abortions to prevent the birth of children with physical and mental defects, some safeguards would be necessary. The exact nature of what was considered a defect serious enough to make abortion legal would need to be carefully stated. Many deformed people have made major contributions to humanity, and many others have brought happiness and love to the families into which they were born. In cases where the child is a monster, within the technical meaning of that term, a doctor has told us it is surprising how often the mother needs urgent attention, so that the infant is overlooked until it is too late to save its life. An abortion, though, might be simpler and less psychologically damaging for the mother.

School in Shifts

Next year Grade 9 students at the Belleville Collegiate will be on a two-shift system.

Situations like this were not unusual in the "forties," when the construction holiday forced on us by the war resulted in our school plant being inadequate for an increased number of pupils.

There may be some, though, who will argue there is no excuse for the same situation occurring today. Though we have some sympathy with families which may find their routine disrupted by members going to school at unusual hours, we think that the difficulties of adding another school to a relatively small system ought not to be overlooked. If a fourth high school had been ready for occupancy next September, there would almost certainly have been some criticism from taxpayers about the sparsely-filled classrooms, in it or in other schools in the Quinte system. As it is, one year's experience with staggered classes seem ot emphasise the fact that the new school is essential.

In a decade, Belleville will have grouped from one secondary school to four, not reckoning the addition to our facilities of Nicholson Catholic College. Certainly the total district population has not increased four-fold in the same period. Increased school enrollment can be influenced by several factors, but in the main it is the result of the extremely high proportion of today's population in the lower age brackets. This is the local impact of the population explosion, in which Canada has shared along with other parts of the world. Any inconveniences it may cause us are likely to be slight compared with the kind of problems which face heavily populated lands. Even Canada, though, is not likely to escape so slightly that our only complaint is a few staggered school classes. Our first major problem may be finding jobs for all these young people, after they have completed their schooling.

I am a Dr. Kildare fan because, after attending to patients for seven days and seven nights, mostly for non-existent diseases, I like to see at least one really ill individual and practise good medicine, even though only vicariously.—Correspondent in Lancet, British medical publication.

Proper Anemia Diet Includes Ample Protein

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you suggest a diet for anemia and high blood pressure.

My condition seems to be a paradox. I didn't think it possible to have anemia and high blood pressure at the same time. —M. B.

No, it's not a paradox. It is quite possible. It is true that a person with a severe anemia may have low blood pressure — for instance, if the anemia is related to low thyroid function or chronic or subtle blood loss.

Conversely, high blood pressure can be due to certain kidney disorders accompanied by loss of considerable albumin and microscopic quantities of blood, with an anemia developing even though the blood pressure is high.

There are various causes of both problems, anemia and elevated blood pressure, and they can occur at the same time.

Proper diet for anemia should include ample protein (lean meat, fish, fowl, dairy products). If iron deficiency is present, this usually is treated with medicines containing iron.

There is no specific diet for high blood pressure, except that the amount of salt of sodium products should be limited.

If the patient is overweight, then a low-calorie diet (for reducing) is in order. Or in some cases in which there has been serious kidney impairment, protein may be restricted.

But there is no special diet for a combination of anemia and high blood pressure.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 45 and have been married 20 years. My husband seems to think that this affects a woman's sanity. Is he right? — Mrs. B. C.

Of course, there's nothing to that idea, and if he would stop and think for a moment he would realize how ridiculous it is. Jitters, nerves, depression, sometimes are a passing problem, but that is quite another thing. Inugest you read, "Make Menopause Easier," a booklet I've written on the whole subject. (A copy is available in return for 30 cents in coin and a long, unstamped, self-addressed envelope. Send requests to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any treatment now for chronic allergic conjunctivitis? I have had it since childhood; my eyes are constantly burning and tearing. I must be allergic to everything in the air, I also get pus in my eyes, and styes. — Mrs. R. W.

If it really is allergic conjunctivitis (inflammation of the conjunctiva, or membranes inside the eyelid and on the front of the eyeball) any effective attack must be at the allergy.

With the presence of pus and styes, I suggest a careful study of the case to be sure that it is not some chronic infection. Or, of course, irritation from the allergy may have inflamed the tissues and permitted infection to get started besides.

It is not a comfortable problem to have to live with; neither is it safe. I suspect that more than one condition is present, and urge that you consult an opthalmologist (eye specialist) with the expectation that he will follow your case over a period of time.

Dear Dr. Molner: I plan to have cosmetic surgery on my overgrown nose. This is a small city with only two plastic surgeons. How can I be sure they are good reputable men before I get involved, and what do you think of cosmetic surgery? — Mrs. C.

First ask your regular physician to advise you. He can easily determine (if he doesn't already know) whether the surgeons have been certified by the national specialty board.

What do I think of cosmetic surgery? If it is really needed, there is no substitute for it.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

25 YEARS AGO

JANUARY 18, 1940

It has been officially estimated that some 80,000 automobiles which under ordinary circumstances would be scrapped as salvage yards are still on the roads of Canada today because they have been pressed into greater cars. As a result they are able to provide valuable transportation service, and lessen the strain on bus and other traffic lines.

The Department of Munitions and Supplies says that for the thirteen weeks to Dec. 16, motor cars went at the rate of 60,940 yearly to the scrap heap. The number rose to 65,000 in 1941-42 but in the latter year came restrictions, civilian production was cut off and gasoline rationing came in force—then the car owner really began to look after his car and the number of cars taken to the junk yard dropped in 1942-43 to 22,500.

Robert Falcon Scott, the British sailor and explorer, together with four companions, reached the South Pole 53 years ago today—in 1912 —to discover they had been beaten there by Amundsen. Sick and exhausted, suffering from frostbite and the severity of the weather made travelling slow on the return ourney. One by one, Scott's party fell from illness and exhaustion, and all were believed to have died by March 27. Eight months later a search party found the group's bodies in Scott's tent.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—Czernowitz was captured by Austrian troops; a Canadian Army training depot was established at Tidworth in England; furious battles took place along the Western Front; the Turkish winter campaign collapsed as Russians entered Turkish territory near Erzerun.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940—a German detachment was repulsed on the Western Front; Finns said Russian armies were retreating after abandoning an attempt to divide the country on the Lapland front; the Ontario legislature, by 46 to 10, adopted Premier Hepburn's motion condemning the federal government, a alleged inefficiency in the war effort.

Now They Weave Meat

Robert Cowen in the Christian Science Monitor

At some food laboratories today you can munch succulent chicken that was never a bird. You can eat ham that was never a hog. These are synthetic meats made from vegetable matter, a literal forestasie of the kind of food that may one day help feed an increasingly hungry world.

Dr. Emil M. Mrak, Chancellor of the University of California at Davis, cited these experiments during a recent conversation. He remarked that there never would be enough conventional food to meet the growing protein needs of mankind. There simply aren't enough fish in the sea or pastures on land to do the job.

By learning to get high-grade protein from vegetables without having to feed them to animals, he said, the world's food supply could be supplied. The big problems are finding ways to do this cheaply, and to put the food into an acceptible form.

Consider the synthetic meats. Dr. Mrak said they can be made by beating up vegetable matter to extract protein. Then the last traces of odors are removed. Then the material is made into fibrous texture, and together to make the meat. It's a little like making cloth.

To be useful, such a food has to be in a form that people will accept. This generally means it must be similar to familiar food — hence the synthetic chicken and ham.

Dr. Mrak said he has tried the ham and found it "quite good. Couldn't tell it from real ham." He added that it is much too expensive a product to help countries like India that really need help.

However, Dr. Mrak said the costs of synthetic foods in time could be brought down sharply if a determined enough research effort were made. It might even be possible someday to make them from such an abundant source as coal.

Indeed a number of food and oil research laboratories have been working with bacteria to turn certain petroleum constituents into protein. This is one promising method. It may also be possible to make the protein in a chemical plant.

Dr. A. T. McPherson, of the United States Bureau of Standards, thinks that another challenging enough to call for a crash program to learn to produce cheap food supplements in this way.

Asked about this, Dr. McPherson said he is studying food synthesis as a matter of personal interest. A private citizen he urges a crash development program because of recent world food forecasts such as that made by the Department of Agriculture. This indicates the chronic protein shortage in Asia may grow into a hunger crisis during the next decade.

With enough research effort, Dr. McPherson thinks the crisis could be averted by developing cheap synthetic foodstuffs.

Swedes Sink Old Jalopies

Watertown, N. Y., Times

Sweden has solved the problem of what to do with its old cars which have long outlived their usefulness. They abhor the idea of having them placed in junk yards where the beauty of the highway is marred. They are now being consigned to a watery grave in the Baltic sea, and forever out of sight.

With new cars selling at a furious pace in that country, which is true of the other nations of Western Europe and the United States, there is no certain to be a sharp increase in the number of vehicles that even the scrap dealer did not want.

In Sweden motorists began to abandon their old cars on the streets, much to the consternation of the authorities. But first a sanitation squad of machines of all salable parts.

The need for a service to take care of these cars, which no longer were able to proceed under their own power economically, was apparent. A firm in Stockholm figured out the idea of a watery graveyard for these unwanted cars.

It now offers to collect the automobile, load it onto a converted trawler, sail it 13 miles in the Baltic and there drop it into the water. With 75,000 cars being junked every year in Sweden and the authorities clamping down on junk yards, the prospects seemed

Strictly Personal
Beauty Is In Mind of the Beholder

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Beauty is

Beauty, we are told, is in the mind of the beholder, and I believe it. But where, then, is obscenity? Also in the mind of the beholder?

This vexing question has agitated the American community all the way up to the Supreme Court, and down again. The latest Supreme Court decision in the field holds that material conveying any "social importance" may not be considered as obscene.

Unlike beauty, however, it seems to me that obscenity resides in the mind of the conveyor. And who can look into another's mind and know his motives? Why did Henry Miller write "Tropic of Cancer"? Not even Mr. Miller could tell us the real reasons, for he does not know them.

The Supreme Court's decision is, of course, absurd. It is a makeshift device to prevent the local authorities from banning whatever works take their displeasure. As such, it was a necessary decision. In view of the asinine censorship regulations in most cities and states.

But it does nothing to clarify the meaning of obscenity. I believe it cannot be clarified in any legal way, for it is not a legal problem, but a philosophical one. Classically, like godliness, cannot be defined in the statute books.

We are an oddly inconsistent people. On the one hand, we resent laws, we cherish what we call our "personal liberty" and our individualism. On the other hand, we want the law to prescribe what we find personally offensive and appalling.

We loudly call upon the police and the courts to suppress pornography; but when the courts demand equal social treatment under the law for all, and we protest that "you can't legislate human feelings," what we are asking is for the courts to refrain from interfering with those feelings we enjoy, that we help eliminate those feelings that distress us.

But we cannot have it both ways. If we are going to allow city police and local courts and post-office officials to decide what is "obscene" and what is not, then we cannot turn around and demand "personal liberty" in other spheres of conduct. We have to decide what is the lesser risk to the community.

My own strong feeling is that our crusade against obscenity is a displacement activity, enables us to get rid of our own guilt by projecting it onto "dirty mongers." There is much more important "dirt" in our society, which we do little about, from the actual dirt of air pollution to the soiled state of politics and social inequities.

Obscenity will disappear when the need and demand for it disappear; it is only a symptom of a deeper malaise in the social organism.

Jail Policy Is Praised

Windsor Star

County jails, in many parts of the province, are mere under-staffed and ill-kept doggy days. This is literally so because, in those times, it was difficult to transfer prisoners any lengthy distances. Now, in this automotive age, they can be transported 80 miles in an hour.

Meantime many counties are left with jails and all but their paraphernalia in the form of staff and facilities which they really don't need. They are an unnecessary overhead.

This has brought about new thinking, and new ideas. The Province is encouraging regional jails to serve two or more counties. The first of these will be for Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton, quite a stretch of country. And another will serve the City of Hamilton and the counties of Wentworth and Halton.

This program should reduce the overhead costs and provide better facilities. Many county jails are 100 years or more old, quite substantial structures when built but now obsolete.

Other proposals would have one jail to serve Brantford, Brant, Oxford, Norfolk and Waterloo counties, and one in eastern Ontario in the Ottawa area. The Provincial Government, and the co-operating counties, are to be compliments-ted for their forward thinking.

Kingston Defeats Belleville in Chess

Kingston defeated Belleville by a 7-1 score in a South Eastern Ontario Chess League match played Sunday afternoon at the YMCA at Kingston. Reinder Sloot was the only Belleville player to win. The other seven, Phil Smedley, Dick Payne, Bruce May, Bob Sneddon, Willis Hinderks, Paul McEvary and J. Sloot, all lost. Belleville now has two games to play, one with Kingston and one with Cornwall.

Kingston, which defeated the strong Ottawa club in an early match, recently lost its return match by a 7-1 score.

Ben Corke's Rink Wins Sportsmen's Spiel at Club

A day of delicious food, good curling plenty of fun and entertainment passed into history with the closing of the Sportsmen's spiel at the Curling Club on Saturday night but the memory will linger on for some time. It was one of the many good ones and the committee headed by Ron Sexsmith to be congratulated for the splendid program provided, the good prizes offered and the good fellowship that prevailed throughout.

It all started on Friday night when the curlers were greeted with plenty of hamburgers, cheeseburgers and other delicacies before starting the first round. On Saturday noon the scene of perfection in food was reached when the boys sat down to the tables after loading their plates with delicious turkey, prime roast beef, splendid ham and the old army favorite baked beans. Dr. Bill Beattie was at his best in carving the giant turkeys provided, while John Black did a masterful job on slicing the beef. More than one occasion the boys could be seen sneaking back for an extra helping of the curing suffered in the first draw after dinner because the boys were all discouraged when the slams swoop. The meat courses were not the only things provided for the fall of dessert was beyond description. There was pie of every sort, cookies and cakes galoring and in the evening snack there were smoked oysters, cheese and crackers and other goodies. Two former curlers, Archie Thompson, of McConnell and Ben C. W. Coleman joined the group for dinner.

Before the final draw on Saturday night, George Moir of CJBQ, who incidentally belonged C. D. Tice another newsman join in the prize money, sat down at the piano and a real old fashioned sing song was the result and this was carried on until the late hours after the lights had been dished on the rink. The discouraged there are many splendid voices in the club and probably a good choir could be formed.

A rink of Harry Trepanier, Al Schuster, Bruce McKenzie with Ray Corke as skip were the last names inscribed on the Steve Flintoft trophy as they won the three-game total score in the spiel. The runners-up were a rink of Alex Ingram, Whit Wermuth, Bob Smith and skipped by "Pat" Houston. Bob Alexander's rink of Ed Sweet, Ernie Palmer and Ken Pinder won the two-game high score and a rink of Bill Fraser, Bud Trill, Jim Pettigrew skipped by Mac White was in second place. Third spot was won by a rink of Mac Binning, Dave Healy, Dawson Bond and Al McCallum as skip. The one-game high was won by a rink of Ron Bunkard, Phil Shoaf, Lloyd Lantz with Claude D. Tice as skip. George Moir of CJBQ helped out in the third game. The no-game high winner was a rink of Ray Swansburg, Peter Loder, Joe McKay with "Toots" Holway as skip.

At the conclusion of the games Dick Bearse acted as master of ceremonies in the distribution of prizes after which the party broke off into groups to sing, play cards and again talk over the delightful play. The scores of the second and third rounds were:

Successful banking begins with a savings account

Like almost everyone else, you use your local chartered bank as a safe and handy place to build the savings reserve that is so important to your financial future. In doing so, you do more than build a solid foundation for financial plans. You are building a valuable banking relationship and helping to establish your credit. And as you get to know the manager and staff — as you use other banking services to meet personal or business needs — your banking contacts become even more useful to you. And it all starts with a savings account!

THE CHARTERED BANKS SERVING YOUR COMMUNITY

Through 5,650 branches, all across Canada, the chartered banks bring full-range banking within the reach of everyone.

Council of Women Desire Less Production of Crime

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—The 700,000 affiliated members of the National Council of Women have expressed an "almost unanimous" desire for a reduction in the number of television programs featuring violence, sadism and immorality.

In a brief to the Board of Broadcast Governors, which meets here Tuesday, the council reported this finding of a two-year survey on TV programs it conducted among its members.

The council, founded in 1893, is a federation of 57 local councils, seven provincial councils and 30 nationally - organized women's societies. Approximately 1,800 organizations are federated with the local and provincial councils.

The council says it found no demand for censorship. But there was a demand that "violence for the sake of violence should go," especially when a program suggests violence as the sole solution to a problem.

The submission makes no reference to the declaration of Canadian women, a document sharply criticizing the publicly-owned CBC which has been circulating among women's groups since last May.

CONTAINS ANSWER

But a spokesman in the council's national office indicated the brief contains the council's answer to the declaration, which said the CBC has spread propaganda for perversion, pornography, hate, blasphemy, dope, violence and crime.

"We prefer to state our opinion in more moderate terms and to commend the television industry for the programs we believe good," said the spokesman.

No specific television programs are singled out for criticism but the brief says council members are greatly concerned about the lowering of people of immoral character to the position of qualified experts by undue prominence on TV.

"The implication of such programs being seen in the home is that they are acceptable by the standards of society and morality of the day."

The CBC is commended by the council for providing programs which "foster the national unity and interpret regional differences" and for programs which develop Canadian musical, dramatic, literary and artistic talent.

Eight CBC television programs are singled out for special praise—The National News, Viewpoint, Newsmagazine, Festival, Front Page Challenge, Friendly Giant, Cher Helene, and Take Thirty.

Quinte Branch W.I. Hears Talk on Blind

The Quinte Branch Women's Institute held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. K. Vivian in Stanmorelth with 19 members and six visitors in attendance. One of the visitors became a member of the W.I.

The president, Mrs. C. Wood opened the meeting in the usual manner and a number of letters were read. Members were loud in their praise of the 4-H Club girls, especially to Marlene Mitchell who won the provincial honors for completing 13 courses and to five other girls who had completed two years.

FINE PROGRAM

The program based on health was in charge of the health convener, Mrs. K. Vivian and opened with the motto, "A person who has life has hope", given by Mrs. F. Dustaxe. She said that hope was essential to both success and happiness and that everyone should have an aim in life, an objective to which one can train all of one's faculties in a wise and true choices as his life work. She dealt with the life of Lincoln and noted that the more one delved into his background the more his nobility of character impressed one. He was a world figure with a goal before him and with much ambition but the only thing was to benefit mankind.

She also referred to Thomas Edison and to one of his messages delivered to the world in which he felt that everyone should look forward, in other words, to have faith.

Mrs. Dustaxe noted that this was a man who through his inventions could easily have become the richest man in the world, but his only ambition was to benefit mankind, which he did.

In closing the speaker said, "We cannot turn about and live yesterday over again, nor can we safely substitute tomorrow for today." She followed with an appropriate poem.

GUEST SPEAKER

Two Irish songs were sung after which Mrs. Vivian introduced the guest speaker, Mr. F. I. Timmins of Kingston who is field secretary for the C.N.I.B. He gave a most enlightening talk on the work of the blind and of the many useful tasks which can be performed by these handicapped citizens. Upon conclusion, he answered a number of interesting questions.

It was announced that a euchre party would be held in February at the W.I. hall, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. K. Vivian, Mrs. A. Cook, Mrs. W. Bell, Mrs. S. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Doxtator.

NO SLACKS RULE

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—Collegiate girls in North Battleford have been served notice that the no-slacks in-school rule will be enforced this academic year. Principal W. R. Changing facilities are provided, he says, for girls who wear slacks to and from classes.

High Fashions Showings Begin in Rome

By LOUISE HICKMAN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—The boutique phase of the Florentine collections for spring and summer left ideas still whirling today as high fashion showings began.

Capucll solved the problem of women who look best in long skirts but would love to wear pants. He has with a cutter-towel arrangement that looks better than it sounds.

Their black silk knit apron shirt, swinging wide open in back over nothing but a skirt, does create a minor social problem though: What a man should do with his right hand while dancing.

Albert College Guild Addressed by Constable

For their first meeting in 1965 the Albert College Guild met in all the Manor. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. W. Smith, the vice-president, welcomed the members.

Mrs. Vanzer led the worship service. Her theme was on the importance of prayer and faith.

Mrs. M. Manley, a member of Bridge Street United Church choir sang two delightful solos. She was accompanied by Mr. S. Alec Gordon.

Mrs. C. L. Ryde, in a witty manner, introduced the guest speaker, Constable Willis of the Ontario Provincial Police.

IRISH HUMOUR

Constable Willis was born in Ireland and Irish humor kept bubbling up through his dignified and informative speech on "A Day in the Life of a Provincial Policeman".

As the members listened to the varied duties of an OPP constable they were reminded of Gilbert and Sullivan chorus, "A Policeman's Life is Not a Happy One". However, Constable Willis does not agree with this idea. He feels that it is a most rewarding lot.

He told them of the type of strict surveillance even as to his appearance. This is not resented but taken as part of his training.

RANGE OF WORK

His work ranges from patrolling the highways to befriending youth; from picking up vagrants and hoodlums to helping those in trouble; from frequent prevention of crime to the apprehension of criminals.

He must be letter perfect in the rules of the Force and have a working knowledge of the laws relating to all phases of his work.

Great skill is needed in dealing with serious automobile accidents. Not only must the injured be looked after but careful notes of the details of the accident made, as months later the officer may be under oath in giving his account of the accident.

Throughout Constable Willis' talk the integrity of the Force, his versatility, its pride in its work, and its discipline were apparent.

Mrs. Fleming graciously expressed the thanks of the Guild to the speaker for his interesting and informative talk.

At the social hour which always closes Guild meetings, Mrs. Finkle and Mrs. Boyce presided at the tea table.

Red and White Dresses Chosen by Mrs. Johnson For Four Major Events

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dramatic dresses in red and white have been chosen by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson for four major events marking this week's inauguration of her husband as the 36th president of the United States, the White House announced Sunday.

Her ballgown is made of jonquil yellow heavy satin by John Moore of New York.

Mrs. Johnson will make her first evening appearance — at the Democratic party gala tonight in a sparkling white peau de soie long gown designed by Rosanne of Dallas, Houston.

It has a high soft neckline with tiny sleeves just covering the shoulders and easy belled skirt .The bodice is embroidered with iridescent crystal jewels, bugle beads and pailletes. Mrs. Johnson will carry a white stole of the same fabric.

DESIGNED BY SOPHIE

For the inauguration ball-taking ceremony at the Capitol Wednesday and the inaugural parade that follows, Mrs. Johnson has a brilliant American Beauty red wool coat and matching dress that designer Sophie Gans Fifth Avenue. A matching off-the-face velours hat with a black velvet band was designed by Adolfo of New York.

The coat of needle-point wool is single-breasted, with a small face - framing collar and tiny black seaskin bow at the neck. The sheer wool dress has three-quarter sleeves, slim skirt with tiny flares at the waist and a scroll applique encircling the round neck. Mrs. Johnson's jewelry will include a gold and diamond wing-shaped pin the president gave her as a birthday gift in December.

Her gown for the inaugural concert, Tuesday evening, is a deep American Beauty red cloque silk, long line slim dress with a semi-empire waistline. The dress, which dips into a small train in back is one she wore last February to a state dinner for Britain's then-prime minister and Lady Douglas-Home.

For the only afternoon event, the distinguished ladies reception at the National Gallery of Art today, Mrs. Johnson was to wear a holiday-red textured silk dress with three-quarter sleeves and gently - flared skirt. The dress, cut on princess lines with rounded jewel neckline, was made by Mrs. Johnson's dress maker, who was not identified by the White House.

Mrs. Robert H. Humphrey, wife of the vice president, has selected her inaugural wardrobe in red, white and blue.

For the inauguration itself, Mrs. Humphrey made her own dress of pale cerulean blue organza and wool broadcloth from a vogue Paris original pattern by Balmain. Mrs. Humphrey, a size 12, uses a size 14 pattern, however, and because she's short-waisted she adjusted it slightly and made the sleeves elbow length because of expected cold weather. The dress is semi-fitted, with simulated slot seaming along the bodice and down the front of the skirt, giving it ample line.

On her election campaign trip to Alaska last October, Mrs. Humphrey made an Alaskan seal coat with sable collar, designed by David Green of Anchorage, and she'll wear it officially for the first time for the outdoor ceremonies, with a black sable hat.

MRS. HUMPHREY'S INAUGURAL BALL GOWN — Mrs. Hubert Humphrey, wife of the vice president will wear this gown of frail sheer ribbon lace in wisteria tones with matching full length coat. It is designed by Count Sarmi of New York. The costume has a v-neck bodice with a bow accentuating the empire waistline. The skirt is gently shaped with scalloped hemline. It has varied blue and lavender tones.

WOMEN ARE PLEASED

MONTREAL (CP) — More cars are being rented by women. Among Canadian carrenters are a growing number of teachers, nurses, models and housewives whose husbands have departed with the family car on business trips. Alex Richardson, manager of a car rental station here, says women hirers are more considerate and easier to please than men.

Susanna's Family Fare

ALL DOLLED UP

Dear Susanna: Anyone who still has a Christmas catalog among their pile of magazines or any catalog for that matter — do save it for a youngster who is laid up.

Whenever one of ours is confined to bed, or must stay at home with chills and sniffles, we haul out the old catalogs and many contented hours are spent cutting out people and then supplying them with paper clothes,furniture, jewelry, etc.

Sometimes cardboard backings are made from shirt stiffners, so that the people and their furnishings can stand or be propped up, and then everything is set in an improvised doll house.

One of our very favorite doll houses is made from a large round hat box covered with wall paper. A wide entranceway is cut out of the middle of one side to double as a door and peephole, and a couple of windows are added on the other to let in light. The lid is removed while the inside is being colored and the contents arranged, then it is replaced to act as a roof.

Don't you agree, Susanna, that these are precious ideas? — Jenny Beamish

Couldn't be more precious. Just hope there aren't any paper people eaters lurking about! — SUSANNA

ON CLEANING POTS AND REMOVING SPOTS!

Dear Susanna: Before tackling the job of cleaning pots with soap pads or cleanser, rinse them in very hot water. They will clean up much more quickly and with considerably less effort.

To take out rust stains, sprinkle lemon juice and salt directly over the spot of rust, then hold over steam-fry the spout of the kettle for quick service. Launder as usual— Mrs. Edith Baker.

Teeswater Widow Wore Skimp Bathing Suit in 1912

TEESWATER, Ont. (CP) — Back around 1912, Annette Kellerman of Australia became an international sensation by wearing a one-piece silk bathing suit in swimming competing. Four years later she competed at the Olympics in Stockholm, winning a third-place bronze medal in the 100-metre freestyle and a gold as a member of the winning British 400-metre relay team.

King Gustav of Sweden crowned her with the laurel wreath she has kept for 53 years.

"It was quite expensive for athletes then. Only my transportation was paid for. We had to share dressing rooms and meals and it took us five days to travel from England to Sweden."

The 1912 Olympics were among the last competitions she entered. She returned home to become a captain of the Leicester Ladies Championship Water Polo team and to give occasional swim exhibitions and lessons.

"My family wouldn't hear of my turning professional and had to obey them."

In 1919 she and her husband of two years moved to Teeswater, 45 miles north of Stratford. She taught her own six children and many others to swim.

Humble Pie Diet Unless Weakness Is Confessed

DEAR DORIS — Humble pie is my fare this evening. I have always believed people who couldn't solve their own problems were not worth much. Now I find myself in the same predicament, and I would appreciate your help.

My trouble is procrastination. I am very lazy. At the age of 18 I am taking a full grade 13 course. I want to pass well and attend university, but I can't make myself work.

This year is my last chance to change. Good honest thinking, praying and good resolutions do not help. I hate myself inside yet I continue to read or do anything but study. Please help me, Doris. I want to make my parents and my boy friend proud of me. — PLAIN LAZY.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR LAZY — Humble pie will be your regular diet if you'd rather confess your weakness than take action. Want to wake up in ten years' time to find you have let the best things in life escape you? Because you will.

I'm sending you the leaflet "How to Study." You'll get absolutely nowhere by simply reading it over. But if you set up a daily timetable of study hours and subjects, and tick them off as you complete them, this might help your discipline problem.

When the phone rings, have the fortitude, once, to say "This is my study time." And beg to be excused!

Allow some time for diversion, perhaps over the weekend. Write to me in one month's time to report progress.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STUDENT IN WONDER — Write again enclosing 30c for the two leaflets, "Don't Be Shy" and "Tips on Talking", and a large stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR DORIS — My girl friend and I are both in grade 11, we are not ugly, keep ourselves clean and happy — except we just can't get to know boys. I have never danced with a boy. This didn't really bother me until we saw this girl in our room who is dirty, smells and goes out with boys. How come? — TWO BOYLESS GIRLS.

DEAR TWO — It ain't necessarily so. Dirt, smells, and popularity don't go together.

Why not buy some dance records and get your girl friend to try a few dance steps with you in your own living room? Then you would be ready when that nice first boy asks you to trip around the floor with him at a school dance — which he will. Be a girl scout: "Be prepared"!

Let Children Help With Baking

By MARY MOORE

If I grit my teeth, hold my breath, shut my eyes and clench my fists I may be able to restrain myself. A 12-year old note saying her mother takes a spoon out of her hand just when she comes to the best part of mixing muffins. A teenager wrote to my sister Doris, who conducts a column on successful living, saying that when she starts to make a cake her mother says she's not doing it right and proceeds to make it by her!

How can these impatient mothers be so shortsighted?

Friends! Please be patient teachers of your daughters and sons in the kitchen. Often their skill there makes the difference between a happy and mediocre marriage, to say nothing of the help they will be to you after a very short training period.

You can give joy and an inner glow to your young ones when you say "How would you like to have hot muffins for supper?" "Or would you like to try making this batch of cookies?"

It was that kind of encouragement that set me off on a snowballing cooking career.

Give your kids a chance to cook and bake.

A little while ago I received a letter from an elderly reader asking me for a recipe for old-fashioned sour cream sugar cookies — cut out with lid of baking powder can! I sent her one but have discovered another that I like a lot. I think your young people would enjoy mixing, cutting out and baking them. I've stressed the important points.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Cabbage Rolls; Potato Pancakes; Green and Yellow Beans; Celery Hearts; Apple Crisp; Half-and-Half Pouring Cream; Coffee.

CUT-OUT SUGAR COOKIES (Twenty-five 2½"):

(Note: Double this batch if you want to make an average-sized batch for dedicated cookie eaters).

½ cup (¼ lb.) butter (room temperature), ¾ cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour, ¼ cup sour cream or 3 level tablespoons milk.

In mixing bowl cream together butter, sugar and salt until pale and fairly fluffy. Beat in the egg. Sift together the measured unsifted flour, baking powder and baking soda. Add to butter-sugar mixture along with the sour cream or milk and mix well. Dough is soft at this stage and must be chilled in refrigerator at least an hour to make it firm enough to handle. Take half of dough from refrigerator. Roll out on floured board (preferably covered with a floured pastry cloth) with floured rolling pin (preferably covered with floured pastry sock) to ⅛" thickness. Cut out with 2¾" cookie cutter (or lid from 1-lb. baking powder can), lifting cookies tenderly to buttered cookie sheet with broad spatula, placing them at least 2" apart for they spread a little. If desired, neatly sprinkle top of each with sugar or colored sugar or decorating pacilla or "silvers". Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 15 minutes. Keep your mind on cookies all the time while they bake, turning pan around after 5 minutes' baking. Cut out remaining chilled half of dough and bake. Do not burn one cookie. When they are lined with gold on bottom and a faint ring of gold appears around edge, they are done. Carefully lift to cake rack with spatula and let cool.

Now eat one!

Winston Churchill--His Mark

Vitality, Vigor Valor, Victory!

"We shall defend our island whatever the cost may be; we shall fight on the beaches, the landing grounds, in fields, in streets and in the hills. We shall never surrender."

His Speeches Were Beacons In the Darkest Hour!

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winston Churchill's unique world broadcasts and his speeches to the House of Commons detailing the progress of the fighting on many fronts were one of his greatest services to Britain and the Commonwealth during the Second World War.

He dealt in facts, favorable or unfavorable. His best speeches were made when the war news was bad and his administration under heavy fire from the opposition benches. A less effective speaker might well not have survived.

Mr. Churchill's delivery was not perfect, as perfection in orators is usually assessed. His voice was not as flexible as Lloyd George's in the previous war; he had trouble pronouncing the letter "s."

But the harshness of tone which to him was natural was near to perfect in a war leader, especially in the days when Britain faced invasion. He could take mild epithets and make them sound like blasphemy. His phrases became part of the language. Some of his speeches may take their place in literature as well as history.

3,000 SPEECHES

At a guess, Mr. Churchill made more than 3,000 speeches during his long political career. At first he spent long hours in their preparation; as his experience grew the job became easier. At the height of his career his extemporaneous comments at press conferences were as well phrased as his Commons utterances.

Mr. Churchill was a man of action; but from the start it was his words, rather than his deeds, which made his reputation. He based his style on Gibbon and Macaulay and its forcefulness fitted well with his manner and appearance.

When he used quotations in his speeches, he chose them well. Most frequently he turned to the Bible, and it was in one of his early war speeches that he picked from it what historians described as his article of faith:

"Arm yourselves and be ye men of valor and be in readiness for the conflict, for it is better for us to perish in battle than to look upon the outrage of our nation and our altars. As the will of God is in heaven even so let Him do."

SEARING INVECTIVE

Adolph Hitler, Benito Mussolini and their Fascist colleagues must have squirmed with rage at the phrases Mr. Churchill used to hold them up to hatred, scorn and ridicule.

Hitler he once called "this wicked man, the repository and embodiment of many forms of soul - destroying hatred, this monstrous product of former wrongs and shame" — and from him it sounded vitriolic.

Ribbentrop he called Hitler's "bad adviser, that prodigious contortionist."

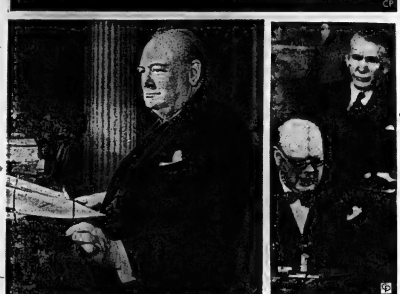
But for Mussolini, whose African armies collapsed with scarcely a fight, he stored up his ridicule. Hitler had subjugated most of Europe, "and his little Italian accomplice is trotting along, hopefully and hungrily, but rather wearily and very timidly, at his side."

He chose phrases carefully, too, in praising his own people—phrases that will live.

"Never in the history of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few" was his tribute to the RAF in the Battle of Britain.

"Their was their finest hour." "Give us the tools and we will finish the job." "Democracy is no jacket to be picked up in the street by a man with a tommygun"—these were some of his epigrams; and almost every speech he made had at least one.

Even when the going was toughest he could draw a laugh.



"We are waiting for the long promised invasion," he said in 1940. "So are the fishes."

But as the war neared an end he introduced the laughs more frequently. The House roared when he slyly said Hitler's escape from a bomb plot was providential. "Certainly it would be most unfortunate if the Allies were to be deprived . . . of that form of war-like genius by which Corporal Schickelgruber has so notably contributed to our victory."

Often it was not what he said, as much as the way he said it, which brought the laughter. But it was his choice of the words themselves which made him past - master of heroic description, in defeat and victory.

The Crucial Link

These pictures denote a decisive factor in modern history — the relationship of English-speaking peoples in the old and new worlds.

Winston Churchill was the personification of it.

His mother was American and Churchill was always proud of his personal link with the United States.

The admiration was reciprocal.

It was in wartime, however, that the relationship became crucial to world history, when new and vital friendships were made with names such as Eisenhower (above left).

Most significant of all was that with President Roosevelt who died in the hour of the partnership's triumph. Later Churchill sadly meditated at the President's grave (bottom left).

Twice in wartime, again in 1952 the people of the United States honored the Greatest Living Englishman by having him address Congress.

Finally, the relationship bore its supreme tribute for Churchill when, in 1963, the U.S. made him its first honorary citizen.

Returned triumphantly as Prime Minister in 1951, Churchill was starting to show his 77 years.

Triumph at 77

At War...

...and Peace

Two major hobbies of the Greatest Living Englishman were painting and bricklaying. His paintings sold readily.

Age Could Not Daunt Him

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

In old age the Churchill fighting spirit blazed as fiercely as ever. He beat back minor illnesses and injuries.

He broke a small bone in his back in a fall at his Hyde Park Gate home Nov. 15, 1960, and spent several weeks in bed. In 1958 he recovered with surprising resilience from attacks of pleurisy and pneumonia.

In July, 1962, shortly after arriving in the south of France, he slipped in his hotel suite in Monaco and broke his left thigh bone. Flown back to Britain, he became a patient in Middlesex Hospital. Phlebitis and bronchial infection checked the course of his recovery but by July 18 he was able to take a short walk from his bed to a chair.

He remained in high spirits and his menus sometimes included such delicacies as fricasee chicken, strawberries and cream followed by brandy or champagne and cigars.

RETURNED TO HARROW

In retirement Churchill divided his time between his country home in Chartwell, his London residence and an occasional Mediterranean cruise. He made it a point to attend the annual festival of song at his old public school, Harrow.

He enjoyed sailing holidays aboard the yacht Christina, owned by Greek shipping millionaire Aristotle Onassis. On one such trip in April, 1962, he landed at Tobruk and was given an audience by King Idris of Libya.

Always a great parliamentarian, he liked to attend the Commons as often as he could, and one January day in 1962 he trudged through the division lobby four times in voting on an immigration bill. He leaned on a stick as he made the slow trip from his seat to the lobby.

Whenever he appeared in public British crowds roared affectionate tribute to the man whom Oxford don Alan Taylor described as "a historical monument in his own lifetime."

SHORT SPEECH

On his 85th birthday, Nov. 30, 1959, Churchill spoke in the Commons for the first time since resigning the premiership in 1955. It was a quiet-toned speech thanking the House for its congratulations.

A month earlier he inaugurated the new Churchill College at Cambridge, planting oak and mulberry trees. The college stresses science and technology.

In the same month Viscount Montgomery unveiled a statue of Churchill at Woodford, saying "let future generations remember how he took tyranny by the throat and tore freedom from its grasp."

In the October, 1959, general election Churchill was re-elected MP for Woodford and became "father of the House" in succession to David Grenfell.

Churchill's continuous membership in the Commons dated from 1942 when he was elected for the Essex constituency of Epping. At Parliament's reassembly Prime Minister Harold Macmillan spoke of Churchill as "a rock that resists the flood of time."

KNIGHTED IN 1953

In a chamber where his was once a voice in the wilderness he now was hailed as the "greatest backbencher of all time."

On April 2, 1953, Churchill, then 78, became a Knight of the Garter, the oldest and highest order of British chivalry. It was the highest honor he could accept without giving up his seat in the Commons.

Bestowed shortly before the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, the order was one he had turned down after his election defeat in 1945 during the reign of her father, George VI.

In the twilight years, as in earlier times of trial or triumph, his wife was rarely far from Sir Winston's side.

THE CHURCHILL SAGA

A Towering Lifetime of "Finest Hours"

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sir Winston Churchill was one of those rare men who become part of history while they are still alive.

When Britain's old warrior resigned as prime minister in April, 1955, there was general recognition that he was one of the towering figures of his age, a larger-than-lifesize personality who had made a great impress upon great events.

The controversy which had swirled thickly about him in political career stretching over half a century was forgotten as the doughty descendant of the Marlborough—in his 81st year but still vigorous and flashing his famous V-sign—drove to Buckingham Palace to hand his resignation to Queen Elizabeth.

"Democracy is no harlot to be picked up in the street by a man with a tommy-gun . . ."

He had been premier for eight years, seven months and 25 days, first as the unforgettable leader of the coalition administration in the Second World War and later, from 1951 to 1955, over the indomitable opposition of British chivalry.

There had been reports that he had been offered a dukedom but that he had refused to become a peer because he wanted to remain in the House of Commons.

He continued to sit as an MP until July 27, 1964, four months before his 90th birthday. On his retirement from the Commons a special motion said the House expresses "its unbounded admiration and gratitude for his services to Parliament, to the nation and to the world; remembers above all his inspiration of the British people when they stood alone and his leadership until victory was won; and offers its grateful thanks to the right honorable gentleman for these outstanding services to the House and to the nation."

On his 90th birthday Nov. 30, special crowds gathered outside his residence in Hyde Park Gate and cheered as the frail figure appeared above a window. Some 60,000 messages poured in that day from all over the world.

One was from President Lyndon Johnson, sent to the first person ever made an honorary American citizen by a vote of Congress. Churchill, whose mother was born in the United States, received the honor in 1963.

Laden with honors, he sometimes accepted new ones. In April, 1956, he received from the Hudson's Bay Company the honor, specially created, of Grand Seigneur, commemorating links between the Churchill family and the company whose origins go back to the early days of Canada. The same month he visited West Germany to receive a peace medal.

He spent most of his time quietly at his country estate in Chartwell, enjoying small dinner parties with his wife Clementine and their close friends, playing the odd game of golf and working to finish his history of the English-speaking peoples.

"His mind is back with the Vikings," said a British wit, describing Churchill's retirement.

OLD FRIENDS MEET

But Sir Winston was "as keen as a briar," in the words of Harry S. Truman, when the former U.S. president met his old wartime colleague in June, 1956 in the peaceful countryside at Westerham.

Churchill had issued a lunch invitation to Truman, who was touring Europe with his wife, and the old warrior shook the hand of his guest at the door of the spacious country residence, Chartwell.

"You don't look a day older than Potsdam," said Truman, referring to their war-end conference in Germany.

"Well, I'm getting on," said Churchill, then 81. He told Truman how well he looked himself —Truman then was 72.

They beamed at each other as Truman said "this is just like old times," and later drank what appeared to be a silent toast in front of a bronze bust of Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose death in 1945 sent Truman into the U.S. presidency four weeks before the end of the war in Europe.

There must have been many other moments when an old man's mind nostalgically recalled the war years, when Churchill the bulldog premier was coining the flashing phrases which were to become memorials for posterity.

He took over the destiny of his ill-equipped nation on the verge of invasion.

Neville Chamberlain resigned the prime ministership May 10, 1940 as the Blitz Hitler struck at Holland and Belgium Mr. Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty for the second time in 20 years and before the war was over, was to receive spoken critic of appeasement and disarmament, formed a coalition government.

A NOTABLE SPEECH

His first speech to the House of Commons was one which few in history as one of the strongest declarations ever made on a nation at war.

"I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat," was one of his warning phrases. Twice in the next few months he flew across the English Channel to confer with French leaders who offered France an unprecedented Act of Union. It was refused.

It was a bitter moment for Britain, and for Mr. Churchill personally. Many France colleagues, and even more bitter when the government had to decide to attack part of the French fleet in North Africa.

But the tide turned and the news was almost always of reverses. Battles lost in the field had to be refought in the Commons. Had Mr. Churchill been less effective as a speaker he perhaps could not have weathered all the crises that beset his ministry.

And then the tide turned and the Afrika Korps of Rommel in Africa and began the long series of successes which led on to victory in Europe. Now-mandy, the Rhine and the Elbe fell and Nazi Germany was rendered. The unconditional surrender of Japan came only after the dropping of the A-bomb the man whose virile leadership of the English-speaking world had been an inspiration to the Allied world was out of office.

TURN OF FORTUNE

With Germany's defeat the coalition ended, by the withdrawal of Labor from Churchill's support. A "caretaker" government of Conservatives, Liberal Nationals and non-party Nationals was formed with Mr. Churchill as prime minister, and the first British general election since 1935 was called.

The motto of the Churchills is "Fiel pero des afortunado"—"Faithful but unfortunate." In the campaign he was faithful and fortunate.

"We shall not flag or fail; we shall go on to the end . . ."

to his long-standing opposition to socialism and, as in the past when Churchill the national leader gave way to Churchill the politician, he was unfortunate. His first election broadcast set the main theme for the contest.

"I declare to you, from the bottom of my heart," he said, "that no Socialist system can be established without a political police. They would have to fill the place of some form of Gestapo, no doubt very humanely directed in the first instance.

"This would nip opinion in the bud; it would scare politicians as it reared its head and it would gutter the parties of the Socialist Left. Socialism is the supreme party and the party leaders, rising like stately pinnaces above the vast but nerveless crafts of civil servants, no longer servants, no longer civil."

That was the start; from then on the campaign was hectic. The issue was simple: "Free Enterprise" versus Socialism. Mr. Churchill, who succeeded Chamberlain as head of the Conservative party in October, 1940, received tremendous acclaim on his only campaign tour; but it was acclaim for the man, not the political policies he espoused.

The votes were counted July 26 and the result was a Labor landslide. Clement R. Attlee, Mr. Churchill's deputy prime minister during the war, was called upon to form the first Labor administration ever given a safe, working majority in Britain. Mr. Churchill, then 71, was back in opposition, but Conservative supporters numbering just over 200 on half their pre-election strength.

Behind him was the record of holding ministerial office on more occasions than any other man in British politics, starting as under-secretary for the colonies in 1905 when he was a member of the Liberal party.

When Japan surrendered, Prime Minister Attlee in the Commons described his political enemy as "one of the main architects of victory."

"Many others shared in the work of organizing and inspiring the nation in its great effort, but he set the pace. . . . His place in history is secure."

And even those most rabidly opposed to Mr. Churchill's political views could share that sentiment.

Mr. Churchill was offered the Order of the Garter after the 1945 election but declined because he wished to remain a commoner. In the next New Year's honors list he accepted the Order of Merit, restricted to 24 holders—the same honor bestowed on him by King George, famous Liberal prime minister who had made lord War who did not accept an earldom until after his political retirement.

A few months later Mr. Churchill was invited to the United States for a well-earned rest in a speech at Fulton, Mo., accepting a university degree he spoke of world uncertainty and Soviet Russia's new intentions, the "iron curtain" erected by Russia in eastern Europe and the threat he saw in communism.

It was a speech which drew both praise and criticism. From Generalissimo Stalin came the statement that the speech was associate in the Big Three countries on over-all war strategy "now takes his stand among the warmongers . . . a call for war on the U.S.S.R."

ZURICH SPEECH

Six months later at the University of Zurich he again aroused considerable controversy with a speech in which he urged reconciliation between France and Germany as the first step in creating a United States of Europe within the framework of the United Nations.

The following month he was under Russian fire when he declared that the west would resist if it was true that 200 Russian divisions were being maintained in the Soviet Zone of occupied Europe, adding that he had "facts" and "documents" to support the suggestions.

Stalin, in denying the charge, named the British premier among the "instigators of a new war," and he was "undoubtedly the worst threat to world peace at the time.

Consistently a champion of strong Empire ties, Mr. Churchill had spirited Conservative opposition to Mr. Attlee's policy of withdrawing British troops from India, which led to the declaration that "things will go up in great Labor style in east away with great shame and folly."

More than three years earlier he had said in a London address at the Lord Mayor's dinner: "I have not become the King's First Minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire."

BORN IN 1874

Mr. Churchill was born Nov. 30, 1874, with a weak chest which still showed itself in pneumonia attacks during his premiership. Descendant of the Duke of Marlborough, victor of Blenheim, his father was Lord Randolph Churchill, prominent politician of Victorian era and his mother, pretty Jennie Jerome of New York.

Young Churchill was a puzzle to his parents and a disappointment to his teachers. At Harrow his record was a series of failures and scrapes — through-out he was described as "an intractable, mischievous, dangerous boy" and as "eccentric dunce."

But he had one absorbing passion—soldiers. His father found him at the age of 15 and told him he would like to go to Sandhurst. The answer was an enthusiastic "Yes." In Lord Randolph's view, the boy was a failure. He had passed the entrance examination on his third try; but when he graduated he was eighth in a class of 150.

Young Churchill was gazetted a second lieutenant in 1895 and began a military career that saw him fight on four continents, combining soldiering with newspaper reporting, first as an observer with the Spanish army in Cuba, then on the Indian front, then with Sir Bindon Blood's force at Malakand Pass on the Northwest Frontier of India; and in the Sudan, both as a soldier and reporter, being one of the 21st Lancers at Omdurman.

Defeated in his first effort to enter Parliament he went to the Boer War and there he proved the turning point in his life. War correspondent for the London Morning Post, he was captured by the Boers. His escape, his refuge with the Boer friendly Englishman in the territory and his smuggled trip by freight train to safety made him famous at home. The publicity helped him in 1900 to win one of Oldham's two seats in Parliament.

CHANGED POLITICAL COAT

He was a Conservative then, like his famous father, but he changed within a few years, on several important aspects of policy. When Joseph Chamberlain launched his tariff reform agitation in 1903, Mr. Churchill, a free trader, joined the Liberal party and his acid tongue had its full play on the issue. His resignation three years later of the Board of Trade post in Balfour, his former party chief.

In the succeeding Liberal administration of Campbell-Bannerman's he became a junior minister as Sir Henry Campbell - Bannerman's colonial minister - secretary and won difficult Manchester North-West seat in 1906. Re-elected then until 1929 he was rarely out of public office.

After his swing to liberalism he switched first to anti-socialism, which he carried through his long political career.

Mr. Churchill's first cabinet post was as president of the board of trade, a key economic post, and he introduced labor exchanges and unemployment insurance. He always contended his views and policies were consistent—that the other parties changed outside influences that altered.

In 1908, when Asquith became premier, Mr. Churchill moved to the Home Office, where he was criticized for his use of troops against two anarchists barricaded in an East End house; and for his part in any other means, that he left himself time for sport and for writing his departmental duties to go to a scene of action.

In 1911 he was named First Lord of the Admiralty by Prime Minister H. H. Asquith, charged with putting the fleet in a state of instant and constant readiness—a task for which he is credited by Conservatives.

Churchill fought the subsequent election in Dundee, officially as a Liberal, but actually as an anti-Socialist. He lost. Next year he was returned twice—at Leicester West where he ran as a Liberal and in Labor-dominated Manchester as an independent.

In 1922 the third general election in two years was held. By this time Mr. Churchill, convinced the Liberals never again would be the principal opposition to Labor, had returned to the Conservative party. He stood as candidate in Epping, Essex, and was aided Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin made him chancellor of the exchequer.

But the offices Lord Randolph had held. He presented five more-or-less routine budgets, then the Labor party's return to power in 1929 once more silenced. But this was not destined to be a long period of opposition for Churchill.

DEFIED THE CABINET

Between the wars, like First World War began he mobilized the Royal Naval Reserve on the outbreak of hostilities, and he issued the famous order of the cabinet, "Action this day."

Mr. Churchill's part in that war was one of many controversies. The first was in his sending of men and ships to Antwerp in October, 1914, in an effort to save the great Belgian port. He failed, though historians have since said that the diversion may have had a valuable effect on military action on other sections of the front.

Political opponents demanded his resignation. They did not get it for more than a year. Mr. Churchill then left to fight in force the Dardanelles in the Gallipoli campaign, defeat Turkey and release the Russian-held Black-Sea fleet. Lord Fisher opposed the daring plan.

Again historians concede the scheme was sound strategically and blame its failure on mistakes and excessive caution by the generals on the spot. But Mr. Churchill became the goat and, when Lord Fisher resigned, Mr. Asquith was forced to quit and became Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, a purely sinecure portfolio, in the Coalition administration which was formed.

In November, 1915, he resigned from the cabinet and went to France to command the 6th Royal Scot Fusiliers. After a few months in the trenches he was munitions minister in the Lloyd George ministry and it was while he held that post that he fostered development of the tank, first used in mass formation at Cambrai, supporting Canadian troops and which weapon credited by Ludendorff with winning the war for the Allies.

Lloyd George made Mr. Churchill secretary for war and air in 1918 and he held those posts at Armistice Nov. 11, 1918. Prime Minister Lloyd George in the latter arose over the manner in which the Allied expedition to Archangel, Russia, was sent and the setup for curtailment of British participation in the Mesopotamia. He was moved to the colonial office where he was one of the chief framers of the 1922 treaty setting up the Irish Free State.

LLOYD GEORGE DEFEATED

In October, 1922, the Lloyd George coalition collapsed and Churchill fought the subsequent election in Dundee, officially as a Liberal, but actually as an anti-Socialist. He lost. Next year he was returned twice—at Leicester West where he ran as a Liberal and in Labor-dominated Manchester as an independent.

In the third general election in two years was held. By this time Mr. Churchill, convinced the Liberals never again would be the principal opposition to Labor, had returned to the Conservative party. He stood as candidate in Epping, Essex, and was aided Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin made him chancellor of the exchequer.

But the offices Lord Randolph had held. He presented five more-or-less routine budgets, then the Labor party's return to power in 1929 once more silenced. But this was not destined to be a long period of opposition for Churchill.

PRIME MINISTER

Constantly - increasing criticism weakened the government. By May 10, 1940, Conservative groups almost succeeded in passing a vote of confidence in Chamberlain's handling of the British campaign in Norway. Next day Hitler attacked the Low Countries, Mr. Chamberlain resigned and Mr. Churchill was called upon to form a new government.

There was a coalition of Conservatives, Liberals and Labor members and it lasted until May, 1945, after the war in Europe ended.

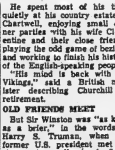
The miracle of Dunkerque — France tottering and soon to fall . . . Britain and the Commonwealth and Empire standing alone . . . and Mr. Churchill's undying phrases gave Britons courage:

". . . We are waiting for the long-promised invasion. So are the fishes!"

"Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous states have fallen or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of Nazi rule, we shall not flag or fail, we shall go on to the end, we shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender.

"Even if, which I do not for a moment believe, this island or a large part of it were subjugated and starving, then our Empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British Fleet, would carry on the struggle until, in God's good time, the New World, with all its power and might, steps forth to the rescue and the liberation of the Old."

There was a short - lived, cheap success in North Africa as he expected of "that whipped jackal", Mussolini, but the disasters of Greece and Crete, an, withdrawal from Greece, the loss of Crete were attributed to vociferous criticism that Mr. Churchill was trying to conduct a one-man war. Coupled with that were demands for an immediate Second Front. The prime minister characteristically beat off criticisms of his administration, of his policies and personal attacks, and continued to plan along the same lines.



At midsummer, 1941, the war situation was transformed when Hitler attacked Russia.

"No one has been a more consistent opponent of communism than I have for the last 23 years," said Mr. Churchill, "I will unsay no word that I have spoken about it. But all this fades away before the spectacle which is now unfolding. The past, with its crimes, its follies, and its tragedies, flashes away."

And all this time the United States, under President Roosevelt's astute statesmanship was drawing closer to war and becoming more firm. Roosevelt called the "great arsenal of democracy." In August the Atlantic Charter was drafted by the two great leaders; meeting a Newfoundland harbor. Dec. 7 Japanese bombers smashed the United States fleet at Pearl Harbor. The war had spread to the Pacific.

Mr. Churchill made another transatlantic trip — this time to Washington — for a conference at which complete understanding" was reached on joint planning and for present and future operations. Twenty - six nations pledged to defeating Hitlerism around the world signed the Declaration of the United Nations, destined to be the basis for post - war security planning.

Calamitous reverses in the Pacific brought more political troubles. The first demands for a "Second Front Now" were chalked on London walls. Planning was under way but nothing announced. The clamor for political blood forced a cabinet reorganization in which Sir Stafford Cripps, man without a party since his expulsion by Labor, came into the government and Canadian - born Lord Beaverbrook went out. Reelection began to go against the administration, Sir Stafford's mission to India with the government's offer of dominion status was a failure.

AGAIN IN WASHINGTON

Mr. Churchill's third meeting with Mr. Roosevelt was held in June, 1942, coinciding with Rommel's final success in North Africa before the German war machine began to back up. He returned to face a formal motion of censure moved by Conservative Sir John Wardlaw-Milne. The main argument heard in the debate was that the prime minister should give up his second cabinet portfolio —that of minister of defence— correlating the general war effort. The motion was beaten by 473 votes to 25.

It was the end of effective attacks on Mr. Churchill By the time he made his next war review the tide of battle had turned. .

That summer he went to Cairo, to Moscow where he met Joseph Stalin, to Teheran back to Cairo, and to visit the 8th Army in the Western Desert. Six months later he met President Roosevelt at Casablanca— their "unconditional surrender" conference. Afterwards the prime minister went again to Cairo and to Turkey and Tripoli.

In May, 1943, there was another meeting with the president, this time in the United States. Only three months later yet another opened at Quebec with Prime Minister Mackenzie King also present, and there the chiefs of staff studied problems of the Pacific War and ways of bringing effective aid to China. The beaches for the invasion of Western Europe were picked.

Then came probably the greatest of all wartime conferences — the tripartite meeting of Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr Stalin at Teheran. Plans were drafted for attacks against Germany from east, south and west and an understanding was reached on policies for establishing peace.

That was in December. 1943 Africa by then had been redeemed, Italy invaded and Mussolini cast out by his Fascist associates Mr. Churchill could speak for the first time of "the end"—"but the beginning of the end but the end of the beginning." Parliament was planning for the post-war transition period, warned by the prime minister that "the problems of victory are more agreeable than those of defeat, but they are no less difficult." Even the bitter U-boat warfare was being won, with U - boat kills exceeding German output.

NORMANDY INVASION

Five years of war, all but three months, had passed when the Quebec decisions were put into action and the Second Front critics stilled. June 6, 1944, British, American and Canadian troops landed on the Normandy beaches — at the exact place whence William the Conqueror launched his invasion of England 900 years before.

Mr. Churchill fostered the tank in the 1914-18 conflict. A concise directive on 10 Downing Street notepaper, above his initials, initiated one of the chief factors in the breakout from the Normandy beachhead:

Fiers For Use on Beaches

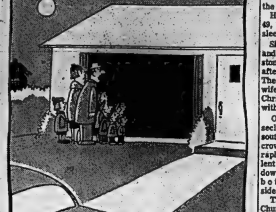
"C.C.O., or deputy, .

"They must float up and down with the tide. The anchor problem must be mastered. Let me have the best solutions worked out. Don't argue the matter. The difficulties will argue for themselves."

His memorandum was written May 30, 1942, when things were going badly. From it sprang the now - famous Mulberry mobile harbors.

Six days after the invasion Mr. Churchill crossed to Normandy. In August he was in Italy where he entered his third wartime attack of pneumonia. There was another Quebec conference in September; a month later he was with Stalin in Moscow; in November he took part in Paris liberation celebrations; and the close of the year found him in Athens, trying to bring order out of the chaos of liberated Greece. While he and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were away agreement was signed for the ending of the civil war.

THE YALTA CONFERENCE



The late winter brought Winston Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt and Generalissimo Stalin together again, at Yalta, for the decisive conference of the war —to lay the foundation - stones of peace, provide for occupation of Germany, settle controversies over boundaries and influence in eastern Europe, and agree out difficulties arising in establishment of the United Nations.

Succeeding weeks brought swift victory. By July the victors were meeting in Potsdam, to decide further measures for subjugation of Germany. By then Mr. Roosevelt had died and Vice-President Harry Truman had succeeded him in the White House. And though it was not known when the conference started, British electors had turned out Mr. Churchill's government.

Mr. Churchill went to Potsdam as United Kingdom representative, taking his deputy Clement Attlee, as an adviser Both came to London for election declaration day. Mr. Attlee went back as prime minister; Mr Churchill remained in England.

The man who proved so great a leader in time of war was back in opposition again in time of peace.

Mr. Churchill was married in 1908 to Clementine Hozier, daughter of Col. Sir H. M. Hozier of the 3rd Dragoon Guards and Lady Blanche Ogilvy, whose father was the seventh Earl of Airlie. There were one son and four daughters. The son, (Maj.) Randolph Churchill, was like his father defeated at the 1945 general election after a term as Conservative member for Preston. The eldest daughter, Diana, after divorcing John Milner Bailey, married Duncan Sandys, later Mr. Churchill's minister of works, and subsequently was divorced from him too; Sarah married bandleader Vic Oliver, divorced him during the war, then married photographer Anthony Beauchamp who later killed himself; and Mary, a subaltern in the A.T.S during the war then wife of Christopher Soames, agriculture minister in the Sir Harold Macmillan government. The fourth daughter, Marigold Frances, died in 1921, aged two years.

"Oh, they're home all right! I can see the glow of Ted's pipe!"

The prime minister and Mr. Rusk talked besides discussing the trouble spots in Southeast Asia and the United Nations financing crisis, talked about U.S.-Canadian negotiations for a new commercial air route agreement.

MA BE NEXT

Mr. Pearson said he hoped this would be the next agreement signed by the two countries.

The press conference was restricted mainly to the auto agreement and the talks with Johnson. Mr. Pearson said he expects to hold a more extensive press conference later this week.

He spent his two - week vacation in Florida reading books and mail from Ottawa, swimming and walking in the sand—both on the beach and in golf course bunkers.

Behind a growing defence force, by far the strongest below the Sahara, the white civilian population is being encouraged to participate in the country's massive defence program.

Every year 16,000 South African youths don uniforms and start a nine-month period of military training.

Thousands of civilians have joined the national survival plan, which trains them in fire-fighting, first aid and ambulance work. One survival pamphlet depicts a pretty pig-tailed girl with the caption "my survival depends on you."

COVERS POSSIBILITIES

The survival plan provides for the evacuation of civilians from war-threatened areas, air-raid shelters, information about nuclear attacks, self - protection and emergency services to assure the survival of civilians in the event of war and other national disasters.

Most South African cities have an active police reserve force. Numerous private schools teach various forms of judo and self-defence. A combat school instructs civilians in the art of killing by knife, pistol and hand.

Women's pistol parties are becoming almost as popular as the weekly bridge parties. Johannesburg's latest club undertakes mass pistol training for men and women as a Saturday afternoon recreation.

Some schools have added an extra subject to their curriculum—rifle practice for boys and girls.

Verster says:

"Instigators who talked about a takeover of South Africa in 1964 have found that this nation will not be taken over. We will not sit back and watch our annihilation.

"There are many nations plotting South Africa's destruction who would attempt to achieve it, if only they had the power. We know our enemy well and, if the need arises, will give a thorough account of ourselves."

TRADE IS APPALLING

GENEVA (Reuters)—The illicit traffic in narcotics is still flourishing despite extensive work by international and national control bodies, the United Nations Opium Control Board said Saturday. In its annual report to the UN Economic and Social Council published here, the board said the fight against the illicit traffic had made no significant progress during the last 25 years.

the early hours this morning.

His actress daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

Sir Winston's son, Randolph, and 24-year-old grandson, Winston Spencer Churchill, left after 1 a.m. with no comment. The younger daughter Mary, wife of former cabinet minister Christopher Soames, stayed on with her mother.

Outside the house, on a secluded residential street just south of Hyde Park, a small crowd of reporters and photographers waited through a turbulent night. Sleet and rain lashed down and high winds sent milk bottles clattering along the sidewalk.

The increasing gravity of Churchill's condition became apparent at noon Sunday when his doctor announced after a 45-minute examination that his patient showed pulse irregularity.

HEART WEAKENING

It was evident that the heart, which had withstood the immense strains of the war years, dramatic political struggles, illnesses and accidents, was weakening.

After Sunday night's bulletin, the director of Britain's Chest and Hart Association, Dr. Harley Williams, commented:

"I am not surprised there is no improvement. It is a very serious condition."

Another specialist said Churchill passed through a phase that was the typical aftermath of a stroke — "restlessness, then quiet, and then gradually getting weaker."

Throughout Sunday, millions of Britons, led by Queen Elizabeth, prayed in the cathedrals, abbeys and country churches for the man who resolved 25 years ago never to surrender their country.

MESSAGES POUR IN

Thousands of messages of sympathy continued to pour into Churchill's red-brick house 28 Hyde Park Gate.

Three lights burned inside the house all night. At dawn the number of onlookers began to grow.

Huge headlines in the morning papers reflected the country's concern.

"Peaceful . . . but he is losing ground," said The Daily Express. "Winston Worse," was the line in The Sun.

The medical correspondent of The Times said:

"Life is clearly ebbing away but how long it will be until the crossing of the bar it is impossible to say. In the old the last tenuous link with life sometimes persists longer than seems humanly possible."

SUFFERS NO PAIN

The Daily Telegraph's medical correspondent wrote:

"It is comforting to know he is suffering no pain and is not conscious of his condition.

"The restlessness described at noon yesterday is frequent in cerebral vascular accidents and is involuntary. Unfortunately, this increases the great anxiety experienced."

Archbishop Ingo Cardinale, the apostolic delegate, called with a personal message from Pope Paul to Lady Churchill. The Pope's message assured Lady Churchill of his "deep personal concern and of his prayers at this difficult time."

The Queen, her husband Prince Philip and their two eldest children—Charles and Anne —prayed at morning services at the tiny parish church of St. Lawrence, near the Royal country home of Sandringham in Norfolk, eastern England.

REMEMBERED AT ABBEY

At Westminster Abbey, the Archbishop of York, Dr. Frederick Coggan, told a packed congregation:

"Our thoughts and prayers turn to the room where Sir Winston Churchill lies in weakness.

"Again and again he has found the right words for the right occasion and rallied faltering nations in their hour of trial. We thank God for his leadership in times of peril and for a life nobly gifted and lavishly spent."

BIG FIRE STRIKES MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)

Weary firemen and public works crews Saturday extinguished a fire that burned for 38 hours and destroyed this city's largest downtown building. Officials of Moore's Furniture Store, which has occupied the four - storey building since 1934, estimated their loss at $400,000.

PC Says Both Party Leaders Should Resign

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker should resign as leaders of their parties, Gordon Aiken (PC — Muskoka - Ontario - Pickering) said here Saturday night.

Addressing a Kitchener-Waterloo district high school student seminar on federal and provincial issues, Mr. Aiken accused his party's national leader of misjudging Quebec's problems.

"His policy toward that province has not always been fair and he has failed to recognize the part that Quebec has played in the development of Canada," Mr. Aiken said.

"While I support Mr. Diefenbaker and am a member of his party, there are several of his policies with which I cannot agree. Quebec is one of them."

Asked who might succeed Mr. Diefenbaker as party leader, Mr. Aiken replied:

"The choice of the Conservative leader is a question to be decided by a party caucus and by the executive of the national association."

But Dr. Harry Harley (Liberal - Halton) thought former justice minister E. Davie Fulton would succeed Mr. Diefenbaker as party leader.

Wilson wants to merge most of it into an Atlantic nuclear force with West Germany paying some of the cost. He does not object to a small MLF as part of this, but so far has appeared unwilling to let Britain join it.

Unless he shows more readiness in this direction, Wilson is unlikely to get far toward making a nuclear agreement with West Germany and other members of the Atlantic alliance that he can take to President Johnson for U.S. support. An MLF based on just the United States and West Germany is not looked upon with favor in Washington. Because of all this disagreement, many Europeans think the whole MLF idea will be dropped.

Wilson will be making a visit to Paris later if he has hope for finding common ground with de Gaulle, it seems to lie in this direction.

CONSISTORY POSSIBLE?

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The death of Pierre Cardinal Gerlier in Lyon Sunday sparked speculation that Pope Paul may soon call his first consistory for the creation of new cardinals. Cardinal Gerlier's death reduced the membership of the Roman Catholic College of Cardinals to 78, lowest since 1939. Pope Paul has not named a cardinal since his election June 21, 1963.

You know it's winter when Volkswagens start passing you on hills.

Unless, of course, you're already driving one.

Then you know it's winter when you start passing everyone else.

In the winter, a Volkswagen goes where others fear to tread.

Because the Volkswagen tread gets more traction.

You know what happens when somebody else gets stuck in the snow. They need a push.

Well, that's our way, too. Only we let the engine do the pushing. Not people.

We put the engine in the rear with its weight over the drive wheels. So the back wheels make the front move without the help of a driver.

We think that makes sense. Just as much sense as having no radiator, no water to boil over, no water pump, no rust, no anti-freeze and no big gas bills.

If you don't like pushing and you haven't got any pull with a tow-truck concern, a trip to your VW dealer is a good idea.

Or you can forget it. And we'll pass.

'Some Chicken, Some Neck'

Winston Made One of Finest Phrases in Whole Lexicon When in Canada in 1941

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winston Churchill growled four words in the Canadian House of Commons on the afternoon of Dec. 30, 1941, that have become part of the lexicon of famous Churchill sayings:

"Some chicken! Some neck!"

Three weeks after war had flamed across the Pacific and just five days after 2,000 Canadian soldiers became casualties with the fall of Hong Kong, the British prime minister delivered in Ottawa a defiant review of the war's progress. He recalled previous perils after the fall of France.

"When I warned them (the French) that Britain would fight on alone, whatever they did, their generals told their prime minister and his divided cabinet, 'In three weeks England will have her neck wrung like a chicken.'

"Some chicken!" and when the burst of cheering died away: "Some neck" — an expression with special punch in the British phrase of "what nerve!"

On that first of three wartime visits, one of almost a lifelong series of trips to Canada between 1901 and 1954, Churchill linked Canadians and Britons in a celebrated tribute:

"We have not journeyed all this way across the centuries, across the oceans, across the mountains, across the prairies because we are made of sugar candy."

That reference to conquest by travel and settlement was echoed in a personal recollection on the eve of Dominion Day, 1954, during his last visit to Canada.

"I have been all over Canada in my time," he said in a nationwide radio broadcast then, "and I have almost vivid pictures in my mind of many places from Halifax to Hicking Horse Valley and further on to Vancouver, where I caught a lovely salmon in the harbor in about 20 minutes."

His first visit was a lecture tour as a young man of 28, a newly-elected member of the British Parliament, fresh from adventures and renown as a war correspondent in the Boer War.

His last visit before the Second World War was a private trip in 1932 when he met with the late R. B. Bennett, then prime minister of Canada.

Churchill had his first meeting with Franklin Roosevelt, wartime president of the United States, almost within view of Canada at a secret battleship rendezvous in Placentia Bay, Nfld., Aug. 9, 1941 — slightly more than four months before his first official visit to Ottawa as prime minister on the last three days of that year.

Two more meetings with Roosevelt and with then Canadian prime minister Mackenzie King, were held at Quebec City in August, 1943, and again in September, 1944.

For the first Quebec conference, where plans for the 1944 invasion of Normandy were made, Churchill, then 68, was accompanied by Lord Moran, the physician who attended him at his last illness.

After two days of meetings with Canadian government officials, Churchill travelled by special train' Aug. 13 to Niagara Falls and then to the Roosevelt country home at Hyde Park, N.J. He returned to Quebec Aug. 15. Roosevelt followed two days later, and they conferred with military chiefs for a week.

Churchill spent a week after the first Quebec conference trout fishing in the Laurentians with Canadian pulp and paper magnate Frank C. Clarke, a longtime friend who later entertained the British leader for two months in 1946 at Miami Beach, Fla., after his electoral defeat by Labor.

The 1944 meeting at Quebec, Sept. 11-16, mapped strategy for finishing off the war in Europe and pressing the campaign against Japan.

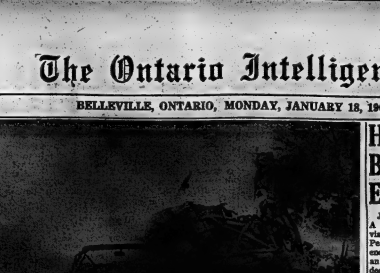
After his re-election as prime minister, Churchill visited Ottawa Jan. 11-15, 1952, for talks chiefly concerned with building the strength of the Atlantic alliance: "Prevail over the dangers and problems of the future, withhold no sacrifice, grudge no toil, seek no sordid fear or favor."

On his departure for Washington from that visit, he told a cheering crowd:

"I am not going to say goodby. I am only going to say au revoir."

"I do not want to make an exaggerment as to when I shall be back," the 79 - year - old statesman said then.

Man Arrested Will Be Charged In Gananoque



GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP) — Norman Doucette, 36, of Montreal was charged Sunday with the attempted robbery of a 77-year-old Gananoque widow.

Doucette, arrested in Montreal Saturday, was taken to the county jail at Brockville.

Gananoque police are seeking two other men in connection with the Jan. 10 robbery attempt. Two men posing as oil-tank inspectors entered the home of Mrs. Nellie Colquhoun, demanded money and left bertied up in a closet.

Mrs. Colquhoun is in Kingston General Hospital suffering from a broken elbow, injured when one of the men twisted her arm.

Gananoque is about 20 miles east of Kingston

Warm Weather Ends Three-Day Cold Spell

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Warmer weather and snowflurries reached southern Ontario today, but the North was bracing itself for more cold.

Milder temperatures were reported in the south Sunday night, ending a three-day cold spell that dropped the mercury as low as 33 degrees below zero at Muskoka.

At Sault Ste. Marie, five inches of snow fell Sunday, and in the Sudbury district there were three to four inches with heavy drifting.

Across southwestern Ontario winds gusting to 40 mph buffeted snow, cutting visibility and blocking roads with drifts.

A blizzard on Lake Erie Sunday night loaded the harbor at Port Stanley with ice, blocked out the lighthouse there and forced three fishing boats to find another port. The Lakehead, hit by below-zero weather for the last week, warmed up by about 25 degrees to 15 above.

Record lows for the date were recorded Sunday at Toronto and London, where it was 11 below, and in Hamilton, where it was 13 below.

Immigration Policy Will Be Tied Directly to Canadian Manpower Requirements

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's once-again-off-again immigration policy has been abandoned in favor of a long term program tied directly to Canadian manpower requirements.

Responsibility for a new approach to immigration has been delegated to one of four new directorates established recently in a major reorganization of the immigration department.

The policy and planning directorate will take a continuing hard look at Canada's immigration requirements and plan ahead to obtain the kind of qualified immigrants Canada will require. The aim will be to obtain skilled and professional workers and educated persons who can be trained by Canadian industry in a variety of skilled occupations.

The new policy brings to an end the former practice of opening the immigration gates when times were good and closing them when unemployment threatened.

The work of the new directorate and the three others—Canadian services, overseas services, and special services—was discussed in Ottawa at a three-day immigration conference which concluded Saturday.

It brought together for the first time senior officials of the immigration department in Canada and abroad to discuss future immigration requirements and develop a positive program to ensure that these requirements are met.

The reorganization of the department also includes steps to:

—Make immigration posts abroad more attractive.

—Improve the pay of immigration officers abroad.

—Give officers at home and abroad more responsibility to make decisions on their own initiative, a step aimed at speeding handling of immigration applications.

—Improve the morale of immigration department employees by giving them the prestige accorded career diplomats.

R. F. Curry, assistant deputy minister of immigration, said in an interview the department does not agree that exports of skilled immigrants are drying up or that Canada is being seriously affected by a United States decision to discard its quota system and admit more grants on the basis of skills, a policy adopted by Canada several years ago.

MUST WORK HARDER

He said, however, that Canada must work harder to get qualified immigrants as a result of the new U.S. policy and steps being taken by other countries, such as Australia, to obtain greater numbers of immigrants.

Mr. Curry said that in the past the department worked closely with the provinces on education. In future it plans to cooperate closely with the provinces and industry in assessing immigration requirements.

C. M. Isbister, deputy minister, said the reorganization of the department is moving in consistent with the broad pieces outlined in the first report of the Economic Council of Canada.

LOOK INTO THEFT

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The FBI sought clues Monday in the theft of $19,280 from the safe of the destroyer USS Cogswell while docked at the San Diego naval station. The Navy said the theft occurred late Friday or early Saturday, after the ship's payroll had been brought aboard from a San Diego bank. The money was in cash, mostly small bills, a Navy spokesman said.

Homey Ranchhouse Visit Between Johnson, Pearson Ends in Signing Agreement

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (CP)— A homey overnight ranchhouse visit between Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson ended Saturday with signing of an auto - making agreement described as an historic step.

"Eventually the consumers on both sides of the border will share in its benefits," Pearson said.

Pearson invited Johnson for an official visit to Canada which U.S. sources said the president would "like very much" to accept.

No acceptance was settled. But despite his crowded 1965 foreign schedule, there were signs Johnson was ready to go.

The only formal note in the visit began Friday afternoon was the signing of an agreement to drop North American tariffs on manufacturers on most motor vehicles and the parts going into them, a measure designed to increase Canadian output.

SIGN OUTSIDE

Pearson, Johnson, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and State Secretary Rusk signed the pact in a lawn ceremony under oak trees shaken by a bitter Texas "norther." They braved the elements without overcoats. The temperature was 37 degrees.

The president called the auto pact an "historic agreement" which "will help us both" himself on governing at home and dealing abroad by consensus—not by "two men riding a bull." It appeared that our two countries might have grave differences in the field of trade."

Canada and the U.S., while being each other's best customers, count autos and parts as the main exceptions to a two country total of nearly $700,000,000 annually. The U.S. has a whopping advantage of more than $500,000,000.

"We faced a choice between the road of strobe and counter-stroke and the road of understanding and co-operation," Johnson told reporters. "We have taken the road of understanding."

The agreement to put auto-making on a continental basis had been the result of hard work on both sides, he said.

AMONG MOST IMPORTANT

Pearson called the deal "one of the most important accords ever signed between our two countries in the trade field." It would benefit both countries but it had not been easy and "it could not have been accomplished at all if there had not been that mutual understanding, good will and confidence which has grown up between our two countries over the years."

The agreement, which takes effect today, needs congressional legislative approval hopefully to be provided retroactively despite the announced opposition of some American parts-making companies. Canadian approval requires a simple cabinet decree, or order in council.

The new scheme replaces a controversial Canadian measure implemented first in 1962 in a small way, seeking to raise Canadian exports of auto parts by providing tariff rebates for firms able to increase sales abroad by an equal value.

American opposition to this arrangement prompted negotiations started last summer and now brought to fruition, nullifying a court suit launched last week launched by some American in a move to have him blindsought countervailing — or higher — duties against Canadian imports under the expiring system.

Main objective of the replacement arrangement is to raise Canadian auto and parts exports to a substantially higher level and — after a period of several years at least—lead ultimately to Canadian prices lower than would otherwise prevail.

PRESENT MEAN PRICE CUT

This does not mean that auto prices in Canada, about 17 per cent higher than the U.S. on various reasons including tariffs, would fall. But it does mean, as Pearson indicated, that prices will be lower under the arrangement than without it. It will require considerable production readjustment.

This particular arrangement might indeed be a useful precedent, said Pearson, who in a brief meeting in May, 1963, with the late president Kennedy set in motion machinery to consider in a co-operative North American way the resources of the continent.

But he carefully noted that the North American auto-making industry — and other American companies paramount in total output — "lends itself more readily to this kind of approach than other kinds of industry."

Pearson called his visit "wonderful" and said the president had been considerate to provide a cold outdoor climate Canadians were accustomed to for the indoor visit, it has been a "short but very, very happy visit." He could not recall any discussions before in a homier or more friendly atmosphere.

Thant Plans Plea for Money To Pay Bills

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — With the United Nations' bank account overdrawn and a small mountain of bills on hand, Secretary - General U Thant intends to financially revive the resumption of the General Assembly's 19th annual session at 3 p.m. EST today.

Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana was to address the 117-member body to back up the secretary - general's implied call for voluntary contribution or other aid.

The UN has enough money in sight to meet about $2,000,000 semi-monthly payroll at the end of January, but not enough to pay off in mid-February.

In addition, it needs money to pay debts of $45,000,000 to governments and business firms and $40,000,000 to the UN working capital fund.

It got into debt for its Congo and Middle East peace keeping operations because the Soviet bloc and allies would not help pay for either operation, and Belgium, France, South Africa and other nations would not help pay for The Congo operation.

RESTRAINED FROM VOTING

The assembly last month restrained from voting to avoid a clash over whether the delinquent countries should lose their votes for non-payment of assessents. As a result, it has not been able to adopt new assessments for 1965.

In response to Thant's plea, member countries could pay the assessments they owe the United Nations, forgive the debts the United Nations owes them, make voluntary contributions or write off their UN emergency bonds.

But unless a settlement is reached, the assembly will face the problem next Monday of electing a steering committee and adopting an agenda. This would involve voting and a Soviet-U.S. showdown.

The supposition concerning "canals" on Marx stems from the mistranslation of the Italian word for "grooves"—canali.

23 Fatalities Across Canada During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Accidents claimed at least 23 lives across Canada during the weekend, 18, of them in traffic.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times showed three died in fires and two others killed in miscellaneous accidents.

Six persons died in traffic in Quebec and a baby was frozen to death. Ontario had five road deaths and one girl died when she fell from a horse.

The survey does not include industrial or natural deaths, known suicides or slayings.

The Ontario dead:

SUNDAY

Barry Fawcett, 31, Brantford, in hospital of head injuries suffered when his car crashed through a detour and overturned near Brantford.

Barbara Lavhuck, 17, Fairport Beach, Ont., when she fell from her horse on a farm near Pickering, 15 miles east of Toronto.

Mary Ann Breault, 13, Windsor, in hospital of injuries suffered in two-car collision at Windsor Saturday.

SATURDAY

Gus Van Melkerk, 50, RR 3, Tottenham, Ont., and his son, George, 12, when their cattle truck collided with a CPR passenger train at level crossing on Highway 9 near Orangeville, 40 miles northwest of Toronto.

FRIDAY

Lloyd MacDonald, 38, Brantford, when thrown from his car in a two - car collision and dragged a half mile along the Queen Elizabeth Way near the Toronto-area community of Port Credit.

Says Mr. K. Was Not Fired, Quit in a Huff

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (Reuters)—A man who purports to be a close friend of Nikita Khrushchev declared today the former Soviet Premier was not fired but angrily quit "in a mood" after several criticism by his colleagues.

The man, a Dane who was unidentified, gave his account of Khrushchev's departure from office last October in the Copenhagen newspaper Ekstrabladet.

According to the report, the former Soviet premier and Communist party secretary was not fired. He left "in a mood" and slammed the door behind him when he was being criticized by the Soviet presidium.

The friend was quoted as saying that Khrushchev was taken to task over his off - the - cuff speeches and decisions during his visits to the United Arab Republic and Denmark earlier last year.

The friend claimed the premier's abrupt departure came as complete surprise to other Soviet leaders.

Montreal Chateau Looted Of Collection of Old Coins

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's furnished Chateau de Ramezay, built by a Frenchman, taken over by the British and once captured by the Americans, was looted of an estimated $100,000 worth of its coins Sunday night.

Gunmen in hoods intimidated Assistant Curator Anna O'Dowd after visiting hours and effectively cleaned three of the chateau's showcases of old coins whose value police set at $100,000.

"Professional thievery," said manager John D. King of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society of Montreal, which runs the chateau as a museum.

He believes the thieves will have to dispose of their loot on th. black market. "Any honest dealer will immediately question these coins," he said.

Miss O'Dowd, in her 60s, told police she was upstairs in the apartment she occupies in the stone house when she heard noises. She came down to face the revolvers of two men who had broken in.

They made her provide keys to the cases they were interested in and return to her apartment. They cut telephone wires before fleeing.

It was not the first brusque entry for the 200-year-old structure. It got its name from Claude de Ramezay, who had it built near Montreal's waterfront when he was governor of the city in 1705.

He and his family occupied it through 20 years of repelling the British and the Iroquois, then it became a post of the fur-trading Compagnie des Indes. The British made it a governors' residence again when they took Canada from the French.

But the guns of the American revolution shook the chateau in 1775, and the United States Army moved in during General Montgomery's year-long occupation of Montreal.

RECOVERS FROM FALL

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A Reed College girl was in good condition Monday after a 75-foot fall from a bluff in the rugged Columbia River gorge. Barbara Strait, an 18 - year - old Aurora, Ill. resident, was "responding well," hospital attendants said. She suffered no internal injuries or fractures. Miss Strait fell Saturday while hiking with three com- at Horse Tail Falls, some 30 miles east of Portland.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CANYON, Sports Editor

A Confucius jokesmith once coined "Him who would grow moustache on instalment plan, should start with a little down" but what the old boy did say was "A picture is worth a thousand words".

Had someone slipped a modern television set into the smartest philosopher's private boudoir, he would, after viewing the commercials changed that to "A picture is worth a thousand bucks".

And since television advertising has invaded the realm of sport, there seems to be a lot of truth in that statement.

Top stars of major sports are appearing regularly on the picture tubes endorsing razors and razor blades, syrups and soaps; skirts and shampoos, tonics and T-shirts, cigarets and cereals, foams and other masculine fal-de-rols.

These endorsements, naturally, furnish additional feathers for the financial nests of the featured stars. I do not know to what extent but five gets you a dime the overall take would make a neat down payment on a small apartment building.

Product-wise I'm not impressed. I have never liked spinach and all the Popeye cartoons in the world won't change my dislike for the alleged "muskie-building" fodder.

There are people who criticize the Hulls, Howes, Y. A. Tittles, Koufaxes, Gilfords, and other topflight athletic stars for connecting themselves with television commercials. "Publicity-seekers" they snort.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. They're in it for the financial reimbursement. And who can blame them?

They used to laugh at Liberace, the white-toothed King of the Keyboard and Kandalabra. But the pianist always had the last word. "There are two kinds of laughs," he said. "The first and last. I have the last on my way to the bank."

The public prints and magazines have been "loaded" recently with articles and columns of the exploits of Hawk Star Bobby Hull. Just about everything that can be written about Bobby has found space in the sports pages and under the signatures of columnists.

Recently I read a new departure in Hull publicity. It dealt with Robert's activities in the realm of television advertising.

For some time now Hull has been connected with various commercials which, no doubt, add a neat sum to a bulging bank account. And why not? At the moment he is the hottest thing in professional league hockey and sharp-sighted advertising people know his value. They are willing to pay large fees for the use of his name — and voice.

But Hull goes farther than that. He feels top-flight hockey stars have been treated rather shabbily in the past by the big commercial agencies which use professional athletes' names in their promotions.

He has set up an agency (HPH) with Pierre Pilote and Glen Hall through which other hockey stars can negotiate commercials services with advertisers. The agency, of course, will not work for nothing.

Bobby makes dozens of public appearances both inside and outside his home district during the off season. For this he collects nothing. He doesn't want remuneration.

But, he claims, and rightly so, that if topflight American stars are paid a fee to appear at big celebrities' dinners, Canadian top-ranking athletes should receive the same financial treatment — and not be asked to appear, gratis.

But a fly looms in the ointment of the newly-formed HPH agency. There is a clause in players' contracts that gives the NHL brass the right to control their appearances on television and radio. The agency could get the finger of death when the league moguls meet next month.

Be that as it may. Who can blame Bobby, now in what might be the most brilliant season of a long and illustrious hockey career, for making hay while the Hull shines?

Underdog Wins At San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Open golf tournament ended in the excitement of a sudden-death playoff, a remarkable rally, and victory for underdog Wes Ellis Jr.

Ellis capped a dramatic comeback Sunday when he sank an eight-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 72rd hole while Casper got down in par.

The 31 - year - old Ellis, who doesn't play many tournaments, sent the affair into the extra hole when he made a sensational 45-foot putt from the edge of the 18th green.

The Open developed into a three-way struggle in the final nine holes with Casper, Ellis and Johnny Pott. Pott, who lost in a playoff to Tommy Jacobs in 1962, missed a short putt on the 16th hole, losing his chance for the playoff.

Pott finished with a 65 for 283, George Knudson of Toronto had a 64 for 289, winning $2,000, and Jay Dolan and Bud Holscher were tied at 272. Stan Leonard, the Vancouver veteran, who had apparently blown himself out of the tournament with a halfway score of 141, put together a 67 and 69 on the last two rounds for a 277 total and $625 in prize money.

Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., who led the Canadians with his first-round 62, blew to a 76 the following day and his 144 missed the cutoff by one stroke.

Juveniles Lose, Tie Over Weekend

Belleville A.C.T. "Travellers" lost their OMHA juvenile games to Gananoque here yesterday, by a 3-1 score, after playing to a 4-4 exhibition tie in Peterborough on Saturday.

Sunday's OMHA tilt was a real battle. It was scoreless after one period and Gananoque took a slim 1-0 lead in the second, outscoring the "Travellers" 2-1 in the final frame.

Frank Farrell tallied Belleville's lone goal, assisted by Ethier and Post.

Stevenson starred for the Gan boys, fingering all three goals. Westwood got assists on all the goals. Belleville has cut the lead to 2-1 until Stevenson's third marker wrapped it up.

There were 13 penalties in the rough going with the losers collecting eight.

In Peterborough Saturday the clubs battled on even terms all the way. It was 2-2 and 3-3 before each side scored once in the third to keep it tied.

D. Dickey fired two Belleville markers with R. Ullett and Ron Post notching singletons. L. Lupenette, J. Means and B. Gregory chalked one assist each.

Peterborough goal - getters were Doug Hanes, Andy Hans, Lorne Keen and Bill Craig. D. Craig and B. Kelly had helpers.

There were but two penalties per team in this one.

Riteways Lose At Marmora

Belleville Riteways were knocked out of the OMHA novice hockey tournament in Marmora on Saturday in the opening round.

The Riteways absorbed a 7-1 whipping at the hands of a strong Peterborough team.

Peterborough jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first and made it 5-0 after two periods. The winners then held a slim 2-1 margin in the third.

Grant Goegan issued the Riteways from being blanked, scoring on a solo effort.

R. Bryan and S. Gardiner sparked the Peterborough attack with a brace of goals apiece. B. McGillis, R. Carrie and R. Minnie added the others. There were no penalties called in the game.

Athletics Beat Blacks

Galt Grabs Senior Lead

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

After more than three years as spare goaltender, Bob McCaffile made his chance Sunday night to start a game for Galt Hornets.

McCaffile filled in when Dave Dryden's equipment was late arriving, but he was pulled in the third period after Oakville Oaks got their third goal in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior game.

The Hornets managed a 3-3 tie that gave them a one-point lead in the standings over Guelph Regals.

In other senior action, Woodstock Athletics dropped Welland Blacks 7-2.

At Oakville, Joe Hogan counted for Galt to deadlock the game in the third period and send it into overtime. Ron Smith and Carl Hatt scored the other Galt goals.

Doug Hillman, Bob Bishop and Carl Hymers were the Oakville marksmen.

At Welland, Art Sullivan got three Woodstock goals. John Hartig, Ron Ryan, Jerry Stringle and Rio Caron had one each. For the Blacks, Mike Lazinovich picked up two and Tom Balkwell one.

MONTIES WIN

LIEGE, Belgium (CP-AP) — Ottawa Montagnards wound up their two - week round of matches with European hockey teams Saturday night by defeating the local squad, Cerfs Patineurs Liegeois, 8-2. The Montagnards, St. Lawrence Senior League champions and Eastern Canada semi - finalists last season, are tentatively scheduled to return to Ottawa Jan. 20.

Home ice blues has become a contagious disease around the National Hockey League.

But the initial carriers, Montreal Canadiens, apparently have found the cure.

The Canadiens, losers of three straight home games going into the weekend, snapped out of their Forum slump Saturday night by edging Boston Bruins 3-2. But the other five home teams lost during the weekend.

Detroit Red Wings dumped the Maple Leafs 4-2 at Toronto Saturday night while New York Rangers trounced their hosts, Chicago Black Hawks, 6-3.

TIM HORTON

On Sunday night, the Leafs invaded Boston and handed the Bruins a 3-1 setback, New York downed the Wings 4-2 at Detroit, and the Canadiens won a 4-3 decision at Chicago.

The results left Montreal atop the standings with 40 points, two more than Chicago and three more than third-place Toronto.

The Canadiens twice rallied from 2-1 deficits in the third period to sweep their two games, supported by the goaltending of Gump Worsley, recalled from Quebec Aces to give regular goalie Charlie Hodge a rest.

SINKS BRUINS

Claude Larose sank the Bruins with his 12th of the year at 16:18 of the finale, four minutes after Ralph Backstrom had tied the game. Johnny Bucyk and Murray Oliver had tallied for Boston in the first period and G. Tremblay provided Montreal's replay.

Worsley performed admirably, kicking out 24 shots and making a game-saving stop on Leo Boivin. On the next play Backstrom scored on a breakaway to tie it.

Larose was alone in front of the net to score the winner on Backstrom's pass from behind the net. Defeat was hard to swallow for Bruin goalie Ed Johnston, who made 36 saves.

The Canadiens also trailed the Hawks 2-1 early in the final period but rallied for goals by Larose, Leon Rochefort and Claude Provost.

Provost gave Montreal a 1-0 lead in the first period but Phil Esposito scored the equalizer on a power play in the second. Eric Nesterenko put the Hawks ahead at 5:29 of the third.

Larose, however, tied it while Chicago's Chico Maki was penalized at 11:51 and Rochefort, called from Quebec along with Worsley, got the winner at 15:41. Provost's second goal and 17th of the year went into an empty net in the last minute.

WORSELY STARS

Again Worsley was outstanding, turning 24 saves. He stopped 16 shots in the first period alone, including four off the stick of triggerman Bobby Hull.

New York was the only other team to win both weekend games and climbed within six points of fourth-place Detroit.

Camille Henry almost single-handedly whipped the Wings, registering a power-play goal in each period and bringing his season total to 18.

Floyd Smith opened the scoring for Detroit, but Henry tied it while Alex Delvecchio was in the penalty box. He put the Rangers ahead when Gary Bergman was penalized early in the second, and the Rangers never trailed.

Don Marshall scored for the Rangers and Paul Henderson got Detroit's other goal. Henry had the lone marker in the third period, beat Roger Crozier again while Bill Gadsby was off with a minor.

Henry also scored Saturday after the Rangers had pumped to a 4-0 lead by the early minutes of the second period in Chicago. Phil Goyette, Marshall, Earl Ingarfield, Bob Nevin and Rod Gilbert also scored for New York.

Maki, Fred Stanfield and Bobby Hull tallied for the Hawks. It was Hull's 30th goal in 41 games.

PLANTE INJURED

Jacques Plante was injured in the late stages of the game and gave way to Marcel Paille, who handled the contest in Detroit as well.

Glenn Hall was New York's victim in the Hawks' nets, but Denis DeJordy was the losing netminder against the Canadiens.

Tim Horton, a defenceman playing right wing because of team injuries, scored twice in the first period to start Toronto on its way to victory in Boston. Dave Keon tallied for the Leafs in the second and Ted Green raised Johnny Bower's shutout bid midway through the third frame.

Horton has nine goals so far this season, including six scored as a forward during the last two weeks.

Norm Ullman was Toronto's downfall on Saturday night. The All-Star centre from Detroit scored twice—his 20th and 21st goals—and set up goals by Gordie Howe and Floyd Smith. Red Kelly and Peter Stemkowski tallied for the Leafs, but the Toronto team was never within two goals of Detroit after Howe made it 3-0.

Camille Henry, New York, scored three power-play goals Sunday night to last the Rangers to a 4-2 victory over Detroit Red Wings.

Defenceman Tim Horton, Toronto, scored twice while playing right wing to start the Maple Leafs toward a 3-1 decision over Boston Bruins Sunday night.

Leon Rochefort, Montreal, called up to help the slumping Canadiens, scored the winning goal as Montreal dumped Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 Sunday night.

Norm Ullman, Detroit, led the Red Wings to a 4-2 victory in Toronto Saturday night with two goals and two assists.

Claude Larose, Montreal, scored the winning goal with less than six minutes left in the game Saturday night as the Canadiens edged Boston 3-2.

Phil Goyette scored once and set up two other goals in New Saturday night.

Britons Win Sled Title

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (Reuters) — Tony Nash and Robin Dixon, Britain's Olympic gold medal winners, won the Swiss international bobsled championship here Sunday.

Nash and Dixon had an aggregate time of two minutes, 40.87 seconds for their two runs.

A Canadian crew of Dr. John Emery, Toronto, and Mike Young, Port Credit, Ont., was disqualified. They made 1:23.82 on their first run but damaged their sled in a mishap just after the finish, and did not make a second descent.

Crothers, Others Save Boston Games

Equals 600 Record

BOSTON (AP) — Except for Joe Lynch and Ralph Boston, the beneficiaries of United States track and field forces fell flat in the season's indoor inaugural. Canadians and an Australian saved the Knights of Columbus Games.

Lynch, even listed on the program, was voted the outstanding performer after he won the surprise winner of the mile in 4:06 Saturday night. The Georgetown student vowed he have competed at all but for an uneasy last - minute truce between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Lynch had never run a mile in better than 4:09 before and feels he's a better two - miler. But he passed Kansas' Bill Dotson on the final lap to take the event. Jim Ivon, of Toronto was third in 4:10.1 to Boston's 4:07.1.

Lieut. Billy Mills, Olympic 10,000-metre champion entered the three mile, was among the scheduled contestants who could not get here due to the weather.

Olympian Boston won his broad jump specialty at 26 feet, 10 inches and also captured the 45 yard hurdles in 5.8 seconds.

Bill Crothers and Dave Ellis of Toronto plus Ray Tucker, 17-year - old schoolboy sensation from Hamilton, were dominant figures.

Crothers, second - place silver medallist in the Olympic 800 metres and winner of three straight 1,000 - yard crowns in this event, switched to the 600 and was clocked in 1:10.0, equalling the meet record. Then he fashioned a 47.3 anchor on the East York Track Club's mile relay team which won in 3:22.4.

Ellis, who with two teammates had battled most weather all day and had only one doughnut to eat as he sought to fulfill his promise to Coach Lloyd "I guess I'm satisfied," after edging Vic Zwolak for an 8:32.2 three-mile.

Dave Tork won the pole vault at a disappointing 14-6. All Crothers, of Saint-Irenee, P.E.I., was third at 12-6.

Trenton Minors Win Weekend Exhibitions

TRENTON (Special) — The Legion Juveniles and Lions Midgets chalked up easy victories against outside opposition in the regular Sunday night double-header here.

The Legion gained sweet revenge for an earlier setback in Cobourg by whipping the Cobourg juveniles 10-1.

The Lions thumped Whitby Lasco midgets by a 10-3. score.

Oshawa midgets and West Rouge Juveniles will visit the Community Gardens for next Sunday's games.

Legion led 2-0 and 6-1 by periods, outshooting Cobourg by a top-sided 36-14 margin.

Al Ferguson and Andy Teeple were the big goal-getters, each scoring three times. Single goals went to Ken Reynolds, Bob Fraser, Bob Shanklier and Chuck Howard. Jim Bonn was the key playmaker and earned an even half dozen assists.

Roger Johnson scored the only Cobourg marker.

Whitby midgets outshot Trenton 32-25 but trailed on the scoreboard 4-2 and 7-3 by periods.

Rick Monroe led the Trenton Lions' attack with four goals while John McDonald banged home three. Jim Bigwood, Jim Steenburg and Al Kimmick also scored.

Whitby scorers were George Reeson, Ross Jones and Tom Parker.

On Saturday, Legion juveniles travelled to West Rouge and came home with a 4-1 victory.

RUSSIANS TO COMPETE

NEW YORK (AP)—Six Russian runners and jumpers, including a woman—Olympic champion, will compete in the United States indoor track and field championships at Madison Square Garden Feb. 19-20. Don Hull, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union, said Saturday. The Russians, led by Olympic high jump champion Valery Brumel and broad jumper Igor Ter - Ovanesyan, will begin a short American tour at the Philadelphia Inquirer meet Feb. 5.

The Gas House Hockey League

The Gas House Hockey League wound up its regular schedule last night with two ties existing among the four clubs.

Joyce Realty nipped Mulroney's Sunoco 5-5 and the two teams completed the schedule tied for first place.

Marysville and the Komets fought to a 4-4 deadlock and they were also tied in final points standings.

Final official positions were decided through a goal average, which saw Joyce take first place, Sunoco second, the Komets third and Marysville fourth.

Playoffs will start next week. Joyces and Komets will clash in one semi-final series, Sunoco and Marysville in the other. The series will be two-of-three affairs.

Jim Horwood scored two Joyce goals last night with one each going to Jack Garvin, Tom Woodley, Ron Raycroft and Paul Wall.

Jerry Masterson was a two-goal man for Mulroney's Sunoco. Claude Carr, Pete Enright and Ben Hurley also scored.

Marysville got two goals each from Ray Summers and Wayne Pascoe to split their decision. Komet goals were all singles, going to Bob Wannamaker, Bill Muirhead, Frank Wiles and Lee McBride.

'Must Conform to Rules'

Campbell Raps Hayes' 'Silly Attitude'

MONTREAL (CP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League says he is "terribly disappointed" at the "silly attitude" adopted by lineman George Hayes which led to his suspension Friday.

"He is the employee with the longest service to the league outside of myself and I have always been happy with his technical work on the ice," Campbell said Saturday.

"But he must conform to the rules laid down for control of the staff. We can't have one set of rules for him and another for everyone else."

Hayes, an NHL official for 19 years, was suspended when he refused to undergo an eye examination made compulsory for all league officials. He said it is against his principles.

"I feel I should be judged by the job I do on the ice and not by some report from an eye doctor," he is reported to have said.

Campbell reiterated that every other referee and linesman underwent the eye examination which he termed "a confirmation of fitness." The results were "very encouraging," he said.

The president said he was in touch with Hayes twice in the last three days and gave him "lots of warning."

Campbell said at present Hayes is under suspension but that his contract will be terminated if he does not comply with the rules "within a reasonable period of time."

"He is perfectly free to work anywhere he likes and can have my blessing if he wants it," the league president said, "but if he works in another league he will himself be terminating his NHL contract."

The Trots

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Chester Brown, driven by Louis Chartrand, won the featured 1,000-yard dash at the Western Raceway here Saturday, going the distance in 2:10 in near-zero temperatures.

The two-year-old gelding took the $500 first money, ahead of Success Yankee and Black Stable.

Canadians Up Lead Over Scots

REGINA (CP) — Canadians won three of six matches and tied a fourth Saturday in Strathcona Cup competition against Scottish curlers.

Canadian rinks scored 72 points to 43 for the Scots on the day's play. The result left Canada leading the competition by an aggregate score of 808-444 after eight rounds.

Canada now has won 37 games, Scotland 11 and one has been tied.

While the Scots stayed with the draw game, the Canadians went mostly to knockout. The Scots, even when calling for knockout shots, seldom threw rocks hard enough to hit the end boards.

The Strathcona Cup competition, which has been won five times by each side since the 1909 inaugural, continues with rounds in Winnipeg today and Tuesday.

Shooting Poor

Juniors Lose To Nationals 5-2

◆ MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's specialty and the juniors had a national hockey team could stand a little improvement in the shooting department.

The team displayed a knitted defence and some smart pass combinations Sunday night in registering a 5-2 victory over a make-up junior team of players from Montreal and Peterborough of the Ontario Junior Hockey Association.

It was the Nationals' 17th win in nine games to prepare them for the world amateur championships March 4-24 at Tampere, Finland. They have lost 10 and tied two.

"We're a little weak around the net,"—Rev. David Bauer, the team adviser, said after the game. "We should have got a few more goals."

Canada fired 40 pucks at goalkeeper Chuck Goddard, one of eight Peterborough players with the juniors. Goddard made brilliant saves on Al Johnson on a breakaway, Jim MacKenzie, Gary Dineen and Marshall Johnston.

But the Nationals were generally sloppy around the net, missing many opportunities to capitalize on lapses by the junior defence.

Gary Dineen, Roger Bourbonnais, Chuck Lumsden, Reg Abbott and Ross Parke scored for the Nationals. Both junior goals came on power plays and were scored by Andre Lacroix, top OHA junior scorer, and Leo Thiffault, both of Peterborough. Each assisted on the other's goal.

Canada banged in three unanswered goals in the first period, and the teams split four goals in the second period. There was no scoring in the final period.

Don Collins in the Nationals net had an easy night, making 22 saves. Thiffault's goal came on a power play when Goddard was out of his net on a delayed

NBC Gets Contract From AFL

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—The American Football League awarded its 1966 all-star game to the new domed stadium at Houston provided proper financial arrangements can be made.

The new stadium will be opened by Houston Astros baseball club in April and will be used by Houston Oilers during the 1965 AFL season.

Commissioner Joe Foss said the 1967 all-star game will be played in the new stadium now being constructed at Oakland if proper financial arrangements are made.

Barron Hilton, owner of San Diego Chargers, was elected president of the league, succeeding Bill Sullivan, president of Boston Patriots.

The AFL completed its annual meeting shortly before the start of Saturday's all-star game. It did not take up the several requests made by the player association that will be considered at the spring meeting, probably in Buffalo, N.Y., in June.

The league signed a new contract Friday night with the National Broadcasting Company for television rights to its next five championship games and all-star games. Foss said the league will receive $6,750,000 from NBC on a sliding scale with the fee increasing from about $750,000 the first year to about $2,000,000 in the fifth year.

The NBC will also telecast the league's regular schedule games over the next five years under an agreement reached earlier.

The current contract with the American Broadcasting Company expired with Saturday's all-star game.

Davy Jones Stars in Aces' Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The game, before a small crowd estimated at about 1,200, didn't live up to its billing.

Five junior stars scheduled to play didn't make an appearance.

Fran Huck, the Regina scoring flash, and Doug Piper, also of Regina, were to fly to Montreal for the game, but didn't. There was no official explanation.

Defenceman Bob Lemieux of the junior Canadiens was unable to play because of torn knee ligaments, while two of his teammates, Rene Drolet and Don Leisemer, were both optioned to minor-pro clubs Saturday by the National Hockey League Canadiens.

Morrisburg Combines moved into first place in the St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League Sunday with a 4-1 win over Lancaster Dodgers.

They moved ahead of the Hull Volants who dropped a 6-3 decision to Kingston Aces.

Bill Jarvis, Cal Wagner, Arnie Lawler and Ed St. Louis scored for the Combines, while Shad St. Jean scored the Dodgers' only goal.

David Jones paced Kingston's win with two goals, while Garfield Ball, Fred Curran, Stu Muirhead and Pete Robertson added one each.

Gil Seguin, Bob Seguin and Hillary Lawliss scored for the losers.

Picks Chuvalo Over Patterson

Boxing Needs White Hopes Says Clay

By MURRAY ROSE

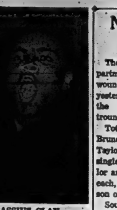
NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing wrong with boxing that "more white hopes" wouldn't cure, says Cassius Clay.

That's why he's pulling for Canadian champion George Chuvalo to knock out Floyd Patterson, the former world champion, in the 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 1. He and Chuvalo would draw more money, said Clay.

Clay said he hoped to fight the winner after his return bout with Sonny Liston in Boston this spring.

At the same time Clay, the kit of the Boxing Writers' Association's annual dinner Saturday night, said if "we had more white men like Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey around, and me fighting them, we'd draw a $30,000,000 gate."

"It seems the darker men are dominating boxing," said Clay, who switched back and forth from speaking in jest and in being dead serious.



CLAY SEEM SAD

"This must seem a little sad to white men," he added. "I'm not talking hate. I'm talking about what everyone says but nobody says out loud.

"What we need is more white hopes. That's why I'm pulling for the Washerwoman (Chuvalo) to knock out the Rabbit (Patterson).

"The masses — the white masses that buy most of the tickets at fights — would like it better if there was some white top contender to challenge someone like me."

Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, both former heavyweight champions, were among the 21 present and former world champions on the two-tier dais at the BWA's award dinner honoring light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano, former welterweight and middleweight champion Mickey Walker, and one - time welterweight contender Billy Graham.

N.E. Hockey Results

The Northern Electric Departmental Hockey League wound up its regular schedule yesterday with Comets downing the Flyers 3-2 and Indians trouncing the Hornets 9-1.

Totten, R. Hutchinson and Brunette scored two goals each, Taylor and Barrett adding singletons, for the Comets. Taylor and Totten drew two assists each, Masterson and B. Hutchinson one apiece.

Soule and Duguay potted the Flyer markers and Arthur got an assist.

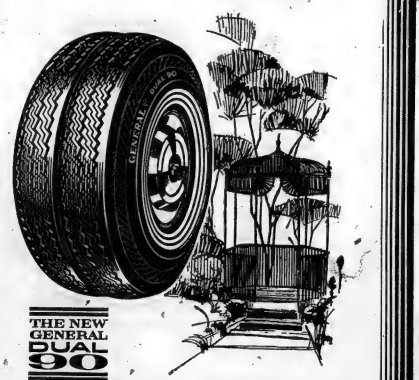
J. Hutchinson fired three goals to pace the Indian scorers. Two goals each went to Gregory, Smith and Markle. Smith, Gregory and J. Hutchinson had two helpers each.

Hamilton scored for the Hornets, assisted by Dorn.

A final league standing and playoff arrangements will be released later this week.

Wilkinson Rink Loses At Utica

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Chuck Hoskin's Utica No. 2 rink won the Mitchell Medal Sunday in the 54th annual Utica men's bonspiel with a 17-6 victory over Utica No. 6, skipped by Monty Meade.



St. Thomas, Ont., skipped by Harold Frye, won the Allen medal, beating Quinte, Ont., skipped by Ernie Wilkinson, 12-9.

In the Country Club Cup finals, Cataraqui of Kingston, Ont., skipped by Gib Seymour, defeated Schenectady, N.Y., skipped by Fran Morhouse, 11-3.

Utica No. 7, skipped by Henry Delwo, defeated Utica No. 5, skipped by Joe Brindisi, 12-2, for the Dewar Trophy.

There were 23 rinks from the United States and Canada entered in the competition, which began Thursday.

Don Mills Schoolboys Win Title

OSHAWA (CP) — Don Mills Collegiate of Toronto scored a stunning 13-4 upset over the 1964 championship Owen Sound rink in the finals of the Ontario schoolboy curling championship here Saturday night.

Owen Sound skip John Harris fought a brilliant game with draw shots in the third, fifth and eighth ends to stay in the running. But Don Mills, after an opening four in the first end added two in the fourth, four in the sixth and "stole" two in the seventh. They scored one more point in the final end.

The Don Mills rink of skip Paul Savage, Bruce Morrison, Marcel Smolinski, and Jim Hollingshead, will represent Ontario at the Canadian schoolboy championship at Fredericton next month.

Jeanette Macdonald's Death Erased Great Movie Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death of Jeanette MacDonald erased another great name from the star-filled roster of Hollywood's golden era.

As these unique personalities pass from the scene, we realise how profoundly our lives were affected by movies in the great decade of the 1930s. It may have been the greatest burst of creativity in the history of entertainment. Certainly more indelible stars were created than at any other time.

Jeanette MacDonald was one of the originals, a rare star whose off - screen personality matched her film roles. She never lost the sweet, wide-eyed quality she exhibited in movies.

In her early movies, she became famous as the thrilling, tremulous leading lady for Maurice Chevalier. She was an able complement to the Frenchman's overwhelming charm.

But it wasn't until her collaboration with Nelson Eddy that Miss MacDonald registered as a personality star.

Their personal relationship has long been cause of speculation. Both were unmarried when they started to co-star, but friends say there was never a romance between them, nor was there a raging feud, as some would have us believe.

HAVE QUARRELS OFTEN

A co-worker on their films told me after her death: "They used to have real shouting matches on their sets, and all of us would say, 'Well, this is it —no more MacDonald-Eddy features.' And then at the end of the working day they would make a date to go out to dinner together."

In 1942, they made their last and most modern film together —the Rodgers-Hart I Married An Angel. The team broke up not because of personal strife but public apathy. The war was on, and audiences sought realism, not romances of a bygone time in which sweethearts vowed their love in soaring tones.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy actually became warm friends after their co-starring was over. They rejoined for occasional radio and record dates but never appeared together in another movie. Once she explained: "Every couple of years we have merely thrown Nelson and me into duets with no story."

Their most famous duets—and the most lampooned—came in their first two films: Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life in Naughty Marietta and Indian Love Call in Rose Marie. But their best movie was the third one of the time, a melodic, handsomely produced romance that stands up under scrutiny even in these callous times. Indeed, MGM has successfully reissued it with Naughty Marietta.

Avonlea Rink Wins Masters'

CALGARY (CP) — Brilliant shot-making carried the Avonlea, Sask., to an easy 12-7 triumph over Hersh Lerner's Winnipeg foursome Saturday in the sudden - death final of the 1965 Masters' curling championship.

Pickering received excellent support from lead Glen Campbell, second Garnet Campbell and third Jack Keys as he directed the rink to a 9-0 second-end lead that was threatened only briefly.

The victory gave the winners and their wives trips to Hawaii plus $1,000 cash to split among themselves.

Pickering gained the final by defeating Harold Worth of Delisle, Sask., while Lerner turned back Ernie Richardson of Regina, four-time Canadian champion.

At the Belle

Warren Beatty, Jean Seberg And Brigitte Bardot In New Films

Warren Beatty and Jean Seberg, under the sympathetic direction of veteran film-maker Robert Rossen, bring to the Belle Theatre screen in "Lillith," one of the most moving romantic dramas ever played before the cameras. There is absorbing power, an incandescent glory to "Lillith," and a cinematic beauty that adds to its own dimension. Co-starred in "Lillith," opening today at the Belle Theatre are Peter Fonda, son of Henry and brother of Jane and Kim Hunter.

FIRST NEW BARDOT FILM

Sultry symbol of irresistible femininity is Brigitte Bardot, who is star of the new Cinema-Scope and color film, "The Night Heaven Fell," co-starring Stephen Boyd, and announced the associate Feature offering today at the Belle Theatre in Belleville.

The matinee performances begin at 1.30, evenings one complete show starting at 7.30, doors open at 6.45, at the Belle Theatre in Belleville.

Nationals 'Net Weak' Says Baver

By EDDY COLLISTER

MONTREAL (CP)—"We may not beat the Russians but it should be an interesting series," said Rev. David Bauer Sunday night after Canada's National Hockey League team dumped a Montreal Canadiens team made up by Peterborough Petes and Junior Canadiens 5-2 before a small crowd.

"The Russians have a strong team," Father Bauer, an ardent coach Gord Simpson, said in the dressing room after the game, 9 p.m. EST before a crowd estimated at about 1,200.

"We're a little weak around the nets," he said. "We should have got a few more goals tonight. That little goalie (Chuck Goddard of the Peterborough Petes) played a good game."

Gary Dineen, who started the scoring for the national team in the opening period, also said Goddard played well.

"He robbed me on a couple of shots," he said. "But he also had the goalpost playing for him." Dineen bounced a couple of hard shots off the posts during the game.

CROWD DISAPPOINTING

The smooth - skating centre also voiced disappointment about the crowd.

"Some of the boys game hundreds of miles for this game," he said. "With this crowd you wouldn't get enough for lunch money."

The Montreal club was bolstered by eight players from Peterborough, goalie Chuck Goddard, defencemen John Vanderkruith and forwards Leo Thiffault, Danny Grant, Andre Lacroix, Don Herriman, Dale Watson and Jim Paterson.

Lacroix is the leading scorer in the OHA Junior A series with 87 points.

Peterborough coach Frank Mario said that his boys had played only fair.

"I've seen them play better," he said.

Thiffault and Lacroix shared the scoring for the juniors.

Hope Show, Wizard of Oz Never Seem to Lose Charm

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual Bob Hope Christmas show by now is as familiar and unchanging as the annual Wizard of Oz re-run.

Both of them were on view during the weekend and neither ever seems to lose its charm.

The Hope show — film shot during his holiday journey to U.S. military outposts from the Philippines to South Viet Nam —occupied 90 minutes on NBC Friday night.

Sunday night, there was CBS' repeat of the delightful old fantasy, a movie made when Judy Garland was a baby - sozer. This season, for a change, the network broadcast it in color.

The Man Who Bought Paradise, an hour drama with a flock of big names, was on CBS' shelf for several seasons until it was dusted off Sunday night to fill a vacant hour in the network's evening schedule.

The setting was a second-rate hotel in a second-rate country which had no extradition treaties. As a consequence, the residents of the hotel were a fascinating assortment of criminals. Into this "Grand Hotel" situation came an impoverished "boy bandit of Wall Street," fleeing a rather fuzzy crime involving $1,000,000.

It had all the ingredients, but it didn't cook up into much of a show.

Recommended tonight:

Alan Sherman's Funnyland, NBC, 8-10 EST—one of a series of variety shows which may be regular programs next season.

BETTERS RECORD

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — Ron Clarke bettered the world record for the 5,000 metres Saturday with a clocking of 13 minutes, 34.8 seconds. The Australian runner, finishing more than 400 metres ahead of his nearest rival, cut four - tenths of a second off the mark set by Vladimir Kuts of Russia at Rome Oct. 13, 1957.

Three "M's" Win College Puck Tilts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The three closest contenders in the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League moved on Saturday in an attempt to overtake the first - place University of Toronto Blues, but the idle Blues didn't have to worry.

Montreal Carabins, Western Ontario Mustangs and McMaster Marlins all won their games by big margins, remaining tied for second place with 10 points each, six behind Toronto.

The Carabins defeated Waterloo Warriors 8-4. Montreal overcame a 3-1 first-period deficit by scoring three goals in the second and outscoring Waterloo four to one in the final period.

Race for Lead

Flyers, Marlies Jam Traffic

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers and Toronto Marlboros won games Sunday, threatening to create a traffic jam at the top of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings.

Niagara Falls now has 52 points and Toronto 50. The team nearest the leaders is Peterborough Petes with 46.

At the other end of the standings, last-place Hamilton Red Wings won all seven places Catharines Black Hawks are scrambling for the sixth and final playoff position. They played to a 4-4 tie Sunday. Red Wings have 23 points and the Black Hawks 24. Kitchener Rangers have 30.

The Flyers defeated Rangers 9-5. The Marlboros defeated Oshawa Generals 5-4 to keep close to the Flyers.

Saturday, Oshawa defeated Peterborough Petes 4-3 to move within four points of third-place Peterborough.

Bill Goldsworthy led the Flyers to their win with three goals. Ted Snell and Rosaire Paiement added two each and Don Marcotte and Brian Conacher one each. Kitchener goals were scored by Bill Hay and Bob Jones with two each and Sandy Fitzpatrick and Pete Brennan, ROGERS SAYS, HUH?

The Toronto - Oshawa game brought Ron Buchanan's 34th and 35th goals of the season. It was the 19th consecutive game in which he has figured in the scoring. The Saturday game against Peterborough, he had two goals and an assist.

Goals by Paul Laurent, Gerry Meehan, Doug Dunville, Mike Byers, Mike Corrigan and Ray Winterstein defeated Oshawa and kept the pressure on Niagara Falls.

The other Oshawa goals were scored by Bill Bannerman and Bill Cashman.

Billy Little and Bobby Orr were the other Oshawa scorers in Saturday's win over Peterborough. Leo Thiffault, Ian Grant and Andry Lecroix fired the Peterborough goals.

Hamilton overcame a 1-0 deficit to win the first period of its game with St. Catharines scoring four goals and holding a 4-3 lead at the end of the second. But a goal by St. Catharines defenseman Ross Eichler tied the score early in the third. Hawk scorers were Wayne Maki with two and D. Reid. Hamilton scorers were Peter Mahovlich, Peter Vervaegstert, Gerald Abel and Real Lemieux.

Your Car

Use a Few Ounces of Prevention

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

You don't have to be a mechanic or even a do-it-yourseller to take care of little things which keep your car in good running condition. You do, for instance, when you have the water and oil checked every time you stop for gas. And, there are many other simple but important inspections you can complete within a few minutes on a Saturday morning.

You might start by checking the battery water level, examining the posts and cable terminals for corrosion or looseness, and making certain that the battery is held firmly in its carrier. While the hood is up, take a close look at the fan belt. If it's slack, worn, frayed or glazed on the underside, you may be better off with a replacement. Check tire pressure all around — and most of all, be sure the spare in your trunk is properly inflated. And, how about headlights, tail lights, brake lights and all turn signals? You can't be sure they are working unless they are tested occasionally.

C. M. writes: "When I accelerate my '64 V-8 engine, the fan sets up a whirring noise. What causes this?"

Fan looseness, bent blades or the usual culprit . . . but you'll not take advantage of your guarantee and let the dealer find and cure the trouble?

From F. H.: "There's a thumping noise from the left rear tire on your car. . . the wheel has been balanced, the tire properly inflated and doesn't lose air, and it's a fairly new tire without any bumps, cuts or bald spots. To test I tried the spare at the left rear and the noise disappeared."

checked to see if it might be out-of-round. This is not uncommon.

C. I. writes: "Can you please tell me what is causing the rattle which I can hear from the left front of my '64 sedan. It's only heard when the car is in motion."

Loose, scored or pitted wheel bearings — or a loose brake drum, brake shoe or backing. . . sum up the most likely causes . . . with the front suspension next on the list.

F. O. C. writes: "The '63 sedan I recently bought has just 7,000 miles on it and it runs very well. However, I do have a complaint which the dealer hasn't corrected — it rides very hard, even on smooth roads. Would less air in the tires help?"

Not if tire pressure is correct now. Perhaps stiff springs or faulty shock absorbers are at fault.

Chuvalo Confidence Growing

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — George Chuvalo didn't hesitate to predict a fourth victory over Floyd Patterson in their 12-round heavyweight elimination at Madison Square Garden Feb. 1.

"Certainly I think I'll win," the 27-year-old Torontonian asserted after stepping through a brief drill with the pro sparmates at his Kutscher Country Club training quarters.

"I think I have the style to beat him," he added. "I am more aggressive. I can punch better and I like to mix matter. I've been told Floyd is hitting harder now, but I have been in with some punchers and never really been hurt."

In 29 bouts since turning pro in 1956, Chuvalo has never been knocked off his feet. He has scored 23 knockouts in 29 victories with eight losses and two draws.

Chuvalo feels that he, rather than Patterson, stands a better chance of registering a knockout.

Theodore McWhorter, trainer of the 210-pound Patterson, said his charge would do no work today outside of his usual jaunt on the roads.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay's handlers aren't exporting to say about the Floyd-Patterson - George Chuvalo 12-round heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden Feb. 1.

Lester M. Malitz Inc., distributors of the closed - circuit telecast, announced Sunday the loquacious heavyweight champion has been signed as the between - rounds commentator. The fight will be telecast live within 75 miles of New York.

To prepare for his job, Clay will visit Chuvalo's camp at Monticello, N.Y., Tuesday and Patterson's training quarters at Marlboro, N.Y., Thursday.

WINS CROWN

SASKATOON (CP) — Robert Hodges, 21, of Saskatoon won the senior men's crown at the Saskatchewan Open speedskating championships at Saturday. Hodges set a record time in the 880-yard event with a time of 1:12. He tied the Canadian records in the 440-yard race and the one-mile event and 220 respectively. Doreen McCannell, 17, of Winnipeg, broke two Canadian records to win the intermediate women's competition.

MAYS SIGNS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays of San Francisco Giants, highest paid player on the National League baseball club to sign for the 1965 season Saturday and will receive the same $105,000 salary he collected last year. The baseball centre fielder goes into the 14th season with the Giants. He is the highest paid player remaining on the club of those who made the switch from New York in 1958.

LOSE IN BASKETBALL

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Players of the Canadian Football League tried basketball Saturday and lost 86-48 to Waterdale Rotary School Warriors. The Tiger-Cats were playing an exhibition game before more than 1,400 fans whose contributions went to Rainer Scholarship Fund. Reader Says Ann Is Like a Second Mother

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a sophomore at the state university and psychology is my major. I've been reading your column for eight years and you are like a second mother to me. I know you won't let me down.

I am doing a term paper on modern marriage. There is a lot of material available on the subject but what I need is current, up-to-date stuff. Most of all, I need inside dope from someone who really knows what's going on. Who is better qualified to help me than you, Ann Landers, the supreme authority — the person who hears from everybody?

All I need is about 800 words describing the critical marital problems of our times, the causes and the cures. Also a brief paragraph on why there is a declining respect for marriage in our society.

Save my life and jot this down for me will you? Thanks, Doll. — BENNIE.

DEAR BENNIE — You just want me to jot down 800 words on the problems of marriage — the cause and the cure. Thanks a heap.

Look, Lamb Chop, every year about this time I get dozens of letters from wisenheimers who want me to do their work. The library on your campus has loads of information and I'm sure it's plenty current, so get moving. — YOUR SECOND MOTHER.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My husband passed away several months ago. He drove a new car every year and took great pride in his automobile. I do not drive.

A neighbor told me it is bad for a car to sit idle and that he would keep the car in shape for me by driving it three or four times a week.

Now he takes the car to work every day and uses it as if it were his. When he puts gas in it he charges it to the station just as my husband did, and I have been paying the bills. Also he keeps telling me he is doing me a favor. Is he right? Any advice? — E.D.

DEAR E.D. — Learn to drive, or sell the car. Your arrangement with this freeloader makes no sense.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Drinking" enclosing with your request 25c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problem. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamp self-addressed envelope.

Minor Hockey Results

Juvenile, bantam and peewee games were played in the Belleville Minor Hockey Association over the weekend.

Due to the official opening of "Minor Hockey Week" next Saturday, players are advised to watch the "Sports Calendar" carefully for schedule changes and special games during the next two weeks.

JUVENILES

Comets whipped the Aces 8-1. Muddoon, Harvey and Sager paced the Comet scorers with two goals apiece. Lancaster and Hunter added single goals. Lancaster got two assists, Muldoon, Shakell and Sager one apiece.

Fort potted the lone Ace marker, aided by MacDonald.

BANTAM

Rangers edged the Barons 4-3 on the second goal by David Cass. Robbie Rolston and Mike Cresswell fired the other markers and assists went to Neil Goyer and Cresswell. Bob Mulvihill scored twice and Steve Sharpe once in defeat. Rick Rosatie got two helpers, Jim Rushion one.

In a battle of goalies, the Hawks shaded the Canadiens 1-0. H. Wilkinson fired the game's lone goal. B. Howe got the shutout in the Hawk net and Paul Hopkins was the Canadien's goaltender.

Bruins and Royals played to a 5-5 tie. Bill Romain and Bob Cone scored two goals each and Butch Curtain one for the Royals. Bert Loveless, Dave Murrey and Steve Hubbard got assists. Ray Cormier starred for the Bruins with three goals. Craig Adams and S. Atkinson also scored with John Charlton drawing two helpers, B. Latimer one.

Wings dumped the Leafs 5-1 behind the four-goal explosion of Ted Shaw. Jim Wood had the other Wing goal and Bill Bunnett got one assist. Sandy Cunningham tallied for the Leafs.

PEEWEE

Canadiens defeated the Bruins 7-3, led by Jerry Pope's three-goal effort. Martin Wormald potted two goals, Langtry and Grey White one each. John Vance, Pope, Mike Thompson and Wormald got assists. Morden, Taylor and Jeff Morton were the Bruin scorers. Cochrane and Taylor had assists.

Red Wings nipped the Treepees 5-4. Mains starred for the winners with three goals while John Foley got the other pair. Bill Bleeckma drew three assists, Moe Thompson and Gary Doyle one each. Dennis Lynch potted two goals and helped on another for the losers. Rick Desjardine had a goal and assist and Dave Caul also scored.

Rangers downed the Maroons 5-3 with Rob Woodley scoring twice, Tom Huddleston, Terry Doran and George Rogers once each. Bob Green, Rogers and Doran had helpers. Maroon goals went to Grayling Graham, Rick Goulah and Wayne Andrews, Goulah, Graham, Ray Muldoon, Don Webster and Peter Menna had assists.

Black Hawks won 5-1 over the Barons. B. Buchanan fired two Hawk markers with Pete Pralick, D. Nelles and D. Wiley adding the others. D. Hunt and P. Scott got assists. R. Foster sank the lone Baron goal.

Maple Leafs whipped the Generals 9-1 with R. Barbour firing three goals. D. Pascoe scored two goals and one each went to Richardson, R. Watt, Morgan and D. Flesch. Barbour had three assists for a five-point game, T. Lynch helped on two, Rogers, Pascoe, Ward and Cook on one each. M. Semark got the losers' goal, assisted by T. Sprackett.

New Goalie Helps Aces Win Pair

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens goaltenders have a way of taking up where Gump Worsley leaves off.

Gilles Banville, a 22-year-old goaltending prodigy from Baie-Comeau, Que., is the latest in the Montreal organization to bid for the veteran's job.

It all started at the end of the 1962-63 National Hockey League season when Worsley, after spending 10 seasons with New York Rangers, was traded to the Canadiens for six - time Vezina Trophy winner Jacques Plante.

Worsley started the season with the Canadiens but was injured early, and when he recovered, pint - sized Charlie Hodge had taken over. Worsley was sent to Quebec Aces, the Canadiens' American Hockey League farm club, to replace Hodge.

During the weekend, Banville replaced Worsley, who had been called up to replace the slumping Hodge, and led the Aces to a 6-2 win over Springfield Indians and a 4-0 shutout over Providence Reds.

Worsley did just as well as the Canadiens won both weekend games.

CLIPPERS WIN

In other AHL games during the weekend, Baltimore Clippers defeated Cleveland Barons 4-1 Saturday, While Hershey Bears edged Rochester Americans 3-1 and Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Buffalo Bisons 5-4.

Sunday, Pittsburgh and Buffalo battled to a 4-4 overtime tie, Rochester walloped Baltimore 9-1, and Springfield defeated Cleveland 5-1.

PLAYER WINS OPEN

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) — Gary Player won the South African Open golf tournament Saturday with a 273 for four rounds over the par-71 Royal Cape course. Player finished three strokes ahead of John Hayes, also of South Africa.

A.F.L. All-Star Classic

West Romps To Win Over East

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Keith Lincoln caught a 73-yard touchdown pass and scored on an 80-yard run and John Hadl threw three touchdown passes Saturday in a 38-14 West romp over the East in the transplanted American Football League all-star game.

A slim crowd of 15,446 watched the game at Jeppesen Stadium.

The game was moved from New Orleans on short notice last Monday after 21 Negro players claimed racial discrimination.

It was close in the first half when the West took a 17-14 edge but it turned into a runaway in the second half.

Hadl, San Diego quarterback who played most of the game after Len Dawson of Kansas City suffered a nose injury in the first period, had three touchdown passes but it was Dawson, who tossed the bomb to Lincoln, fleet San Diego running back, on the first scrimmage play of the game.

Lincoln's run was an 80-yard sprint in the third quarter after taking a pitchout from Hadl.

Hadl threw touchdown passes of five, eight and 17 yards to Clem Daniels of Oakland, Lance Alworth of San Diego and Art Powell of Oakland.

In the second quarter, two fine passes by Jack Kemp to Ernie Warlick, both of Buff'o Bills and Larry Garron of Boston Patriots, set up Houston's Sid Blanks' plunge from the five.

On the last play of the first half Abner Haynes of Kansas City fumbled after catching a Hadl pass. Nick Buoniconti of Boston grabbed the fumble and ran 17 yards for a touchdown.

The victory made it four out of four for the West in the series.

Lincoln was voted the outstanding offensive player in the game and corner linebacker Willie Brown of Denver the top defensive player.

The winning West players got $700 each and the losing East team $500 each. A share of the receipts and the $75,000 television money went into the pension fund.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Beaumont Sport Deluxe Coupe

'65 Beaumont is a genuine, honest-to-goodness low-price car
(It costs much, much less than its luxurious looks suggest)

'65 Beaumont is sized right in the middle between big and little (It'll fit your garage and park with ease)

'65 Beaumont is beautifully styled and luxuriously appointed (Just look. Now you see why most people think it's higher priced)

'65 Beaumont is made by General Motors
(So you know it's packed with all kinds of value)

'65 Beaumont is sold by your Beaumont-Pontiac-Buick dealer (He's a good reliable man to do business with)

'65 Beaumont is a very remarkable car indeed . . . big enough inside to take mom, dad and a gaggle of small fry . . . yet small enough to shoehorn into the tightest parking spot. It has the kind of headturning beauty that gathers a crowd, yet it's responsive and agile as a hard-muscled sports car. You can pack it with exactly the power you like for your kind of driving. Pick the 120 hp Six . . . it'll give you outstanding economy, without being the slightest bit stingy on performance. And it's just one of 5 Beaumont engines available. Biggest being the 300 hp V8, giving you all the skedaddle you could ever wish to put your toe to. One more thing. Beaumont has a wide range of body styles. There are 12 models in 4 series . . . including 3 completely different convertibles. All of which proves quite conclusively that '65 Beaumont would make a remarkably good choice for your next automobile.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For January 19

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Be receptive, moderate and conservative. Time which requires that you analyze. Fellow workers — those who serve you — are super-sensitive. Hold back on definite decision. Patience!

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Loser today you can make valuable discovery. Keep lines of communication open. Be explicit. Test — be the experimenter. Exciting possibilities make this an adventurous day.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Problem of responsibility grabs spotlight. Frank discussion among family members needed. Set fine example. Point out important factors. Then illustrate your meaning. Choose words with care.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Emotional desires do not coincide with logical approach. Avoid actions based on impulse. If you are considerate, you attract love. If self-indulgent you could lose valuable friend.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Cycle continues high. But certain possessions are discussed, disputed. New avenue of approach could "save the day." Be aware of needs, security. Obtain hint from today's Cancer message.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): What people say and what they are capable of doing — may not be same. Be skeptical. Heed your own counsel. Stress added independence. Be original. Go after what you desire. You'll win!

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Face issues. Throw off "secret fears." Delve deep. Come up with answers. Basic truths now available that can mean important advances. Highlight versatility. Be aware of potential.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Take each step one at a time. Otherwise, embarrassing moments might occur. Friend who brags really lacks confidence. Consult expert. Don't mix business and pleasure. Key is being realistic.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Form opinions only after observing all facts. Your intellectual curiosity valuable aid. Some changes appear necessary. Member of opposite sex involved. Travel and career mingle.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Take familiar road. No day for veering from accepted methods. Avoid one who lives in "fantasy world." Remember goals. Maintain self-discipline. Then you make progress.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Some emotional pressures lift. Now be aware of added income possibilities. Check out organizations, authorities. You can be happier and more secure. Take steps now!

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Check resources. Be ready to invest in own talents. Fine day to investigate educational activities . . . add to knowledge. Gain indicated through written word.

If today is your birthday . . . you are original in approach, independent in thought, action — and you can be very stubborn when the occasion so demands.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Virgo, Libra. Special word to Taurus: Strive for greater self-knowledge. Don't fool yourself!

MECHANICAL REJOINDER

LONDON (CP)—Crowds gathered at busy Waterloo subway station when Jim McCall used the automatic ticket machine. He tried to insert an Italian coin and the mechanism replied by spraying out 30 tickets and 25 shillings in change. McCall was fined £10 for theft.

Reeve Missing, Fear Foul Play

KESWICK, Ont. (CP)—Relatives of Harold Glover, of Keswick, 75-year-old former reeve of North Gwillimbury Township, told police Sunday they feal he has been the victim of foul play. He has been missing since Dec. 29.

Mr. Glover had gone to Sutton to cash a pension cheque. He was later seen leaving a hotel but there has been no trace of him since then. His car has not been found.

NAMED PRINCIPAL

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian diplomat Escott Reid has been appointed the first principal of York University's Glendon College. Mr. Reid, 59, will also be a professor of political science at Glendon, which will become a residential liberal arts college when the main campus opens in September.

Numbing Cold Stabbed Deep In East States

CHICAGO (AP) — Numbing cold stabbed deep into the eastern half of the United States Sunday, adding new misery to many sections still recovering from heavy rain and snow storms.

Behind the cold, another blast of arctic air pushed in, sweeping southeast through the U.S. Middle West and dumping fresh snow on already hard-hit areas.

In the West, mild temperatures prevailed while heavy fog blanketed the far Northwest.

Freezing weather forced Florida fruit and vegetable growers to fire up their burners in an effort to save threatened crops. The orange crop, however, was expected to avoid damage. Miami set a record low of 39 early today, after a record-tying low of 44 Sunday. Tallahassee, Fla., registered 19 degrees.

Farther north, many second-story roofs remained snow-bound and some major highways were snow-packed or icy. Officials announced that schools would be closed in wide areas of Virginia and North Carolina. Up to 18 inches of snow fell during the weekend. About 100 schools were closed in the east Tennessee mountains.

Below-zero readings were expected in some parts of Virginia.

Fell From Horse

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Barbara Lavchuck, 17, of nearby Fairport Beach, was killed Sunday when she fell from a horse she was riding bareback.

She suffered head injuries when she struck the frozen ground on a farm on Highway 2 near this community 20 miles east of Toronto. Police said it was only the second time she had ridden the horse, although she was an experienced rider.

Eight Perish In Brush Fire In Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters) — Eight persons, including a family of five children, their mother and mother-in-law, died as a series of summer brush fires swept through central Victoria State Sunday.

The other victim was a man who died of a heart attack while trying to fight one of the 16 blazes.

A number of other persons were unaccounted for.

The family was killed trying to escape from the path of flames near Longwood, about 80 miles north of Melbourne, after their station wagon ran off a road and struck a tree. Six charred bodies were found in the car and that of the eldest boy nearby.

Hundreds of acres of wheat fields were burned to death and unknown number of houses and farm machinery were destroyed. Thousands of sheep were reported burned to death and cars and ranged.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"All right, who controls the purse strings in this family?"

Nine Persons Dead as Storm Batters Britain

LONDON (AP)—At least nine persons were feared dead today after the worst gales in 10 years battered the British Isles and the Bay of Biscay.

Four boaters were missing in the Lancashire marches; police found the body of a fifth. Two fishermen were drowned in Dover harbor and two others were killed in a highway accident.

Weathermen said gales up to 100 miles an hour lashed the English Channel. The storm also brought rain, snow and sleet.

The Norwegian motor vessel Fossum's 27 crew members were saved after the ship, on a maiden voyage from Bilbao, Spain, sank in the Bay of Biscay. Her skipper clung to a frail raft for hours before he was rescued.

English-Speaking PCs Say New Leader Needed

Claim It Would Bring Accommodation in Que.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A handful of English-speaking Conservative MPs joined with their Quebec colleagues Monday by mounting their own challenge to John Diefenbaker's continued leadership of the party.

Conservative members representing constituencies in Alberta, Ontario and New Brunswick said a new leader is needed so the party can reach an accommodation with Quebec which is demanding constitutional and fiscal reforms.

The anti-Diefenbaker criticism came from Gerald W Baldwin (Peace River), Gordon Fairweather (Royal), Gordon Aiken (Parry Sound-Muskoka) and Fred Stenson (Peterborough).

Mr. Aiken named Heath MacQuarrie (Common) and Hebert Smith (Simcoe North) as other Conservatives favoring the opposition leader's resignation as party chieftain.

At the same time the former prime minister drew support from four Ontario MPs and two from Alberta.

Mr. Diefenbaker, 69, brushed aside all questions about the challenge in his home riding of Prince Albert, Sask. Instead, smiling and well-tanned after his Caribbean holiday, he teed off on the federal government for failing to consider some form of acreage payments for farmers.

FOLLOWS QUEBEC DEMAND

This first public back-bench criticism of the leader by English-speaking members follows the 10-member Quebec caucus' demand last week for a leadership convention.

Led by Quebec Leader Leon Balcer, a month ago said he was considering bolting the party to sit as an independent, the caucus asked the national executive to fix a date for a leadership convention.

Mr. Balcer, who became disenchanted with Mr. Diefenbaker over party policies of federal-provincial relations and the flag debate, admitted a leadership convention while there is no vacancy would be "unprecedented."

First English-speaking back-bench reaction came Saturday when Mr. Aiken said both Mr. Diefenbaker and Prime Minister Pearson should step down from their jobs as party leaders.

Mr. Baldwin, who has fought hard for reform of parliamentary rules as chairman of the Commons public accounts committee, said Monday another leader is needed so the party can reach an accommodation with Quebec.

Public accounts is the only committee headed by an opposition member and for this reason is considered a prestige post.

'NEEDS NOT MET'

Mr. Baldwin said Mr. Diefenbaker's chief failure is in not enunciating a sound policy to

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A new arctic storm moved into northern Ontario overnight. Cloudiness associated with it already covers the district this morning and the snow now falling across northern and central Ontario will spread over most of southern Ontario this afternoon. The heaviest snowfalls from this storm will be in the lee of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay and as well around the eastern end of Lake Ontario. By early Wednesday the storm should be east of the district.

Today's Chuckle

We may complain about the hea in the summer, but at least we don't have to shovel it.

VICTORIA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative meeting attended by Provincial Leader E Davie Fulton twice erupted into shouting Monday night over loyalty to National Leader John Diefenbaker.

Shouts of "Get him off the platform" greeted Eric Charman, Conservative candidate for Victoria in the last election, when he called on Mr. Fulton to provide "strong arguments" in favor of Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Charman said the provincial leader should make clear support for Mr. Diefenbaker because "it is rumored not only in the press but within the ranks of this party that (Mr. Fulton) holds other views."

In his formal speech to 500 Victoria and Saanich party members, Mr. Fulton urged unity within the Conservatives party but made no direct reference to Mr. Diefenbaker.

PROVOKES OUTBURST

The second outburst came with a loyalty motion amendment from the floor. It proposed Mr. Diefenbaker remain party leader until the next election is won by the Conservatives, then accept a seat in the Senate to let a younger, hand-picked man be prime minister.

As the audience shouted Chairman W. A. McLenna, provincial Conservative president, ruled the amendment out of order.

A resolution paraphrased to "a vote of loyalty to our leader" passed 2-to-1.

The meeting unanimously approved a resolution calling on Mr. Fulton to "seriously consider" running as candidate for Victoria in the next federal election. Mr. Fulton said he would give an immediate answer.

The former federal justice minister represented Kamloops constituency from 1945 to 1961 before becoming provincial leader. He has been mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Diefenbaker.

Alcoholic Gets Life Term

TORONTO (CP) — Howard Thompson, 27, a chronic alcoholic, was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday after confessing guilty to brutal murder in the slaying of Michael Pagnello, 76, owner of a Toronto grocery store.

Thompson was captured by police less than two hours after the disorderly conduct slaughter of death Nov. 2.

A psychiatric report showed Thompson was a chronic alcoholic, said Crown Attorney Herbert Langdon.

Powerful Weapons In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson told Congress Monday about powerful weapons which can be added to what he said was the strongest peacetime military strength in U.S. history.

These include Polaris missiles with warheads twice the size of present ones—and with eight times the killing wallop.

He wrote this into his message on the state of U.S. defences, a forecast of programs to be spelled out in even greater detail in the military budget scheduled for later this month.

That budget, he said, will propose a spending program in the coming fiscal year of $49,000,000,000 — $2,900,000,000 less than fiscal 1964 year and $300,000,000 less than is estimated for the current year.

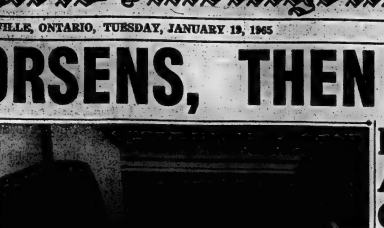
The United States, the president wrote, has "built a military force today far more than ever assembled by any other nation and greater now than any adversary could threaten . . . an indisputable margin of superiority for our defences."

SPENDING DEBATE

He outlined the foundation for this power:

In Strategic systems, the United States currently has more than 850 land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles. The present program calls for an eventual total of 1,000) more than 300 nuclear missiles are in Polaris submarines; more than 900 strategic bombers are on hand, half of them ready for takeoff at all times.

He will ask Congress for more than $800,000,000 to continue and improve the capabilities of the B-52 heavy bombers—but he also announced officially the intended elimination of two squadrons of B-52BS.



In the category of conventional or limited-warfare capabilities, he said the army's combat-ready divisions have been increased by 45 per cent. (They total 16 divisions now; special forces, for fighting against guerrillas, have been expanded eight - fold; the tactical air force's power for support of army ground divisions is up 100 per cent.

BY NAME

Johnson, referring to an advanced series of the Polaris missile launched from submarines, called it the Poseidon.

He said the missile will have "double the payload of the highly-successful Polaris A-3" missils used now by some of the 41 submarines in the program. The current series carries a warhead with a yield of about 800 or 900 kilotons, slightly under the 1,000,000 tons of energy released by the A-bomb.

One high government official told reporters that the doubled size of the warhead, combined with double the accuracy, would give the Poseidon a "kill capacity" against hardened targets eight times that of the present A-3 missile.

NEW SOVIET LEADERS IN WARSAW FOR COMMUNIST SUMMIT—Soviet First Secretary Leonid Breshnev, left, and USSR Prime Minister Alexei Kosygin, centre, are welcomed by Polish Party Boss Wladyslaw Gomulka at the Warsaw railroad station as they arrived for a summit meeting of Communist bloc leaders. Seven Communist Nations Hold Red Summit Parley at Warsaw

WARSAW (AP) — The rulers of the Soviet Union and six East European satellites opened a summit conference today that may frame new policy on European questions.

Western diplomats in Warsaw said major new overtures to the East could result. They said the Communist leaders may agree to expand East-West contacts, reduce pressure on West-Berlin and withdraw some Soviet troops from Communist East Germany.

The Soviet pact's political advisory committee met in the Polish Council of Ministers building, the former Radziwill Palace. It was attended by the Communist party chiefs, premiers, foreign ministers and defence ministers of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

It was the first such full-dress meeting outside the Soviet Union for Soviet Party Chief Leonid Breshnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin since they replaced Nikita Khrushchev three months ago.

Diplomats speculated that the conference might want to reduce their estimated 20 to 22 army divisions in East Germany to meet pressure from China on the Soviet Union's southeastern frontier.

Dr. King Attacked In Hotel

By DON McKEE

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., urging nonviolence after he was attacked on the opening day of a civil rights drive here, shifts the focus of his campaign today to registering Negro voters.

"This is only a beginning," King said Monday after Negroes desegregated three downtown restaurants and a motel in this west Alabama city where the racial lines had been tightly drawn.

"Our attorneys are exploring channels for legal remedies to the voting situation," King said, calling for more Negroes to join the drive. He said court action was anticipated by next week in the effort to get more Negroes on the voter list.

Although Negroes outnumber white residents in Dallas County by a ratio of six to four, only a small percentage can vote.

King, awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1964, said he would lead Negroes today in another registration attempt. Although nearly 300 went to the courthouse Monday, none was registered.

The Negroes waited all day for a chance to take the tests, but only a few applicants were ahead of them, and 19 of the white persons were registered.

The only violence of the civil

UN Assembly Resumes Meet Which May Decide Its Fate

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations has opened a new round in one of the great power struggles of its history.

The 20th General Assembly went back into session Monday after a holiday recess that was to have allowed time for sober negotiations on the question of peace-keeping debts.

The issue has narrowed somewhat since the 19th session opened Dec. 1, and now presents something of a "chicken or-egg" situation. In essence, it is this:

The Soviet bloc is telling Russia that if it makes a good sized voluntary payment to the UN, Washington will drop its campaign to strip away the Russian assembly vote.

The Russians say they're ready to make such a payment. But they want the question of their voting rights shelved before they turn in a cheque.

On the surface, the difference seems to be only one of pride. But the Americans and some other Western countries say that to surrender on the point would destroy forever the principle that the assembly is entitled to levy peace force assessments.

Others say this principle already has been bent out of shape because the Russians, in any payment they may make, will insist that it is purely voluntary and has no relation to the peacekeeping debt.

In any event, the assembly now faces one of three possible developments:

1. A settlement in which one side or the other—or both—will

Holds His Own After Losing Ground In Night

Believe Next Battle Likely to Be His Last

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's deteriorated condition has been arrested momentarily but a British Medical Association spokesman said today the 90-year warrior probably is unconscious and likely to remain so until the next great struggle that may be the last one.

Churchill's condition worsened suddenly during the night and Lord Moran, his great friend and physician, after spending five hours at Churchill's bedside, said the warrior's leader "had a very restless night and his condition has deteriorated."

Shortly before noon today, Moran, after a further brief visit, said there was "no further deterioration." Another bulletin would be issued at 9 p.m. (4 p.m. EST).

The medical association spokesman said the deterioration probably meant the 1874 90 - year - old Sir Winston had slipped into unconsciousness and that the next struggle might be the final one.

The pattern of the five-day struggle was one that was typical for the grave ailment, a blood clot and stroke that had left the heroic statesman last Friday, the spokesman added.

CROWD AWAITS

Several hundred persons, deciding a number of elderly women, waited anxiously at the Churchill home for Moran's statement. Throughout the morning, members of Churchill's family entered the black-lacquered, silver-handled doors and later departed.

There were some flowers and more messages. The vigil on the dead-end street went on. The orderliness of the crowd during Moran's pre-dawn and noon visits contrasted with the pushing and jostling Monday night.

The day was bright, blue—and cold.

At the bidding of the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, a council of high churchmen of the Church of England offered special services this morning for Sir Winston "as he approaches the end."

The prayers were said at famous St. Margaret's Church, next to Westminster Abbey. It was at St. Margaret's that Sir Winston married Lady Churchill in 1908.

The spokesman for the British Medical Association said that after his visit Monday that Churchill "appears to be going through a crisis."

'A TERRIFIC FIGHT'

"He is a very tough man. He is putting up a terrific fight."

But the spokesman added that the early morning visit to Churchill by Moran today "in-

Mrs. Rivard Weeps At Inquiry

MONTREAL (CP)—Marie Rivard testified before the Dorion inquiry today that she was 5½ to seven months pregnant last November when her husband applied for release from Bordeaux jail on bail.

The 32-year-old redhead burst into tears during a forceful cross-examination by Yves Fortier, counsel for Pierre Lamontagne, about her physical condition at the time bail was being sought for her husband, Lucien Rivard.

Rivard is wanted in the United States on narcotics - smuggling charges.

"I had a miscarriage . . . when his request for bail was denied," Mrs. Rivard said.

She vehemently denied Mr. Fortier's suggestion that the story of her pregnancy was concocted to get the court to agree to her husband's release.

Mr. Fortier asked whether she had been attended by a doctor during her claimed miscarriage.

SAYS WAS ALONE

Mrs. Rivard said she was alone during the miscarriage.

Mr. Fortier asked whether Eddy Lechasseur, a previous witness who has a criminal record, was present for the miscarriage.

Mrs. Rivard burst into tears and her counsel, Bullard Beauregard, angrily protested that Mr. Fortier was being vulgar and going too far.

Mr. Fortier said he was not being crude and asked again whether anyone had witnessed the miscarriage.

She was alone at home, Mrs. Rivard said dabbing at her eyes with a handkerchief.

Mr. Fortier then turned to other questioning.

Earlier today, Mrs. Rivard said she loves her husband and that she was interested when he was arrested through an "error."

CAN'T REMEMBER

She said nothing was more important to her than to have her husband released but she could not remember when the first thought of raising bail came.

She said he had not discussed bail with her friends immediately upon her husband's arrest because she thought the charge was a mistake and that he would be home soon.

Mr. Fortier produced a copy of a Nov. 19, 1964, petition for bail for Rivard and his release on habeas corpus.

She had given instructions to her husband's lawyer, Raymond Daoust, to submit the petition and she had told him she was 5½ to seven months pregnant.

Mr. Dansereau complained in his protest that Mr. Fortier was harassing the witness. Mrs. Rivard was telling the "whole truth."

'CREDIBILITY' AT STAKE

Mr. Fortier said the credibility of the witness is at stake.

Mrs. Rivard had given testimony on important points last week but when questioned further the answer always was that she did not remember, Mr. Fortier said.

He said the point he was making was whether the alleged pregnancy and miscarriage would indicate whether Mrs. Rivard's testimony had been truthful.

Mrs. Rivard said she would not say she had been pregnant if she had not been.

Mrs. Rivard was on the stand Friday when Chief Justice Frederick Dorion of Quebec

Teachers Thought English All Churchill Was Fit For

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Sir Winston Churchill was doused in the English language because his teachers thought he was stupid and English was all he was fit for. It turned out to be a good fit.

His father, Lord Randolph, an erratic man, thought he was stupid, too. His parents, strangely indifferent about him, kept him in boarding schools from the time he was seven until he was 21.

No wonder, with this disregard and this loneliness, he spent his life in search of recognition, first by trying to attract attention then by trying to be in charge.

Since this is not the prescribed way for winning friends and influencing people, he was unpopular—in school, in the army, and in politics, where his own Conservatives distrusted his judgment and suspected his motives.

Even his fellow-aristocrats slammed their doors when he attacked the privileges of the rich. If he had died before he was 65, he would have been a political failure, hardly more than a footnote in history.

But for five years, from 65 to 70, he was the chief in charge of the war against Hitler. This was enough. His desire to prevail paid off, handsomely for him, England and most of the world.

It was his character, just as much as his leadership, that made him in just five years one of the shining figures of history. All this had its roots in his school days.

He wasn't dumb. He said years later: "Where my reason or my imagination or interest were not engaged, I would not or could not learn. I should have liked to be asked what I knew. They always tried to ask what I did not know."

Not long ago a British scientist, C. P. Snow, said Churchill must have had an IQ high as anyone could wish. But his teachers thought he was one of the slow ones.

They let the bright boys cut their teeth on Latin and Greek but they put the slow ones in the lowest grades and drilled them in English. And this Churchill loved.

Looking back at 51, he wrote: "Even as a schoolboy I questioned the aptness of the classics for the prime structure of our education. So they told me how Mr. Gladstone (prime minister when Churchill was growing up) read Homer for fun, which I thought served him right."

His grades weren't good enough to get him into college. He went into the army. But, at 22, he felt he was a social, political and historical book. He decided to educate himself.

"It was a curious education," he wrote. "Then, because I approached it with an empty, hungry mind, and with fairly strong jaws, and what I got, I bit."

He read eight volumes of Edward Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, then Thomas Babington Macaulay's History of England, and went on from there.

Churchill, consciously or not, patterned himself after Gibbon, as he showed in what he wrote later, and it was a lot: 30 books, including a history of the English - speaking peoples and histories of the two world wars. He finished at 82.

By the use of the "of" clause —like "of mankind"—and of adjectives that dashed or smouldered, the two men could turn the language into thunder over Mt. Sinai.

With Churchill, as with Gibbon, nouns and adjectives, hand in hand, tripped down the pages like a bridal pair in splendid ceremony.

But all of Churchill's reading and memorizing would not have been enough to make him remembered as a writer without something else.

He had an artist's glittering sense of life and a romantic's sense of drama, plus a special ear for the language. He could make a phrase look as happy as a puppy with a pocketful.

Some times his sentences sound as wistful as the wheels of a wagon-train or as robust as platoon with drums in a shuttered street at three in the morning.

His teachers, who thought they had scrutinized his mind, forgot to examine his ears.

City Ready to Acquire 94 Acres of Land for Industry

To provide sites for future industrial development, the city of Belleville is interested in acquiring nearly 94 acres of Department of Highway property in the northeast section of the city.

Total purchase price of 48 acres in the northeast, and 45 acres in the northwest would be $33,500. The two acreages are immediately to the south of 401 highway.

The city first expressed interest in the department of highways property a year or more ago and last December council voted to advise the department of its interest in purchasing property agreement could be reached on the price.

Alderman Don Jess said the purchase price was about 30 per cent of unserviced land in the same area north of 401 highway.

Alderman Jack Deacon wanted to know whether this was the first section of land to be purchased with the $200,000 voted by ratepayers for the provision of industrial sites.

Mayor J. R. Ellis replied there were three legal ways to pay for the land but it was expected the money may be taken out of general funds until it was decided where it would fit into the city's budget.

Federation of Agriculture Names G. Ketchison Pres.

Griffin Ketchison of Foxboro was re-elected as president of th Hastings County Federation of Agriculture at the organization's annual meeting held last week at Ivanhoe.

Vice president is Roy Sills, secretary, Wilfred Forestell of Madoc township, and O.F.A. director Russell Sills. Treasurer is Charles Fargey and press secretary Mrs. Percy Roy.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Leonard Lavertue, of Ottawa, recently, for 22 years a Canadian government employee in the North West Territories, but now owner of a 900 acres farm close to the Ottawa River.

Mr. Laventure compared Hastings county to Renfrew County, noting that much of the wealth of the Ottawa Valley came from forest production, but very little benefit came to the areas which produced the timber.

Little of the former forest is worth replacing for residents living in the area.

TOLD OF DAYS IN NORTH

The speaker told of his 20 years in the north and of his contact with the Eskimo.

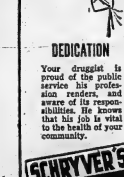
In the Far North the sole effort of the Eskimo family is to produce food and at best only a few days supply is on hand.

In Ontario one worker in 20 works to produce food, while in the other 19 are doctors, lawyers, teachers and persons working in industry.

In the North everyone, young and old, works to produce food and often they do not have enough.

To illustrate his point Mr. Laventure told of an incident one winter when he was commissioned to find a group of men left stranded north of Churchill.

He said an Indian walked to a lake to investigate the possibility of landing planes and on the way back were unable to find a cache of food left on their way in. As result they were forced to go three days without food in 30 below zero weather.



SAVED BY DOG

They were saved when a husky dog came to them in the woods. He had given the dog to a trapper two years before and the husky led them to the trapper's cabin.

The importance of having a united voice on farm policy was stressed in the meeting held each year the Federation presents a brief to the Ontario and Federal governments outlining the needs of agriculture.

Producer association reports were also heard. George Woods gave the report on dairy; report; Murray Bateman, hog producers; vegetable growers, Glenn Meyers; cream producers, Allan McDonnell; wheat and beef producers, Charles Fargey and co-operators' insurance, by Wilfred Forestell.

County federation directors are Arthur Bates, Roa Ketchison, Percy Ray, James Reynolds, Burton Hobbis and Allan Ketcheson.

Mercury Takes Sudden Drop During Night

You can never depend on the weather.

Sudden drop in temperature this morning apparently caught the weatherman by surprise.

Yesterday's weather synopsis went something like this: "It is unlikely the record - breaking temperatures of the last few days will recur for a few days at least," adding that as the snowstorm moved away Monday strong northwest winds would develop causing considerable drifting.

And the low temperature forecast for Tuesday was five degrees above zero.

Instead the weather pulled a sandy and after three o'clock this morning did a sudden nose-dive dropping to 16 below at seven o'clock.

Pumphouse records show it was zero at three, down to ten below at four and between seven and eight it was 16 below.

By noon the temperature had risen to eight above.

Aircraft Parts For New Plane Made in City

Aircraft parts made in Belleville are being used in the new Douglas DC 9, now awaiting its first test flight in California.

De Havilland of Canada entered into a contract with Douglas Aircraft, California, to build the airship.

Manufacturing, located on Water Street, is supplying De Havilland with 40 different parts.

The new airship, built for short and intermediate flights, will carry 60 passengers and be used by major airlines throughout North America.

Membership In Association Is Questioned

The taking out of a membership by the city in the Ontario Traffic Conference was questioned at Belleville city council yesterday with one alderman suggesting instead that the $50 membership fee go toward the cost of badly needed traffic lights at the corner of Coleman and Moira Streets.

Alderman Doug Boyle questioned the value of such a membership and suggested the membership fee might be used otherwise to better advantage.

But Mayor J. R. Ellis with the exception to Alderman Boyle's "levity" with the claim that membership in the organization would serve the city good stead.

Membership in the Traffic Conference would assist local officials to better understand the city's traffic problem, he said.

CONSIDERS COURSES

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of education is considering the establishment of special summer courses for teachers emotionally disturbed children, a department official said Monday night.

Mrs. Rivard

perior Court adjourned the hearing.

The next witness was expected to be Guy Masson, identified by one witness as a Liberal party organizer as well as a businessman. Masson's name was mentioned frequently when Mrs. Rivard was on the stand last week by Rivard's counsel, Lechasseur and Mrs. Rivard.

Mr. Masson is a portly, partly bald man who kept busy during the preliminary hearing taking notes, with his two lawyers who old man went to theth and disappeared from sight.

All three testified that Mr. Masson declined to tell them why he specially wanted and how he planned to help Rivard.

Chief Justice Dorion said it may be surprising that why Mr. Masson, Gignac and Lechasseur rushed to a Hull motel [illegible] days after Rivard was arrested June 19, when the Canadian government was not directly involved in the extradition proceedings against Rivard.

Rivard was ordered extradited to the U.S. in September to stand trial on [illegible] smuggling charges in Texas, but he is fighting the Order through various legal moves.

Judge Dorion is probing into allegations by Pierre Lamontagne, lawyer for the U.S. government, that he was offered a $20,000 bribe by ministerial assistant Raymond Denis and subjected to Liberal political pressure and unanswered threats last summer, all aimed vainly at ending Mr. Lamontagne's firm opposition to Rivard's bail application.

Francois Chapados, counsel for Mr. Masson, served notice Friday that he will object today to the distribution to commission lawyers of an RCMP report on a police interview with his client.

Gignac, identified last week that Mr. Masson entered into a general contracting partnership with him last June a few weeks after they met. He said his partner was a Liberal organizer and had good prospects for building contracts.

Mr. Chapados interjected that his client was Gignac's employee, not his partner. The lawyer said Mr. Masson now is suing Gignac for breach of their contract.

Gignac testified that he drove to Hull with Mr. Masson late on the night of June 22 and that his "partner" had an hour-long private conversation with a man identified only as "Denis."

IN MEMORIAM

CONNORS — In loving memory of my dear husband, Frank Connors, who passed away Jan. 17th, 1961.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife and family.

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear father, Leonard Fraser, who passed away January 19, 1962.

Time cannot heal our sorrow,
We think of you today,
We miss you more than ever,
As we travel life's lonely way.

Lovingly remembered by daughter Ruth and son-in-law Ronald and grandchildren.

HURST — In loving memory of my dear husband, Ernest Hurst, who passed away January 19, 1960.

Two years have passed since you left us,
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember you.

—Lovingly remembered by wife Ethel, daughter Marjorie and family.

POST — In loving memory of my dear husband, Mr. Frank Post, who passed away January 19, 1964.

Our eyes are bowed and gone,
Our hearts are full of pain,
We miss you more than words can tell,
And shall until we meet again.

—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife and family.

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Fred Fraser, who passed away January 19, 1962.

Those we love we think of often,
Those we love we miss,
Those we love we never forget,
And wish for one more kiss.

—Always remembered by his daughter Ruth and son-in-law Ronald and grandchildren.

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear father, Leonard Fraser, who passed away January 19, 1962.

Time cannot heal our sorrow,
We think of you today,
We miss you more than ever,
As we travel life's lonely way.

—Lovingly remembered by daughter Ruth and son-in-law Ronald and grandchildren.

ARGENT — In loving memory of a dear son who passed away 2 years ago, January 19, 1963.

Like falling leaves the years may go,
But loving memories will always grow.
Though we may not see your face,
You are always in our thoughts,
But the memory of each loved one,
Is a treasure we all have got.
God made no longer stay for you,
He took the best that was due,
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Mom and Dad.

FRASER — In loving memory of our dear husband, Leonard Fraser, who passed away January 19, 1962.

Always tender, fond and true,
There's not a day, dear husband,
We do not think of you.
—Deeply missed and always remembered by wife Ruth.

POST — In loving memory of my dear brother and our dear uncle, Frank Post, who passed away January 19th, 1964.

Though all our troubles be labored on along,
If we are with him, we will never go wrong,
On earth he was loved, in Heaven he rests,
God bless dear Dad, you were one of the best.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Ruth and son-in-law Ronald and grandchildren Ron and Janet.

Council Likes Plan to Make School's Auditorium Larger

City council yesterday endorsed the "worthwhile and worthy" recommendation of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce in its proposal for the seating capacity of the new high school auditorium be increased from 800 to 1200 seats.

At the same time, however, it wanted to know government grant possibilities and whether other municipalities in the County of Quinte High School District would pay a share of the additional cost.

Two weeks ago council received the Chamber recommendation and referred it to the recreation commission for consideration. This committee last night endorsed the idea.

Mayor Ellis said that while he "heartily endorsed" the idea of additional auditorium capacity for the new school, at the same time the extra cost would be considerable.

Alderman Frank C. Murray pointed out that such an auditorium, if it was to be used for concerts and other such audio productions, would have to be specially designed. Otherwise the city would be wasting its money.

Mayor Ellis said that he would meet with department heads in Toronto later this week and attempt to arrive at possible cost figures for the proposed larger school auditorium.

Ald. Wants CPR Tracks West of Front St. Removed

With trains now a thing of the past up and down Pinnacle Street, a member of city council has started the ball rolling in a move to also have the CPR tracks removed from the south end of the city west of Front Street.

Yesterday Alderman Jack Allin moved a notice of motion calling on the mayor to name a special committee to discuss the matter with the CPR and with the Board of Transport.

The motion will come up for discussion at the next meeting of council.

Alderman Allin's proposal is that negotiations be commenced with the CPR with the view of having the railway remove its tracks from Front Street west to the city limits.

His suggestion is that with the removal of the railway tracks the present right of way could be used for a new vehicular bridge across the river at Dundas Street and for a roadway to the west end of the city.

This, he says, would eliminate the necessity of a costly overpass planned to get No. 14 highway over the railway tracks.

White's Rink Wins First Game in Consols

A rink of Bill Henderson, Al McCullam, Ron Bens with Mac White as skip won their first games in the British Consols playoffs at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club rink at Kingston this morning when he defeated Glen Jerome of Napanee 9-3. Al Chaney of the Kingston Club won over Bill Leader of the Gananoque Club 15-8. Bill Dickey beat Bill Lewis of the Trenton RCAF Station 8-6 the rinks being tied at the end of 11 ends. Bayne Moreland of the Cataraqui Club defeated Len Rempel of the Kingston Garrison Club 9-4 in the last match.

This afternoon Belleville and the Kingston Club will book up while in the second match Moreland of the Cataraqui Club will meet Bill Dickey of Consols. The winners of these matches will play the final this evening.

Ron Holgrove of the Cataraqui Club is drawmaster and Joe Shaness is referee.

Town Is One Step Closer To Obtaining Second Bridge

TRENTON — The Town of Trenton took one step closer to a second bridge across the Trent River last night when council voted Mayor James MacDonald and clerk comptroller O. W. Larry the authority to sign an agreement with the Federal Department of Transport by which the town would take over the operation, repair and maintenance of the swing portion of the present bridge, built in 1916. Up until now, this has been the responsibility of the department.

In consideration of this, the department would grant the town $850,000, which would, by the terms of the agreement, be used to effect needed repairs and for future maintenance, repair and operation "in perpetuity." Actually, the money would be used towards construction costs for the proposed new bridge, after necessary repairs to the swing portion of the older bridge were completed.

The mayor and clerk comptroller will be guided in their decision as to whether or not the town should enter into the agreement by the Ontario Department of Highways which will pay 75 per cent of the cost of repairing the swing portion and 75 per cent of construction costs for the new bridge.

The agreement, as read at last night's meeting, named Her Majesty the Queen as the party of the first part," and Trenton as the party of the second part. Her Majesty will be responsible for the "liability for the swing portion which is 204 feet long and provides a channel 90 feet wide." The town will come into possession of the bridge itself and the piers which support the structure, as well as the "land covered by water" under the swing portion. Her Majesty would also be relieved of responsibility in future lawsuits arising from accidents on the swing portion. The corporation will agree to repair, rebuild, replace and remove the said portion if the agreement is signed.

During a polled vote, Councillor Joseph Gould voted "nay" to leaving the mayor and clerk with authority to sign, as he said he didn't necessarily "go" for the proposed agreement, considering the amount of cost to the town which might be involved in repair and maintenance.

"Maybe a new bridge is worth the gamble," he conceded, but still voted "nay," to the proposal.

WRONG CAR

At last night's meeting of Trenton council, Councillor C. V. Graham was haughtily accused of having a "persecution complex" when he rose to move his car from its parking place at the front of the municipal office when Constable Jack Graham of the Trenton police force asked that a black car be moved to make way for snow removal crews.

"I think it's my car he's talking about," admitted town solicitor Roderick Campbell with a smile.

Consultants Will Be Asked To Check Plan

TRENTON — The firm of Gore and Storrie will be asked to review Trenton's sewer installation program, keeping in mind the necessity of soon adding a secondary treatment extension to the sewage treatment plant.

At last night's meeting of town council, Councillor Joseph Gould recommended that the McGill Street sewer not be installed this year.

Councillor C. V. Graham asked that the installation of a sewer on Bain Street and on the section of Dundas Street East, adjacent to the bridge, be delayed until the second bridge across the Trent is built, in the interests of keeping next summer free from traffic congestion.

Councillor Gould said he thought the Bay Street and Dundas Street sewer work was necessary.

Mayor MacDonald said he still hoped to be able to go ahead with a $450,000 sewer installation program this year, without raising taxes or, (as clerk comptroller O. W. Larry warned) the sewer charge from 50 per cent of the water bill to 70 per cent.

Real Estate Board Votes To Join Assoc.

TRENTON — Abe Wiebe of Kitchener, the president of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards and W. McCormick of Belleville, a regional director of the association were present at a meeting of the Trenton Real Estate Board in the board room at the Dutch Mill Inn yesterday. Trenton members present were Frank Barry Jr., president of the local board; Eileen Forchuk, Hugh O'Neil, Frank Barry Sr., Arthur Collette, Neva LaGrok and Herbert Simmons.

Also present were non-members James Ray and Donald Sweppey, who took part in the discussions.

Mr. Conrod, director of publicity, told those present that in 1964, the board had sold over 600 units, worth in real estate by Multiple Listing Services.

The Trenton board voted to join the Ontario and Canadian Associations of Real Estate Boards as a group. The Ontario association's membership comprises 84 per cent of all licenced real estate personnel in Ontario.

The members of the local real estate board attended last night's Trenton council meeting in a body, "as observers." Tonight, they will meet with members of the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board to discuss topics of mutual interest. The members of the real estate board have all said they would be willing to sit on the planning board should council see fit to appoint them.

Owners Try To Get Better Deal for Team

TRENTON — Howard Weese and Gordon Webb of the Trenton Junior "C" hockey team appeared before council last night to present their case for getting a better deal from the community gardens' board regarding ice rental arrangements for league and exhibition games.

Mr. Weese said he had been "putting his hand" into his own pocket to finance the team. "I've got over $4,500 invested in this team," and claimed he couldn't get a fair deal from the gardens' board. He said the team was willing to pay $15. an hour for ice practice time, but suggested the board could give the Junior C's the same sort of a deal other communities give their teams . . . a 60-40 split (60 per cent for the team) on games' night. Mr. Weese and Mr. Webb both said other communities make a 60-40 split with their teams and practice time is free, Gananoque has such an arrangement. Other communities, such a Picton, Belleville and Napanee have similar arrangements. The Trenton team is being victimized, the spokesman said. (The garden's board has asked for a $60 guarantee on games' night plus a 50-50 split of the gate).

Council, however, felt mostly it could not usurp the authority of the gardens' board, particularly as the board had been criticized in the past for deficits in operations.

Mr. Weese and Mr. Webb retired, but as a closing shop presented council with a petition bearing the names of 300 people who would like to see Junior Cs get a 60-40 split of the gate.

Council did not say what it meant to do with the petition. Meanwhile, the ice rental committee at the gardens has been granted permission to sell out Wednesday nights . . . the night usually taken up by the Junior Cs.

CHILDREN FROZEN

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (CP)— Two small children have reported to have frozen to death while walking with their parents in bush country near here, RCMP reported Monday. RCMP said they dispatched an aircraft to a remote cabin where the bodies were left. Police identified the children as Gloria Anne Hayes, 1½ and George John Alexander Hayes, 8.

Members Had No Answer To Question

TRENTON — Jack Smith of 28 Kidd Ave. reminded Trenton council by letter last night that press reports had led the people of Trenton to think the sewer charge wouldn't start until January 1.

Mr. Smith said he had received his utilities bill and had noted he had been charged $0 per cent of his water bill for the new charge. This wasn't right, he said, as his house on Kidd Ave. is not yet served by sewers, although they are in the process of being installed. He said he was willing to pay the 30 per cent charge, as laid down for water users not served by sewers. The water bill was for $3.96 and the sewer charge (on the 50 per cent basis) was $1.98. On the 30 per cent basis it would be $1.19.

Mr. Smith said he had paid the $1.19 and would pay the full amount once his home was served.

He commented that the PUC and the town office should have "their heads" on this date for starting the charge, as his bill had been compiled on the use of water from October 9 to December 22, and he had been led to believe billing for the new sewer rate would start only until after the first of the year.

Council couldn't think of a ready answer.

Appraiser Will Be Acquired to Check Property

TRENTON — Clerk comptroller O. W. Larry has been given permission by Trenton council last night to engage an appraiser to check the assessment on the Gilbert Hotel. A hearing before the county judge had been ordered for early February 27.

ACTING MAYORS NAMED

Acting mayors for the year were appointed at last night's meeting of Trenton council. Councillor Ross Burtt, January and Feb.; Councillor J. Gould, March and April; Councillor C. V. Graham, May and June; Councillor Duncan McDonald, July and August; Councillor Edward Todd, Sept. and Oct.; Councillor Paul Tripp, Nov. and Dec.

Councillor McDonald, chairman of finance, was named signing authority with the treasurer or his deputy, in the absence of the mayor.

Last night was Councillor Tripp's initiation night into the workings of council and Councillor Ross Burtt was absent through illness.

Peter Degroot Is Appointed Town Treasurer at Trenton

TRENTON — Peter Degroot of Gaetz Street was last night named as town treasurer by Trenton council, to replace Douglas Haynes who left Trenton at the first of the month to become the city treasurer of Barrie.

Mr. Degroot will start work Feb. 1 at an annual salary of $5,500, with an increment of $200 by Jan. 1, 1966 and another raise of $300 by Jan. 1, 1967.

COST TO SHRINERS

Three new institutes for the research and treatment of children's burns will cost North American Shriners $2,000,000 extra each year in expenses.

Dr. J. V. Byrne Resigns Post On Committee

TRENTON—Dr. J. V. Byrne, for 14 years a member of the Trenton Recreation Committee, tendered his resignation to Trenton council last night. A letter, voicing council's appreciation of his work will be sent to Dr. Byrne. Meanwhile, council has been asked to consider John McNab of 47 Henry St. as a replacement on the board.

NOT "SURPLUS" YET

Trenton council has asked the Department of Public Works to sell the corporation the old post office once the new one comes into use. Council was notified by letter last night the old post office has not become "surplus" yet, so no final arrangements can be made. The municipality is given first order, generally.

The same applies to the Trenton Armory, but this time involves the federal department of defence. However, the town will remind the department in this case that the D.N.D. paid $1. for the land, and there is a clause in the agreement which states the land must revert to the town for the same sum if the land is not used for defence purposes. The armory will be closed Jan. 25, officially. "It may be required for years," said a letter to council from the D.N.D.stated last night.

Need to Win People's Support

Authorities openly admit that the Viet Cong fighting forces have greatly increased in the last two or three years despite heavy losses, and mostly because of recruits gathered from South Viet Nam.

This year the Viet Cong forces are estimated at 160,000 compared to 18,000 three years ago, and despite 59,000 casualties in the past two years.

Since this increase in the Viet Cong forces is mainly from South Vietnamese, who in all probability are fully aware of the hardships they must endure as Viet Cong and the possible tortures they may undergo if caught, it is a strong indication that the southern populace has resented past regimes and is highly unsatisfied with the U.S. handling of their country.

The disturbing fact is that for every man who openly expresses his hostility by joining the Viet Cong, there are probably ten more who are thinking of it.

Vietnamese and U.S. officials have realized and announced they are losing the Viet Nam war, and ask only how fast they are losing and whether the tide can be turned.

If the U.S. wishes to turn the tide, possibly it is time to demand a popular vote that would satisfy the South Vietnamese people before supplying further aid, rather than supporting whatever clique, civilian or military, happens to run the country at the time.

Is the country had a government of the people for the people — a principle the U.S. is proud to profess but ironically has done little about in Viet Nam — possibly the people of the south would work together for that government, quit joining the Viet Cong, and as a body willingly support U.S. forces which were affiliated with a government that they, the people of South Viet Nam, had elected.

Too Expensive

Hon. Harry Hays, the Federal Minister of Agriculture, is reported to be campaigning for a scheme which would make approximately half a billion dollars available for fairs and exhibitions.

Mr. Hays is seeking to camouflage the proposal by saying that the low-interest loans from such a fund would provide communities with centres and other large buildings of a kind "which might only incidentally and for a short period each year be used as homes for agriculture, al fairs and exhibitions."

This is nonsense. With some minor exceptions, such as grandstands, the kind of buildings which a community needs for recreational and cultural purposes the year-round do not lend themselves easily to the purpose of fairs.

If Mr. Hays would propose that such a fund be established to help communities acquire community centres and auditoriums, there might be something to be said for it.

Most taxpayers, though, will argue that half a billion spent to accommodate a three or four day exhibition of the products of the farm is a little rich for their pocketbooks.

Any argument that such expenditures are necessary to enable farmers to keep abreast of modern developments and to copy the most rewarding methods on their own farms is like the contention that horse-racing serves an essential purpose by improving the breed.

Strike Violence

It would appear that the early North American union days of bombs, bloodshed, and threats have not disappeared entirely. They have just been toned down.

In Montreal approximately 150 taxicabs were hijacked and put out of commission by cabbies on strike. The strikers stopped the cabs of their fellow workers and while not really off the job, drove them to Lafontaine Park, ripped out the meters, locked the car, and tossed the keys away.

In Toronto where the newspapers continue to publish despite the striking printers, newspapers have been taken from the drop-off points and tossed in ditches, and the daily issues in the corner boxes started on fire.

It is not fair to say that all union men or strikers agree with these procedures, but it is quite evident that there is still a strong-arm element in the ranks. It is to be hoped that this element does not get out of control.

Negotiations and compromise could supply the answer. Violence during the negotiations only pits fellow-worker against fellow-worker, resulting in broken bones and often ill feelings after all is settled.

Ottawa Offbeat
Bruce Hutchison Inspired Thompson's Rightist Hopes

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — In his recently announced aspirations to activate and, hopefully, lead what he sees as "a political re-alignment," if not, perhaps, a new party, Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson says he has been inspired by — of all people — Bruce Hutchison, editorial director of The Vancouver Sun and leading Canadian author.

Of all people because, in these parts, Bruce Hutchinson is known as a dedicated, if independent-minded Liberal — in fact, there has been talk here on The Hill that he just might become the next Senator from British Columbia — and Robert Thompson is about as conservative as a politician these days can get.

So while Mr. Hutchinson [illegible] his friendship may be startled to learn that the noted West Coast editor - foreign correspondent - magazine essayist - politician historian - and - novelist has been an inspiration — perhaps THE inspiration in Mr. Thompson's thinking — started-led or not, it happens to be true.

Mr. Thompson says so himself.

First of all, Mr. Thompson is what he terms a small "c" conservative — "a hard-nosed conservative, if you will", as he puts it.

So, too, must be his mentor, Alberta Premier Ernest Manning, during the Christmas New Year Parliamentary holidays they met to discuss what Mr. Thompson sees as the coming "re-alignment of political thought" in Canada.

FROM MR. PRIME MINISTER

This "re-alignment", he believes, will come in the thinking of the "real Conservatives" and just possibly of some of the "right-leaning Liberals", all of whom he senses have become "disheartened and disillusioned" with their own parties and "are looking for something else to go".

These sort of people are beginning to stir across the country, he believes, and Social Credit under its present — or better still, a new name — hopes to gather them in as "the party of protest of all progressive-minded Canadians against extravagant foreign aid, free and easy welfare, big government, high taxes and the concentration of more and more power in the hands of the Bureaucracy".

Well, where in all this does Bruce Hutchison come in? Where the inspiration he gave Mr. Thompson?

It was in Mr. Hutchinson's new book "Mr. Prime Minister" that the Social Credit Leader says he found the urgent need for a re-alignment of political thinking best expressed.

He cites these as the three key paragraphs:

Paragraph 1. None (of Canada's Prime Ministers) could ever be truly classified as a Conservative or a Liberal, since each of these proud names was never more than a handy alias and both are now totally intermingled, indecipherable. All spoke in two languages, and thought in two separate compartments to make themselves understood in the sophisticated followers and by a public which, as Laurier said of Quebec, usually has no opinions, only sentiments.

VOICE OF PROTEST

Paragraph 2. The nation constantly moves to what is glibly called the left, expands its socialism under opposite labels, vests more and more of its business in the State and mocks the solemn doctrines of its political parties.

Paragraph 3. While the Government has lately surrendered much revenue and some functions to the provinces, the primary fiscal, monetary and economic weapons are still in its hands, which plunge ever more deeply into the taxpayer's pocket and the affairs of private business. The two wings of the State will continue to quarrel but together they have amassed a collective power over the citizens that would have been unthinkable in the last century.

Those words Mr. Thompson reads as a protest against what he sees as "not-so-slowly creeping socialism".

He believes that thousands, even millions of Canadians feel the same way, troubled by the ever - increasing competition both the Conservative and Liberal parties are in the New Democrats in the field of unabashed Socialism.

Bruce Hutchinson, says the Social Leader, has put his finger on "what's wrong, politically, in Canada today".

And what's wrong, "is that there is no more Centre — just pieces of Left".

Mr. Thompson, turned well Right, insists more and more Canadians are turning with him — and thanks Bruce Hutchison for having stated "the hard-nosed small "c" conservative case" so concisely and well.

He would like to give "right-swinging Canadians" another name than Social Credit "to rally under, "some new label of political dynamism", but fears there isn't time before the next Federal election to safely make the switch.

Automation

Saskatoon Star-Phoenix

The hope of society is that automation, is only the latest stage of the industrial revolution, will be as helpful as the earlier stages were. The problem is obviously one of adjustment, and adjustment needs time, and goodwill too.

If automation is approached as it should be, it can fill an enormous function in society. To date, no one is sure what this "should be" is, but it is pretty certain that society will have a chance to find out.

Letter to the Editor

Ald. H. J. Allin Endorses Editorials

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

May I congratulate your editorial staff and the stand your paper has taken in your editorials which appeared on August 31, 1964 and January 8, 1965, in reference to the deplorable traffic conditions and the need for new bridges across the Moira river.

In December 1963, Damas and Smith Limited, consulting professional engineers, supplied council with a report of their engineering study for the Dundas Street project at an estimated cost of $1,430,000 and for the Church Street and North Front Street project, an estimated cost of $969,000. These amount, would be considerably reduced by the settlement grants and complete details of these projects are available at City Hall for anyone interested in the break down and proposed plans of these two projects.

While the writer does not want to appear as an expert on traffic problems within our City, I believe that the following suggestions should be examined:

1. An all-out effort should be made to negotiate with the CPR Railway to have it relocate its tracks, possibly using the CNR roadbed and using one Union Station. This would enable a highway to be built, using the present bridge foundations and roadbed with no steep grades.

2. The writer concurs with your editorials that Church Street project with its schools and churches and steep grades, should be shelved and a new bridge built connecting Pinnacle Street with North Front Street.

3. The writer further suggests that an all-out effort be made to acquire the row of river front by having an entrance at upper Front Street and an exit at or below Bridge Street, whereby ample parking could be made available for many cars without having to make use of the narrow lane ways to the present parking.

In closing there is another traffic bottle-neck at the corner of College Street and Cannifton Road, caused by the one-way bridge which was built many years ago to accommodate our forefathers in the horse and buggy days. In my opinion, the bridges on Cannifton Road are do not have adequate protection during rush hours, as it would be nearly impossible for the fire equipment to get to the scene due to traffic tie up at this corner.

'Homey' Atmosphere Appreciated by Aged

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I have noted with interest your editorial, "Nursing Homes Criticized" in your issue of January 11th, as well as articles concerning nursing homes in other recent issues of the Intelligencer.

You suggest that nursing homes should be government operated. Is this not a step backward? Is not a free competitive system better than a government controlled economy? Like Russia or Nazi Germany. Nevertheless, there is a trend in the world today toward more and more government control. Is this good? Or will it lead to a tyranny worse than that from which our forefathers struggled to be free?

Safeguards have been provided by law to control nursing homes. These require regular inspections by the medical officer of health and the fire marshal. If such "atrocities" exist as is suggested, then these officials ought to be questioned, rather than the many fine nursing homes which provide a satisfactory service in their respective communities.

Government operated homes tend to become institutionalized. The popularity of nursing homes, however, would seem to indicate a significant section of the public prefers the friendly home atmosphere of the nursing home.

There are two kinds of nursing home: Those which try to imitate the hospital, and those which, while providing the highest quality of professional nursing care, endeavor to avoid the appearance of a hospital. It is felt that the home atmosphere is preferable. In the care of the aged, than that of the strictly utilitarian institution. Operators of nursing homes which try to ape the hospital look down their noses at the friendly home. They talk with superior air about nursing home standards yet often miss or refuse to recognize the valuable services provided by the smaller home.

It seems to me Mr. Editor that the small private home under proper inspection by health and safety authorities provides the greatest safeguards in the public interest. Nursing homes are not subsidized; they must pay for service in their respective communities.

Government operated homes tend to become institutionalized. The popularity of nursing homes, however, would seem to indicate a significant section of the public prefers the friendly home atmosphere of the nursing home.

To Your Good Health
Age, Even at Thirty-Five

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain gout. Its causes. I am 35 and I have pain in my ankle. All I know is most old people get the disease but I hardly believe at my age I can have contracted it. My doctor gives me pills which I am afraid to take for I know my English is terrible, but I am a foreigner, and the language is still hard for me, but I can read your column.—Mrs. H. C.

Dear Doctor: The doctor tells my husband he has too much uric acid. He has had pain in his ankles. What should he do? —Mrs. M. E. M.

Don't apologize, Mrs. H. C. You make yourself clear, which is more than I could do in your language.

Gout can develop at any age although not frequently when you are very young. But at 35? Yes, it happens quite often.

The cause is that the body doesn't handle uric acid well. The amount gradually builds up. In time, little deposits of uric acid (or resultant chemicals) are formed. They have a tendency to combine in the joints. And they can be painful. When they form elsewhere in soft flesh, they can exist without causing any particular trouble.

Coincidentally, both letters today mention painful ankles. The most usual places for such deposits from gout are in the joints of the big toes. But they can form in any joints in the body.

For some hundreds of years a drug called colchicine was the only known treatment for gout, other than trying to avoid foods which build up uric acid. (Organ meats — sweet or heart, sweetbreads, kidneys; red meats in general; vegetables of the pea or bean type; anchovies, sardines and a few others—are among the principal offenders.)

But more recently a drug called probenacid has been prescribed. Daily use of it tends to prevent attacks — because, for whatever reasons, gout is a disease which hits in streaks. It causes very severe pain for a time. Then the pain goes away, only to return again later. Probenacid to prevent such attacks has been a God-send to many gout sufferers.

Between attacks, gout patients can be perfectly comfortable. But that's when they ought to be guarding against future attacks, both by proper drug treatment, and by being at least moderately careful about eating too much of the foods which build up the amount of uric acid in the body.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why is salt so harmful to some patients.

Even a spark will burst into flame or cause an explosion in the presence of straight oxygen.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that a softener will take certain minerals out of the drinking water, this causing hardening of the arteries. Please confirm or deny.—D. B.

Of course, softeners take some minerals out of the water, and change others. That's the purpose. But this has no relationship to hardening of the arteries. (Some softened water is high in sodium, so should be avoided by people with some types of heart disease, or with high blood pressure).

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that a sufferer will take certain minerals out of the drinking water, this causing hardening of the a rteries. Please confirm or deny.—Mrs. M. McKinnon.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 19th, 1945.

To look for the elevator and find instead the fire department, was the unexpected experience of a male visitor at the Belleville General Hospital Sunday evening. Seeking to operate the elevator in order to descend from the second floor, the man instead pulled the fire alarm switch with result that firemen swarmed the premises after a quick run in bitter zero weather.

With doctors and nurses rushing to emergency stations as the alarm sounded, the unwitting false alarmist suddenly got cold feet and scooted down the hallway in what turned out to be a vain effort to escape detection. He was finally run to earth by an irate doctor and was given a sincere verbal reprimand, first for ringing the alarm and secondly for not standing his ground and admitting his mistake.

At a meeting of the members of the Batterylls Anglers' Association which was held at the YMCA the chair was occupied by the president, J. E. Short. The sec. treas. J. H. Hoyle reported a steady growth in the membership and also showed a fair balance in the treasury. Prizes won during the past season were presented. The election of members of the executive resulted as follows: J. E. Short, Dr. Legris, Capt. W. Bottum, Dr. Van Blaklize, Chief R. Kidd, G. A. C. Welz, G. DeLong, Harry Bland and R. Weese. At a later meeting of the executive the officers will be appointed. Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, minister of health in the Ontario Government has consented to accept the appointment of honorary president of the Association.

Stranger Grateful For Hospital Care

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer;

As a four-day patient in the Belleville General Hospital on the second floor, I would like to thank the staff and nurses for the splendid service my girl friend and I received.

We both will never forget all the friendly people in the hospital and also the friends from the Christian Reformed Church, who took time to visit us strangers while in the hospital.

Much was done for us at a time when we could do nothing, to make our stay a pleasant one and I can assure you, people from Belleville, that you did succeed.

$3,000 Damage In House Fire On John Street

Fire caused an estimated $3,000 damage to a home on South John Street shortly before 7:00 p.m. last night.

The home at 94 South John Street is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Percy R. Haines and their family.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said the fire broke out after a car backed into the Haines' driveway breaking off a gas meter. A spark ignited the gas which began spreading through the house.

A sunporch and a living room were badly damaged by fire, smoke and water. Damage to the home was estimated at about $2,000 with about $1,000 damage to the contents.

The family were unable to remove any of their furniture.

Firemen remained at the scene for about an hour and a half.

Six of Family Perish in Fire

MORRISVILLE, Vt. (AP) — Fire raced through a farm home early today, killing a family of six persons.

Police identified the victims as Theodore F. Corey, Jr., 25, his wife, Mary, 24, and their four daughters—Anna Marie, 5; Beverly, 3; Mary, 2, and Betty Jean, 1.

Fire Chief, Deputy Police Chief Retiring This Year

Two of the city's senior department officials, Fire Chief Gerald Vance and Deputy Police Chief Clare Hayes, will retire this year.

Chief Vance will retire on February 2nd on reaching the age, while Deputy Chief Hayes will leave the force on June 8th.

Fire Chief Vance has served more than 43 years with the fire department, while Deputy Chief Hayes has been with the police department 21 years.

On the retirement of Fire Chief Vance, Deputy Chief Ted Foote will become acting chief, while Leo Culhane will become acting deputy chief.

Additional retirement allowances for the two officials were approved last night by city council. In addition to retirement pensions to which they have subscribed, Chief Vance will receive an annual retirement allowance of $1,200 and Deputy Chief Hayes, $1,500.

Last year additional retirement allowances in the same general bracket were voted to Police Chief Walter Probert, to Charles A. Mott and to Deputy Fire Chief Gerald O'Brien.

Two members of the city police force, Sgt. Percy Peoples, will retire on April 20th after 38 years service, while Mr. Frank Stevens will retire on July 7th after 16 years.

Will Turn Sod For New Boiler House Thursday

Because of weather conditions the ceremony may have to be symbolic, but the first sod in the $1 million dollar construction program for the new Belleville General Hospital extension will be officially turned on Thursday.

The sod turning will mark the construction start for the new hospital boiler house to be built south of Education Hall. Construction of the Hospital Wing is expected to commence next summer.

Hospital board members, along with members of city and county council are expected to be on hand for the sod turning ceremony at 11.45 a.m. Later council members will be luncheon guests of the board.

Guest speaker for the luncheon meeting will be W. B. Lewis, M.A. for Hospital and representative for Health Minister, Dr. Dymond, on the Ont. Hospital Services Commission.

Realtor Is Necessary Part Of City Rotarians Told

Rotarians learned on Monday at their regular noon hour luncheon meeting at the Hotel Quinte that the Belleville Real Estate Board showed an almost 100 per cent gain in 1964 over 1963 when at end of October rising to $1,142,000.

This was revealed to the club by Abe Weise, B.A., President of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards, guest speaker at the meeting. Main topic was "The Realtor And His Community". Mr. Weise is from Kitchener, Ont.

The speaker said that the word "realtor" designated a person belonging to a real estate association in Canada affiliated with the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards and the mark "realtor" is a licensed trademark of that association.

There are 77 active member boards at this time he said and the Belleville Board is one of 43 real estate boards in Ontario. The Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards is the largest provincial association with some 7,300 members representing over 84 per cent of the licensed real estate people in the province.

Mr. Wiebe stated that one of the fastest growing areas of realtors work today is the listing and selling of properties on the Multiple Listing Service which was put into effect about 12 years ago.

The speaker stated that during the first 10 months of 1964, MLS across Canada totalled $606,221,000, covering 42,542 properties, representing a 23 per cent gain over the same period of 1963.

"Your own Belleville Board during that same period enjoyed an almost 100 per cent gain over 1963, he continued, with sales totalling $1,142,000. That's gentlemen, is big business and it is the realtor in your community who must use his energy, imagination, ingenuity and knowledge in maintaining the program, that can effectively market property in this volume and with this dispatch".

Mr. Wiebe said he felt that realtors, "through their knowledge and experience should serve on civic bodies such as school boards, parking authorities and hospital boards, etc.

HAS RIGID CODE

In closing Mr. Wiebe said that "the realtor in your community, through thorough practical knowledge, adheres to a rigid code of ethics and through his specialized knowledge of the industry and the market, will continue to promote an active market for real estate in Belleville and will help to foster a real community spirit".

He was convinced that here in Belleville, the realtor will become a most valued and necessary part of the business life of the community".

Mr. Wiebe was introduced to the club by Rotarian W. McCormick, a representative of the local Real Estate Board.

Other members of the local real estate board were amongst the guests present at Monday's meeting.

It was announced by Stan Reston, president of the Rotary Club of Belleville, that plans for the forthcoming Science Fair and Hobby Show were well underway. The show will be held in the Belleville Armory on April 2nd and 3rd.

Applications for the show may be obtained from Rotarians or Alex Federsen, chairman of the project. Each year the Rotary Club sponsors a Science Fair but this year it will be combined with hobby show as well.

MEETING LIKELY

LONDON (CP)—Lucien Lamoureux, deputy speaker of the Canadian House of Commons, says the 1965 meeting of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association is likely to be held in Canada. Lamoureux, member of Parliament for the Ontario riding of Stormont, said in an interview he has had talks with a number of British officials on various parliamentary matters and plans were laid during the remainder of the week.

National Pres. Of Jaycees Visits City

Canadians contribute only taxes, not themselves, William Rowe, National Jaycee president, told a conference Monday at Belleville's Shrine Club.

Although capable, Canadians are not asked to actively give to their country by military service or participation in a peace corps, he said.

In Montreal the Quebec Jaycees' desire for separation from the Canadian Jaycee movement will be a main topic.

Last year the Quebec group, known as "La Federation", asked the International Jaycee Congress meet in Oklahoma for recognition as a separate entity. They were refused by a vote of 58 to 57.

Mr. Rowe believes the Quebec Jaycees' desire to be autonomy-ized as a "French Body" has not ended and several years will pass before total reconciliation is achieved.

He does believe the French-Canadian peoples are now rapidly moving forward and will show surprising progress in a few years.

On socialism Mr. Rowe commented his organization favors free enterprise but supports government control of certain endeavors.

In Mr. Rowe's opinion government aid in education and retraining programs should be provided, and financial help be supplied to less fortunate areas.

Robert Lawrie, Edmonton New Director of Taxation

Accountant Robert P. Lawrie, now serving his 19th year with the Taxation Division of the Department of National Revenue, has been appointed the new Director-Taxation for the district of Belleville.

Mr. Lawrie is due to arrive in Belleville today from Edmonton where he has been chief assessor with the Taxation Division for the past nine years.

Born in Brookdale, Manitoba, Mr. Lawrie completed his Chartered Accountant's course before moving to Eastern Canada as a young man. He worked as an accountant for the CPR and Canadian Industries Ltd. in Montreal before joining the army in 1943 for a three-year stint.

After the war he joined the Taxation Division in the Winnipeg District Office and by 1955, when he moved to Edmonton, he had become an assessing supervisor.

Mr. Lawrie succeeds D. J. Gill, who retired at the end of 1964 as Belleville Director.

The Belleville taxation district includes Bowmanville to the west and extends north through Peterborough and Lindsay to Algonquin Park and eastwards almost to Napanee.

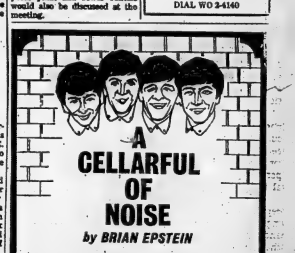
Council Concurs In Resolution

City council yesterday concurred in a city of London resolution requesting exemption from the provincial tax on motor fuels, all gasoline and diesel oil used by urban municipalities the public transportation systems or by commissions operating such systems on behalf of urban municipalities.



The resolution also requested consideration be given to reducing the provincial license fees for buses operated by municipalities.

Committee Will Discuss Items With Commission

A special committee of Aldermen Ben Corke, Jack Deacon and Don Williams, will meet with the Belleville Public Utilities Commission to discuss classification of city water supplies and other matters.

The meeting has been asked by the Utilities Commission to work out details of the division of costs involved in putting classification of water into effect.

Mayor J. R. Ellis said that objection of water rates in connection with the servicing of proposal plant and sewer rentals would also be discussed at the meeting.

On October 28, 1961, a Liverpool music store clerk listened to a scruffy-looking group known as the Beatles perform in a dank Liverpool cellar. Ald. Jarvah Resigns Seat On Council

Belleville city council yesterday bade goodbye to one of its members, Alderman William Jarvah, who is being moved to Bramalea by his employers, the National Harbours Board.

The alderman was presented with a service plaque by Mayor J. R. Ellis who said that in Mr. Jarvah, council was losing a strong man and a man of ideas who had the wisdom to speak strongly when necessary and also when to remain silent if necessary.

Alderman Jarvah said he regretted leaving council and the city of Belleville.

"We have dug our roots deeply in Belleville in the past 16 years," he said. "As a council member I have had my outlook broadened on municipal affairs. It has been my pleasure to serve on council."

New Minister Inducted at St. Paul's

STIRLING — On Thursday evening quite a number from the St. Paul's Carmel United Church gathered at St. Paul's United Church in Stirling for the induction ceremony of their new minister Rev. J. B. Small.

Rev. M. G. McFarlane, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery conducted the installation ceremony assisted by Rev. Maurice McLeod of Marmora. The interim moderator for the charge, Rev. W. G. Fletcher escorted the new minister to dias and brief messages were given by Rev. Dave Potter of Madoc and Rev. Irvin Johnston of Napanee.

A fellowship hour was held in the Sunday School hall and Mr. Don Williams was chairman for a brief program of greetings. These were conveyed by Rev. F. F. Downing, rector of St. John's Anglican Church and his assistant Rev. Francis Crook, Mr. T. D. Dodds, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian / Church, Mrs. John L. Good, president of St. Paul's U.C.W.and Mr. Robert Patterson.

Rev. Small will assume his duties immediately.

Old Fashioned Raisin Pie

By MARY MOORE

"Recipes are all jazzed up nowadays! Why can't we have plain food? I'd like an old-fashioned raisin pie."

This rebellious request came from the farmer husband of a reader friend of ours. So I meekly made a plain raisin pie. I'm glad he asked for we all enjoyed it.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Corned Brisket of Beef and Dumplings; Mixed Mustard Pickles; Cauliflower; Tossed Green Salad; Fruit Cup; Sugar Cookies (see Monday); Tea.

OLD-FASHIONED RAISIN PIE

1 lb dark Sultana raisins; 1½ cups boiling water, ½ cup sugar (or 2/3 cup for those who have a sweet tooth), 2 tablespoons flour; ½ cup cold water, grated yellow rind 1 medium lemon, pastry for 2-crust pie (see below).

Pour boiling water over raisins, bring to boiling point, turn off heat and let stand while you make Pastry: Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup shortening, 2 tablespoons butter, 3½ tablespoons cold water. Cut shortening and butter into flour and salt with pastry blender until size of peas. Drizzle in cold water, one tablespoon at a time, blending with fork until flour is moistened, and pack into a ball. Divide in two. Roll out one half to fit deep 9" pie plate. Roll our remaining half and gash at centre.

To finish making the filling stir together dry, the sugar, flour and grated rind, and then stir in the ½ cup cold water until smooth. Stir this into the soaked raisins and cook, stirring, until thick. Pour hot into pastry-lined pie plate. Seal on top crust. Glaze top by brushing all over with a mixture of 1 tablespoons each sugar and milk.

Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes on bottom shelf of oven. Reduce heat to 325 deg Fahr. and raise pie to centre shelf and bake about 20 or 25 minutes longer or until juice begins to bubble through gashes.

Notes: 1) Raisin pie does not take as long to bake as most pies because filling is hot when pie is put in oven. 2) I served this pie slightly warm with Cheddar cheese. Baumers cheese is good with it too. Bruce always wants a scoop of ice cream on his raisin pie. 3) For those who want to "jazz it up," ½ cup finely chopped walnuts may be added.

Alouette Club Lists Officers

The French-Canadian "Alouette Club" for Belleville and district elected the directors, at a general meeting held at St. Joseph Parish Hall, Saturday night.

The names of the elected directors for 1965 are: Mr. James Hultquist, president; Mr. Leo Boisvert, vice-president; Mr. Michael Thiffault, secretary; Mrs. Louise Dunkerley, treasurer, and directors, Mrs. Claire Hall, Mrs. Jacqueline Hultquist Mr. J. A. C. Berube, Mr. Bernard Lagace, Mr. Gilles Morin, Mr. Bruno Rivard, all of Belleville and Mrs. Michelle Pavement of Trenton.

The "Alouette Club" for Belleville and district is a social French-Canadian club whose members meet many times a year for social events. It counts now 95 members. At the first 1965 meeting of the directors, the program of activities will be divided for the first part of the year.

Club Activities

PRINCE EDWARD - BELLEVILLE LADIES' CLUB

The regular meeting of the Prince Edward - Belleville Ladies' Club was held at the Recreation Centre last Wednesday, with 26 members and six visitors present. President Mrs. P. Baird opened the meeting and extended a hearty welcome to all.

In her yearly report, secretary Mrs. L. Wannamaker noted 39 members were enrolled. Treasurer Mrs. L. Fox gave the report showing a bank balance of $142.85 and cash on hand $3.94. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Pierson read thank you cards from several members.

Mrs. Trumpour Sr. donated a polished wood collection plate. Each group was asked to be in charge for its own meeting with no bills to be paid except rent of hall, flowers and cards for the sick and bereaved members, unless it was voted on previously.

Miss M. Gerow and Miss Ayling were new members welcomed to the club.

Mrs. F. Bedell as convener of her group, was in charge of the program. Mrs. E. Farnsworth gave an appropriate devotional message, a favorite of David Livingstone's which gave him strength and courage in dark Africa.

Miss Helen Sulman introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Homewood, wife of Rev. Homewood of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Homewood spent her early life in China where her parents were missionaries. They returned in 1944.

After her education and training as a nurse, she married Major Homewood and they were sent as missionaries to India.

The speaker told of many incidents of life in India, and mentioned their means of transportation, tongs, a cart with no springs drawn by a horse; and a dandee, drawn by two small men.

On the Indian trains, meals are ordered at one station, then eaten, the plates left off at the next station, and paid for at the next station. She showed the tiffin pail for lunch, the clothing and dolls used in Batala, a city of 75,000. They found the Hindus tolerant and wanting to learn.

Thanks were extended to Mrs. Homewood by Mrs. F. Bedell, who presented the speaker with a cup and saucer.

Mrs. Bedell, Mrs. Trumpour and their group served lunch and a social time was enjoyed by all.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM EDMONDSON

Former Residents Observe 70 Years of Wedded Life

Mr. and Mrs. William Edmondson, former residents of Belleville and now residing at 455 Donlands Avenue, Toronto, celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary at an "At Home" held in College Hill United Church parlors, Belleville, last Saturday afternoon.

They were married on January 18, 1895, in Bawdon Parish Church, Yorkshire, England and emigrated to Canada in 1907. They resided in Belleville until Mr. Edmondson's retirement from the Canadian National Railways in 1939 when they left the city to reside with their sons in Toronto.

There are seven children including four sons and three daughters, Mrs. Norman (Nellie) MacDonald of Point Anne; Mrs. Art (May) Bowen of Cocoanos, Mrs. Ray (Ida) Dafoe of Belleville, and Reginald of Centenary, Harry of Willowdale and George and Ernest of Toronto.

Mrs. Ray Dafoe received the guests in the church parlor from 3 to 4 p.m., while Mrs. Norman MacDonald was in charge of the guest book. During the afternoon refreshments were served at which time Mrs. Ernest Edmondson poured tea. Mrs. Harry Edmondson, Mrs. Reginald Edmondson, Mrs. Fred Edmondson, Margaret and Marie assisted in the serving.

Later in the evening dinner was served to the immediate family and other close relatives with Rev. and Mrs. Vessey, Mrs. Marjorie Austin and Ruth and Cheryl Armstrong also present. At this time the bride and bridegroom of 70 years cut a beautifully decorated anniversary cake highlighted with the dates 1895 to 1965, centered on the bottom layer.

Following the dinner, felicitations were the order of the day and a toast was proposed to Mr. Reginald Edmondson to his parents with a toast on behalf of the grandchildren and great grandchildren proposed by Rev. Fred Edmondson to which Mr. Ernie Edmondson replied on behalf of his parents.

Miss Margaret Mason and Mrs. Nina Neal helped with the serving at the meal and afterwards a social half hour was enjoyed.

Ignore Hubby's Cursing And Hope He'll Stop It

DEAR ANN LANDERS — What does an intelligent, successful man think he is proving when he swears every time he opens his mouth?

Every day we see and hear intelligent and successful men on TV and radio who don't have to swear to get a point across.

My husband can't complete a sentence without putting a curse word in somewhere. Our daughters have asked him to please watch his language when guests are in the house, but it doesn't do any good.

I've never heard the neighbors' husbands swearing up a storm out in the yard but they've heard mine at least a dozen times this past summer.

Why does he do it and what can I do to get him to stop? — MRS. M.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR MRS. — People who lace their language with strong expletives are attempting to add punch to their statements. They are afraid their ideas, simply stated, are not strong enough to persuade, so they fling in bits of jarring language.

The habit is a deep-seated one and nagging won't help knock it in the head. Now that you've made an issue of it he may use cursing as a weapon of rebellion against you. Ignore it and hope one day, when he is more confident he'll launder his language.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My sister and I, both unmarried, share an apartment. It is very convenient, for financial reasons. We are two and a half years apart in age. Both of us enjoy good health, we attend church regularly and we have many friends.

The trouble is I can't get my sister to accept her share of the responsibility for cooking or housekeeping. If she gets home first she sits and waits for me to decide what we are going to eat. And she likes to have me cook dinner and serve it.

My sister lets her laundry pile up, then begs me to do her things when I do mine. It's the same with cleaning. I get tired of seeing her dressing table so messy so I straighten it.

How can I get this lazy girl to accept her share of the responsibility? I am fed up with her sloppiness. — DISGUSTED.

DEAR DI — You haven't told me how old your sister is, but this I can tell you — you are not going to change her. So long as you two live together your sister will take advantage of you. She has learned to manoeuvre you and you have not learned how to deal with her in a mature manner.

Move out and find another roommate or accept the situation and stop aggravating yourself.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Smoking," enclosing with your request 15c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nun Teaches Christians About Judaism

MONTREAL (CP)—A Roman Catholic nun teaches Christians about Judaism in the Knowlton district in northwest Montreal.

Sister Marie Noelle, Parisborn member of the Congregation of Our Lady of Sion, says: "I am trying to bring Christian people to a better understanding of the first requirement of true Christianity. It is, I think, to open their minds and hearts to the other, whoever he may be or whatever his race, country, religion or social class."

Sister Noell spent five years studying biblical and modern Hebrew before graduating from l'Ecole Nationale des Langues Orientales in Paris. She taught various academic subjects for a time but later turned to the fight against anti-semitism.

After coming to Montreal five years ago, she became acquainted with Jewish organizations and members of the local Jewish community in order to teach Christians about Judaism, an activity she also carries on as managing editor of Dialogue, a periodical set up for that purpose.

"Prejudice and distrust are mainly fostered by ignorance," she says. "This is what I would like to combat in some way. I am trying for a bit of building of peace which is rooted in love and for which people of good will are working all over the world."

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherry of Thomasburg and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weir of Moneymore were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Andrews of Canniton.

CHILDREN VICTIMS

MONTREAL (CP) — Of the 110 persons who died last year in the 34,500 fires in Quebec, 50 were children. Fire Commissioner Francois Perreault said the fires caused $24,000,000 in damage and represented an "unpaniad increase" over figures for the previous two years.

Dear Susanna: I am happy to send along two of my favorite hints for your readers to try - if they haven't already, of course:

Pretreat "grease stains on shirt collars and pillow cases with shampoo before putting them into your washer. Shampoo is made especially to dissolve such body oils. Works equally well on cuffs and ladies blouses.

With spring coming on fast, that yen for a fancy chapeau gets pretty urgent. It is often a bit of a problem however, to decide which is the best way to keep it dust-free and uncrushed between wearings. Here is something that really works.

Protect your ballerina hat (be it flowered, feathered or pastel fur felt) by placing it in a plastic bag. Now blow air into the bag. Fasten with a rubber band.

Mrs. Nina M. Fennell.

If you keep your nails hat with the gay festoon, do keep it fresh in a big balloon!

SUSANNA

Dear Susanna: Could you please send me any information you may have on uses for old nylon stockings, also any idea as to what woollen clothing could be cut and used for.

Mrs. R. Procter

I am sending along a copy of our instructions for dyeing, braiding and sewing rugs from nylon stockings - it is fun work, and they do turn out rather well.

Wool clothing, all the same thickness, can also be used to make these rugs. Cut in 1½ inch widths. Keep the strips as long as possible so as to reduce the number of joins. You will need three strands for each time of braiding, then proceed according to the instructions for sewing nylon rugs.

Enclosed is also a little list of other uses for your stockings. I'm only too happy to send the list and instructions to anyone else who might care to have it - you've all been so friendly and delightfully helpful to me.

Love, SUSANNA.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Ask wrestling fans hereabouts if they ever heard of a fellow named Eric Holmback and they'll scratch their noggins and say "No".

But ask the same people if they know one "Yukon Eric" and the answer will be in the reverse.

And coming as a severe shock to them as it did this department was the news yesterday that the "Yuke's" body was found shot to death in a small town in Georgia.

The town's coroner ruled apparent suicide. The sheriff stated that the popular wrestler had been shot in the mouth with a .22 pistol that was found at his side.

As a wrestler and a gentleman both inside and outside the ring, the "Yuke" rated second to Lord Athol Layton in this corner's opinion.

The barrel-bodied Eric was a prime favorite with fans in the city and district. Poker-faced in the ring he seldom smiled, talked less. Sometimes a flash of anger would light up his features when the opposition used tactics he did not like.

He was one of the most powerful wrestlers to show his wares here. His dead-pan arms-akimbo approach to the fracas called for evasive tactics the most of the time. Once enfolded in his grisly-bear body grip or when he rabbed the opposition aloft in that deadly "Kodiac Krunch", the opposition called it a night.

I interviewed Eric more than once in his dressing room. He was quiet-spoken with a childlike smile. He talked in a low voice and never bragged about his success in the wrestling ring.

Nor did I ever hear him say anything detrimental about those with whom he was matched. In fact I do not believe Eric ever spoke ill of any person.

He usually travelled alone going from assignment to assignment in his Cadillac convertible. More than once after an engagement here, he would change to street clothes, get into his car and drive to a small restaurant outside the city. Here he would sit alone, order two or three hamburgs, eat them and leave as quietly as he came.

He was the victim of one of wrestledom's more serious accidents which cost him an ear. Locale of the bout slips the memory at present but it occurred when the Yuke was engaged in a match with the famous "bad man" Killer Kowalski.

One of the "Killer's" coups-de-grace was his famous knee-jump. He would leap in the air and come down with knee bended to crash on the body of a prostrate foeman.

In this case Kowalski's knee landed on Yukon's right ear practically tearing it away from his head. What was left of it was removed by surgery.

After that he let his hair grow long to cover the scar. He was always conscious of it albeit the longer locks were made to order for hair-pulling opposition.

I asked him about the incident later in a dressing-room interview. Eric was very brief about it. He smiled that ladylish smile and said: "It was one of those things that could happen to anybody." No grudges. No hard feelings. He took it in stride as an occupational hazard. He was that kind of a guy.

Yukon was a big man with some 273 pounds or solid muscle and bone wrapped up in his five-foot-seven frame. He had arms and thighs that would do credit to a plow horse. He never used unorthodox tactics and never gloated over nor attached a fallen foeman.

Many things pro and con have been said about the sport of wrestling but with the passing of Yukon Eric it has lost one of its best exponents. He was a credit to himself and to the sport he loved so much.

Laperriere Eyes Norris ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Crozier Heads for Calder

Hull Headed for Two Trophies, Loot

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League announced Monday what no one thought it would be otherwise: Bobby Hull leads the halfway voting as the league's Most Valuable Player.

Nor will there be any amazement at the announcement that the Chicago Black Hawks left-winger leads the mid - season voting for the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy, awarded to the player best combining gentlemanly conduct and a high standard of playing ability.

Results of the poll for two other trophies were announced Monday. Jacques Laperriere of Montreal Canadiens leads in the balloting for the Jamesh Norris Trophy as the league's best defenceman and goaltender Roger Crozier of Detroit Red Wings is the halfway choice for the Calder Memorial Trophy as rookie of the year.

Hull leads by a country mile in the voting for the Hart Trophy, awarded to the player judged to be most valuable to his team, with 88 points, two short of a unanimous vote. His closest rival is centre Norm Ullman of Detroit who has 22 points, six ahead of third-place Charlie Hodge, Canadiens' goaltender.

In the Lady Byng voting, his 50 points give him a 22-point margin over Camille Henry of New York. Another Ranger, Phil Goyette, is third with 21.

Laperriere, last season's rookie of the year, got 55 points and a 22-point lead over Pierre Pilote of Chicago Black Hawks for the Norris Trophy. Pilote has won the trophy for the last two years. In third spot is veteran Bill Gadsby of Detroit with 28 points.

BOBBY HULL

Crozier polled 67 points as the leading rookie for a 14-point lead over rightwinger Ron Ellis of Toronto Maple Leafs. Goaltender Denis DeJordy of the Black Hawks was third with 25. The last goalkeeper to win the rookie award was Glenn Hall, in 1955-56 when he was with Detroit.

Each of the four players leading in the voting gets $250. A similar sum goes to the players who top the second-half poll and the over-all winner gets another $500.

The extra cash is fast piling up for Hull. He already has earned $1,500 in add - season money by leading in the scoring race and in the voting for the all-star team, the Hart Trophy and the Lady Byng. If he leads in these categories for the second half and therefore in the over all award, he would pick up a total of $7,000 in individual award money alone.

The voting, worked out on a basis of five points for a first-place choice, three for a second and one for a third, is done by sports writers and broadcasters in the six league cities.

Other players who received points in the balloting were:

Hart—Henri Richard, Montreal 11; Gordie Howe, Detroit, 9; Crozier, 8; Laperriere, 8; Claude Provost, Montreal, 1; Ted Green, Boston Bruins, 1; Stan Mikita, Chicago, 1; Jean Beliveau, Montreal 1; Gadsby, Detroit, 1.

Calder — Rod Selling, New York, 8; Yvan Cournoyer, Montreal, 3; Fred Stanfield, Chicago, 3; Ted Harris, Montreal, 1; Matt Ravlich, Chicago, 1; Arnie Brown, New York, 1.

Lady Byng—Dave Keon, Toronto, 20; Bruce MacGregor, Detroit, 13; Red Kelly, Toronto, 10; Claude Provost, Montreal 9; Dean Prentice, Boston, 5; Alex Delvecchio, Detroit, 5; Norm Ullman, Detroit, 2; John Bucyk, Boston, 1.

James Norris—Tim Horton, Toronto, 15; Carl Brewer, Toronto, 14; Ted Green, Boston, 13; Harry Howell, New York, 8; Bob Baun, Toronto, 5; Elmer Vasko, Chicago, 1; J. C. Tremblay, Montreal, 1.

Gump Stopped Habs' Egg-Laying

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens are back ruling the National Hockey League roost after laying a couple of eggs.

Gump Worsley, that farm club boy from the American Hockey League Quebec Aces, made the difference.

Weekly NHL statistics released today show the Canadiens in the lead with 49 points despite a three - game losing streak that preceded their switch in goaltenders.

Chicago Black Hawks, who held the lead briefly, are back in No. 2 position just two points behind. Toronto Maple Leafs are poised dangerously in third place just one point behind the Hawks. Detroit Red Wings are in fourth place with 42, followed by New York Rangers with 36 and Boston with 24.

The Canadiens switched goaltenders for two weekend games in their scramble back to the top, recalling Worsley to replace Charlie Hodge.

The result: a 3-2 win over Boston followed by a 4-2 victory over Chicago.

HULL STILL LEADS

Chicago's Bobby Hull was held to one goal and an assist but still holds a commanding lead of 12 points in the individual scoring race with 59 points, including 36 goals.

Teammate Stan Mikita is second with 47 points, including a league-leading 34 assists.

Third is Detroit's Norm Ullman with 43 points, three more than fourth-place Claude Provost of Montreal.

Phil Goyette of the Rangers picked up a goal and five assists to jump into fifth place with 36 points, one more than Phil Esposito of Chicago and Detroit's Gord Howe.

Pierre Pilote of Chicago is eighth with 34 points, followed by Camille Henry of New York with 33 and Rod Gilbert of Rangers with 32.

The Canadiens now have 99 goals against, two less than the Maple Leafs who have played three games more. Detroit's Roger Crozier continues to lead the shutouts with three.

TOP AMATEURS NAMED

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Bill Campbell, 42, of Huntington, W. Va., and Barbara McInire, 30, of Colorado Springs, Colo., were named amateur golfers of the year Monday by Golf Digest. The winners of the 1964 men's and women's United States national championships headed rankings in the magazine's 1965 annual.

City Minors Split Pair OMHA Games

Belleville minor teams split a pair of OMHA scheduled games "on the road" last night.

Oddfellow midgets scored a decisive 5-1 victory in Wellington.

Picton nipped Belleville's A. C.T. "Travellers" 5-4 in a juvenile tilt at Picton.

The midget game was scoreless after one period but Belleville moved in front 3-1 in the middle stanza and added an unanswered pair in the third.

B. Beecher, W. Storms, D. Duvall, D. Muir and C. Wilson triggered a goal apiece, in that order. J. Ling drew two assists with one each for W. Brown, Muir, Beecher, T. Boulter, Duvall and J. Parks.

G. Wannamaker got the only Wellington marker, assisted by D. Hicks.

Of six minor penalties called, the winners took four.

In Picton, the juvenile action was close all the way. Picton moved ahead 2-1 in the first, each side scored once in the second and twice in the third for the final 5-4 count.

Belleville goals were scored by Gregory, Pringle, Ford and Post. Dickey earned a pair of assists with one apiece for Rutton, Pringle and Ebbitt.

Stringer paced the Picton squad by scoring the club's first three goals and assisting on the fifth. Van Husen got a goal and assist, Horton 2, other tally and Howe two helpers.

The "Travellers" collected eight of the game's 11 penalties, including a misconduct to Rutton.

Lightfoots, Flyers Game Snowed Out

The scheduled Bay of Quinte Basketball League game was "snowed out" here last night. Belleville Lightfoots were slated to play the RCAF Flyers at Quinte Secondary school.

Lightfoots were informed yesterday afternoon that the RCAF players are unable to obtain permission to leave the base tonight due to the storm".

Thus the game was postponed and will be re-scheduled at a later date.

Next scheduled action for both teams will be Wednesday night. Lightfoots travel to Cobourg and Flyers clash with Trenton Wildcats. RCAF leads the four-team group standing, two points ahead of Belleville.

Football Under the Harvest Moon

Starts Aug. 6

MONTREAL (CP)—The Eastern Football Conference will get under way earlier than ever this year when Montreal Alouettes play the defending champion Tiger Cats Aug. 6 at Hamilton.

The opening date was confirmed Monday by M. R. (Red) Workman, president and general manager of the Alouettes.

Tentative dates for the 1965 schedule of the Canadian Football League were worked out at a league meeting last week in Chicago, held in conjunction with the U.S. National Collegiate Athletic Association convention.

But the opening date for the eastern teams of Friday, Aug. 6, was described as "definite."

Ottawa Rough Riders and Argonauts make their debut at Toronto that weekend, either Saturday or Sunday.

FIRST TWO ON ROAD

Alouettes play their first two games on the road, the other set for Aug. 14 in Ottawa. They are due to open at home Aug. 18 against Toronto.

Most of Montreal's games against western teams in the interlocking schedule are tentatively dated for September with their final western tour coming Oct. 11 at home against Calgary Stampeders.

Workman said the Chicago meeting discussed rule changes dealing particularly with the intercourse phase of Canadian game. He declined to discuss the suggested changes in detail.

He said that a brief to establish a central scouting system was presented to CFL delegates by J. I. Albrecht, a longtime talent scout and former general manager of Quebec Rifles of the United Football League.

Workman said these matters and the task of giving final approval to the 1965 schedule will be taken up at a meeting of league general managers in Ottawa Feb. 15-17.

For European Tours

Canadian Referees for Canadian Games

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian amateur hockey has accompanied by Canadian referees when they make exhibition hockey tours of Europe, says a veteran official of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Overseas teams should do likewise when touring Canada, Cecil Duncan, secretary-registrar of the Ottawa District Hockey Association, said after accompanying Ottawa's senior Montagnards on a 12-game, 21-day tour of Europe.

Duncan's proposal was supported by Johnny Wilson, playing coach of the Montics and formerly "ironman" of the National Hockey League.

Both were unhappy with the refereeing encountered by Montagnards, eastern finalists in the Allan Cup playoffs last season, who won nine games, lost one and tied one on the tour from which they returned Sunday night.

The 12th game, in Innsbruck, Austria, was suspended after 11 minutes of the first period because of ice.

Said Duncan, a lifetime member of the CAHA:

"The way I see it is to have an exchange of referees of these trips.

"They (the Europeans) go for a lot of holding and spearing but they don't stand for body contact or any sort.

"It seems to me that I'm going to bring it up at the CAHA meeting in Winnipeg this weekend, we should bring a qualified official alone on these tours and have the visiting team do it (from Europe) do likewise.

"Not only will each team be happy, but it will give referees a chance to become accustomed to different styles and ideas."

HARNEY EARNS MOST

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Paul Harney's $12,000 tournament winnings in 1965 placed him at the head of the Professional Golfers Association list Monday. Billy Casper was second with $7,000. Others on the list with earnings included George Knudson of Toronto with $5,300.

Trenton Peewees Defeat Rollins

Trenton peewees defeated Belleville Rollins 5-2 in a lacklustre exhibition game played in Trenton last night.

Rollins are slated to play another exhibition in Cobourg tonight.

Ferguson sparked the Trenton club to last night's win.

Both Rollins' goals came from the stick of Bill Buchanan. He rapped home Terry Meagher's rebounds on both scoring occasions.

Score Six in Third

Peterborough Inters B's 14-6

Peterborough Don Byes trounced Belleville "B's" for the second time in four nights in an OHA Eastern Junior League game played in Cobourg last night. The score was 14-6.

The loss for the "B's", combined with a 7-5 victory for Gananoque in Napanee, left the Belleville squad three points behind the front-running Islanders.

Belleville's next start will be at home Friday night. Kingston Frontenacs will make their first appearance of the season in a nine o'clock fixture.

The "B's" received further bad news over the weekend, according to manager Jim Mathews. He said this morning that goalie Bob Moon has a broken hand.

Moon complained of a sore hand prior to Friday's game here, won by Peterborough 13-4. Moon started the game, appeared to injure a knee in the first period and was replaced at the start of the second.

Coach Gordie Bell said after Friday's game that Moon was bothered by a sore hand, which he underwent an hour up in a basketball game earlier today". Apparently later examinations showed the hand to be broken.

Stand-by goalie Bill Bell played in the nets last night and saw the Don Byes lead 4-2 after 20 periods. They made it 6-2 early in the third but the "B's" came to life and ripped home four goals by the 12:43 mark to cut the lead to 6-6. Then the roof fell in for six more Peterborough goals and the final 14-6 count.

Belleville's 18 scoring points were shared by four players. Grant Hagerman led the way with two goals and three assists while Jim Rutherford picked up four points, three of them goals. Bob Boyle contributed one goal and three assists while Carl Boomhower got two helpers.

Terry Blewett sparked the Don Bye squad with his second consecutive three-goal effort. He also earned two assists. Paul LaPlante was Peterborough's other three-goal performer. Gord Tucker shone with two goals and two assists and Richard Scammell had one marker and three helpers. Joe Johnston and Gary Foster each claimed a goal and two assists. Bill Stabler was of each and Perry Chittick the other two goals. Colin Ingham had two assists, Al Saltern and Pete McCarthy one apiece.

Peterborough fired 44 shots at Belleville goalies Bell while the "B's" tested Brian Caley 32 times at the other end.

Penalties were numerous, numbering 18 in all. That included fighting majors to Rutherford and Ingham in the second period and an explosion in the game's final minute. Belleville's Roy Marcele and Peterborough's Jim Bell drew a minor, major and a game misconduct each at 19:22.

The teams:

Belleville: Bell, Townsend, Marcele, Rutherford, Hagerman, Boye, Ethier, Boomhower, Stewart, White, Fleming, Bennett.

Peterborough: Caley, Ingham, McCarthy, Johnston, Tucker, Saltern, Davis, Foster, Chittick, Blewett, Scammell, LaPlante, Lacey, Stabler, J. Bell.

British Soccer

Cardiff City Big Surprise

LONDON (Reuters)—Topic of the day in British soccer is how Cardiff City will fare Wednesday in the first leg of its European Cup Winners' Cup quarter final against Real Zaragoza in Spain.

Cardiff surprised last month by eliminating the trophy holder, Sporting Club of Lisbon.

The "Bluebirds," lying 14th of 22 teams in the English Second Division, defeated Sporting 2-1 in the Portuguese capital and then held it to a scoreless tie in the Cardiff return.

It has been a strange season for this Welsh club, the only team to have taken the English FA Cup out of England. It beat Arsenal in the Wembley final in 1927.

Its FA Cup march was short this year, however. It lost 2-1 at home to Charlton Athletic earlier this month but forgot that temporarily last Friday when it beat Middlesbrough 6-1 in a league match in Cardiff.

AWAY RECORD POOR

It has won only one of its 12 league matches out of Cardiff this season—which makes its Lisbon win the more remarkable.

Another English soccer club manager has resigned. Jack Edwards of Third Division Exeter City. He is the 55th English manager to part company with his club since the Second World War. He led Exeter to promotion from the Fourth Division eight months ago.

Record note: nearly 24,000 spectators braved torrential rain Saturday to cheer Portsmouth captain Jimmy Dickinson, making his 750th league appearance for his club. This is a record that may never be equalled in English soccer.

Hernandez New World Champion

CARACAS (AP)—Carlos Hernandez became Venezuela's first world boxing champion Monday night when he scored an upset decision over defender Eddie Perkins of Chicago in a 15 - round junior welterweight title fight.

Hernandez, the 24 - year - old Noy, 1 contender who had earlier lost a non-title bout to Perkins, took the crown on a split decision.

Perkins weighed 140 pounds, the class limit. Hernandez weighed 139½.

There were no knockdowns.

NHL Oldtimers Meet RCAF Globetrotters

TRENTON — (Special)-The National League's Oldtimers, will be getting the red carpet treatment when they visit here on Wednesday.

In return the 21 big league stars of yesteryear will give their time and talents on behalf of the Trenton Rotary Club's many benevolent endeavors.

Last year's "Oldtimer's project" netted the Rotarians $500. The event packed the Community Gardens for the third year in a row.

Sharing the spotlight with the Oldtimers will be the Trenton Intermediate "A" Globetrotters combining seasoned players from the RCAF Flyers, Trenton and Belleville.

Advertised on the same card as a preliminary attraction the Trenton Rotary's novice team needs novice representatives from Napanee at 6:30 p.m. The Oldtimers Globetrotters tilt starts at 8:00 p.m.

SIGN PITCHING COACH

BOSTON (AP) — Veteran baseball scout Mace Brown, 55, was signed Monday as pitching coach for Boston Red Sox, general manager Mike Higgins announced. The Sox appointed Brown after Sal "Maglie, who was to handle the chores, informed the club his New York State Athletic Commission post would prevent him from fulfilling the job.

Maple Leafs Acquire Full Roster

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs, who recently signed a full working agreement with the Boston Red Sox, acquired a full roster Monday for the 1965 International Base Ball League season.

The Leafs received 32 players outright from Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League.

The Rainiers were Boston's triple - A farm club last season.

YMCA Team Defeats Lightfoots

A team composed of the local YMCA's two basketball squads scored a tight 74-72 decision over Belleville Lightfoots in an exhibition game played at the Moira Secondary School last night.

Lightfoots agreed to the game after their Bay of Quinte League scheduled game was postponed. The "Y" team was made up of five players from each of the two regular teams.

Two special games are scheduled for next Monday, Jan. 25, in connection with YMCA Week. The Belleville teams will meet Kingston "Y" squads at 7.30 and 8.30 p.m. All "Y" basketball games are played at Moira Secondary School.

Every man in the "Y" lineup shared the scoring spoils last night, led by Jim Wright who hit for 22. Max Woolley and Reg Mason each snooped 11, John Guthrie eight, Graham Geldert six, John Krupitz, Paul Brown and Harry Olde four each. Dick Morden and Jack Sisson two apiece.

The Lightfoots, with only six players, got a 19-point performance from Bill Latchford and 13 points each from Ian Houston and John McKibbon. Bob Smith hooped 10, Don Smith nine and Joe Clapp eight.

The game was tied 36-36 at half time.

Canadiens Defeat Petes Jrs.

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Jean Beliveau, returning to Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League after a month's absence due to an injury, scored one goal and assisted on two others as the Canadiens defeated Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series 5-2 in an exhibition game Monday night.

Beliveau opened the scoring in the first period on a pass from Yvan Cournoyer. Defenseman Jacques Laperriere made it 2 for the parent club.

After Bobby Rousseau counted for Montreal in the second period, Andre Lacroix of Peterborough cut the margin with a pass from Leo Thiffault. Cournoyer added another Montreal goal. Before the period ended.

In the third, Henri Richard tallied on a pass from Ted Harris and the Petes' Danny Grant ended the scoring, aided by Lacroix and Thiffault.

Charlie Hodge played the first half of the game in goal for the Canadiens and Gump Worsley finished.

Manitoba Defeats Scotsmen

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba rinks won five of six matches against touring Scottish curlers in Strathcona Cup competition Monday.

The Canadian rinks, relying heavily on knockout shots, compiled 72 points to the Scots' 49 to win the aggregate score to 660 points compared with the visitor's 603.

Lieutenant - Governor Errick F. Willis skipped a rink representing the Manitoba Curling Association while the other Canadian rinks consisted of curlers from rural Manitoba clubs.

Mr. Willis' rink was reinforced by two former Canadian championship skips, Ken Watson and Jim Welsh. His force constructed an impressive 13-8 victory.

J. Durelle To Fight A. Savoie

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian welterweight champion Joey Durelle signed Monday night to fight Al Savoie with Armand Savoie Feb. 15 in Montreal in the face of objections by the Canadian Boxing Federation.

Durelle, cousin of former Canadian light heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle, defeated Savoie by a unanimous decision in a 10-round non-title fight last Dec. 21.

The boxing federation says it will not recognize the title fight unless Durelle fights outside of Quebec province because the Provincial Athletic Commission, the sponsor, is not affiliated with the Canadian ruling body.

Durelle and Savoie, one-time Canadian welterweight champion, signed a 90-day return bout clause before their December fight.

Minneapolis Defeats Nationals

WINNIPEG (CP) — Minneapolis Bruins of the Central Professional Hockey League whitewashed Canada's national team 5-0 in an exhibition game before 2,500 fans Monday.

Bruins took a cautious 1-0 lead in first period and added another unanswered goal in the second. Terry Crisp, Red Dudette, Joe Watson, Larry Lund and Bill Cooper shared the Bruin scoring.

National's goalie Don Collins blocked 34 shots while Cesare Maniago kicked out 24 for the shutout.

BOWLING 5 PINS

MONDAY NIGHT LADIES' — Cricket 2, Beatles 2; Bums 5, Lady Bugs 2; Lucky Seven 2, Eggheads 2.

At Adbckle 201, J. Kellar 227, M. James 290, 244, 244 (778), M. Cannon 220, J. Pearson 240, P. Doran 240 (661).

Departmental Hockey

The "rich got richer and the poor got poorer" in the Interdepartmental Hockey League's double-header played here last night.

League leading Public Works thumped the Police Department 10-2.

The runner-up Public Utilities squad kept the printers witless by edging the Ontario Intelligencer 3-1

Each club has just two scheduled games remaining and the pot-rich Works and Utilities squads tackle each other twice.

Playoffs are expected to start, with the top three teams participating, on Monday February 8.

World Figure Skating

Petra Is Rated Co-Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Four years ago the entire United States figure skating team—skaters, coaches and officials—were wiped out at a single blow in a plane crash in Belgium.

Since that tragic day, the U.S. has played an also-ran roll in the sport it once dominated. No U.S. citizen has won a world title, and a third-place bronze medal is the best any skater has done.

Now, four years later, how far has U.S. figure skating come back since the disaster?

Far enough so that this year they are rated a chance to win three of the four titles at the world championships at Colorado Springs, Colo., March 2-6.

Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., only 15, third in the Olympics, is a solid favorite to win the men's singles this year.

Vivian and Ronald Joseph of Highland Park, Ill., have a good chance to win the pairs crown.

Jorna Dyer and John Carrell of Seattle could capture the ice dance.

Only in the glamor event, women's singles, is the United States considered out of the running this year.

Peggy Fleming of Pasadena, Calif., and Christine Haigler of Colorado Springs are the outstanding Americans girls, but it is not likely either will challenge seriously for the world title.

Petra Burka of Toronto, Canada's outstanding female athlete of 1964, and Regine Heitzer of Austria are expected to battle for the world women's title, while the United States has a good chance for the 3rd spot.

Young Allen, the youngest winter Olympics medal winner in history, will be skating in his third world meet in March, a month after his 16th birthday.

Defending champion Manfred Schnelldorfer of West Germany has retired, along with Alain Calmat of France, the runner-up and veteran Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia, who beat out Allen in the world meet.

Big Beaks Affect Putting

Wanted: Short Noses

WASHINGTON (AP) — An eye specialist has the answer for the golfer who can't figure out what's wrong with his putting: It's as plain as the nose on his face.

The protruding beak interferes with the golfer's depth perception and the correct views over his ball and recent developments in the golfer's stance, Dr. Charles Allen of Charleston, S.C. He would be better off putting croquet style, facing the hole with the ball between his legs.

If the golfer insists on being endowed with "a large nasal bridge" he actually sees the hole out of only one eye in the putts from the usual stance, said Vallotton in a report in the Southern Medical Journal.

Golfers tilt their heads by as much as 90 degrees. The doctor said that once the head is tilted more than 15 degrees, muscles that normally rotate the eye are apt to do strange things.

For example, "the vertical ... [illegible] ... rotational muscles, and the horizontal muscles as semi-vertical muscles."

Dr. Vallotton said such deviations can "wreak havoc with the finer binocular components of binocular vision."

In other words, the hole isn't where you thought it was.

Allan Sherman's Funnyland Bright, Often Witty Hour

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The second of an NBC series entitled Sneak Preview reached television screens Monday night with the accompaniment of some loud promotional drums.

It was Allan Sherman's Funnyland, a bright and often witty hour, mostly because of the gentle satire of Sherman.

Sherman, star and executive producer of the show, recently jumped from comedy writer and television producer to performer and an engaging one he is. One of his greatest assets is that so far he has not acquired a slick professional style.

Sherman and his playmates lightly took apart a variety of subjects.

It was not, however, all understated humor. Guest stars included Lorne Greene, Angie Dickinson and Jack Gilford.

Greene, a native of Ottawa, usually is seen playing the heroic father of Bonanza boys.

All together it was an entertaining program and several cuts above the average television variety show.

NBC, after discovering that screaming teen - agers in the studio audience of its rock 'n' roll jubilations distracted the viewers, stopped distributing tickets to high schools, sending them instead to colleges and YMCAs. It also distributed printed notices to the studio audience stating that disturbers of the peace would be ejected.

The move was successful.

Recommended tonight: Hullabaloo, NBC, 10-11 EST — with Lena Horne and Robert Merrill.

Wrigley Registers Objection

CHICAGO (AP)—P. K. Wrigley, owner of Chicago Cubs, took exception Monday to a proposal of other owners that the office of president in the two major baseball leagues should be abolished.

Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, suggested last week that the office be abolished in the American and National leagues and control of the umpires be allotted to the commissioner's office.

"Any proposals, such as Mr. Allyn's, that tend toward diluting the rivalry between the two major leagues would gradually undermine the game," Wrigley said. "Eventually it could even hurt the World Series."

Walter O'Malley, owner of Los Angeles Dodgers, concurred with Wrigley.

Charles O. Finley, owner of Kansas City Athletics, goes along with Allyn's ideas.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For January 20

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Surprises due. Breakthrough occurs in work, friendship areas. You are able to make "contact." Day which sees you gaining reward for sincere efforts.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Nothing halfway today. All the way or nothing. Don't start anything you don't intend to finish. Creative ability at forefront. Emotions are intense. Express yourself!

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Plenty of changes around home base. If you expect smooth course, you may be disappointed. But if you have alternatives ready, you easily succeed. Day to finish rather than start.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): If travel you must — be careful with directions. People change their minds. Associates tend to be careless. Do your own checking. Then you avoid emotional, material waste.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Upsetting financial conditions seem to prevail. Check possessions. Get rid of "dead weight." Stop burdening yourself with objects you don't require. Streamline! Clean house.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Concentrate on pacing. Measure words, actions. Know you are being observed. You receive attention from persons in high positions. Be positive. Express ideas with confidence.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Secret alliance apt to create problem. Stress mature approach. If you don't believe in project, drop it. Applies to personal as well as business actions.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Unusual communications received. Remain alert. Be perceptive. Study various implications . . . read fine print. You get nothing for nothing. Don't deceive yourself.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Professional activity emphasized. Review potential. Outline program. Superiors want concrete results. Make minor concessions. Then you pave way for major gain.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Face inner conflicts. Valuable solution available. Intellect provides valid answers. Ego is self-analysis. Respect yourself. Others follow your lead.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Find unusual ways to present views, products. Consultation with partner or mate proves helpful. You appear to have extra vitality today. Make the most of it!

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Seek truth — even if it hurts! Make solid effort to obtain enlightment. Changes you make may be involved in foolish quarrel. Remember . . . you face yourself in the morning.

If today is your birthday . . you are fond of music, possess creative ability — you are sensitive to needs of others.

General Tendencies: Abrupt announcement affects labor forces.

Gordie Howe's Hockey

By GORDIE HOWE

There wasn't such a thing as a tendon guard for hockey players when I first started playing in the National Hockey League.

Now the tendon guard has been developed to the point where I feel it has been one of the major improvements as far as safeguarding hockey players is concerned.

If Maurice (Rocket) Richard had had one of the present-day tendon guards, he might have played another year or so and I might still be shooting for some of his records which I have been fortunate enough to eclipse.

The first tendon guards were strips of leather that were sewn to the back of the boot, protecting the all-important Achilles tendon.

Now they are part of the boot itself, and they are reinforced with a metal mesh that makes them virtually impenetrable.

The adoption of the plastic tips on the rear end of the skates also has cut down the number of injuries resulting from pile-ups on the ice.

Jacques Plante's introduction of the face-fitting mask for goalies has found wide acceptance. Terry Sawchuk, the former Red Wing goalie, now with Toronto, said the mask definitely gave him new confidence, ease of mind.

It wouldn't surprise me to see helmets become required equipment for NHL players in the not too distant future.

There was a time when professional football players in the Canadian and American leagues played without headgear. Now headgear is mandatory.

After a number of serious injuries from "bean balls", baseball adopted a protective headgear that is mandatory for all players.

The fact helmets are required of virtually all young players in organized hockey today is, I believe, developing an acceptance for headgear that soon will become universal.

NEW INDUSTRIES BOOST ECONOMY — Coal mines, once a mainstay of Nova Scotia's economy have closed down one after the other during the last five ye ars and their places in the economy life of the province is being taken by a wide variety of new industries. With forward planning in the fields of industrial, economic planning and labor management relations, Nova Scotia has attracted scores of companies: This is the assembly line of Volvo Canada Limited at Dartmouth, N.S., the first European car assembly plant in North America and one of the firms attracted to Nova Scotia. (CP Photo)

Nova Scotia Scores With Industry

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

HALIFAX (CP)—Nova Scotia has turned on the hard sell.

Tired of being regarded through the last century as a poor cousin, it is out to show other provinces — and anyone else who is interested—that its economy is as strong and active as a freshly-hooked tuna.

On the basis of events during the last five years or so, its boosters have plenty to talk about.

The province has attracted scores of new industries and is refurbishing old ones, to the tune of a capital investment running into more than $150,000,000.

Unemployment, about four per cent last summer, was the lowest in the Maritimes and below the level of such richer provinces as Quebec. In fact, a shortage of skilled labor is becoming a problem.

Nova Scotia's per-capita income has been rising faster in the last few years than the rest of Canada's, and the province has taken some bold steps in the fields of labor relations, taxation, economic planning and labor - management relations—steps that have attracted considerable attention from other governments.

For example, Premier Ivan May of Canada Ltd. in $30,000,000 plant now going up in Cape Breton will be the world's first to produce commercial heavy water for nuclear reactors.

Nova Scotia won Volvo (Canada) Ltd. for its European car-assembly plant in North America. It sold Reynolds Aluminum Co. of Canada on making aluminum cans in Canada—and locating its $1,500,000 plant, of course, in Nova Scotia.

PLANS PULP PLANT

Scott Paper Co. of Philadelphia plans to build a $50 million pulp plant near New Glasgow to produce 500 tons of bleached kraft pulp daily for U.S. and European markets.

A face - lifting being given many established firms is, in the words of one businessman, pulling them out of the 19th century.

A $6,000,000 fish plant at Lunenberg is a showcase example.

Employing 325 persons and capable of handling 80,000,000 pounds of fish a year under its 94,000 acres, it is considered one of the most modern plants of its kind in the world.

"Niggas is the key now," says C. J. Morrow, president of National Sea Products Ltd. "Big plants, big trawlers, big staffs, big money.

"It's like shooting craps—after two passes the third one is a real Seaghie."

To try to load the dice for future rolls, Nova Scotia is concentrating on building up a solid level of secondary industry.

From 1959 to 1963, more than 30 new industries were enticed into the province. Seventy-five new operations or major expansions were added by existing firms. A score more are on the books.

SMALL POPULATION

"This may not seem too impressive in Ontario," says Robert Manuge, general manager of Industrial Estates Ltd., Crown corporation established to develop secondary industry and a key man in winning new firms.

"But to keep things in perspective, you must remember that Nova Scotia's population is only 760,000—half that of metropolitan Toronto or Montreal."

These new firms and expansions have meant thousands of new jobs, especially at a time when coal mines—for years the heart of the province's economy —were closing one after another, the manufacturing jobs other means of employment instead of critical unemployment and recession.

For the province, Nova Scotia has succeeded in plucking some remarkable industrial plums recently.

There is Deuterium Corp. of Canada Ltd. its $30,000,000 plant now going up in Cape Breton will be the world's first to produce commercial heavy water for nuclear reactors.

Nova Scotia won Volvo (Canada) Ltd. for its European car-assembly plant in North America. It sold Reynolds Aluminum Co. of Canada on making aluminum cans in Canada—and locating its $1,500,000 plant, of course, in Nova Scotia.

A $6,000,000 fish plant at Lunenberg is a showcase example.

Employing 325 persons and capable of handling 80,000,000 pounds of fish a year under its 94,000 acres, it is considered one of the most modern plants of its kind in the world.

"Niggas is the key now," says C. J. Morrow, president of National Sea Products Ltd. "Big plants, big trawlers, big staffs, big money.

"It's like shooting craps—after two passes the third one is a real Seaghie."

To try to load the dice for future rolls, Nova Scotia is concentrating on building up a solid level of secondary industry.

From 1959 to 1963, more than 30 new industries were enticed into the province. Seventy-five new operations or major expansions were added by existing firms. A score more are on the books.

SMALL POPULATION

"This may not seem too impressive in Ontario," says Robert Manuge, general manager of Industrial Estates Ltd., Crown corporation established to develop secondary industry and a key man in winning new firms.

"But to keep things in perspective, you must remember that Nova Scotia's population is only 760,000—half that of metropolitan Toronto or Montreal."

These new firms and expansions have meant thousands of new jobs, especially at a time when coal mines—for years the heart of the province's economy —were closing one after another, the manufacturing jobs other means of employment instead of critical unemployment and recession.

For the province, Nova Scotia has succeeded in plucking some remarkable industrial plums recently.

There is Deuterium Corp. of Canada Ltd. its $30,000,000 plant now going up in Cape Breton will be the world's first to produce commercial heavy water for nuclear reactors.

Nova Scotia won Volvo (Canada) Ltd. for its European car-assembly plant in North America. It sold Reynolds Aluminum Co. of Canada on making aluminum cans in Canada—and locating its $1,500,000 plant, of course, in Nova Scotia.

PLANS PULP PLANT

Scott Paper Co. of Philadelphia plans to build a $50 million pulp plant near New Glasgow to produce 500 tons of bleached kraft pulp daily for U.S. and European markets.

A face - lifting being given many established firms is, in the words of one businessman, pulling them out of the 19th century.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids . . . and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

"Once all you needed to set up a fish plant was a shed on a dock and a couple of knives.

"But now we catch fish, clean fish, cook fish, package them and sell them in hundreds of markets. By-products are processed and sold.

"This is really a manufacturing business now."

Tomorrow: Manufacturing output up 19 per cent in 1964.

Another Winston Churchill Making Career as Writer

LONDON (AP) — While Sir Winston Churchill lies languishing for life, another Winston Churchill shows signs of the same vigorous mixture of adventurous journalism and political engagement.

The younger Churchill is Sir Winston's grandson, a name of Winston Spencer like his grandfather. His father is Sir Winston's son, Randolph.

Young Winston is 24 and already making a career as a freelance writer and broadcaster. E. Alma eventually to specialize in political journalism and move from Fleet Street into the House of Commons.

That, as the young Winston points out, is the way his grandfather started. In 1895, at the age of 21, Sir Winston already was in Cuba reporting the revolt against the Spaniards.

"A famous name can be terrible if you are young," he said. "The comparisons would be unbearable. But if you are any good, it helps."

WORKED IN NEW YORK

Winston's first practical newspapering came in New York.

He was on vacation in America from Oxford University, he explained for his readers with the Wall Street Journal, partly on the copy desk and partly as a writer.

One of his editors there described him as an enthusiastic worker and talented writer.

Young Winston, a qualified pilot, has flown the Atlantic in light planes.

In the winter of 1963-64 with his friend Arnold Von Bohlen, nephew of the famous industrialist Alfred Krupp, he took the same pathway of adventurous jaunt through the Middle East and the East Africa to the Cape.

Several of the latest, Winston was in print with his first dispatches as a war correspondent. Last year he arrived again for Republican rebels.

He has the Churchill good looks, the Churchill red hair, and the Churchill guts. At 14, he was shot alone down the Furka run, Switzerland's toughest bobsled track, touching 90 miles an hour, where many experts have crashed. He was the youngest ever to attempt it from the top.

He married last year the Mary d'Erlanger, daughter of a wealthy London businessman.

Bottled Beer Upped to 33 Cents Next Month

TORONTO (CP) — Bottled beer in Ontario beverage rooms will likely be raised to 33 cents from 29 cents next month, the president of the Ontario Hotel and Motel Association said Monday.

Eber J. Rice said he hopes that members, meeting here for a three-day conference, will try to follow an association suggestion that the price ceiling be raised to 33 cents—plus a one cent tax.

The Liquor Licence Board of Ontario said two weeks ago that it will remove its ceiling on bottled beer Feb. 15.

The increase was to be discussed at a business session of the conference today.

Hotel owners were criticized by Harold Blakley, president of Carling Breweries Limited, for assuming customers always want water with their meals.

"They might be an opportunity for you to meet his desire for some other product more likely to contribute to your overhead," he said.

Insurance Men Think Pensions May Raise Sales

OTTAWA (CP)—The Life Underwriters Association of Canada said today that many of its 13,000 members believe the Canada Pension Plan will likely improve the climate for sales of life insurance and annuities.

The association made the point in its brief to the Senate-Commons pensions committee.

The brief said the impact of the Canada Pension Plan would be substantially less on the Underwriters Association membership than on other segments of the private pensions industry.

"However, many of our members believe that as a result of the Canada Pension Plan most Canadians would become more conscious of the value of pensions and financial security and therefore the climate for future sales of life insurance and annuities would likely be improved.

"The probability is that the gains would at least equal and likely exceed any possible losses as far as the sale of life insurance and annuities are concerned."

The brief said it had been "wrongly suggested" that members of the association had followed "selfish interest to dictate their views" in the matter of the Canada plan.

'EXTEND SECURITY ACT'

It recommended that the earnings-related portion of the proposed plan be abandoned and replaced with an extension of the Old Age Security Act.

The parliamentary committee was told the association has received approval in principle in the Commons, contains "shocking inequities" by excluding those already in retirement from benefits. The "hard core of those in most severe economic need" would be left out.

The brief that 10 years after the plan goes into operation, coverage would still be limited to about one third of those over 65.

Witchcraft Case Dropped

TORONTO (CP) — A city woman has been charged with practising witchcraft, after a complaint by a nurse's aide that she had paid $200 to solve a personal problem.

Ruby (Butch) Williams, 45, is also charged with theft of about $300 and with obtaining the money by fraud.

The seldom - held charge of practising witchcraft comes under Section 308 of the Criminal Code. The money was placed in envelopes, blessed and then the envelopes were supposedly placed against the woman to get rid of body odors, police said.

Last year Hamilton, Anne Mitchell, 44, was charged with witchcraft and fortune telling. She was fined $250 on the latter charge. The charge of witchcraft was dropped.

Liberals Easily Win 2 Quebec Byelections

QUEBEC (CP)—The Liberal party easily retained two Quebec legislature seats in byelections Monday with one candidate polling better than 93 per cent of the votes cast and the other 84 per cent.

Jean-Guy Trepanier, 33, a Shawinigan grocer, sailed past men, where the Imam Badr's royalist government then was overthrown by a revival against Republican rebels.

Ford Workers Out on Strike For Fourth Day

TORONTO (CP)—Workers at four Ford plants in Ontario entered the fourth strike day today after representatives of the United Auto Workers (CLC) and the Ford Motor Company of Canada failed to reach agreement during a negotiation meeting late last night.

Talks continued following a morning session on production line speeds, but no further economic issue yet to be resolved, a company spokesman said talks were carried on without serious incident in the evening and union officials said a need to "negotiate through the press."

The contract dispute made idle 10,500 workers at plants in Oakville, Windsor, Welland and Talbotville, Ont., north of North York and forced layoffs at an auto parts plant in London, Ont.

A spokesman for Eaton Automotive Products Limited said 45 workers were laid off at the plant because of the strike.

Eaton, a producer of steering column assemblies and truck axles to Ford, laid off 32 workers when the weekend. Thirteen more were laid off Monday night.

PREDICTS LAYOFFS

In Brantford, Ont., R. M. Harrop, president of Chicago Rawhide Products (Canada) Limited, said an extended strike would force layoffs. The company manufactures precision - moulded rubber parts and oil seals for Ford and Ford Canadian car manufacturers.

Ford offered an economic package deal Friday too late to stop the strike. Bargainers reported on the details of the offer Monday.

Included were increases of 31 cents an hour in the improvements in pensions, unemployment benefits, vacations and supplementary benefits. The offer is similar to a package that settled a 16-day strike by workers at General Motors of Canada last month.

Quebec Uses Imagination In School Replacements

By REMY FANJOU

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec's education department has undertaken an elementary school program designed to erase the prison - like atmosphere of schools and make the pupil eager to attend.

The policy aims at making the student feel more at home by replacing dingy, box-like classrooms with bright, spacious, imaginatively designed rooms.

The architectural program is the basis of an over-all plan of reform which includes changes resulting from rethinking of such questions as co-education and the teacher's place in the classroom.

Mixed classes, a royal commission recommendation which already is in practice in some schools, "would have been unthinkable in Quebec five or six years ago," says a government civil servant.

In addition, platforms upon which the teacher once sat have been removed, helping to paint a new image of the teacher as "one of the boys." In the words of Education Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie.

This is but one aspect in the program termed "a quiet revolution" in elementary school architecture.

The new schools, built by individual school commissions with financial and other assistance from the department, fill present needs while remaining adaptable in future reforms suggested by the royal commission on education.

Costs are kept within $600 a student compared with $1,000 a pupil for schools built in series.

The economies are made possible by eliminating costly interior finishing. Painted prestressed concrete and steel girders have been shown to provide suitable interiors which may easily be remodelled.

Under the plan to build each new elementary school using this program as a guide, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie has announced the launching of "an architectural contest for the construction of elementary schools."

The department hopes there will be a minimum of delay in adopting the program in both replacement of unusable schools and construction of new buildings.

One school in the Lac St. Jean area, 140 miles north of Quebec City, has been nicknamed "the flying saucer" by its students.

The circular school has 12 classrooms which open off a semi-circular assembly hall. Bathrooms, teachers' common-room and headmaster's study all face the hall as well.

No lineups are necessary in this school without corridors and students file freely into classes as they would at university.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie doesn't want every school in Quebec to be round, but he is trying to promote a little imagination in school architecture.

Bulletins From Birdland

By WINIFRED E. WIESON

FROM THE SOUTH

How exciting it is for any bird-watcher to see a new bird in winter! At this season we imagine that nothing very important can happen in Canada's birdland. Nevertheless, there seems to be a goodly number around for birds almost unheard of here not so many years ago are appearing in the winter months expectedly, both those that come to nest in the north and those that leave us in autumn and those that come to stay all year. Even cities — residents, as they are called.

Towhees have been identified in parts of Ontario off and on for a dozen or so years, generally in the summer, but a few times in mid-winter. They have been found well up in the Laurentians. This red-eyed, handsome bird with its long, tail-wagging nave called the rufous - sided towhee because of its robin-red sides. The little white spots on the male's black back, wings, and tail are very noticeable and add to the beauty of the bird.

A definite resident wherever the north country begins, a newcomer to Canada east of Ontario within the last few years. Fifty years ago a few pairs were seen at the western end of Lake Erie. Slowly they spread out, at first individually, but they now seem to have taken hold both east and west of this point. The Province of Quebec has had a pair or two three or four different districts for the last four or five years. Though not showy being dressed in soft shades of grey with white trim, these are graceful birds with long tails.

SHOWY RESIDENTS

But really showy residents are the cardinals, so called because of the male's brilliant red plumage, which includes a fine, conspicuous crest — in fact the only feathers other than red are those of the face and throat, which are jet black. Even they are unusually large bills are red. Fifty years ago some crossed into Canada from the U.S. to the most southerly tip of Ontario. Ten years ago individuals began to venture into Quebec. They do year to enjoy society, for they come into towns, villages, and even cities if they can find a feeding tray with sunflower seeds. They also are fond of suet and squash seeds, so that a good supply of these three delicacies will keep these attractive birds around throughout the year.

The tufted titmouse and the Carolina wren, until recently, southern birds and seen only occasionally even in southern Ontario, are within the last five years or so appearing in other parts of Canada.

We cannot but wonder if all this northern movement means that our climate is really becoming milder.

BAULK 1,000 STUDENTS

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—More than 1,000 pupils were without transportation to three schools Monday after vandals slashed the brake lines on 12 school buses. "This is getting way beyond the bounds of ordinary vandalism," said the school district superintendent, A. Blaine Huntsman.

Three London Strikers Start Jail Terms

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Three London men who have made a bigger issue of trying to get into jail than getting out to keep their freedom were escorted to their cells Monday.

Ian Wilson, Peter Bercuson and Robert Horne, striking employees of the Wolverine Tube plant here, were sentenced by Toronto Jan. 6 of contempt of court. Wilson was given seven days and Horne and Fraser each five days.

Complaining that they were unable to begin their sentences immediately, the men made their appearance here to get admitted to jail. Police here said the necessary commitment papers had to come from Toronto.

The men were convicted in a civil action initiated by Wolverine's parent firm, Calumet and Hecla of Canada Limited, following an incident outside the Wolverine plant Sept. 22. There were no injuries but two cars were set on fire.

Their union, Local 27 of the United Automobile Workers of America (CLC), has been on strike since Aug. 19. Its members are seeking to obtain their first contract with the company.

LAUNCH SATELLITE

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—A satellite employing a Thor-Altair booster combination was launched by the U.S. Air Force Monday from nearby Vandenberg Air Force Base. The air force did not disclose the nature of the satellite. The Altair is the solid-propulsion fourth stage of the Scout rocket.

Nova Scotia Needs Industry Says Premier

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia told the Canadian Club Monday it will be a long time before his province can pull up to the rest of Canada unless it gets some effective industrial incentives, including federal grants to reduce the initial costs of new or expanded industries.

The premier said in a luncheon address Nova Scotia, which does not want to be considered a depressed area, is rich in comparison with Central and Western Canada. Nova Scotians will be other Canadians to think of the province as an area "doing its best to play its full part in Canadian life."

He said "restrictions on foreign investment in Canada would do Nova Scotia grave injury."

The province welcomed Canadian enterprise and development but if Nova Scotia had to depend upon this entirely," "we would see little progress."

Mr. Stanfield also appealed for fair treatment concerning the provincial offshore mineral rights. "Why should Nova Scotia be compelled to establish a legal right to offshore mineral rights when other provinces have been given vast stretches of mineral - rich territory?" he asked.

Two Cite Different Reasons For Scrapping Pension Plan

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — A parliamentary committee heard two arguments Monday why the proposed Canada Pension Plan is its contributory," wage-related form should be scrapped. Each cited different reasons:

The E. B. Eddy Company of Hull, Que., and E. C. Dowsett, a Toronto actuary who said he was appearing as a private individual, told a joint Senate-Commons committee that any new aid to the aged should be handled through an expansion of the present Old Age Security Act—the old age pension.

W. D. Moffatt, president of Eddy, said his paper products company is having great difficulties arranging the integration of the government plans with the company's private pension plan. High administrative costs were expected as well.

Mr. Dowsett, who was grilled by committee members for about three hours, said the Canada Pension Plan would leave too many people unprotected. It was particularly unfair to those it provided no help for today's over-70 population.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, supporting the contributory plan, said low - income and particularly pleased that self-employed persons, including farmers, will be eligible for it.

ENDORSES INTEGRATION

The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association presented a brief urging that the government abandon the integration of the Canada Pension Plan with "satisfactory" private plans.

Mr. Dowsett said any extension of social benefits by government should be on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, such as proposed in the Canada Pension Plan.

He said a formula to offset the extra-rich benefits that would be paid out to some people in the first 10 years after the proposed Canada Pension Plan reaches full effectiveness.

WOULD CHANGE AVERAGE

His formula would average lifetime earnings, not just the final five years. This is the ceiling - out element would be useful for more people with the social aspect of the plan.

The money saved could be used to boost the "rock-bottom" pensions or, better still, go towards raising the universal old age pension of $75 a month now, over 70 and unable to qualify for the wage-related pension benefit.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) called it an "ingenious" piece of actuarial work.

Senator David Croll (L—Ontario) was astonished that "all the governments hadn't thought of the formula already.

Salary Hikes For Prison Services Made

OTTAWA (CP) — Salary increases were announced today for 1,600 custodial and teaching staff of the Canadian penitentiary service.

The increases range from 6.2 to 13.5 per cent at present salaries and amount to $270 to $570 a year in addition to normal annual increments. They are retroactive to April 1, 1964.

George McIlraith, chairman of the treasury board, also announced a new classification system for the custodial staff and announced it being introduced. The new classification will put custodial officers who have starting salaries of $3,900 a year and can range as high as $5,400 a year. Salaries now start at $3,600 and range to $10,020.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—William King, 23, of Nipissing Monday was committed for trial for manslaughter in the Nov. 14 shooting death of Adam Ostrocki. 53, of Commanda. King was released on $10,000 property bail to await trial at the next Ontario Supreme Court sitin gin Parry Sound.

Court Refuses To Hear Appeal Of Sol Estes

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)— Federal authorities put Billie Sol Estes, described by a judge who tried him as "the most gigantic swin ler in history," behind bars Monday night.

Unless further appeals meet with unexpected success, it apparently was the end of a fight lasting nearly three years to keep the toppled farm tycoon and former lay preacher out of prison. He marked his 40th birthday just nine days ago.

The U.S. Supreme Court refused Monday to hear Estes' appeal from a 15-year prison sentence for mail fraud. U.S. District Judge R. E. Thomasson, who presided for the 1963 trial in El Paso, then revoked the bankrupt promoter's $100,000 bond.

Armed with a bench warrant from Thomason, Deputy U.S. Marshal Jack Black arrested Estes at his comfortable Abilene home and escorted him to the county jail here at night. He has 25 days to ask the Supreme Court to reconsider and if he does he will be allowed to remain free longer before the tribunal ruled.

Federal agents first arrested Estes in 1962. He claimed to be worth $50,000,000, his tophessy financial empire of anhydrous ammonia (fertilizer) sales, grain storage and big scale cattle feeding enterprises, and there were echoes in Wall Street and Washington.

Tweedsmuir Devoted to Canadian Army

LONDON (CP) — Tweedsmuir, elder son of the late Governor-General of Canada, says a man may have only one or two great loyalties in his life and that one of his is his deep devotion to the Canadian Army.

He and 53-year-old soldier and businessman expressed his thoughts in an interview Monday night in the Canadian House ceremony at which he was given the Canadian Forces decoration for 22 years of service in the Canadian forces.

Lionel Chevrier, Canada's high commissioner here, said in presenting the medal that "apart from your merit in obtaining it, this will remind you of the close relations which your family and you have had with Canada."

Lord Tweedsmuir, whose father was Governor-General of Canada during 1935-40, commanded the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment in the First World War and Canadian Scottish of 1943. He was wounded and twice mentioned in despatches in that war.

He served as honorary colonel of the regiment during 1953-1960 and still is carried as honorary ant - colonel on the Canadian Army supplementary reserves list.

He had been commissioned in the Governor - General's Foot Guards — Ottawa — and also served as a company commander with the Scottish Highlanders of Vancouver.

Ten Stelco Plants Ratify New Contract

HAMILTON (CP) — All 18 plants in the fabricating chain of the Steel Company of Canada have ratified settlement terms for a new two-year contract.

Signing of the new pacts ended contract negotiations between the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and Stelco until the spring of 1966.

The agreements reached between the company and the 3,400 workers in the manufacturing plants closely follow the pattern set by the new contract signed Jan. 11 at the Hamilton iron and steel mill.

All provide for a wage and welfare package in excess of 31 cents an hour over the contract period; which will expire Aug. 1, 1966.

Three of the plants, with a total of more than 1,300 workers, are located in Hamilton. There are three plants in Montreal and one each in Contrecoeur, Ste Gasnregue, Toronto and Brantford.

Russian Policies Under Attack by Peking Reds

Students Want Easing of U.S. Hold on Canada

KITCHENER (CP)—A group of high school students has suggested a loosening of the American "hold" on Canada through communications media and economics.

The teen - agers, appearing before the Ontario legislature's select committee on youth on Monday, contended that the development of a distinctive Canadian personality is necessary.

They recommended a stepping up of high school history courses as one way to counteract the leaking the American influence as well as stressing Canadians and current events.

About 130 teen-agers from high schools, industry, white-collar jobs and the unemployment lines, presented a list of their problems during an evening forum.

It was the second visit to Kitchener by the committee, which heard arguments from adults Dec. 14.

WANT LOWER LIMIT

A group of problem youths, including some who were unashamed drinking under age, recommended the lowering of the drinking age to 18 from 21. They felt lowering drinking age would make liquor less desirable and more than likely teen-agers would be drinking under supervision in public bars rather than trying to sneak a drink.

The white - collar workers, many of whom had quit school because of lack of funds, suggested a community college where tuition fees would be subsidized by the government.

The group also were unanimous in their recommendation to hire fulltime guidance officers from Grades 7 through high school.

A major recommendation by the Polish school group centred on suggestions to get away from the trend of grouping students according to intellect. The group felt putting more intelligent students in classes by themselves robbed the slower learners of classroom leadership. It also makes the slower students feel inferior, the group said.

PEKING (Reuters)—The Chinese Communists Monday intensified their attacks on Russian policies.

The attacks were mounted as the top Soviet and East European Communist leaders gathered in Poland on the eve of a high-level Warsaw Pact meeting.

The Warsaw meeting has not been mentioned in the press here.

But the Communist party's chief organ, The People's Daily, devoted two whole pages to a bitter attack on "the modern revisionists' unprincipled policy of peaceful coexistence," printing a polemic originally published in November in the Japanese Communist party organ Akahata.

The Japanese party is one of Peking's strongest supporters in the Sino-Soviet ideological feud.

The article called for an "irreconcilable struggle" against the "modern revisionist line of capitulation to U.S. imperialism."

It said former Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev's policies had not been defeated simply by the downfall of the former premier, whom the Chinese blame for the rift with Moscow. Messages from the Soviet Communist party has still not issued an official statement of its intention to attend the forthcoming international Communist party strategy meeting in the Russian capital scheduled for March 1.

But the Chinese have shown their disapproval by describing it last month as a "dividing conference."

Peking newspapers have prominently reported the mass arrests and trials of pro-Soviet members of the Indian Communist party.

The People's Daily printed an account on a whole page devoted to India, of the reports of a Congress last November of the pro-Peking group of the Indian Communist party, and of last month's congress of the pro-Soviet group.

Meanwhile, diplomatic sources here said some Chinese leaders are critical of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's decision to visit Britain in the spring.

The Chinese leaders suggested Kosygin had more urgent business in hand in Communist countries, the sources said.

They also said the Chinese make no secret of their disappointment with Kosygin and Soviet Secretary Leonid Brezhnev as successors to Khrushchev.

Magistrate Asks For Written Arguments

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate Kenneth Langdon asked for written arguments Monday on the rights of photographers to take pictures of unwilling subjects.

The magistrate was hearing the case of two men charged with assault of a newspaper photographer. He said the case involved the right of privacy of citizens in resisting attempts to be photographed.

The request for written arguments from defence and the Crown was made at the end of testimony in a hearing for two Hamilton men, Murray Wilmot Major, 22, and his brother, John Wilmer Major, 32.

They are charged with assaulting Peter Moon, 30, a photographer for the Hamilton Spectator, July 9. The case was adjourned to March. 1.

Mr. Moon told the court he was in the parking lot of the Halton County Building and attempting to photograph the brothers as they left the building during the noon recess in preliminary hearing of a gang charges against 11 men on conspiring to defraud the public.

He said Murray Major held his arms while another unidentified man punched him. Another photographer said it was John Major who struck Mr. Moon.

The Brothers pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Mr. Moon told the court that he had asked Magistrate Langdon, who was presiding over the hearing, whether it would be permissible to take photographs. He said the magistrate told him that no pictures could be taken in the courtroom building but that once the persons to be photographed were outside, the magistrate could not stop him.

Mr. Moon said the magistrate had advised against publishing any photographs. The paper had no intention of using any of the pictures until the case was concluded, he said Mr. Moon.

Magistrate Langdon said Monday he was unsure of a photographer's right to take photographs and the right of publication of them.

He said he felt strongly about the role of the press in the administration of justice. However he afforded every facility to exercise its rights, he said.

Saskatchewan — Tourists spent $20,000,000 in 1962, up from $20,000,000 a year previously, with the number of visitors rising by 100,000 from 700,000 in 1963.

Manitoba — Tourist expenditures of some $115,000,000 is estimated by the Alberta government travel bureau.

British Columbia—The tourist bureau figures tourist spending rose about 15 per cent over 1963 to about $163,000,000, due in part to more American visitors.

Inquest Witnesses Should Be Allowed Counsel Says Brief

KINGSTON (CP) — Witnesses at inquests should be allowed to be represented by counsel, a Queen's University law professor said Monday.

In a personal brief to the Ontario royal commission inquiry into civil rights, Prof. H. R. S. Ryan said witnesses who are involved in a coroner's inquest should be allowed to call and examine witnesses and cross-examine other witnesses and to object to questions.

The submission, headed by J. C. McRuer, former chief justice of the Ontario Supreme Court, was holding a one-day public hearing here.

Prof. Ryan said provision of counsel for witnesses in inquests would give protection to persons charged in later hearings but that once the persons to be photographed were outside, the magistrate could not stop him.

Mr. Moon said the magistrate had advised against publishing any photographs. The paper had no intention of using any of the pictures until the case was concluded, he said Mr. Moon.

Magistrate Langdon said Monday he was unsure of a photographer's right to take photographs and the right of publication of them.

He said he felt strongly about the role of the press in the administration of justice. However he afforded every facility to exercise its rights, he said.

give way on their present stands.

3. A confrontation in which the Americans will try to muster a two-thirds majority to deprive the Russians of their veto.

4. An adjournment, wiping out the 18th session and leaving a host of unsolved problems over until the 20th session next autumn.

Some Western diplomats now think that the confrontation possibility is the most likely, and that it could come by next week.

PRESENTS FORMULA

Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey presented one formula for a possible settlement as the session resumed Monday.

He outlined a three-point plan which he said seemed to reflect a consensus of the membership, it provided for:

1. Financial contributions from all members and from the highly developed countries making "substantial" payments.

2. Resumption of normal procedures in the assembly as soon as possible.

3. Efforts from all sides to avoid a confrontation.

But the Americans were reported to feel that this formula was satisfactory - provided the debt problem was taken care of before normal procedures resumed.

Quaison-Sackey also said it was his intention to go ahead with elections of committee chairmen next week. That could participate a showdown, and Quaison-Sackey left it unclear whether he would call for these votes with or without a prior settlement.

Erhard to Talk With de Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—West German Chancellor Erhard arrived in Paris today for talks with President de Gaulle on European unity, German reunification and Atlantic defence.

Erhard was greeted at the airport by Prime Minister Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The talks are being held at de Gaulle's country home 30 miles south of Paris. Erhard, chancellor and the president meet there, foreign ministers Couve de Murville and Gerhard de Murville are meeting in Paris.

Erhard would like to obtain de Gaulle's backing for a new allied approach to the Russians on German reunification. Such an initiative would help the chancellor in his election campaign for German parliament in September.

De Gaulle may insist that West Germany accept nuclear arms for all between Paris and Washington, with the hopes of European unity hanging in the balance.

This, in turn, could lead to a diplomatic rupture because Erhard and W. Germany are strongly committed to co-operation with US nuclear defence, foreign and trade policies.

French Tanker In Collision With Freighter

LE HAVRE (AP)—The American freighter Lucile Bloomfield put into Le Havre port today following a collision with a French oil tanker in the foggy English Channel off Le Havre in which the tanker caught fire.

An officer and the wife of a crew member aboard the tanker, a 2,062-ton Fort Manoch-ed, died in the inferno.

The Fort Manoch went aground and burned briefly. The 2,600 tons of high test gasoline burned furiously.

The Lucile Bloomfield also caught fire after the collision but the flames were put out, and no injuries were reported among the crew.

The 30 survivors among the tanker's crew were taken aboard the American ship. Six were reported in serious condition in hospital. All the crew were accounted for today Early Monday a fire had been reported missing.

tee whose findings were neither fair nor impartial."

Mr. McIlraith angrily replied: "I don't mind you carting your reflections on me, but when you cast reflection on such an eminent gentleman it is entirely unwarranted. . . . To use a public hearing of that sort to make slanderous statements is a very unbecoming thing."

meet legitimate Quebec demands for change.

Mr. Baldwin said it is possible to preserve a strong central government while reaching an accommodation with Quebec on educational, cultural and financial issues.

"If any government needed an alternative, this one does," he said, adding that the Conservative party must redirect its policies to provide a much-needed alternative to the Liberal administration.

Mr. Baldwin said if no leadership convention is held he would continue to sit as a Conservative but would not feel bound to follow the party line House of Commons votes.

Mr. Fairweather, interviewed at his home in Rothesay, N.B., said: "I support Mr. Baldwin's views wholeheartedly."

He said Mr. Baldwin "speaks for a good many of us."

Mr. Aiken, reached at his home in the Muskoka area of Ontario, said the disaffection with Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership is "far, far from being confined only to Quebec."

CLAIMS BROAD SUPPORT

Mr. Lapointe, Quebec, Paul Martineau (Pontiac - Temiscamingue), said there is broad support among English-speaking members for a convention.

He said Nova Scotia Premier Robert Stanfield and Mavis Pulton, former justice minister in Mr. Diefenbaker's cabinet and now British Columbia Conservative leader, would be interested in the leadership.

Mr. Fulton said in Vancouver "this isn't a decision for me to make" on whom he would support if he would contest the leadership at a convention.

"It is not unlikely for individuals to start giving their particular ideas."

He outlined a three-part program to stop "disintegration" of the party across Canada.

Another Ontario Conservative, Fred Stenson (Peterborough) said he favors a convention "because there is no more satisfaction with Mr. Diefenbaker."

But four Ontario members, William H. A. Thomas (Middlesex West), John Loney (Bruce), Michael Starr (Oshawa) and Philip B. Rynard (Simcoe East) saw no reason for a convention.

Mr. Starr said "the party would win again," said Mr. Loney opposed the leadership supporter. Mr. Loney opposed the holding of a convention and said he supports Mr. Diefenbaker.

Dr. Rynard said a convention would be a foolish move because there is no one else to support.

Former labor minister Starr said he has always respected the leader in office and added: "We can settle these matters ourselves. We've always talked about in public."

Dr. Horner said Conservatives, Dr. Hugh Horner (Jasper-Edson) and Harry Moore (Wetaskiwin), "will be loyal."

"I don't see any reason to change my support for him," Dr. Horner said.

"To reach an accommodation with Quebec would take a number of years," he said. "If we do it on the basis of politics or on the basis of appeasement, then we wouldn't get anywhere in Quebec."

Mr. Moore said he is 100 per cent behind Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership.

"He has proven himself and has my fullest admiration and confidence," Mr. Moore said.

Leslie Deville, president of the Men's Toronto Central Progressive Conservative Association, said he is in favor of a leadership conference.

"You hear these things but you also hear a lot of support," he said in Toronto.

BIRCH SOCIETY GROWS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The John Birch Society in 1964 nearly doubled its 1963 gross income, says its national public relations director. John Rousselot said Monday the $2,200,000 collected came almost entirely from membership dues and contributions. Rousselot added that the society does not reveal its membership total.

Cross-Canada Survey

Tourists May Spend $7 Million Here

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Tourist spending in Canada by foreign visitors is projected to set a record of some $700,000,000 in 1965, a gain of about 10 per cent over the estimated 1964 high of $651,000,000.

But this spending isn't going to be a source of strength to Canada's balance of payments in either year, although the situation would be infinitely worse if it did not exist.

The reason is the love Canadians have for travel in other countries and their economic ability to do so on a scale that exceeds the spending level of foreigners visiting this country.

In 1963, Canada had a favorable tourist trade balance of $13,000,000, the first since 1950. Visitors in Canada spent $607,000,000, while Canadians spent $620,000,000 abroad.

However in 1964 this trend was reversed as an increasing number of Canadians found they could afford vacations in other countries, notably in Europe. Lower air fares were a contributing factor.

During the first nine months of 1964 foreign tourists spent $550,000,000 in Canada, a gain of $48,000,000 from 1963. But Canadians visiting other countries spent $575,000,000, up $93,000,000 from a year previous.

DEFICIT GROWING

The result was that Canada's deficit on its tourist account amounted to $25,000,000 in the nine months compared with a surplus of $25,000,000 for the same period of 1963.

Indications are this trend continued for the October-December period of 1964, with the deficit rising to between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 for the full year.

Tourist officials say the way to cope with the problem is to increase efforts to persuade more Canadians to travel within Canada.

Americans spent $494,000,000 in Canada during the first nine months of 1964, a gain of $35,000,000 compared with 1963. Canadian expenditures on travel in the United States during the same period rose $68,000,000 to $391,000,000, producing a surplus for Canada of $103,000,000.

This surplus was turned into a $25,000,000 deficit as a result of increased travel by Canadians overseas.

During the nine months, overseas visitors spent $56,000,000 in Canada, up $8,000,000 from 1963. But travel spending by Canadians in overseas countries soared to $184,000,000 from $138,000,000, an increase of $25,000,000.

SEEK MORE VISITORS

In a bid to retain more of these tourist dollars in Canada, federal and provincial tourist agencies plan to concentrate on campaigns designed to persuade Canadians to get to know their own country better. Increased efforts also will be made to attract more American tourists and more visitors from Europe.

Canadian National Railways has taken one major step to encourage travel to Canada from British and continental Europe by introducing the "Canadiana" fare. The ticket provides 30 days of unlimited travel on any CNR trains in Canada at a cost of $99 for adults and $50 for children between five and 10.

Despite the anticipated 1964 deficit, Canadian tourist officials are by ilsplessed with the year's income. They say the 1964 estimate of $651,000,000 represents a gain of 10 per cent over 1963 and that the forecast of a similar gain in 1965 is encouraging.

Here is the tourist picture by provinces, as reported in a New Canada survey by the Canadian Press, with figures still incomplete:

Newfoundland — Tourist income probably surpassed the 1963 record of some $22,000,000. The main attractions were the new provincial parks and Terra Nova National Park.

Nova Scotia—The travel bureau says 1964 was "one of the best tourist seasons we ever had." Revenue is estimated to be nine per cent greater than the record of $54,067,000 in 1963.

New Brunswick—Tourist income is estimated at a record $75,000,000 as compared with $63,000,000 in 1963. Preliminary figures indicate the number of tourists entering the province increased to some 1,950,000 from 1,883,000.

Prince Edward Island—The travel bureau says 333,951 tourists visited the island in 1964, a gain of 15 per cent from 1963. They spent $12,687,400. Probably the biggest drawing card was the re-enactment of the 1864 visit to Charlottetown by the Fathers of Confederation.

Quebec—The department of tourism, fish and game hasn't figures to show how many tourists came to the province in 1964 or their total expenditure. But the department's welcome centre in Quebec City drew 50,040 visitors compared with 39,-150 a year previously. Montreal's welcome centre drew 59,413 visitors during the first eight months compared with 52,363 in the full year of 1963.

Ontario—The travel and publicity department estimates total value of the tourist trade substantially above the 1963 figure of $1,000,000,000. This was despite poor vacation weather in August which hurt many tourist operators.

Manitoba — Tourist spending is believed to have reached a record $45,000,000 from some $43,057,000 in 1963. Number of visitors exceeded 1,500,000, compared with the 1963 high of

Severe Cold Wave Moves Into Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A severe cold wave hugged the Atlantic coast today, sending cold air into normally balmy Florida where part of the vegetable crop was ruined.

In an unusual turn about, Brownsville, Texas, established a record for Jan. 18 with a mild 78.

The U.S. Middle West was struck with near-zero weather and officials in Indiana struggled to reopen roads after a heavy snowstorm that virtually paralyzed the state over the weekend.

Wicked weather in central and southern Florida damaged the citrus crop and as much as 80 per cent of the 229,000 acres had been affected by the cold, said the Men's Toronto Central Progressive Conservative Association, said he is in favor of a leadership conference.

"You hear these things but you also hear a lot of support," he said in Toronto. "It's significance as a tempest in a teapot," he said.

Association for Retarded Children Elects New Slate of Officers

CAMPBELLFORD — The Campbellford and District Association for Retarded Children held its regular monthly meeting at Merryvale School on Monday evening. The attendance was not as large as was anticipated.

NEW OFFICERS

The slate of officers, in the absence of chairman Mrs. R Lillie, was presented by Rev. E. A. Toombs as follows:

Honorary president, Mayor Tanner; president, Mrs. F. M. Rutherford; first vice-president, Rev. J. Walsh; second vice-president, Mrs. Charles McDonald; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Smith; corresponding secretary, Miss Eva Weir; treasurer, Mrs. M. Austin.

Chairmen of committees were named as follows:

Transportation, Mr. R. Cook; publicity, Mrs. Helena Smith; property, Rev. J. Walsh; home care, Mrs. R. Cook; institutions, Rev. A. Toombs; celebrations, Mrs. B. Collins; membership, Mrs. R. Lillie; research, public health nurses; programs, Mrs. E. A. Toombs; social convener, Mrs. B. Collins.

Directors on the executive are: Mrs. E. A. Toombs, Mrs. J. Rannie, Mrs. F. Collins, Miss E. Weir, Mrs. R. Cook.

TEACHER'S REPORT

Mrs. William Hoey, teacher at Merryvale school, was unable to be present. In her absence the report for the year was read by President William Lillie. Some of the activities were a bowling banquet at which each child who had participated was given an individual trophy; a hay ride; also a beach picnic. Some wood construction articles had been made and sold.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES

At the present time two volunteers are teaching the children tap dancing, bowling is enjoyed once a week, plans are being made to build a doll house; a valentine tea is planned also St. Patrick's open house.

At both events the children will make and serve three varieties of cookies. Plans are also being made to visit the Shriners arena, the fire hall, the library and other projects to introduce the children to the world outside their own home.

Transportation costs amounted to slightly over $2500 for the year. Appreciation was expressed to the taxi drivers for their careful and courteous service by chairman R. Cook.

PUBLICITY REPORT

The publicity report revealed all important activities had been reported and Mrs. Hoey and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford had spoken at five different organizations during the year.

The property chairman, Rev. J. Walsh reported that new equipment had been added to the school, and spoke of the responsibility which the new legislation requires for the association to provide a building. Most of the other requirements are taken care of by the newly appointed educational authority.

As the Department of Education has specified that a survey of the area be made to discover how many retarded pupils there are it was thought feasible that the nurses in the health unit procure this information.

The "Flowers of Hope" canvass will be made again this year under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lillie and 1900 packets of seeds have been ordered. This proved to be a successful project last year.

TALK ON INSTITUTIONS

Rev. E.A. Loomba speaking of institutions said the main purpose of the committee was to have parents of children in institutions at Smiths Falls, Orillia or other hospital schools participate in the work of the Association and at Merryvale School.

A regional meeting is being held in Peterborough on January 20th, when Mrs. R. Cooke, home care convener and Mrs. B. Collins plan to attend.

The next meeting will be held the third Tuesday in February, and there will be an executive meeting followed by the general meeting.

William Pettey the returning president expressed his appreciation for the fine cooperation he had received and offered any assistance he might give to the incoming president Mrs. F.M. Rutherford.

NEW LEGISLATION

Mrs. Rutherford spoke briefly of the new legislation. She felt that the Association having successfully administered the school for the past five years and which is now done under an appointed educational authority would have definite adjustments to make, and new fields to explore.

Gemini Craft Is Given Last Test of Series

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A Project Gemini spacecraft carrying a pair of mechanical simulated astronauts was successfully launched today and parachuted to a landing in the Atlantic about 2,150 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The flight, which subjected the spacecraft to maximum reentry heat, was a crucial forerunner of an attempt to launch astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young into orbit in a similar capsule in April.

It was planned as the last unmanned flight of the series.

dicates that a complication arose."

"It may have been that he had difficulty with his breathing, or that he was particularly restless.

"It could even be that he has had another stroke, although one would have expected to be told this in the bulletins."

Lord Moran, who is but eight years younger than the 90-year-old Churchill, stood on frosty sidewalk to read his mid-day bulletin, the 10th since Churchill's illness.

Hyde Park Gate is not a gate. It's a narrow dead end street leading off a main thoroughfare about 200 yards from Kensington Gardens, the leafy oasis near the heart of London.

Moran returned to the Churchill home at 11:19 a.m., after a long vigil there lasting into the wee hours this morning.

Moran had been called to Churchill's bedside at 2:10 a.m. and spent five hours there. He reported shortly after 7 a.m. that Churchill had spent "a very restless night" and his condition had deteriorated.

Moran then left for four hours and returned.

HASN'T WORSENED

An hour later he issued the bulletin that said Churchill's grave condition had not deteriorated further.

A spokesman for the British Medical Association had said after the early morning bulletin that he thought "for the next two days things would decide whether he lives."

Moran's mid-day bulletin was the last issued since the 90-year-old statesman suffered a stroke last Friday. None has reported any improvement, and most have told of a gradual slackening of Sir Winston's hold on life.

Commenting on the earlier bulletin, the Medical Association spokesman said:

"I think one must view with a good deal of concern that it was necessary for Lord Moran to stay during the night. I think there must have been extreme anxiety about his condition. This is even worse than we have had all the time."

CROWDS HUSHED

A hushed and tense crowd of more than 300 listened intently as the latest medical report was given by the doctor.

There were shouts of "keep the cameras down" and "stop shoving" as pressmen surged forward to surround Moran.

As he was reading the bulletin, Mrs. Mary Soames, Sir Winston's youngest daughter, appeared at the ground-floor window near the black - painted double doors of No. 28 Hyde Park Gate.

The wording of Moran's morning bulletin—"Sir Winston had a very restless night and his condition has deteriorated"—appeared more serious than any of his eight previous brief communiques since Churchill suffered a cerebral thrombosis following a cold.

It was the first time Moran had been called to the Churchill home after midnight and the unofficial reports fueled fears that the end was imminent.

ISSUES TWO BULLETINS

Moran's Monday bulletins, issued at 9:40 and 9:40 p.m., were:

—"Sir Winston has had a restful night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

—"Sir Winston has had a peaceful day and there is no change in his condition."

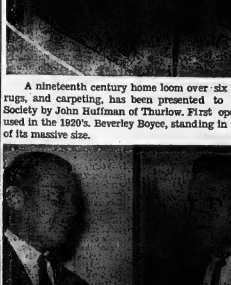
In issuing the evening bulletin to a jostling crowd of more than 1,000 outside the Churchill residence, Moran said the next would be at noon today but the special communique came, out because of the new anxiety.

It was the ninth bulletin since the 90-year-old statesman suffered the stroke. Each has told of a gradual slackening of his hold on life.

With death apparently drawing near for the great wartime leader, political leaders began cancelling normal activities.

Prime Minister Wilson postponed a statement to the House of Commons and a telecast flight on the country's trade situation. He was reported seeking to put off a visit to West Germany Thursday.

Churchill's Conservative party called off a telecast Wednesday. The House of Commons postponed until June Wednesday's celebration of the 700th anniversary of Simon de Montfort's Parliament, from which British democracy grew.



QUEEN RETURNS

The Queen returned to London from her Christmas vacation at Sandringham.

Lord Avon, who as Sir Anthony Eden was Churchill's chief deputy for 15 years and his successor as prime minister in 1955, cut short a vacation in Barbados and arrived in London with his wife. Sir Winston is Lady Avon's uncle.

A nineteenth century home loom over six feet high, used to make blankets, rugs, and carpeting, has been presented to the Hastings County Historical Society by John Huffman of Thurlow. First operated in the 1870's, it was still used in the 1920's. Beverley Boyce, standing in front of the loom, gives some idea of its massive size.

A piece of track representing the rails laid in 1879 on Pinnacle Street and torn up in June, 1964, during Railway Week, was presented by J. K. Fleming, left, on behalf of the CNR, to Bruce Leavens, president of the Hastings County Historical Society, last night.

Says Sister Was in Way

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—A 15-year - old boy has admitted shooting his eight-year-old sister to death because "she was always in the way," Prosecutor Charles H. Sloan said.

The boy, Virgil Graham, and a neighbor, Carl Riley, 16, are being held for investigation.

The prosecutor said he probably will file a petition to have the two youths made wards of the court and have them undergo psychiatric tests at the state hospital in Fulton.

rights drive's initial phase came in the lobby of the Hotel Albert, a picturesque hotel built by Negro slaves 110 years ago. It had been segregated until Monday when King and 11 other Negroes registered.

A man identified as Jimmy George Robinson, 26, of Birmingham, and a member of the National States Rights Party, approached King, who was standing at the desk in the lobby. Robinson had spoken to King at the courthouse and accepted an invitation to speak at Monday night's mass meeting in a Negro church.

Asking King to step aside for a minute, Robinson swung, striking King on the temple and knocking him against the desk. The Negroes with King grabbed Robinson. Wilson Baker, director of public safety, waded into the surging crowd, grasped Robinson by the collar and handed him off the floor to take him outside.

Robinson was failed on charges of assault and disturbing the peace. His bond was set at $400.

Three other white men were arrested Monday night at the church where King told Negroes that the desegregation drive would continue until Selma has equality. They included George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the American Nazi party.

Rockwell, invited by King to speak at the rally, was arrested with the other two men on charges of disturbing the peace after local Negro leaders decided they did not want Rockwell to appear at the meeting.

Child Beating Right Way Of Raising Unhappy Moron

DEAR DORIS — One of my daughter's children was very small when he was born and she has never liked him. I've heard her tell the little fellow that he was stupid and didn't have a brain in his head.

Of late, nearly every time I go into the home this little one has got bangs on his face. He said "Mommy did it." He's getting such a scared look on his face it's pitiful. I don't believe my daughter has ever given him a smile.

Now the others have taken to picking on him, I can't sleep for thinking about it, but my husband says I had better just stay away. — UPSET.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR UPSET — What terrible guilt feelings are behind this? Didn't your daughter want the child? Did something happen before his birth for which she feels responsible?

She is going the right way about producing an unhappy moron. I'm not fooling. This is no time for you to have scruples about butting in. The personality of a helpless child is involved.

PICTON NEWS

By LLOYD THOMPSON

GR. 6-8223

House: GR 6-8513

Past President Kiwanis Club Special Speaker

PICTON (Staff)—At Monday night's weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Picton, guest speakers was Jesse Mason, Mr. Mason, a former and past president of the Picton club spoke on the observance of the golden anniversary of Kiwanis International (1915 to 1965).

Although the date of Kiwanis International's golden anniversary is January 31, 1965 the activities of clubs, districts and by Kiwanis International itself will be operated throughout most of the year.

On the birthday of Kiwanis, stated Mr. Mason, the Detroit No. 1 club, the Michigan Kiwanis District, and Kiwanis International (through the board of trustees) will hold a "kick-off" banquet at COBO Hall in Detroit. The program will dramatize Kiwanis founding, and pay tribute to those men of Detroit responsible for Kiwanis and its growth. National, state and local dignitaries will participate.

Mr. Mason also spoke of the golden anniversary convention to be held in New York City July 4-8, 1965. Plans, he said, are to build the entire program around the golden anniversary. Special features will include a salute to national leaders in the U.S. Canada (and wherever Kiwanis serves) who are Kiwanians; a salute to the new countries represented in Kiwanis' area of operation; and a tribute to Kiwanis leaders through the years. A day of the New York World's Fair will be dedicated to Kiwanis and one afternoon and evening will be spent on the fair grounds.

ACCEPTED

Our acceptance as a service organization has been magnificent, Mason added. If it were not then we would be ineffective. It is only through the support and the appreciation of our fellow citizens that we can be a vital force for the good of the community. We have always felt that if the day arrived when the name Kiwanis would be used as a quarter term for "men's service organization" then we would have achieved complete acceptance. Experience has shown that this is truly so. In magazines like Life, Time and Readers Digest, in motion pictures, in television production, in every major medium for communicating ideas — Kiwanis is in fact — used as the synonym for service organization. For this we are deeply grateful.

We know that is more of a challenge than it is a source of pride. And we shall try always to justify the high regard which has made this acceptance a reality. In his closing remarks Mr. Mason asked that we thank our neighbours, our fellow townsmen, and the officials of our cities and provinces and our national government for their support which they have given us in our efforts through out the years. Truly the service club makes it possible for free nations to maintain a system of strictly formal government without needless involvement by government in the affairs of peoples' lives."

Belleville Man Given Year for Theft of Camera

PICTON (Staff) — James E. Nolan, 37, of Belleville, appeared in Picton Magistrate's court on Monday afternoon and was sentenced by Magistrate T. Y. Wills to one year definite and six months indeterminate at the Ontario Reformatory. Nolan pleaded guilty previously to a charge of theft and he was remanded for sentence until today. Nolan was charged with the theft of a 16 mm movie camera valued at $200, an electric shaver, and a 35 mm camera from the residence of John Syrett of Picton. The 16 mm camera was picked up in Toronto at a pawn shop where Nolan had received a total of $60 for the camera.

Also appearing for a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Wills was Donald Ward charged with possession. In the same case William Hudgins, 30, of Picton was charged with the theft of a 40 h.p. Johnson outboard motor from Rathaven Home on Hill Street, Picton, and sentenced to two years in the Kingston Penitentiary on December 9th. Hudgins Wills was found the accused Don Ward to be committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

Post Office Will Add More Locked Boxes

PICTON (Staff) — A greatly increased volume of business transacted at Picton's Post Office has resulted in a calling of tenders by the Department of Public Works for the supply and installation of additional post office lock boxes. The tenders are being received until January 29. There has been a shortage of boxes in the post office and of the federal building here. It is felt that a good percentage of the added volume of business has been caused by First Battalion Canadian Guards stationed in Picton.

ORDERED TO LEAVE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department announced Monday it has ordered a civilian employee of the Polish embassy to leave the U.S. within two weeks because of activities "incompatible with accepted norms of official conduct." Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey identified the employee as Kazimir Misiag, who is employed in the office of the military attache.

Banned Drivers Get Appeal Chance

Robarts Plans Tighter Check On Race Bigots

Throne Speech Outlines Proposed Legislation

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial government announced today it plans to strengthen Ontario's anti-discrimination laws and set up a board of review for motorists whose drivers' licences have been suspended by the department of transport.

These measures and others including the establishment of a medicare insurance scheme and the extension of workmen's compensation benefits to farm workers were announced in the speech from the throne read at the opening of the Ontario legislature.

The government - written speech, delivered by Lieutenant-Governor Earl Rowe, also said an Ontario advisory committee on Confederation will be set up to advise the Conservative government of Premier John Robarts on Ontario's position within Canada.

The speech gave a sketchy outline of other legislation but made no mention of Ontario's position on the Canada Pension Plan or whether to say Premier Robarts would make a statement on it in the House.

NOT SPELLED OUT

The proposed strengthened guarantees against discrimination were not spelled out, except for a listing of the broad areas where action would be taken — employment, housing and public accommodation.

At present the Ontario human rights code does not apply to apartment houses with six or fewer units or to employers with fewer than five employees. These seemed the most likely areas for change.

The board of appeal for drivers who have lost their licences will apply only to motorists who have accumulated 15 or more points under the province's demerit point system. In these cases the department of transport suspends the licences.

Motorists whose licences have been suspended by the courts or Criminal Code authorities or who have been refused Highway Traffic Act for which suspension is mandatory will have no recourse to the new appeal body.

One of the surprises as the third session of the 27th Legislature began was that the Money Not Intended As Bribe

MONTREAL (CP)—Guy Masson testified to the Dorion inquiry today that he never mentioned $60,000 for the Liberal party fund when the RCMP questioned him twice last September.

The 35-year-old self-styled militant Liberal, testifying under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act, also said he denied knowing Mrs. Lucien Rivard and Hedy Lechasseur, who witnesses say met Masson a number of times.

Masson said he made no mention to the RCMP last fall of the $60,000 because he had not wanted to place Senator Louis Gelinas in an "awkward position."

Masson testified Tuesday that he approached Senator Gelinas as Liberal party treasurer at the suggestion of Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay.

He had told Denis the $60,000 would be available to the Liberals if Mrs. Rivard's husband was not extradited from Canada.

Masson said he denied knowing Mrs. Rivard to the RCMP investigators because his instructions to look into the Rivard case came from Robert Gignac, his business partner.

Masson described himself Tuesday as a "fervent" Liberal as he told of the $60,000 and his connection with the case of Rivard, facing extradition to the United States where he is wanted to face charges in connection with a narcotics smuggling case.

Ross Dronin, Conservative party counsel today produced an RCMP report which said Masson has told the force that he had obtained several lucrative contracts with the help of Denis.

Masson said this report was Russia Breaks Treaty?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may charge Russia with violating the limited nuclear test-ban treaty as a result of an underground explosion last Friday in central Asia.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday night that the blast has produced some fallout in the northern Pacific near Japan. Officials noted that under the treaty, fallout is supposed to be kept within the boundaries of the testing nation.

The evidence to date suggests that either the Soviet explosion technically violated the treaty, it "apparently was accidental. And, they said, "the amounts of radioactivity measured to date will not produce measurable explosures to persons."

Gen. Curtis Lemay, Chief of Staff, said Secretary Dean Rusk has asked Moscow for a full explanation. Officials said they will await a reply from the Soviet Union before determining the application of the treaty.

BANNED BY TREATY

The treaty, signed in Moscow 18 months ago and subscribed to by more than 100 countries, prohibits nuclear explosions in the atmosphere, in space and under water. It also prohibits underground explosions if they cause radioactive debris "to be present outside the territorial limits of the state" that is testing.

Last March, officials said, an underground American test blew radioactive material into the air and the debris was traced over the southwestern part of the United States. However, they said, no radioactivity was detected outside U.S. borders.

Three days after the incident, the Soviet news agency Tass commented that if the fallout went beyond U.S. borders the treaty would be violated.

Old Dream Will Lead You Best

-- LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson, inaugurated to his first full four-year term as president of the United States, declared today the time has come for the U.S. "to achieve progress without strife and change without hatred. . . ."

"Let us reject any among us who seek to reopen old wounds and rekindle old hatreds," the president said in his inaugural address. "They stand in the way of a seeking nation."

Johnson added:

"I will lead as best I can. But look within your own hearts —to the old promises and the old dream. They will lead you best of all."

Johnson called on Americans to "join reason to faith and action to experience, to transform our new spirit of interest into a new unity of purpose."

"For the time has come to achieve progress without strife and change without hatred," the president said, "not without difference of opinion, but without the deep and abiding divisions which scar the union for generations."

Johnson said his Great Society is not to be "the ordered, clanging and sterile battalion of the ants."

"It is the sentiment of beauty—always becoming, trying, probing, failing, resting, and trying again—but always gaining," he said.

If the country succeeds, it will be "not because of what we have, but what we are; not because of what we own, but what we believe. . . ."

"We believe every man must someday be free," he said. "And we believe in ourselves.

"That is the mistake our enemies have always made. In my lifetime—in depression and war—they have awaited our defeat. Each time, from the secret places of the American heart, came forth the faith they could not see or even imagine. It brought us victory. It will again."

"In a land of wealth, families must not live in hopeless poverty," Johnson said. "In a land rich in harvest, children must not go hungry. In a land of healing miracles, neighbors must not suffer and die untended. In a land of learning, young people must be taught to read and write.

"For 30 years I have believed this injustice to our people was the waste of our resources—was the enemy. . . .

"Before this generation of Americans is finished, this injustice will not only retreat—it will be conquered."

PC's Call Halt to Debate

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four senior Conservatives called for a halt Tuesday to the spreading public debate among party back-benchers over the leadership of John Diefenbaker.

National President Dalton K. Camp, who must decide with other principal executive officers whether to call a leadership convention, asked for silence from all Progressive Conservatives.

Gordon Churchill, the party's Commons house leader and a staunch ally of the embattled opposition leader, termed the public controversy among MPs "disgraceful" and former Conservative Foreign Minister Hugh John Flemming urged his colleagues to turn their attention to Liberal.

Marcel Lambert (Edmonton West), former Speaker of the Commons, said the unfortunate party members are "sounding off independently."

Other members, besieged with requests for their opinions on last week's request by the Diefenbaker forces for a leadership convention, continued to talk.

Walter Dinsdale, Brandon-Souris), northern affairs minister for more than two years under Mr. Diefenbaker was prime minister, said the opposition leader would be justified in reading it "because of the criticism surrounding him. But he said such a decision was up to Mr. Diefenbaker.

MUST RESIGN FIRST

Heath MacQuarrie (Queens) favored a leadership convention, but not until there is a vacancy. He said prospective leaders could not declare themselves as candidates until Mr. Diefenbaker resigned.

A Canadian Press survey showed 25 MPs supporting Mr. Diefenbaker's continued leadership and six supporting the leader. Ten who were interviewed were non-committal or would not comment.

Twenty-one were opposed to a leadership convention and said they saw no need for one. Nine joined the 10 Quebecers in the convention call, including Conservative MP Mr. Diefenbaker would be endorsed.

It was known that as many as half the Quebecers continue to support Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership even though they associated themselves with the rebellious caucus statement.

Unexpected Call By Moran Is Seen Sign End Close

Earlier Old Warrior Had Slept Peacefully

LONDON (CP) — Lord Moran, Sir Winston Churchill's personal physician, arrived unexpectedly tonight at the ailing elder statesman's home at about 5 p.m.

Twenty minutes later Sir Winston's daughter, Sarah Churchill, arrived at the house.

With her was Celia Sandys, granddaughter of Sir Winston and daughter of the former Commonwealth secretary Duncan Sandys.

Earlier, Lord Moran said the valiant warrior slept peacefully throughout the night and this morning.

Sir Winston apparently was still unconscious during Lord Moran's morning visit.

The 82-year-old Lord Moran, a lifelong friend of the wartime leader, issued his 12th medical bulletin 22 minutes after entering the Churchill red-bricked home at 11:30 a.m.

He said he had little to report other than that Sir Winston's restlessness had gone and that the sleep was continuing. A British Medical Association official earlier had suggested that it was another way of saying that Sir Winston was unconscious from a cerebral stroke. Another bulletin is to be issued this evening.

Depending on the state of Sir Winston's constitution, the unconsciousness could continue for several days, the medical association official said.

"It is impossible, I think, to hope for a favorable outcome," said Dr. Harley Williams, director of the Chest and Heart Association, after the bulletin was issued.

"In a man of his terrific vitality what we are told in the bulletin is, in a way, what we might expect," Williams added.

The spokesman for the BMA noted:

"The bulletin did not give any indication of any worsening of Sir Winston's condition."

The mid-day bulletin said:

"There is little to record. The restlessness has gone and Sir Winston has slept peacefully through the night and morning. There will be another bulletin this evening."

"Against all the odds, Sir Winston Churchill was still fighting on," says The Sun in a front - page story reflecting the mood of the British press which for the sixth day headlined news of the illness.

Tuesday, Lord Moran, 82, had to announce that Sir Winston's condition had deteriorated. Then, in the day's final bulletin Tuesday night, he said Sir Winston had slept all day with "no apparent change"

Rules Broken, Queen Will Attend Rites

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) — Britain will express its love for Sir Winston Churchill in the solemn pageantry of a state funeral, emblazoned with the brilliant spectacle of Britain's might and attended by the Queen to whom the great warrior was devoted.

It likely will be a spectacle unmatched in its magnificence in Britain since the death of the Duke of Wellington 112 years ago.

A state funeral in Britain is a rarity for a commoner and normally the monarch would not present at the service. But in the case of Sir Winston all rules are to be broken: All tradition to be set aside.

an announcement that brought further anxiety. It appeared Sir Winston had become unconscious.

As the nation prayed and the Archbishop of Canterbury spoke of a "great man approaching death," medical observers studying the terse bulletins signed by Sir Winston's illness now was one of peace and not of pain.

"I don't think sleep is a good thing at this stage—it seems to be following a pattern," a weary man. He is putting up a terrific fight."

Only a handful of shivering journalists, photographers and spectators kept the night-long

We Do Poor Job Selling Cheese Abroad Asserts Hon. Harry Hays

REGINA (CP) — A federal dairy policy designed to maintain high consumption and keep costs down in the weeks Agriculture Minister Harry Hays told the annual meeting of the Dairy Farmers of Canada Tuesday.

He said the program was designed to prevent farmers from leaving the dairy industry.

G. M. Strudwick of Balgonie, Sask., Canadian Dairy Association president, said in an address opening the four-day convention that soaring farm costs must be reduced as a step toward bolstering the industry. The current policy of a consumer subsidy on butter must be retained in combination with measures which could provide equal results.

Mr. Strudwick suggested subsidies on drainage projects, building a supply base, machinery and transportation.

Mr. Hays said in his address that one of the major problems is that prices within the country have been kept in step with the rise in the cost of goods and services used by farmers.

He said, however, that a rise in prices by producers would offer no real solution.

"Over at least half of the manufacturing milk producers are operating units too small to achieve a satisfactory . . . position on milk alone," Mr. Hays said. The difficulty could be corrected only by the enlargement of small units.

The agriculture minister mentioned his concern about the cheese export trade and criticized the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board.

"We did a poor job of selling cheese abroad last year," he said. "We must look at the system, both demand for more, but we don't even advertise our cheese, which is the best quality cheese in the world."

Mr. Hays said he learned in Britain last year that "Canada could get three or four cents a pound more for first-grade Canadian cheddar cheese, which would mean 24 to 26 cents a hundredweight more for the milk producer."

At the conference, Mr. Hays said the country has not begun to exploit a large market in the United States and Britain for Canadian cheddar cheese.

While exports to the U.S. in 1964 were almost 25 per cent higher than in 1963, he said "we could have sold almost twice as much."

He said some of Canada's agriculture policies might be made more similar to policies now operated in France. The French government is providing credit facilities to make ailing farm units economically sound and, in some cases, purchasing the farms.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Conditions in extreme northeastern Ontario are snow today as the northeastern Ontario storm continues its slow retreat eastward with snow flurries forecast for snowbelt areas of southwestern Ontario. A new storm from northwestern Canada is expected to bring snows over Northern Ontario; with generally fair weather in southern regions Thursday.

Fish, Game Club Members Taken 'Around the World' At Annual Dinner Meeting

Over 300 members and guests of the Belleville Fish and Game Club were "around the world in 80 minutes" last night.

Vicariously they travelled on their fingertips on the globe-circling tour, the guests of Mr. J. R. Radford, owner-manager of the station CFJR, Brockville.

Mr. Radford is one of the most brilliant travelogue raconteurs to visit the city in years. He described the various "stops" in colorful minute detail.

A delightful sense of humor laced the narration above the usual monotonous run-of-mine presentation of this nature.

From Gibraltar's Rock he took them to Port Said and Aden, catching the fabulous "green flash" on the Red Sea. He took them to Aden where people sleep with goats and "spices all smell."

They visited Bombay and Calcutta with its teeming millions where "drowsy sleep in quiet here and "makes beggars of them."

They saw the temples and mansions with their gold ceramics, and Calcutta's beautiful gleaming white post office built directly over the famous "Black Hole."

To Malaysia and Burma which boasts the most beautiful pagoda in the world built of solid gold including gold bell, with 5,000 jewels adorning its spire.

They went to Malaya, the home of religious, gong and sewers and rubber plantations. They saw Singapore's famous Raffles Hotel the "world nest of intrigue," and Bangkok with its fabulous temples of gold.

VISIT TOKYO

They visited Tokyo with its eight million population by night and 10 million by day, "a New York with slanted eyes."

Mr. Radford took his guests to a "geisha house" here and dispelled any ideas accidentals may have about these ladies. They are good girls educated and charming."

He pictured the Japanese capital with its fabulous night life and brilliant illumination that makes "New York look like Carnilton".

Mr. Bradford related many personal experiences, serious and humorous.

Fellow passengers on one freighter were a 150 water buffalo, 500 hogs and 200 geese. "Between grunts, honks and bellows life was not too comfortable and the blended ...as cost many of us our meals."

Then on to Yokohama, to Frisco "the third best city in the world," home, home, sweet home. "Travel," Mr. Radford said, "is the key to world peace and understanding. If more people should take time to see what the rest of the world and its people look like and do, it would be better for all concerned."

OUTLINE ACTIVITIES

Club president William Phillips who chaired the dinner said the year had been very successful with 600-650 paid members.

He said the club was segotiating for land in Thurlow and thanked all those with fish. The club is assisting with wild life on a location near the city and with providing grain for feeding wild ducks being hatched and raised by director George Woodhouse.

Chief Forester James Taylor, Lands and Forest, Department, Lindsay, paid tribute to the club calling it "unique as it work on a 'Do it Yourself' basis. It does not look to the department but operates its own projects."

"Of the 42 clubs in the district" he said, "this is the only one that can attract a turnout like this." The chief added, he said, was highly appreciative of the club and its efforts.

Mr. Taylor said the ladies was given by John Lennox, with a gracious and eloquent response by Mrs. Jack McAllister.

Head table guests were president Jack Phillips, treasurer Fred Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, Chief Forester Taylor, guest speaker Mr. Radford, speaker, the Rev. C. W. Colemans' and director Bruce Kerr. Secretary Ken Yorke was present due to the serious illness of Mrs. Yorke at present in Belleville General Hospital.

Many prizes were given with the main award of the night, a home and religious, going to Doug Goodfellow of Foxboro.

Assistants Wally Dinney film rounded out the dinner meeting.

Results of the Fish and Game Contest appear elsewhere.

Fish, Game Contest Winners

A 23-pound, nine-ounce lake trout was named "Best Fish Any Category" in the Belleville Fish and Game Contest.

Caught by Blake Kerr, 303 Dufferin Ave., the big fisher won two awards, the Judge Anderson Trophy and best in class prize.

Running a close second was Bruce Dafoe's 16-pound musky which easily captured the silver prize.

The winners were announced and prizes awarded at the club's annual dinner meeting held at Club Canara last night.

Mrs. C. E. Shaw, 313 Farley Ave., won the speckled trout award with her 4-pound, 6-ounce beauty.

Richard Brown, Carrying Place, took the best brown trout award with a 4-pound, 8-ounce.

Jack Wardhaugh's 13-pound, 3-ounce pickerel was tops in its class.

The rock bass was a 12-pound, 13-ounce fish caught by Gary Anderson, 39 Ridley Ave.

Steve Walters, 180 Pine Street, won the best smallmouth bass prize with his 5-pound, 10-ounce entry.

The best large-mouth bass award went to Ken Hall, 9 Isabel Street, with a three-pound, four-ounce fish.

There were no entries in the Kamloops trout, and big muskie classes.

Alex Beaudrie, Foxboro, won the biggest buck deer award with an entry that weighed 247 pounds, nine ounces.

Les Maracle, Shannonville, took home the biggest moose prize with a big "bull", entry weighing in at an estimated 1,400 pounds.

Police Officer Escapes Injury

A Belleville police constable escaped injury yesterday when the driver of a passing car apparently took a seizure and crashed into two parked automobiles.

Neither of the cars was that of Constable Jack Parker, parked on a service station lot on Coleman and West Moira Street. The officer was making a traffic check in the intersection, using his own automobile.

The runaway car veered off Coleman Street, onto the lot, struck the officer's auto mobile, glanced off and struck a second vehicle.

The driver was admitted to Belleville General Hospital for observation.

New Maple Leaf Flag Now Atop County Bldg.

The Hastings County Administrative building and courthouse has the distinction of being the first public building in the country flying Canada's new Maple Leaf flag.

The new flag, hanging atop the flagpole in a winter sky, was unnoticed yesterday by most of the county councillors arriving for their annual January session.

In addition to county council, the building houses offices and also in session at the county buildings.

While the county already has its new flag flying, still no action has been taken by city council to acquire its new Maple Leaf colors.

Quinte Curling Club Rink In Playoffs for Ont. Title

Making the difficult shots when necessary, using excellent strategy in the tight spots a Quinte Curling Club rink of Bill Henderson, Al McCallum, Don Beamish and Ike White, skip defeated Bill Dickey's rink of Cornwall last night at the Cataraqui Curling Club to win the division playoffs in the British Consols and earn the right to continue toward the Ontario title. The win was a most convincing one, 13-8, when Dickey ran out of rocks in the middle of the 12th and final end.

The White rink from lead to skip curled well, especially in the pinches with the hammer and making some beautiful shots that called for applause from the large gallery that followed the play. It would be difficult to enumerate them all but two should stood out. One by White against Al Cromarty of Kingston in the semi-finals, when he made a double take out and stay to win a three-ender and practically put the game on ice and the steady all-round play of Ron Beam. He was deadly on his takeouts and rarely failed to draw shot. The front end kept the pressure off and the whole series of games was a consistent one.

The local rink won 11-3 against Glen Jerome of Napanee in the morning, defeated Al Comarty of Kingston 12-5 in the afternoon and then disposed of Ken Lockwood who defeated Bayne Moreland of the Cataraqui Club in the semi-finals.

The rink will now play in Trenton on February 8th when they will meet the Ottawa division in a two-out-of-three series for the right to proceed to Cobourg to play in the Ontario finals on February 10-11-12. This series will be a round robin with eight rinks competing.

SPACIOUS RINK

The spacious rink with a posh lounge was the scene of the games and the manager and his efficient staff are to be congratulated on the hospitality extended to the visiting curlers. The rink supports a large gallery and for the two Kingston rinks that were competing but all were loud in their praise of the excellent, steady curling exhibited by the whole rink. They were practically the lone rooter, in the midst of many friends, had a field day. This rink will take a lot of beating in the games ahead. The personnel of the Dickey rink, John Riddl, George Dolesji, Len Engen and Bill Dickey personally thanked the winners for their fine play and wished for them further success in the playoffs.

Two rinks from the women's section of the club took part in the Trenton Women's Curling Association Curling Club. One rink was composed of Mrs. Bev Neil, skip, Mrs. Robert Bloomfield, Mrs. Blair with Mrs. Ena Corke skipping and the other Mrs. Helen Bissonette, Mrs. Miriam Graham with Mrs. Jane Sheppard as skip. This rink won the semi-finals in the second event.

A mixed bonspiel will be held at the local club on Saturday with 16 teams from the city and district entered. On the 2 p.m. o'clock draw W. E. Cooke of Picton will meet Herb Gawne of Quinte, Jim Wallace will play A. Carruthers, Bill Spinelli meets Dr. J. F. McCorquodale and Bob Alexander tackles Ron Benn. In the eleven o'clock draw, Phil Dyble meets Dave Blair, Jack Boyd takes on George Cameron of Cobourg, Pat Sexton of Trenton will play Ernie Wilkinson and S. Charlton of Trenton meets Cliff Alger of Napanee. Good curling boys and girls.

Sales, Ad Club Talks Finance In Panel

Big money problems drew the undivided attention of the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club at Columbus Hall last night.

However, the problems were hypothetical and were posed merely as an exercise in financing to a 12-man panel of local business representatives.

Barristers, bankers, investment consultants and realtors answered questions from club members under the stewardship of Louis Maraskas.

Northern Reeves Resigned To Railway Abandonment

Reeves from North Hastings municipalities are more or less resigned to the fact that close to 35 miles of Canadian National track in their area will be abandoned by the railway.

The trackage in question is that from Bird's Creek 27 miles north to Wallace, and the CN spur line from Detlor to Bessemer Mines in Mayo township.

The railway has asked the permission to abandon the two lines due to lack of business which is causing the lines to operate at a loss.

Bancroft Reeve M. J. McAlpine told county council this morning that while he did not like to seem to be taking a "defeatist" attitude, but said the railway appeared to be determined to close the two lines unless there was some kind of a long term guarantee of profitable operation.

NO PRODUCE TO HAUL

And Reeve Frank Peever of Herschel said that while they hated to see the railway go entirely had to admit there was no longer any produce to be hauled.

Application of the railway to close the two northern lines was made a year ago after the closing of the uranium mines at Bancroft.

The railway claims that there is no longer sufficient pulpwood or other traffic to allow profitable operation of the line.

SHORT SESSION

The morning session of council was comparatively brief with most business relating to grant requests from various local and provincial organizations.

One of these was from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind asking for a grant of $1,500.

An Institute representative told councillors that there were 84 blind people in Hastings and that the county organization last received a grant of $1,000 of more than $1,800. The grant request, up $450. from that received last year, was referred to ways and means.

Economy of Canada Subject Of Talk to Kiwanis Club

The economy of Canada was outlined briefly to members of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville at a Tuesday noon Robert Temple, Liberal Member of Parliament for South Hastings, addressed the club.

Mr. Temple, during his remarks, also touched on highlights of his visit to Paris, France where he attended the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference held there.

The speaker spoke on some of the activities which took place at the conference.

Another point of interest brought out by Mr. Temple was the John Deutch Economic Council Report.

Mr. Deutch stated in his report that by 1970 we would need 1,500,000 new jobs, said Mr. Temple, and I think, if anything, that estimate is very conservative. Experts have always been low in predictions on population expansion. I shouldn't be surprised if the same did not apply in this case — and if the one and a half million new jobs by 1970. We may need many, many more than that estimated by Mr. Deutch."

Mr. Temple then went on to discuss the economy. He said the phrase "national economy" was a phrase for the experts but he preferred to think of it as "national economy— nation-al well-being."

"We associate our economy," the speaker said, "with our future and this, perhaps, gives rise to many questions concerning the rate and quality of progress. What should that philosophy be? None of us are in the position to be rendering a hard and fast verdict on such a question."

In resuming some initiatives recently taken, Mr. Temple pointed out that Canada has avoided wasteful practises during the economic upswing of the good conditions of this, he said, "is the current $500 grant to winter home-building, which, could as it now seems to the personal sense, has contributed immeasurably to off-season employment."

FIGURES QUOTED

To emphasize his point here, Mr. Temple quoted figures from the local National Employment Service Commission, which said as it now appears applied for work by the end of 1964 there were only 31 carpenters applying for work. He said in comparison there were 81 carpenters applying for work at the end of 1963 and

Giants in the World

Sir Winston Churchill's illness has served to focus attention on those events, two decades ago, which lifted him from amongst the company of his peers, the influential public men of his generation, and made his name immortal.

For some it is a time of stirring of old memories; for others a period when interest is created in history books.

There were giants in the world in those days.

Is that just a nostalgic over-estimation of the calibre of the men, good and evil, who played their parts with Churchill in that great drama? Perhaps, but we think not. Hitler himself was a giant, towering in his malignity over all the would-be world conquerors back to the days of Genghis Khan.

And on the Allies' side other men, if not inherently great, yet rose to greatness. There was President Franklin Roosevelt. A less clear-sighted man would not have so carefully prepared his country for the war which he believed inevitable, steering so close to the wind of isolationism that he did everything possible to have his nation ready to participate without risking fatal divisions in domestic politics.

And Stalin. Say what you like about the highly questionable motives and wisdom of the pact with Germany, even when viewed solely from the standpoint of Russia's selfish interests. But, though the man may have been a fool as well as a knave, who else would have found with the steel nerve to let the Germans knock at the very gates of Moscow while jealously hording battle-trained divisions from Siberia against the day when Winter should enter the lists and the counter-attack could be two-pronged?

And in Britain itself Churchill was aided and abetted by a long list of men of varied talents, each of whom found his proper place at the wheel, the spot where he could exert the most leverage. There was Alexander at the Admiralty, Churchill's old stamping ground, matching his former chief's daring and vigor, the untiring Beaverbrook, with his insatiable demands on the country's productive machinery, Attlee who, as a major, knew by heart the routine of being a dependable subordinate officer. Yes, there was even Nye Bevan, with his unconformist refusal to bury every hatchet, whetting the Churchillian temper to the finest point of rage!

And in Canada there was Hon. C. D. Howe, pushing a boy into a man's role and creating out of little but potential an arsenal beyond the reach of the Luftwaffe.

There are many stories told of Churchill, his irascibility and his scorn for danger. But there is one story about Howe which can stand beside these. The ship on which Howe was bound for a conference in Britain was torpedoed. He spent long hours in a lifeboat. Arrived at a British port, he was asked by a reporter "Did you pray, Mr. Howe?" "Pray, hell," snapped Howe, "I was too damned busy rowing"

So were they all, all the giants of those dead years. What prayers they had were silent ones, for many times they were too close to despair to dare voice their private thoughts.

Except Churchill; it is hard to imagine him despairing, even if he had been abducted by the Gestapo. His rage would have been too Homeric.

A Million for Defence

In Mississippi they are seeking to raise a million dollars.

Even today, in the richest country in the world, a million dollars is a lot of money—except, perhaps, in Texas.

What is this million needed for?

For the legal defence of eighteen men accused by the FBI of conspiracy in the deaths of three civil rights workers.

How do Mississippians who are being asked to contribute this sum know that the eighteen men are innocent?

They do not.

And the clear implication is that those who are trying to raise the money could not care less whether the accused are guilty or innocent. All they want to do is to set them free.

Governor Paul Johnson has said that murder charges will be filed against the accused men "if evidence warrants". But he has also said: "It is an odd thing that so much hell is being raised over three people missing in Mississippi when 10,000 are missing in New York." The fact that the bodies of the three men missing in Mississippi were found buried deep in a dam, where they could not possibly have hidden their own bodies, is apparently irrelevant as far as the Mississippi Governor is concerned.

Which gives us a reasonably clear insight into the motives behind the men who are raising that million for the defence of the men who may have assisted those civil rights workers to disappear.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

January 20th, 1935.

The modern week owes a debt of gratitude to Pope Gregory XIII, who decreed that the calendar in use today be adopted. In March, 1582, His Holiness made a few abolishing the former calendar and adopting the Gregorian Calendar. To catch up the errors of the old calendar Pope Gregory declared that October 5, 1582 should become October 15, 1582. The year is divided into 52 weeks. Each week is seven days, making each year have an extra day.

Even this division of time allows a slight error in the total. Instead of a solar year being exactly 365 days, it is 365 days five hours 48 minutes and 46 seconds. To make amends for this extra time, every four years is a leap year and has 366 days, except when the fourth year is the last year of each century.

The owner would not pay. The outcome may be a case in police court.

Jonas Hanbury, the first man to carry an umbrella regularly in the streets of London, was pelted with clods by angry coachmen. They were afraid he would do them out of a livelihood—little realizing that in time smart young men would be calling cabs to protect their umbrellas. In fact one man who actually was forced to open his, straightway took a cab back to the store to have the thing re-rolled.

Strictly Personal
The Peril Of Being Introduced

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Hostesses, it seems to me, should not be too zealous when introducing people to each other at parties. They should just mention the names, and let the introducees sink or swim for themselves.

One of the most hideous social traps — which I witnessed with a morbid fascination at a party the other night — consists in being introduced to somebody who comes from your own home town.

"This is Mr. Smith," the hostess says brightly, "I want you to meet Mr. Jones. I understand you both originally came from Cleveland." Then she flicks away, leaving two strange men with this thin spar to clutch.

"Glad to meet you," murmurs Jones, rather stiffly, "So you used to live in Cleveland, did you?"

"Yes," answers Smith, with false heartiness, "We had a house on Bronson Avenue."

"I knew some people on Bronson," Jones manages to summon up. "The Morgans — Jim and Sally. Did you know them?"

"No," Smith shakes his head. "But are they related to Bert Morgan, who had a real estate office on Central?"

"I don't think so," replies Jones. "But I knew Hank McShane, who was in the real estate business. Did you know him?"

"You mean the McPhaul who was secretary of the University Club, do you?"

"I guess that's another one. Did you ever run across Oliver Martin, who was the handball champion of the club in 1947....or was it '48?"

And so the conversation limps along, painfully, until perhaps they finally strike on a name both dimly recognize, and are forced to spend the next quarter-hour discussing this shadowy figure, whom neither of them has the faintest interest.

The hostess, of course, occasionally glances their way, and is delighted that they are getting along so swimmingly.

"Stickingly" is the proper word for these poor devils, who actually wish they had never set foot into the precincts of Cleveland. Meanwhile, our genial hostess continues to flit about the room, like a bee with its Vitus, enthusiastically linking up other strangers who have something in common — like a diplomat of the American College of Surgeons and a ceiling-wax salesman.

And this is one of the many compelling reasons why, when I am asked by my students, I have always lived in the city. I answer, "All my life." Which is a lie, but in the service of a noble cause.

Prof. Haldane His Own Man

Ottawa Journal

The New York Times wrote in its obituary article on Professor J. B. S. Haldane:

"Facially, Professor Haldane resembled Rudyard Kipling; pigmanatically he was more like Georgs Bernard Shaw; politically, he followed Karl Marx; but in science he was his own man."

Indeed he was. The world's store of knowledge has been measurably enhanced by his work. He developed a simple treatment for lockjaw. He laid the groundwork for high - pressure oxygen therapy and surgery. By pioneering principles of impact he used in heart and brain surgery.

Biologist, biochemist, geneticist of high rank, order, he nonetheless took ceaseless pains to write science in terms the layman could understand. So far was he from being an academic recluse, he left his home in England in 1957 for India over the presence of American troops on British soil.

Here was a man who once moved with G. K. Chesterton and Bertrand Russell, in the forefront of Britain's intellectual life. Yet in the last years he became an India citizen, wore Indian garb and on occasion fasted in the Gandhi manner.

The crowded life, is over. But the impact of J. B. S. Haldane lives on.

To Your Good Health
Better to Reduce Weight A Little Bit at a Time

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read that a fat person could live from the fat of the body alone if necessary. Is this possible? Will you explain how the body uses up fat surplus?

I'm not terribly overweight (about 20 pounds) but I'm in such good health I am afraid to change my eating habits.

My doctor says, "Eat less", but this doesn't seem to reduce my weight. It remains the same.

Would a day a week of just non-fat liquids harm me? My doctor is fat himself, and I guess he figures he can't be too strict on his patients. — R.P.

Anything you eat, beyond what you use up that day, is stored in the body at fat. Fat is concentrated calories, but it lacks nearly all of the useful vitamins. Calories are what keep your body temperature up to 98.6 degrees. Calories are what provide the energy you use in walking, running the bathtub, making your heart beat, writing letters and chewing your food.

Haven't you seen pictures of the tragic figures in concentration camps who "lived off their own fat" for many months? They had skin diseases, their hair lost luster of fell out, they suffered all sorts of troubles not just because they lacked calories but because they lacked other necessities — such as vitamins.

If we don't eat enough food, blood absorbs the stored fat and carries it to the liver to convert into blood sugar.

The body also tends, in starvation conditions, to cling to necessary minerals and other chemicals which, otherwise, would be discharged easily in the expectation that new traces of such chemicals would continue to appear in the daily diet.

Now doctors, like anybody else, can get into the habit, probably stemming from early life, of eating more than they need. And you, it's reasonable to expect that #2 overweight doctor may be sensitive about telling his patients to slim down. But it doesn't alter the fact that slimming will be good for both of them.

I'm glad you have such good health. You're evidently eaten foods to give you what you need. But you've also eaten more than you needed, or you wouldn't be 20 pounds overweight.

You've gone half way in your efforts to reduce. You have reached the point at which your weight remains constant. Good!

Now go the rest of the way. You'd be best off to reduce your food just a little — a little less of everything, or perhaps a little less sugar, starch and fat, but everything else the same — so you gradually lose (use up some of your stored 20 pounds).

If you want to drink just liquids one day a week, I don't think it will harm you in the least, except that you may be very hungry at that time.

If you eliminated all sweet stuff (which wouldn't harm your vitamin supply or health foods) you would achieve the same result. Losing a little bit instead of staying 20 pounds overweight.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about potassium iodide for asthma? How is it taken? — Mrs. B. M.

It is made up as a solution, and then the required amount, measured in drops, is taken in milk or juice. The dose should be calculated for the patient, so have your doctor decide on it.

Forger Just Copied Script

Watertown Times

The story out of Los Angeles about the television writer and ex-convict who was picked up as a suspect in a vast stock forgery scheme read like something that had been prepared in nearby Hollywood for a movie script. But actually, this man apparently was just putting his intective mind to the material he had written for TV shows.

Edgar Scott Flohr, 46, landed in San Quentin prison in the late 1940's after police arrested him in connection with an estimated 200 store burglaries. In prison he wrote a book, "Walk A Crooked Mile," for which he reportedly received $35,000 in royalties.

After release on parole from San Quentin in 1952, he continued his writing career. He hob-nobbed with stars and producers in the movie colony and then began the forgeries for which he received television shows as "Matinee" and "M-Squad," and "Aquanauts."

But the fascination of his old safecracking days, plus the exciting material he was writing for TV shows, proved too much of a temptation.

For when police swooped down on Flohr, they found in his apartment $1,500,000 in bogus stock certificates, bearing names of some of the country's top corporations, among them the Columbia Broadcasting system. Also found in the apartment was an assortment of safecracker's equipment.

Supposedly Flohr had formed legitimate following his release from prison in 1952 and was becoming successful writer. But Los Angeles police were reluctant to take too much credit for the "solving" of police work" in apprehending Flohr.

First they said, he was still remembered by the police department as a "good guy" despite his lapsed swiftest and most efficient safe man. Second his TV scripts and his San Quentin book amounted to "ring a bell" with authorities. And third, it was discovered he was still associating with a William German, currently on parole but who had been in San Quentin on forgery charges at the same time Flohr was an inmate there.

The police all did their jobs. They simply followed the script.

The latest sad story of a dream crushed by the sea concerns a young couple, adventurers who headed for South Seas paradise and ended in the hell of a Mexican prison.

It revives a question that has moved philosophers for, ages: What is the fascination with the sea that drives men to so willingly risk their lives?

In the Vancouver area alone there are probably dozens of otherwise normal people in some slip, boat or yacht, a vessel to carry them and their dreams to faraway coral reefs and blue lagoons.

How many will make it? One or two; perhaps. And the boat-builders know this, ignore the facts and keep on with hulls and robs and planking. Some refuse even to follow accepted designs, apparently feeling that professional patterns can hold their personal vision.

A few of these beloved creations will be wrecked before they are launched. Others will meet disaster on their trial runs. Still more will come to grief on the rocks of the many Pacific winds far from where the balmy breezes blow.

Coastguards and search and rescue people hate them, realists scorn them. Yet thoughts of palm fringed beaches, the Southern Cross and pirate treasure keep them coming.

Few can be stopped in their mind's eye, built a boat and sailed somewhere. The hopes of a great many vicarious adventurers go with every craft, however frail, that sets sail for some distant part of the world.

Pity the amateur crews whose hopes are dashed by the sea, but don't scorn them. They follow a star that few that was clearer to them than to the rest of us.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials advanced for the fifth consecutive day in moderate morning stock exchange dealings today. Highs pitted the industrial list.

Algoma Steel added ¼ to 72¾ and touched a top of 73¼ while CPR jumped 1¼ to 64¼ after hitting a high of 65. Husky Oil was up ¼ to its high of 13¾ and Power Corp. ¼ to a record 18¾.

United Steel dropped a further 20 cents to $1.30. The firm went into receivership Monday.

Speculatives were quiet, Sudbury Contact fell a penny to 26 cents.

In golds, Giant Yellowknife lost ¼ to 15¾.

On index, industrials rose .42 to a high of 171.46, the Toronto Stock Exchange index 36 to a high of 160.85, golds .05 to 186.15 and western oils .35 to 98.62. Base metals fell .15 to 77.06.

On Tuesday the industrial index advanced for the fourth time in a row on the stock exchange.

Ford of Canada led industrials higher with a gain of 8 to 198. CPR continued to perform strongly as it gained 1¼ to a high of 65¼. Algoma Steel was up ⅞ to 72¾. Algoma Central ¾ to 19¾, Dominion Textile ⅝ to 37¼ and Toronto - Dominion Bank ¼ to 69¼.

United Steel slipped 75 cents to $1.30 and sold as low as 75 cents. The company, after five years of net losses, went into receivership Monday.

After reporting decreased profits for 1964, Denison was off ½ to 34. Its affiliate Roman Corp. dipped 30 cents to $8.65.

Among speculatives McWatters eased four to 67 cents.

On index, industrials were up .47 to 171.04 and the exchange index .42 to 160.22. Volume for the day was 2,422,000 shares compared with 2,861,000 traded Monday.

SEA HARVEST

Quebec stands fifth among the provinces for the amount of fish landed and value of the catch, after British Columbia, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and New Brunswick.

MARCH OF DIMES MONTH — January is March of Dimes Month. Preparing material for the 500 marching mothers needed for the one-night blitz, to be held February 1st, are general chairman Fred Deacon, seated; Mrs. Philip Bennett, chief marching mother, left; Mrs. Peter Jones, centre; and Mrs. Lionel Boily, ward chairman. This year's objective has been set at $6,000.

March of Dimes Month Now In Full Swing

Ten cents may not seem like very much money to you, but ten cents means a great deal to an organization in Belleville these past few days — March of Dimes.

January is March of Dimes month and in the very near future, cards will be placed in business establishments along Front Street and vicinity to collect enough dimes to enable the Belleville area March of Dimes reach their objective this year of $6,000.

That's the target set this year by the March of Dimes in the city — and every dime puts the organization 10 cents closer to the objective figure.

The Provincial goal for 1965 is $780,000 and funds are badly needed to carry on the vital work of rehabilitation for the adult disabled throughout this district.

Belleville is a part of the Southeastern Ontario branch and there are over 300 cases of disabled persons already known to the Ontario March of Dimes in the Belleville area.

There are some people who cannot be rehabilitated for various reasons but the March of Dimes is anxious to be sure that no one is missed who can be helped.

Over 500 marching mothers are needed to canvass the city in a one-night-blitz.

Heading up the organization once again is Mrs. Philip Bennett, who, as chief marching mother, hopes to recruit the services of the 500 volunteers needed. She will be assisted by ward chairmen, Mrs. Lionel Boily and Mrs. Peter Jones.

Each volunteer is asked to call on about 10 of her neighbors the night of February 1st. Anyone wishing to volunteer her services for this cause may contact Mrs. Bennett at 968-7551.

Two new appointments have been made in the organization since last year. Fred Deacon has been named General Chairman and William O'Brien of the Bank of Montreal as Finance Chairman.

A MEMBER OF THE UNITED APPEAL

When your income tax form arrives in the mail, try to smile.

It's a numbered tax form that means faster handling, more economical processing. It's Personalized. So smile.

This year about 6,500,000 income tax returns will be processed in Ottawa.

Each year the returns of thousands of new taxpayers add to the time and cost of processing.

But now we've got a new system of processing tax returns faster and more economically.

This is how it works.

You will receive a Personalized income tax form, sent direct to you instead of through your employer. (Makes it more convenient for you, faster for us.) This new tax form will have your own identification code number on it. Numbers mean quicker and more positive identification than names. Think of the 41,000 Smiths in Canada.

There's a way you can make this new system even better.

Get your income tax form completed and in the mail early. You'll give us something to smile about.

Radio Station Opposes Sale At Kitchener

OTTAWA (CP) — The Board of Broadcast Governors got no tion Tuesday that another bid to drop affiliation with the CBC will be made if approval is given for the sale of radio station CKCR in Kitchener.

D. G. Hildebrand, president of Great Lakes Broadcasting Limited, applied to the BBG for permission to purchase CKCR from Kitchener-Waterloo Broadcasting Company Limited for $375,000. J. Irving Zacher of Hamilton is president of Kitchener - Waterloo.

Barrie Broadcasting Company Limited, operator of station CKBB in Barrie, Ont., originally planned to oppose the bid but it was announced Tuesday that opposition was withdrawn. No reason was given.

Great Lakes operates stations in Chatham and Orillia, but Mr. Hildebrand said each station "stands on its own two feet." They remain independent although there is some sharing of taped programs and costs can be cut by volume buying of equipment.

Unexpected

vigil at the entrance to Hyde Park Gate, the narrow, dead-end street from which the grieving International press corps and the public retreated Tuesday at the request of Lady Churchill.

The vigil was about 100 yards from the house. The only movement on the quiet, gas-lit street came shortly before 2 a.m. when Winston Spencer Churchill, Sir Winston's 34-year-old grandson whose wife is in hospital expecting a baby, left the house and drove away in his sports car.

The 79-year-old Lady Clementine, always "My Clemmie" to Sir Winston, issued her dispersal appeal Tuesday after returning from a short trip, only her second trip outside the house since her famous statesman husband fell ill.

She expressed her "true thanks" to the press for "kindness and restraint" but explained that the cameras, floodlights and inevitable disturbance had become "a severe strain."

Without hesitation, the press packed up and left, followed by the public, and within a half-hour the street again was deserted.

SWOOSH

Dear Susanna: The vacuum cleaner hose is ideal for cleaning out winter boots. It will also dry them in a remarkably short time if you reverse the vacuum so that it blows out, then insert the hose right inside the boot.

Melany.

This is excellent advice. It is the blowing action that does the trick as the air from a vacuum is only faintly warm and leather boots especially, should never be dried by direct heat or on a radiator.

If your snow boots do get soaked, and you are leaving them overnight to dry, be sure to stuff them well with tissue paper so that they will not lose their shape. Then leave them some place to dry at room temperature - give them a good polishing before you wear them again. And follow the rule. When caring for leather, play it cool!

SUSANNA

AVOCADO PEAR CARE

Dear Susanna: Just a year ago I wrote to you requesting information on how to grow an avocado, pear from the pit. I followed your detailed instructions - thank you so much again - and now have an avocado palm tree about 28" high.

It has 25 leaves but some of them are becoming brown tipped - do you suppose I'm giving it too much water? Also, will it be safe to put it outside this summer?

Mrs. Ida Gillespie.

On the contrary, our garden centre specialist thinks it might be getting dried out. Since they grow quickly, they need plenty of moisture, and this time of year houses become particularly dry. He also suggests that it may need transferring to a larger pot.

Yes, these pretty palms are lovely placed on the verandah or patio during the summer months. Let's pretend it's July. We'll add a few wicker chairs, a basket of fruit, some frosted drinks, and there you have it. A south sea island paradise right in our own back yard.

SUSANNA

Aloha.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Newton, Trenton, announces the engagement of their only daughter, Pauline Elizabeth to Mr. Phillip John Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Foster, Belleville. The marriage will take place in Grace United Church on Saturday, February 5th, at 2.00 p.m.

Mrs. Nancy Sills, 136 Avondale Rd., is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Word was received yesterday of the death of Mrs. Herbert Bugler, Calgary, Alberta, sister of Mrs. D. Brimhall of Johnson Street and Mrs. A. Price of Toronto Street.

A REMINDER

Wedding forms for write-ups are available at The Ontario Intelligencer and should be completed and returned BEFORE the ceremony, so a report can be published immediately after the wedding.

Pictures may be submitted by your photographer up to three days after the wedding. We cannot promise publication of weddings sent in later.

Women's Institutes

IVANHOE W.I.

Mrs. Norma McMillan was hostess for the January meeting of Ivanhoe W.I., with 19 members, three visitors and four children present.

Mrs. A. Revoy, 1st vice-president, conducted the opening exercises, and Mrs. G. Wood read the minutes. Recipe books, prepared by the nutrition section of the home economics service extension branch of the Department of Agriculture, were handed out.

The treasurer gave a gratifying report from the sales barrel returns, and plans were made concerning the lunch for the agricultural and hog producers' meeting to be held in Ivanhoe Town hall on January 20.

Mrs. E. Wood, convener for Canadian Industries reed a poem, Mrs. N. MacMillan and Mrs. Howard Coobs gave readings, and Mrs. Reg. Hagerman played a solo.

The guest speaker was Mr. Don McFadden, an employee at Northern Electric Co. in Belleville, who told of the different appliances made in that plant. The speaker explained the rules and regulations concerning a tour of the plant.

Mr. McFadden was presented with a small gift. Refreshments were served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

P.C. Women Observe Sir John A's Birthday

By RETA LAWRENCE

The monthly meeting of the Belleville Progressive Conservative Women's Association was held in the Riverside Centre on Tuesday evening, Jan. 19 with a limited attendance due to the stormy weather.

The meeting was chaired by President Mrs. Dorothy Howell with Mrs. Maude Rollins acting as pianist.

Mrs. Howell announced that for the February meeting the men have been invited to hear Mr. Gene Rheaume, member of parliament for the Northwest Territories, who will be the guest speaker.

The president reminded the members of the Association's annual bridge, to be held in St. Thomas' Parish Hall on May 12.

Due to the small attendance, the centennial project, which is to be The Macdonald-Cartier Reference Library, was left in abeyance, to be discussed at a future meeting.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Maude Rollins introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Douglas Burr, whose topic was "Sir John A. Macdonald, Father of Confederation."

"John Alexander Macdonald's family emigrated from Glasgow to Kingston in January 1820, when he was five years old," the speaker said in her address.

"Hugh Macdonald, father of John A., after two unsuccessful ventures in business in Kingston, moved to Adolphustown where he opened his third shop, only to meet with failure. The family then moved to Glenora where relative success awaited them in the operation of a grist mill at Stone Mills on the shore of Adolphus Reach.

BITTER FOE

"Despite financial sacrifice John A. was sent to Kingston to acquire an education, and it is interesting to note that he was a classmate of Oliver Mowat, late Premier of Ontario and a bitter political foe.

"At age fifteen he was articled to George Mackenzie, a Scottish lawyer in Kingston. Mr. Mackenzie was solicitor for the Bank of Upper Canada and after two years young Macdonald was appointed manager of the Midland Bank in Napanee, where he endeared himself to the young people by joining in all the activities.

After a year in Napanee the young lawyer took over the law practice of a relative in Hallowell, Prince Edward County.

At age nineteen he became secretary of the Prince Edward District School Board - - his first municipal office.

When he became twenty-one years of age he passed his Bar examinations and opened an office on Quarry Street in Kingston. This venture was a success from the beginning.

It was his belief that the authority of law and history rested on the rock of the British Empire and he worked with determination to defend British institutions against French and American republicanism. He said, "To you Canadians I appeal, and I ask you what have you to gain by surrendering that which your fathers held most dear? Under the broad folds of the Union Jack we enjoy the most ample liberty to govern ourselves as we please, and, at the same time, we participate in the advantages which flow from association with the mightiest empire the world has ever seen."

John A. Macdonald was an alderman in Kingston, and was elected to the Provincial Assembly as Conservative member for Kingston. Later he was made Receiver-General with a seat on the Executive Council.

COMING COALITION

Around this time he helped found the British - American League which had as its objective the confederation of all the provinces, and he also helped bring about the unification of the Conservatives and Moderate Reformers to develop the Liberal-Conservative Party, which governed our destiny for some forty years.

In 1854 he was made Attorney-General for Upper Canada. He took a leading part in all discussions leading to the formation of the British North America Act, and he became Prime Minister of the new Dominion of Canada.

HOME-TOWN-CATCHER

It is of interest that, though he was an indomitable man he was not to be overpowered by his wife "Agnes, then, on an election tour, rode on a cowcatcher through the Rockies over the new Canadian Pacific Railway.

Sir John A. Macdonald died in office in Ottawa, and, at his request, was buried beside his mother in Kingston.

"It is therefore evident that we, in this district, have a vested interest in the man whom we honor at this time," the speaker concluded.

Mrs. Howell thanked the speaker for her interesting and enlightening remarks.

A draw was made and Mrs. Edna Broad was the lucky winner of a beautiful pair of hand-embroidered pillow cases.

The evening concluded with lunch and a special cake which had been decorated by Mrs. Margaret Orr to commemorate the birthday of Sir John A. Macdonald.

'Instant Couture' Introduced By Royal Dress Designer

LONDON (Reuters) — Royal dress designer Norman Hartnell took a step nearer his dream of "instant couture" at the opening of the London spring and summer fashion collections today when he introduced a new "semi-couture" collection.

The elegant outfits in this range will be loosely sewn and then remade to individual clients' measurements. Prices will range from £47 to £105 ($141 to $315)—a fraction of the cost of his haute-couture outfits.

"Much as I regret the passing of the gracious days when lavish expense of the reigning supremes I feel modern trends necessitate 'pegging' of the cost of such clothes," Hartnell said.

"This plan means that a woman can have a dress specially fitted in a superb fabric within two days of choosing it from our range."

Queen Elizabeth's dressmaker has split his range into three—his petit salon for the affluent young ranging in price from £20 upwards, his new mid-price collection, and the real thing where "the sky's the limit for price."

USES THREE SHADES

His spring ranges in all three were in shades of pink, turquoise and lime green.

The one firm fashion trend in Hartnell's three colections is toward longer, low-belted jackets. He introduced a gaucho Oriental look to his easy-shouldered jackets with small upstanding collars over loose fitting skirts—typified by a navy wool two-piece lined with sparkling white.

Hartnell devotees need never lack for evening appeal as he proved with a "gay deceiver" short dress of black lace. At first sight it seemed he was subscribing to the bare-top look by mounting a see - through bodice on a slender skirt.

But salon tension diminished when the model removed her bolero to show a closely-fitting dress top of palest shell pink lace.

WEDDING

SHOREY — CUMBLEY

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, on Friday, January 14 at 4 p.m. when Pamela Ann Cumbley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cumbley, Belleville, became the bride of Gary Gerald Shorey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shorey, Ballerville.

Rev. C. W. Coleman, minister of the church, officiated at the candlelight service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Barry Titterson as matron of honour.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Barry Titterson, while Mr. Terry Ball of Port Hope was the usher.

Previous to the wedding trip to Ottawa a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Rollins Drive.

Guests were present from Toronto, Port Hope, Kingston, and Gananoque.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorey will reside at Kingston R. R. 4.

Bringing Up Baby

DIETS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GLENER, MOTHER OF 5

Know why babies born years ago were often and more than they are today? It's Mother Nature's way of providing extra oxygen new lungs need in the early weeks. (It takes a bit of time before a beginner's lungs work at top efficiency.) So when your eldersib looks just about his worst, remember that yawn means he's getting the benefits of a deep and satisfying breath of air.

Solid facts with nutritional overtones. Specially prepared cereals play an important role in your baby's diet because they supply important nutrients baby needs. Gerber Baby Cereals, for example, contain added iron and these important vitamins: thiamine (B1), riboflavin (B2) and niacin.

Gerber Cereals are famous for their mild, pleasant flavours and smooth, nice-to-the-tongue texture. Five varieties . . . including wonderful Gerber Rice. They stir to smooth perfection in a matter of seconds; stay creamy-smooth throughout the serving.

Feeding footnote. It's easy enough to fall into the habit that, the more food you urge on your baby the better off he'll be. It's not so. As eagle-eyed nurse put it: "Forcing never made a baby a bigger or better eater . . . it just takes the enjoyment out of eating. Little ones are surprisingly smart when it comes to knowing their food needs and will eat enough if left alone to satisfy their hunger needs."

Eating enjoyment comes naturally with Gerber Strained Foods. Because they have naturally good flavours, sometimes better colours. Once on a full food schedule, your baby can enjoy over 60 wholesome, toothsome varieties. Two delectables: Strained Carrots and Strained Sweet Potatoes . . . mouth-pleasers "commercial-cooked" to help preserve the nutritive values for your baby. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Church Groups

CHRIST CHURCH PARISH GUILD

The annual meeting of Christ Church Parish Guild was held on January 12th with a good attendance of members. Retiring president Mrs. A. Jordan presided over the first portion of the meeting when reports were heard from all conveners. A most successful year was completed by the Guild.

NEW EXECUTIVE

Canon R. B. De B. Wright conducted the installation of the new executive officers who are as follows: honorary president Mrs. R. De B. Wright; past-president, Mrs. A. Jordan; president, Mrs. J. M. Cousins; vice-president, Mrs. E. R. Hickey; secretary, Miss Minnie Diamond; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Lester.

The new president, Mrs. Cousins, proceeded with the meeting and Miss E. Berry presented the devotional which had as its theme "the good fellowship of Christmas should be practised all through the year."

Following the devotional, Mrs. Cousins introduced the conveners for the various projects as follows: Card-a-mail, Mrs. Margaret Boyd; social, Mrs. C. F. Paterson; kitchen supplies, Mrs. L. Westerfall; rectory, Mrs. A. Jordan and Mrs. E. Bishop; property, Mrs. Earl Hickey; remembrance, Mrs. A. Noakes; press, bulletin and vestry council representative, Mrs. F. A. Beeby; pianist, Mrs. Horace Wright. The catering duties of the Guild will be carried out by a joint committee of members.

Plans in the near future for the Guild include a dinner in February, a wedding reception in May and a Centennial Tea in June.

Tea was served by the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. E. Bradshaw and Mrs. W. Ashton.

U.C.W. Meeting

MELROSE UCW

The January meeting of Melrose UCW was held at the church with Mrs. Roy Badgley and Mrs. Earl Badgley as hostesses.

President Mrs. Newton Demille presided for the worship service and the business period. Announcement was made of the World Day of Prayer on [illegible] and the annual meeting of the Belleville, Presbyterial to [illegible] on Feb. 27 and 28. Delegates were appointed to the latter meeting.

Mrs. Jack McLaren, program convener, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Smithrim of Trenton, who chose as her topic "The New Curriculum in Christian Education".

Mrs. Smithrim said in part, "The slogan for us to adopt should be 'We can't live a faith we don't know; we can't teach a faith we don't live'.

"As we repeat the words of the purpose of the UCW we should think of some of the words and query ourselves if we are carrying out their promise. Unite — are we united? All women — Do we reach all women of our church or only a few? Provide a medium — do we provide a place and a way for all to express their devotion to Jesus Christ?

NEW CURRICULUM

By means of a flip chart Mrs. Smithrim explained the new curriculum, saying, "Purpose — that persons at each stage of their lives may know God as He is revealed in Jesus Christ, serving Him in love through worship and work, fellowship and witness of the church in the daily life of the world.

"Why needed? — Because people were Bible illiterates.

"How it was formed — different boards of the church got together and presented plans. They prepared an outline in 1958. It starts with all adults, parents in particular. The adult study book for the current year is God and His purpose."

NOTHING THROWN OUT

Mrs. Smithrim concluded by explaining that this curriculum plan is concerned with how people learn from childhood to adulthood. The new thing is the same message, the good news of God's love revealed through Jesus Christ.

Teaching in the church school and preaching are both essential. The Bible is not being changed, nothing is being thrown out, only explained in the light of present-day knowledge. Bible study is one of the prime functions of Christian education. This involves us in a never ending task of correlating the language and thought of scripture with contemporary speech and thought forms.

An organ interlude by Mrs. Lorne Wees was followed by a lively question and answer period in which Mrs. Smithrim solved many problems relating to the teaching of the new curriculum. Mrs. C. Wees thanked Mrs. Smithrim for her most informative talk.

Successful Living

Challenges of Living Have Kept Couple Pressured

DEAR DORIS — Now that winter is upon us I am beside myself with boredom. The children are rapidly growing up and becoming more independent, which is desirable.

When my husband gets home from selling trips he is tired. He gives his all to his work and gets terribly frustrated at times. It is a most unusual occurrence to find me absent from the hearth at any meal hour. I am here!

I have participated in H. and S. work. Have worked in voluntary groups. I find I am hypercritical of others and impatient of those who are willing to poke along. Friends say I should be in politics.

DORIS CLARK

We seldom go out socially or entertain. Just what the answer is is my case I don't know. Should I continue "just being happy" alone most of the day with the cat? Would a correspondence course during the winter months be helpful? — BORED STIFF.

DEAR BORED — I'd guess neither of you has learned to play. The challenges of living have kept you pressured.

Take up something! You and your husband could do with a new deal. Beat your husband's fatigue by arranging an after-dinner nap for him. Then begin a new activity in the evenings or weekends. Take your pick: bridge lessons and a bridge club; a barber shop quartet; football, as an enthusiastic and informed spectator; Saturday night buffets you both concoct. Or bird watching. A correspondence course might be a start, but just that, because you are both sociable people.

You will relax and sleep far better after an evening of laughter with friends than if you go to bed early with minds still tense and teeming with the serious affairs of the day.

DEAR DORIS — I am concerned about the sick and starving people of the world, and I believe the International Planned Parenthood Federation is one organization that should be supported to help parents plan their families. Twenty-five countries are associated with the I.P.P.F.

I believe God wants children to be wanted by parents. For further information write to The Planned Parenthood Association at 114½ Spadina Road, Toronto 4, Canada. — MEMBER OF P.P.A.

DEAR MEMBER — Thank you. If readers want to write for further information, they may use the above address.

War Against Style Stealing Heating up

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PARIS (AP)—The watch on the lady's pendant did not tick, it clicked. And each click took a picture that was a potential fortune to an international gang of design thieves.

A chic client of the haute couture house disappeared hastily over the Pyrenees one day just ahead of the French police, who had discovered she was a fashion bootlegger.

These are incidents from past chapters in a history of style-stealing here where fashion creativity is a major resource and its theft a major crime.

The patrolling goes on today. So does the battle against it by the Chambre Syndicate, the 104-year-old fashion trade organization.

Through the city this week, 1,000 new fashion ideas closeted in elegant couture houses, are being photographed back and front and from the sides, to be copyrighted under French fashion design laws.

NO CAMERAS ALLOWED

At the spring collection openings beginning next Monday they will be seen, described, but not photographed by the fashion press.

The credentials of the more than 1,000 reporters here for the event have been screened, and they or their bosses have signed pledges not to misuse their garnered information.

The buyers will use passports as identification and pay a $500 to $1,000 deposit to each fashion house they visit to ensure their good intentions.

Many North American buyers will purchase styles from which they are authorized to make line-for-line reproductions or adaptations. But they must wait four to five weeks for delivery.

Meanwhile, if design pirates have been around, these legitimate purchasers may find that their competitor already has the same patterns in the works, or worse on the market, having bought them from the sketch sellers.

Former Empress of Iran Aims to Be Movie Queen

ROME (AP) — Princess Soraya, the former empress of Iran shooting to be a star as a movie queen, has learned a basic tool of the trade: Being kissed before the camera.

She didn't want to. When she signed a contract with Italian producer Dino De Laurentiis to make her movie debut she was really stern. There was to be no kissing, nothing suggestive and nothing that would catch the interest of the sensational magazines.

But some of the real pros working with her, including British actor Richard Harris, thought that where the script nearly cried out for a kiss there had to be a kiss. Soraya bowed, but not completely. She agreed to a kiss on her forehead—and no more.

It was just one of the many things the 34-year-old princess has had to learn in the new movie life she has chosen for herself.

She has learned that even a princess has to spend countless boring hours on the set waiting to go on for a single scene. She has learned to take midday meals out of cardboard boxes on location.

She has learned that a movie queen's life means getting up at dawn to meet shooting schedules, endlessly rehearsing or repeating a scene, even one that might be only seconds on the screen.

Soraya has learned, finally, that when the movie magazines spout that old cliche about a star's life being more hard work than glamor they are right.

Glamor has never been lacking in Soraya's life. No role the movies can cast find for her can outdo the real life role she played when she was the wife of the shah of Iran. And since their divorce she has been a stellar member of the rich, good-looking international set.

She calls her venture into the movies "a new life for me."

"It's exciting," she says. "We all live through many things but when we start something again, it seems new and that's important."

As for her acting, ultimately the public will have to judge. She has never acted before and even those close to her acknowledge that she lacks the flexibility and polish of a pro.

Legion News

BRANCH 628
(Ladies' Auxiliary)

TWEED — The regular monthly meeting of Tweed Branch of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion No. 628 was held in the Legion Hall on Thursday evening. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Betty Long and was opened in the usual manner.

Mrs. Long reported that a small profit was realized from the New Year's party and thanked those who assisted. It was decided to hold a card party in January with Mrs. Hilda Austin the bridge convenor, Mrs. Pearl Monde the euchre convener and Mrs. Eva McConachie to look after the lunch.

The installation of the officers for 1963 took place with Mrs. Hope Begley, Zone Commander for Zone F3 officiating, assisted by Mrs. Jack Rashotte of Branch 99 Belleville. The officers for 1963 are: president, Mrs. Betty Long; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Cathy Rosenplot; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Edna Blake; treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Patterson; secretary, Mrs. Yvonne Whalen; and executive committee, Mrs. Hilda Austin, Mrs. Pearl Monde and Mrs. Eva McConachie.

Mrs. Begley spoke briefly about the work of the Auxiliary and stated that the zone rally would be held in Wellington with the date still to be set.

Mrs. Long thanked the Zone Commander for her assistance and presented her with a gift on behalf of the members.

Mrs. Terrance Rashotte won the draw prize.

Bingo and lunch followed the meeting.

Speaking Personally

by Gladys Ward - - - Women's Editor

SHALL WE DANCE?

One day on television I watched something called Teen-age Dance Party, along with a young girl who was visiting me. This program has to be seen to be believed.

It was incredible the way these youngsters wiggled, and jiggled, gyrated and spun. No tribal dance of blackest Africa would have been more energetic, frenzied and frenetic. All they needed was to wear rings in their noses, fetishes around their necks, or animal bones in their hair, and they could have been doing a tribal dance. If they had partners I couldn't figure out how they kept track of them, because they didn't embrace, but faced each other for a minute and then whirled away to perform solo dances.

These dances have fantastic names like the frug, the mashed potato, the Watusi and the monkey.

I couldn't help thinking how amused this young generation would be if they could be transported back to the High School affairs my age group used to have.

This was an annual thing called a "Conversat". It was quite formal, very sedate, and was usually the occasion for the girls to wear their first evening gowns. You were provided with a promenade program and a pencil on a silk cord with a tassel, and the young man asked you to be his partner for a promenade. The thing for a girl to do was to get her card filled out early if she was popular.

You didn't require any skill. All you did was walk around the room in a circle, arm in arm, led by the patrons and patronesses. Dancing was not considered quite respectable, although later in the evening after the strictest parents had collected their protesting children and gone home, the lucky ones (we thought) remained to dance.

The whole things sounds pretty ridiculous now, but life was lived at a slower tempo then, and we didn't have to jump like crazy to enjoy ourselves.

LAKE VAN BLARICOM

Miss E. Louise Rush of Toronto was formerly a school teacher at Centenary, S. S. 7, Sidney, a few miles from Belleville, in 1901-02. Of the 40 or so pupils she had then, she still knows something of the lives of about 25 of them, many of whom still live in the immediate district.

One of her pupils was Earl W. VanBlaricom who married another of her pupils Kathleen Vanderwater.

Miss Rush writes that it seemed a co-incidence when she was visiting her brother near here at Christmas that she read in the Ontario Intelligencer's 30 Years Ago column a news item concerning Mr. VanBlaricom, and she had just received a note from him.

Mr. VanBlaricom, retired some time ago from his law practice in Tisdale, Saskatchewan, and with Mrs. VanBlaricom moved to Kelowna, B.C., where their married daughter and grandchildren live.

Last fall the Geographical Board of Governors, acting on the advice of the Minister of Natural Resources of Saskatchewan, gave to a lake near Lac la Rouge, Sask., (near Prince Albert) the name Lake VanBlaricom, in recognition of what Mr. and Mrs. VanBlaricom had tried to do from the Province of Saskatchewan.

This is a signal honor, and this column extends congratulations to these former residents of the district, and thanks to Miss Rush for passing along this information.

Everyone Has Pet Stunts, Even L.B.J.-Turns Out Lights

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My husband thinks nothing of spending $200 on fishing equipment or $175 on a camera but he will sit a tube of toothpaste down the middle with a razor blade after he has squeezed it to death, to make sure he gets every last one of toothpaste out of it.

This man is a busy executive. When I see him spending time in the morning performing this penny ante trick it burns me up.

Last night he was sewing something. When I asked what he was doing he said, "This shoe lace is good for another few months."

What's the matter with him? He's extremely generous about everything else. Can you explain it? — MRS. SKINFLINT.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR MRS. FLINT — We all have our pet miser stunts. Your husband happens to be tight about toothpaste. The President of the United States goes around the White House turning out lights. I'm overly-thrifty when it comes to lipstick. If it's a shade I especially like I will use the stick down to the last 64th of an inch. Then I'll go after what's left with a hairpin.

How about you? No pet miser stunts?

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Please don't throw this letter away if you think I sound like a screwball. I need your opinion.

I'm 23, have a good build, and I'm not bad looking. The trouble is my hair has been falling out and I'm getting bald. I've spent a fortune on cream, stimulators, pomades and every other treatment you can think of. Nothing seems to help.

Recently a friend told me of a new hormone cream that his brother-in-law is putting on the market. It sounds logical. Listen to this: Not many women get bald because of the hormonal structure of the female. This cream is made up of female hormones. The hormones are actually from female monkeys, not humans, so there is no danger that the user will wind up with womanly ways, if you get what I mean. . .

Tell me, Ann, do you think this cream will help? — WILLING WALLY.

DEAR WALLY — Yes, it will help — your friend's brother-in-law. If enough suckers buy it he will get very rich.

My advice: Go to your doctor and find out if you have a scalp disease or if your hair is falling out because of nerves.

If the doctor rules out both possibilities, accept your baldness philosophically unless you want to go in for the new transplanting process which is both time-consuming and costly — but it does work.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My husband and I have been married for six months and I am five and half months pregnant. We are thrilled but I am afraid things don't look very good and we want to know what to do about it.

My husband and I were married secretly because we planned to stay in college and get our degrees. When I discovered I was pregnant I told our folks we had been married secretly. They insisted on a church wedding immediately.

Now I'm beginning to look pregnant and the baby will arrive less than six months after our church wedding. When I tell people we were united secretly they give me that "Oh, yes" look and I don't know what to say.

How can I persuade them I am telling the truth? — PHI BETA DUMMY.

DEAR DUMMY — Why bother. People who want to think the worst will think the worst. Your real friends couldn't care less.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

River Valley W.I. Holds Card Party

RIVER VALLEY — River Valley Women's Institute, sponsored its second euchre party at the school on Friday evening. Despite the extreme cold weather there were 27 people in attendance with five visitors from Bowmanville and Frankford.

The conveners were Mrs. John Berwick and Mrs. Roy Irvin and members of the historical group provided the prizes. There were six tables in play and the awards were as follows: Ladies high, Mrs. Edward Heasman and Mrs. Bert Bedford; men's high, Harry Heasman and Tommy Brean and low, Miss Connie Tucker.

Proceeds for the evening amounted to $9.05.

The conveners and their assistants Mrs. Claude Tucker, Mrs. J.J. Donohoe, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carr served refreshments. Another party will be held this week.

Couple Honored At Presentation

STIRLING — On January 13 the west end community neighbors tendered the newly married couple Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Armstrong a presentation party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, Frankford Road.

Mrs. Roy Rose made the presentation of a floor polisher and steam iron for which the recipients voiced appreciative thanks. Euchre games were enjoyed after which the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Those responsible for the party besides Mrs. Rose were Mrs. Murney Scott, Mrs. Elwood Haggerty, Mrs. Harold Shannik, Mrs. Roy Tucker and Mrs. Edwin Warren.

White's Sunday School Holds Executive Meet

WHITE'S DISTRICT — A Sunday School executive meeting was held at White's Church on Thursday evening with Mr. Roy McGrath as chairman.

There was a discussion in regards to the officers to be installed at the congregational meeting and was decided not to elect trustees, or ministerial superintendents, as lessons are to be taught in classes in New Curriculum. It was decided that an audio visual education library be obtained for White's Church.

As president of the Couples' Club Mr. Merle Taylor offered to procure this library.

It was decided to try the banks again for Overseas Relief in 1965 so to start earlier in the year. Mrs. L. Hunt, treasurer gave a report showing New Curriculum costs, were $143.788. The proceeds of bake sale was $33.01 and $10.71 for Overseas Relief.

It was decided to send for children's envelopes to be used in the Sunday School.

Sunday School will convene at 11 o'clock and children will assemble with their teachers for a ten-minute devotional period, before going to their classes for the study period.

A report of total attendance offering will be given each Sunday. The meeting closed with prayer by Mr. McGrath.

Peppersteak and Broiled Cucumbers

By MARY MOORE

In some of the popular dining-out spots Peppersteak is a popular order. Most of the high name chefs include mushrooms and Burgundy in their recipe for peppersteak. When you add the price of the steak and tote up the cost it comes high.

I made peppersteak last night without mushrooms and Burgundy for a dinner for four. Because I wanted to add atmosphere to my meal I served it from the chafing dish and it could be made in the chafing dish. But that isn't necessary at all. The whole meal was ready from start to finish in 1¼ hours. I've added the menu.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Creamy Macaroni and Cheese Casserole; Rosebud Beets; Brussels Sprouts; Shredded Cabbage and Radish Salad with Mayonnaise; Pineapple Upside Down Cake; Coffee.

PEPPERSTEAK:

Note: To serve 4 you need 2 lbs. ¾" thick red-brand wellhung sirloin. When steak is trimmed out and fat removed this weighs approximately 1½ lbs.

2 lbs. sirloin steak, 2 tablespoons oil or butter, 1 large green pepper, cut into ¼" strips, 6 green onions, cut into ½" pieces, 1 cup celery, cut into thin diagonal slices, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon black pepper (preferably freshly ground), ¼ cup cold water, 2 teaspoons cornstarch.

Cut the meat into narrow strips ¼" wide by ¾" thick by 2" long. In hot frying pan heat oil or butter and sear meat over high heat for 2 minutes. Have ready and add at once green pepper, onions, celery and sear 1 minute longer, then reduce heat while you add soy sauce, lemon juice, salt, accent, ginger and black pepper. Spread ½ of sauce mix because you do not want to overcook these vegetables. Stir the cornstarch into the water and stir this paste into steak pan until thick and boiling. Taste the celery to see if it is hot and slightly cooked. Vegetables should retain some crispness and steak should be slightly rare. Serve at once.

Rice is the common accompaniment. But I did not serve it with rice. I served crumbed cucumber strips with it. These I baked. Pare cucumbers, cut into quarters lengthwise. Cut quarters in half crosswise. Remove seed section. Dip in beaten egg, then in crumbs. Place in well-buttered baking dish, standing them somewhat on edge and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes — raising to top of oven under broiler for last 2 or 3 minutes to brown top. A snack bit.

I wanted to try the layered butterflake dinner rolls you can buy in the dairy case and so I turned the oven temperature up to 400 and put a pastry brush of melted butter on them (when I browned the cucumbers) and they were done in 8 minutes. Piping hot with the peppersteak and crumbed cucumbers they were perfect.

For dessert I served hot broiled pink grapefruit halves. For 4 halves I mixed 2½ tablespoons sugar with ½ teaspoon ginger and sprinkled tops with this before broiling. Good!

CHATTERTON — W.I.

The January meeting of Chatterton W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Lorne Reid with a good attendance. A short singsong followed the opening by the president.

An invitation was read to attend the 25th anniversary of Pine Grove W.I. on Feb. 17th. Mrs. W. Dixon, home economics convener introduced the program which consisted of readings by Mrs. Mitts, Mrs. Bleecker, and Mrs. Gulliver.

Mrs. Dixon gave a talk on pesticides and insecticides, saying people inhale and eat a certain amount of poison through dusting and spraying of fruit and vegetables, and eating unwashed fruit and vegetables.

"Fruits and vegetables should not be sold within 10 days of the last spraying. It cannot be stressed too much the need for more careful handling of poisons and washing of fruits and vegetables," said Mrs. Dixon.

Mrs. David Little read several articles from the Canadian Consumer pamphlet concerning food additives, synthetic sweeteners, and door to door selling.

Mrs. Little gave a demonstration of hooking mats from rags. Mrs. C. Reid conducted a quiz contest. The hostess and her assistants served lunch.

Indian Women Leaders Launch Austerity Program

BOMBAY (CP) — India's women leaders have launched a vigorous austerity campaign which consisted of readings by Mrs. Mitts, Mrs. Bleecker, and Mrs. Gulliver.

GAVE UP ORNAMENTS

Recently, she turned over the last of her family ornaments to the national defence fund started by her father in 1962 when the Chinese invaded India in the northern Himalayas. One report said the ornaments carried are worth more than $75,000.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, 64-year-old sister of the former prime minister and a former ambassador in Washington and Moscow, has announced plans to live for part of the year in a tiny peasant's hut near Allahabad, the Nehru hometown in Uttar Pradesh state.

The Pandit hut will have a mud floor. There will be no electricity. Cooking will have to be done on a traditional coal stove.

Another Indian woman leader, Mrs. Lalitabai Manse, is reported to be living on one meal a day, donating the savings to the prime minister's national relief fund.

Women members of the Maharashtra state legislature have decided not to eat puddings "until the common man is able to buy two square meals a day."

Mount Pleasant-Rawdon UCW Installs Officers for 1965

RAWDON — The January meeting of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon United Church Women was held in the church hall on Wednesday evening with 30 ladies and several preschool children in attendance.

The newly elected president, Mrs. Harry McAdam opened with prayer. Mrs. Robert Hoard reported ten regular meetings with an average attendance of 26. Two members had perfect attendance and they were Mrs. Garth Joslin and Mrs. Gordon Linn. There were 36 annual members and four life members. During the year two life members passed away, also retired Tambe and edited by Fay Olsen.

The delegates appointed to attend the Presbyterial meeting in King Street United Church, Trenton on January 28 were Mrs. Harry McAdam, Mrs. Burton Sharpe, Mrs. James Hoard, Mrs. Milford Wright, Mrs. Robert H. Hoard with Mrs. David Potts and Mrs. Herbert Smith as alternates.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Harvey Couch and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver. Mrs. Couch conducted the devotional and gave a message for the new year. Mrs. Ross Jeffs read the Bible lesson. The meditation period that followed asked people be mindful of the past, faithful to the present and hopeful for the future and that the God's plan faith is always one of hope as portrayed by several authors. Mrs. Burton Sharpe gave a message on the theme of prayer and Mrs. Garth Joslin rendered a vocal solo.

MISSION STUDY

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver outlined the new study book on Brazil with a population of 75 million in 1964. She gave a description of Brazil's size, country and its climate.

She also displayed a map of South America and a picture of the capital Brasilia. The country is a republic. Portuguese and the main exports are coffee, oranges and sugar. Brazil is a republic. Some wealthy land owners and people in poverty have many problems to be solved. In the high school curriculum French and English are compulsory.

Mrs. Weaver read articles of interest which told of the first Methodist Mission to Brazil in 1810. In 1930 the Methodist Church of Brazil was united and they are self supporting. Rev. Floyd Hosey visited this country in 1960 and began work in the rural centres, while a year later two missionary couples were sent out from the United Church of Canada. There are many social problems facing Latin America but at least some work has been started. The story of a Good Friday service closed the study period.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. Thomas Saries and a social half hour of fellowship followed.

Newest French Fashion Source Is Flea Market

By PEGGY MASSIE

PARIS (Reuters) — Newest French fashion source is the flea market, target of bargain hunters located on the outskirts of Paris. The seven acres exist today much as they did in the 17th century when gypsies sold flea-ridden mattresses on the same spot.

This unlikely source has influenced two current fashion revivals, handmade lingerie, linens dating from the turn of the century and the "art nouveau" dresses and accessories.

These collector's items are being snapped up as fast as dealers can locate and supply them. One-air stands are booming unprecedented business in Victorian - inspired combing jackets, corset covers, petticoats, pantaloons and baby clothes.

Second-hand clothes for men are a standard flea market item, along with antique furniture, china and art objects, broken crockery, scrap iron and plain junk.

The smartly-dressed new clientele of socially prominent Parisians, manequins and couture designers marks a radical departure from the usual customers made concern is to find a cheap and utilitarian garment.

FILED WITH JUNK

Women are buying the romantic lace-trimmed camisoles and corset covers to wear with suits or casually at home with velvet evening slacks. Hand-embroidered linens and trousseau items are piled in corners amidst the traditional disorder of any junk shop.

Petticoats, baby garments, and table cloths are purchased for the value of the embroidery and lace, which dressmakers claim is impossible to duplicate today. Frequently the actual fabric is discolored and worn in places but the trimming can usually be salvaged.

The second craze is for genuine "art nouveau" dresses and accessories. The Countess Maxime de la Falaise recently turned up at a formal Paris party in a beaded sheath that she had purchased at the flea market for less than 20 francs ($10). She wore the dress without alterations.

Shoppers regard the collection of 1930 fashion trademarks including the short bracelet of "Charleston" dresses, ostrich and cock feather boas, and dangling velvet bags as "early as though they were mink coats.

Chain jewelry brooches and chatelaines launched by Chanel in the 1920s and still revered today as the "Coco Look" also are at a premium.

RIGHT TO VOTE

The province of Manitoba granted women the franchise in 1916.

U.C.W Meetings

SPRINGBROOK U.C.W.

On Thursday evening about 65 members and friends of the Springbrook U.C.W. met in the church hall for an enjoyable pot-luck supper.

President Mrs. Murney Mason opened the meeting and the worship period was conducted by Mrs. Merv England assisted by Mrs. Burt Woods and Mrs. Ralph Thompson using the theme "Trinidad Missions."

Mrs. Murney Mason gave the topic "Facts About Trinidad and Tobago." She gave an interesting talk on the general outline and information on their climate, religion, languages problems, explained the flag and its meaning, and showed several pictures. Mrs. Ralph Williams played the national anthem of Trinidad. The secretary Mrs. Murney Bateman read the minutes and correspondence and Mrs. Gerald McFall gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Joe Thompson explained the changes made in the constitution of the U.C.W. Four delegates, Mrs. Percy Smith, Mrs. Murney Bateman, Mrs. Lorne Bailey and Mrs. George Williams were appointed to attend the Presbyterial meeting held in First Street United Church, Trenton, January 27 and 28.

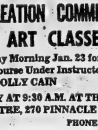
The Worship of Prayer will be held in Springbrook United Church on March the 9th. The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Burt Woods and contests by Mrs. Merv England.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. George Thompson.

VICTORIA U.C.W. CARRYING PLACE

The January meeting of Victoria U.C.W. was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Morris Pulver with a good attendance. The newly-elected president, Mrs. Hubert Townsend opened the worship service and all sang and told of her appreciation for a year of cooperation and good fellowship.

Business matters were dealt with. Mrs. Harmon Montgomery invited members to her home for the next meeting to be held February 4th. The coming Presbyterial was announced for January 27 at2:30 at King St. United Church, Trenton. Appreciation was extended to the men who did the renovating of the church basement. Mr. Gordon Waterhouse was convener of the repair committee.



A letter of appreciation from the Picton branch of the Salvation Army was read. The U.C.W. had sent the Army a bale of White Gifts for their Christmas cheer work. A letter from Mr. Meadley of Wood, Wisconsin, a friend of Victoria congregation, was read. Mr. Meadley sent a donation of $10 to help with the work of the U.C.W. Twelve members paid dues.

Mrs. Frank Townsend took charge of the devotional and opened with the call to worship. Scripture readings were given by Mrs. Vanclief and Mrs. Pulver and a talk on "Anger" by Mrs. Townsend, evil anger and righteous anger which was most thought provoking.

Miss Linda Pulver favored with a piano solo and readings were given by Miss Audra Brickman and Mrs. Melvin Pulver. A Bible contest closed the meeting. Lunch was served by Mrs. Morris Pulver and committee and a pleasant social time enjoyed during which Mrs. Rosa Vanclief showed his appreciation in a tangible way for the turkey dinner prepared by the U.C.W. for his wedding day, Jan. 2.

Pin-Pointing Attention

By MARGARET NESS

TORONTO (CP) — Your own imagination is the only limit nowadays on interesting ways to wear your jewelry.

Take pins for example. It used to be that you wore them only on lapels or high on the bodice of a dress. Now you can wear them just about anywhere on your costume, even as hair adornment.

Pins can be used as attention-getters. This is particularly true of gold pins, this season's big fashion trend. Let a smart, bold pin accentuate the new flounced skirt by placing it, slightly to one side, at the top of the flounce.

Emphasize a decollete neckline with a dramatic pin. A diamond plunge can be even more seductive if it ends with an eye-catching glaser pin. A plunging back neckline or a bare back can gain more attention with an interesting pin at the terminal point or waistline.

Strategically pinned high on the bosom, a pin can add significance to the new high-waisted look. It can mark equally well a saucy or a demure neckline.

For an unexpected touch, you can use a pin as a sort of shoulder accent. It can be placed to define an elbow-length sleeve or accent a wrist-length cuff.

Another interesting effect is to emphasize a pin under the notch of a collar so that it seems to peek out. This is especially smart with the new blazer suit.

SHOW OFF HAIR

As a hat or hair adornment, pins have come into their own. A bandeau wear, try using a pair of matching pins to tie in that wispy scarf you have. You can also separate mated pairs effectively by attaching one to the band and the other one to the same-side or opposite pocket flap. A group of matching pins can create a new look worn in a cluster on a dress, lapel or patch pocket.

Another touch is in contrasting textures. Try a smooth, gleaming gold pin with rough tweeds and one of the new textured pins on a basic dress of plain wool, silk or satin.

A flame glitter pin can even team up with a casual sweater. Opposites are fashionable.

An important point to remember is the sparing use of pins with necklaces. If you're wearing a multi-string or tassled necklace, a series of chains, or ropes, you should omit pins, unless you are a fashion leader. There is one exception, however. Many hip-length, single chains can be brought up and pinned at the hip. Shorter chains can be pinned at the waistline.

The current style is not to peg jewelry to a particular silhouette or to a particular time of day. Obviously the more elaborate necklaces, the chandelier or pendant earrings are intended for formal occasions. But the tiered or flounced-bemline discotheque dresses demand a more restrained necklace and earrings of the sort you might also wear with tunic or knit dress.

Bracelets can combine narrow and wide bands, dull and textured gold. They can be worn to form a solid band at the wrist or a few can clasp the arm above the elbow. They can also dress up casual clothes.

Bangles and charm bracelets can create a tinkling charm for every wear. But again the rule is to avoid too much. If you're wearing a fussy necklace or earrings, forget the bangles.

FINS IN FASHION — Unorthodox use of jewelry is in fashion. Here, for example, two fins, one on lapels or high on the bodice of a dress, now can be worn just about anywhere on the costume — even as a hair adornment. A softly bowed pin in the hair matches the tier shaped necklace worn by this model. (CP Photo)

HELP FOR WOMEN

Needlework, Especially In Canada, Lost Art

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP)—The angel is about 70 years old and about three inches high. Her eyes are blue, her slender outstretched arms and hair are black. Her hair is bound in a golden snood and she wears golden sandals.

She was painted with a needle — stitched into a silk cope which was a gift to Trinity Anglican Church in Toronto about the beginning of the century.

The skill that produced such finely detailed work, often in complex, over-all patterns, is one fewer and fewer people are learning. Because of that and the intrinsic value of such embroidered vestments and altar hangings, existing work is often remounted to restore it, a job that also takes skill and patience.

Most of this type of needlework for Anglican and Roman Catholic churches in Canada is done in England or European countries. The craftsmen are seldom available in Canada and these Canadian work is done by nuns, a few professionals and a few volunteers.

As order often takes two or three years to be completed because of the intricacy of the work and the demand on the shrinking number of experts.

The designs are not standardized. They vary with a church, a country, a season, a clergyman.

"They are all individual orders," says Dorothy Shuter. "There is no such thing as mass production."

YEARS ART MAY VANISH

Miss Shuter designs vestments and needlework. It is not part of her official duties at the Toronto Conservatory of Music she works. She says her interest grew out of her association with the needlework, especially in Canada, is becoming a lost art. She says even international-old English firms are having difficulty finding apprentices.

Miss Shuter sits and cuts a fabric to order, sketches a design, usually in connitation with the person who is ordering it, and then plans it with an embroiderer. "Then she has to help Brooks says her two daughters, aged 10 and 13, now have a working knowledge of English, French, Turkish and Arabic.

Modern styles are simple, and modern technology has brought some change to the type of color and fabric used, but not as much as it has to other fields. Most of the fabrics are still intertwined silk and velvet. Silk may cost $75 a yard or more in Canada, and it takes five to seven yards to make a cope (cape).

The difficulty of replacing old work has added to its antique and sentimental value. Rev. Brian Freeland, assistant curate at St. Thomas, says some of it has become literally priceless. It is insured for what it would cost to replace it with equivalent quality, not to replace it stitch for stitch.

NEVER CLEANED

Stored in dust covers in chests or closets, the fabrics are never cleaned, and some are far older than those at St. Thomas. If they begin to wear or rot, the embroidery can be remounted.

The bits of embroidery, called reworkings, are lifted from the old fabric and put on new material with new silk and gold thread.

"There is always a chance the reworkings will disintegrate when they are lifted," says Mrs. Philip Tippings, chairman of the 51-year-old Anglican Ecclesiastical Needlework Committee of the Toronto diocese.

Most of the group spent 1,200 hours restoring a white altar frontal and super-frontal for a church in Fort William, Ont. The volunteers were able to do the work for $250—the cost of materials.

The committee does new work, on large items, and on altar linens. Mrs. Tippings says its 16 members are kept steadily busy all year, but she says is disturbed at the fading interest in doing needlework.

TRAVEL HELPFUL

CALGARY (CP) — The children who accompany their parents to the Middle East have many useful language opportunities, says the wife of a Calgary oilman. Mrs. Robert Brooks says her two daughters, aged 10 and 13, now have a working knowledge of English, French, Turkish and Arabic.

not exact. Denis had put him in contact with several persons in Ottawa whom he had wanted to see.

Those included persons in defence construction and other departments.

COVERS3 SAME GROUND

Much of the cross-examination today covered the same ground as testimony given by Maxson Tuesday.

He told the Dorion inquiry Tuesday, however, that none of this cash nest-egg amassed by Mrs. Rivard within a week of her husband's June 19 arrest here was intended as a bribe for any individual.

The inquiry is investigating allegations by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, acting for the U.S. government in the Rivard extradition case, that he was offered a $20,000 bribe by ministerial assistant Raymond Denis and subjected to Liberal political pressure last summer to get him to agree to Rivard's release on bail.

Maxson, self-described chief Liberal organizer in Chambly riding in 1960, said he was told June 22 by Robert Gignac that the Liberal party's campaign fund would receive $50,000 to $60,000 if Rivard's extradition was blocked.

Gignac was formerly Maxson's business partner and has been charged with capital murder in the Sept. 17 slaying of nightclub doorman Rocky Brunette. He testified before the Dorion inquiry last week.

RELAYED MESSAGE

Maxson said he relayed Gignac's money message to Denis that night—June 22.

Denis had advised him the next day to get in touch with Senator Louis P. Gelinas who, Maxson said, he knew was the Liberal party treasurer.

When told by Maxson that the case involved narcotics, Senator Gelinas had refused to see him then or at any other time.

He had informed Denis of Senator Gelinas' reaction and had been told by Denis to drop the matter there.

Asked whether Denis had said he would take care of the matter, Maxson said, "something to that effect." He had passed this along to Gignac.

WITHDREW $60,000

Mrs. Rivard, 23-year-old redhead, testified she withdrew the $60,000 from a trust company account where she had put it June 25 "perhaps" after Gignac had informed her he had been questioned by the RCMP in the Rivard case.

She said she didn't know Rocky Brunette, slain one day after the $60,000 was withdrawn, when asked whether Brunette had helped her to raise the money. The $60,000 was intended for bail for her husband, she said.

Maxson testified about at least 13 telephone conversations or meetings with Denis beginning June 22 and lasting into August during which the Rivard case had been discussed.

He quoted Denis as saying in one of their last talks that there had never been any question of offering money to Mr. Lamontagne.

Maxson said he had never heard of Rivard until June 22 when Gignac, his then business partner, had asked him to approach persons he (Maxson) knew in Ottawa to find out the chances of Rivard not being extradited to the U.S.

COULD GET 30 YEARS

Gignac had told him that if Rivard "fell into the hands of the Americans they would convict him and sentence him to 30 years."

Maxson said he had immediately telephoned Denis, his close friend and hunting and fishing pal, and they had arranged a meeting for that evening.

At this midnight meeting in a Hull, Que., motel suite, Denis had told him the Rivard case was one for the justice, not immigration department but that he would get in touch with "someone" in the justice department the next day.

Maxson said Denis had reported to him July 6 or 7 at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa that the Rivard case was very serious and that the minister of justice couldn't overturn an expected court decision in favor of extradition.

Denis had also told him that he (Denis) could see no possibility of bail being granted for Rivard.

SET UP OTTAWA

He and Denis had met again July 13 at the Chateau Laurier where Maxson set up Ottawa, but Denis "didn't mention anything important enough for me to remember."

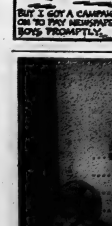
Maxson said it was possible" he had mentioned to Denis that the $60,000 had been deposited by Mrs. Rivard.

Asked whether an approach to Mr. Lamontagne had been discussed, Maxson said: "Not in front of me. The money was not there for that. It was for the election fund."

"I am a fervent Liberal," Maxson said at another point, "but I'm not the type to claim to exercise influence in all this story."

Later, he said stories about politicians and "political bombs going off and the like" were "most unfortunate."

"People were seeing evil everywhere."



HAS PROTECTION

Maxson said that besides being a Liberal he is a "representative" of various companies in the Montreal area, some of them "partly-owned by Gignac.

He said Gignac told him Rivard was being framed by "certain leaders" in the U.S. because Rivard wouldn't "go along with those people."

Rivard had been in the casino business in Cuba before the Castro revolution and would have been mixed up with "people of that type."

However, Gignac had added he had known Rivard, "a big businessman," for five years and that Rivard had no criminal record.

Robarts

speech from the throne made no mention of a system of community colleges for the province.

However, it was reported reliably that the government intends nevertheless to introduce permissive legislation during the session to allow it to go ahead with the establishment of a two-year junior college system.

COLLEGE AT QUEEN'S

An Ontario College of Education to be affiliated with Queen's University of Kingston was announced in the speech, along with an Ontario Education Centre in Hamilton.

The centre will consist of an institute of technology and a vocational centre on a common campus.

The government said it will set up an advisory council for planing and development within the department of education. This group would study educational trends and developments.

Premier Robarts confirmed that he will launch a privately-operated medical insurance program that would assure the availability of medical care to every Ontario resident, old or young, sick or well.

The report of an advisory committee on medical health insurance, which has been studying the government's proposals for 1½ years would be tabled in the House as soon as possible.

Expressing concern over federal - provincial relations, the government speech said the proposed Ontario-Quebec committee on Confederation will be a non-partisan one with broad terms of reference.

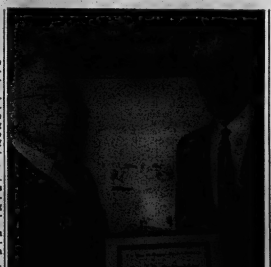
"It will be empowered to advise the government with respect to all matters in relation to and arising out of the position of Ontario in Confederation."

Persons with wide knowledge of the intricacies of the Canadian system of government would be appointed to the committee.

The speech said the government had reviewed carefully the problems of Ontario farm workers, and had decided to extend workmen's compensation benefits to all persons employed in agriculture.

Reports that the labor department was considering compulsory arbitration in hospital disputes were not confirmed, but the government said the legislature will be asked to consider the report of a royal commission which inquired into such disputes.

An amendment to the Expropriation Procedures Act will be made to establish an informal and non-adversive preliminary arbitration procedure, the government said. This would facilitate the "amicable settlement of claims."



The speech gave indications of sweeping changes within the department of reform institutions to make inroads on juvenile delinquency.

Referring to the program as one of penal reform, the government said the new Training Schools Act will be brought forward along with legislation to allow the establishment of regional detention and classification centres.

It was confirmed that a new Child Welfare Act will be presented to the House, as Welfare Minister Louis Cecile had previously announced.

The department of welfare's rehabilitation services are to be expanded to provide further aid for handicapped persons, the throne speech said.

A report to the legislature was promised on Ontario's hospital bed situation. Metropolitan Toronto particularly has been suffering from a severe bed shortage.

Dr. J. R. Guthridge, right, was presented with a life membership in the Bay of Quinte Dental Society at his meeting last night. Making the presentation is Dr. F. H. Dunnet, a fellow member of Dr. Guthridge's 1924 graduating class and a past president of the Dental Society.

Dr. Guthridge Is Honored On Retirement as Dentist

After 35 years of service to the City, Dr. J. R. Guthridge has retired from the dentistry. Dr. Guthridge began his practice in 1924 at Haliburton where a kitchen chair served as his first dentist chair.

In 1925 he moved to Stirling, and in 1930 located in Belleville where he has practiced until this year.

Born in Toronto, Dr. Guthridge moved to Manitoba at an early age.

After service in World War 1, first as a soldier in the 79th Infantry Battalion from Brandon, and later as a member of the British Air Corps, he returned to North America where he began his study of dentistry at Northwestern University in Chicago.

In his last year of study he transferred to the University of Toronto from which he graduated.

A three year guest from the British Air Corps, given to soldiers who had interrupted their education to fight in the conflict and stipulating Canadians must engage in a country other than place of birth made the Doctor's study in Chicago necessary.

GIVEN LIFE MEMBERSHIP

At the testimonial dinner held in his honor last night at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club were a number of notables.

Dr. F. H. Dunnet, a fellow classmate of Dr. Guthridge's 1924 graduating class and past president of the Bay of Quinte Dental Society, presented Dr. Guthridge with a life membership.

On behalf of the City of Belleville, Alderman John Deacon brought regards from Mayor Ellis who was called out of town. Dr. Guthridge served his city as alderman.

Rotary president Stan Reston bestowed an honorary membership on Dr. Guthridge.

Representing the Navy League of Canada, Belleville Branch, was J. A. McFarland, who lauded Dr. Guthridge for his long service to the club.

Dr. E. Johns of Kingston, president of the Ontario Dental Association, attended on behalf of the Association.

A gift of an attachee case was presented from National Refining Company of Toronto.

Every Belleville member of the Bay of Quinte Dental Society was in attendance to honor Dr. Guthridge.

week as he read the convention request to reporters spoke out for the first time since.

Gerard Ouellet (Rimouski) told The Canadian Press in a telephone interview: "I strongly respect Mr. Diefenbaker." Then he hung up.

Theogene Ricard (Ste. Hyacinthe-Bagot) said in New York he won't say whether he favors a leadership convention. He said it is already on the record he will support the Conservative leader, whether it is Mr. Diefenbaker or Mr. Balcer.

WANTS NEW LEADER

Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge - Delanaudiere) said he wants to hear from Mr. Camp before making any comment, but stressed he favors a "new leadership and a new policy."

In Prince Albert, Sask., Mr. Diefenbaker continued to ignore — at least in public — the controversy. Meanwhile, the Prince Albert Young Progressive Conservative Association passed two resolutions in support of him.

The debate among English-speaking members burst forth Saturday—two days after the Quebec caucus request—when Gordon Aiken (Parry Sound-Muskoka) said both Mr. Diefenbaker and Prime Minister Pearson should quit their posts as party leaders.

On Monday, Alberta Conservative MP Gerald W. Baldwin said a new leader is needed so the Conservatives can reach an accommodation with Quebec and the province's demands on financial, cultural and educational issues.

In Ottawa, Mr. Balcer's departure from the party since he is "under pressure" from Quebec. Before Christmas Mr. Balcer said he was considering leaving the party to sit as an independent.

Several members echoed Mr. Churchill's statement that any internal problems should be settled within the caucus.

SENTENCED TO LIFE

WINDSOR, (CP) — Earl Bernard Nantais, 30, of Windsor, was sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday night after being convicted by an Ontario Supreme Court jury of non-capital murder. Nantais was charged in the fatal stabbing of Lawrence Mailloux, 26, of suburban Lasalle, in Windsor during a tavern brawl Aug. 22.

BADGES OF SERVICE were presented to four members of the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society Tuesday night. The recipients were, front row, left to right, Mrs. R. C. Selsom, 22 years; Mrs. J. E. Marsh, 24 years and Mrs. E. Goddard, 24 years' service. A. S. Lewis, left rear, also received badge for 19 years' service. Past-president Newt Thompson and guest speaker Richard Gluns are seen above with the group.

Red Cross Annual Meeting Hears Publicity Director

The Belleville and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society held its annual meeting in the Thomas Anglican Church Parish Hall last evening.

At the close of the meeting, Newton Thompson, who has held the office of president for the last four years, turned the reins of control over to A. S. (Archie) Lewis. In addition to serving as the branches' president, Mr. Thompson also acted in the capacity of treasurer.

Mr. Thompson, on resigning from the presidency, was paid tribute by the large number of members present.

On hand for the occasion was Richard Gluns of Windsor, National Director of Publicity for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Gluns said that members of the national executive of the Canadian Red Cross try to visit as many as possible of the branches of the society, such as Belleville, because, he said, it is the branches that are the grass roots of the Canadian Red Cross.

Mr. Gluns stated that without an organization such as Belleville's, the Red Cross could not possibly survive. He stated that over three million Canadians serve as volunteer workers in one capacity or another, from the executive level right down to the junior members in school.

The speaker also said the women' work in making clothing for needy children was also a very vital part of the Red Cross work.

Following is a financial statement of the Belleville Branch for the year ending December 31, 1964: Receipts — January 1, 1964, balance forwarded, $2,239.33; United Appeal, $11,257.40; general donations, $87.; 00 homemaker's fees, $15,743.63; disaster fund, $982.17; loan cupboard, $982.00; interest — Miscellaneous, $93.95, for a total of $30,606.98.

Expenditures — blood donor clinic, $1,521.11; homemaker expenses, $18,970.09; disaster service, $943.23; womens' work, $708.14; individual emergency, $718.62; loan cupboard, $510.05; administration, $427.75; rent and premises, $357.00; water safety, $118.02; home nursing, $87.42; public relations, $26.07; to Ontario Division, $2,000.; balance as of December 31, 1964, for a total of $30,606.98.

Other reports were given by the president, the blood donor service, water safety, homemaker service, loan cupboard, individual emergency aid, women's work, disaster committee, Red Cross home nursing class and public relations.

PRESENTATIONS MADE

Several presentations were made at the meeting. Long service blood donors were presented with certificates of merit. A framed certificate was presented to Dr. Bruce Cronk for having donated blood 111 times. The presentations were made by the guest speaker, Mr. Gluns.

Also presented were badges of service. Recipients of the pins were Mrs. E. Goddard for 24 years service, Mrs. J. E. Marsh for 24 year's service, Mrs. H. C. Seldon for 22 year's service and A. S. (Archie) Lewis for 17 years' service.

Mrs. Verna Hammond was presented with her homemaker pin and Mrs. Pauline Buchanon also received a pin in her capacity of supervisor of homemakers.

Oxford Member Reprimanded By Commissioner

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Wallace Nesbitt, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Oxford, was reprimanded at a board of transport commissioners hearing Tuesday for introducing what Assistant Chief Commissioner H. H. Griffin termed irrelevant material.

Mr. Nesbitt appeared to oppose the Canadian National Railways' application to close down nearly seven miles of branch line between Woodstock and Hickson.

Mr. Griffin said he would not permit questions which were not relevant to the hearing after Mr. Nesbitt asked William R. White of Montreal, CNR special projects engineer, for 1958 financial statements for the line showing depreciation allowances.

Mr. Nesbitt claimed there was at least partial duplication of loss figures since labor costs of replacing installations were charged to operating expenses and materials to depreciation funds.

He said reserve depreciation funds should look after both.

SHOWED LOSS

The CNR showed a 1963 operating loss of $5,182 on the line and an equipment depreciation figure of $4,797 listed as an expense.

Mr. Griffin said the commissioners were not concerned with 1958 figures but would be concerned with any evidence of duplication in the loss figures that Mr. Nesbitt could produce.

He would not permit Mr. Nesbitt to pursue further questions on the point.

Cyril J. Morris, CNR London area manager, told the hearing the company wishes to close 6.85 miles of the railway—from the Ontario Hospital, just north of Woodstock, to Hickson.

He said the area was good farmland and the only industry along the line was associated with farming. He said there was little chance of industry that might use the line moving in north of Woodstock.

Tax Director On Hot Seat In Discussion

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's lounge and beverage room operators don't see why they should have to pay the province's 10-per-cent hospital tax when their patrons' feeds like bursting into song.

Bruce Brunt, director of Ontario's hospital tax branch, was on the hot seat Tuesday when delegates to the Ontario Hotel and Motel Association's annual conference peppered him with questions on how the tax works.

Mr. Brunt said that bars with a piano are not exempt from the hospital tax — or entertainment — tax only as long as the player remains silent and the patrons refrain from singing along with him.

"They can't sing and keep their mouth shut," he said. "If he says goodnight, the piano is place of entertainment and the owner pays tax."

APPLIES TO SING-SONGS

He said the same applies if a sing-along develops among patrons in accompaniment to the piano.

A questioner told Mr. Brunt: "You might be in pretty good humor some night and decide to come into my place and start singing. I don't want someone to come along and charge me a tax because you feel well."

Amid laughter, Mr. Brunt said that in a strict legal sense, sing - alongs are not allowed in bars. After the meeting he said the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario has never granted permission for sing-songs to licensed premises.

"It's impossible to control singing in the beverage room," said one woman member. "It's spontaneous. And if they enjoy themselves, they generally keep more sober."

Portland Man Killed

KINGSTON (CP) — Orville Seward, 39, of Portland died in hospital here Tuesday night of injuries suffered Jan. 1 when a highway department truck he was driving on highway 15 crashed into a ravine about 42 miles north of Kingston.

Women Ready To Parade New Dresses

TORONTO (CP) — The opening of the Ontario legislature today is a social as well as official occasion.

After the reading of the speech from the throne by Lieutenant - Governor Earl Rowe, members and their wives will be guests at a reception in his suite at Queen's Park.

Tradition decrees what the men wear: Military uniforms and morning dress predominate. Their wives enjoy more choice.

Mrs. Rowe said she would wear a pink and blue flowered brocade dress and no hat. She said a hat and a "good warm coat" are part of her costume for her ceremonial arrival at Queen's Park beside her husband in the traditional horse-drawn open carriage.

Mrs. John Robarts, wife of the premier, planned to wear charcoal brown re-embroidered in French lace over champagne crepe, the panelled skirt designed in skimmer style. Her petite hat is trimmed with ostrich tips.

The Robarts' daughter, Robin will appear in a cornflower blue English velveteen dress with white embroidered collar and cuffs.

Mrs. Donald C. MacDonald, wife of Ontario's NDP leader, said she would wear a grey dressmaker suit with a turquoise velvet turban.

Mrs. Andrew Thompson, wife of the Liberal leader, said Tuesday she had not yet thought about what she would wear.

COUNTY WARDEN — Wearing robes and chain of office, Reeve Fred Beckett of Rawdon township, is surrounded by family members following his election as Hastings county warden on Tuesday. From the left are daughters Carol and Dawn, Warden Beckett and Mrs. Beckett.

Fred Beckett, Rawdon Reeve, New Warden Hastings County

Rawdon township reeve Fred Beckett was named Hastings county warden for 1965 at the inaugural session of county council Tuesday afternoon.

Reeve Beckett, a 16-year veteran of his municipal council and representing his township at county council for the past six years, defeated Thurlow reeve Clayton Hall for the honor.

Married, with four children — two sons and two daughters — the 43-year-old Rawdon reeve is the first county warden from his township since 1939 when the late George Thompson had the honor.

In municipal council for ten years, Warden Beckett has given long service to his community. He has been secretary treasurer of Rawdon School Section No. 17 for 13 years and is also president of his Plum Grove cheese factory.

ASKS CO-OPERATION

In his inaugural address, Warden Beckett called for co-operation from the various council members and urged committee chairmen to keep budgets within the range of those of last year so that the county millrate might be maintained.

He referred to the good county city relations and trusted these would continue. Joint ownership of the Belleville General Hospital was an example of these good relations, he said.

Warden Beckett noted that the county this year was embarking on a new system of county assessing; also that the current needs study for county roads would be completed.

Repairs of the county jail building was also needed and the warden asked that this matter be given very careful consideration as it could be a costly item.

The new warden was presented with his gown and chain of office by Thurlow Reeve Clayton Hall and was sworn in by Clerk-Treasurer Carl Bateman.

CHAMBERS FILLED

The council chambers were filled for the opening session, with eight former wardens in the audience and two ex-wardens, Reeves Thomas Burnside and Charles Long, still council members.

Clerk - Treasurer Bateman referred to the large audience for council opening ceremonies.

"We are on the threshold of many changes in municipal government so it is encouraging to see so many visitors outside the bar," he said.

Joseph White, representing the Wilson Insurance Company, presented the new warden with his gavel. Invocation was pronounced by Archdeacon H. R. McConnell, rector of St. Thomas' Church.

Eleven Injured In Explosion At Sudbury

SUDBURY (CP) — Eleven persons were injured — five of them seriously — when an explosion crumbled a garage wall Tuesday as firemen were bringing under control a fire in an adjoining house.

Constable John Sloan, 37, of the Sudbury police force and John Martell, 29, a taxi driver, were buried under rubble from the wall.

Const. Sloan suffered a cut to his face and possible internal injuries. Martell suffered a compound leg fracture.

Garage owners Sulo Koski, 50, and his brother Viljo, 48, and an employee, Einar Bohm, 28, were struck by debris. Bohm's pelvis was broken.

Six others, including a fireman, suffered minor injuries.

STARTED IN HOUSE

The fire began in a two-storey house on south - side Paris Street, East, and Mrs. Eric Natti and their five children escaped unharmed from the top floor.

Volunteer firemen were close to extinguishing the blaze when the explosion lifted the roof of the garage, which crashed to the ground with one wall.

Mrs. Oiva Ranta and her three children left their apartment above the garage when she heard a slight explosion. "We were no sooner on the road than the building went up," she said.

The garage and three apartments were destroyed in the explosion and the fire that followed.

Deputy Fire Chief George Noble said heavy frost may have buckled a natural gas line under the garage and let gas leak until flames detonated it. The fire is being investigated.

Diefenbaker Wants Ban on A-Arms Data

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—An agreement banning the spread of technical information on nuclear weapons should be signed by the world's nuclear powers, Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker said Tuesday.

Mr. Diefenbaker, national Progressive Conservative leader, said in an address to two city service clubs that an agreement among nuclear powers banning the spread of nuclear weapons themselves is not enough.

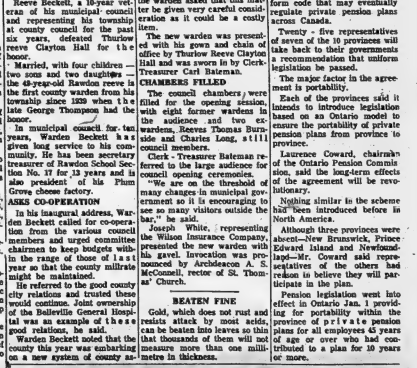
Non-nuclear powers must be prevented from acquiring not only nuclear weapons but the information with which to produce them.

7 Provinces Agree Upon Pension Code

TORONTO (CP) — An interprovincial conference reached agreement Tuesday on a uniform code that may eventually regulate private pension plans across Canada.

Twenty - five representatives of seven of the 10 provinces will take back to their governments a recommendation that uniform legislation be passed.

The major factor in the agreement is portability.



Each of the provinces said it intends to introduce legislation based on an Ontario model to ensure the portability of private pension plans from province to province.

Laurence Coward, chairman of the Ontario Pension Commission, said the long-term effects of the agreement will be revolutionary.

Nothing similar in the scheme has been introduced before in North America.

Although three provinces were absent—New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland—Mr. Coward said representatives of the others had reason to believe they will participate in the plan.

Pension legislation went into effect in Ontario Jan. 1 providing for portability within the province of private pension plans for all employees 45 years of age or over who had contributed to a plan for 10 years or more.

All Legislatures Will Be At Work by February 18

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Members of the Ontario legislature return to Queen's Park today for what may be the shortest session in the province's history. By 5 p.m. the lawmakers in Prince Edward Island and Alberta's Speech from the Throne debate will be in session.

Quebec and British Columbia open next Thursday. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will have a chance to express views on Maritime union. The lengthy Ontario session will hear Premier John Robarts and Attorney-General James Allan's budget, expected to call for the highest government spending in history — and without an increase in taxes.

ATTACK EXPECTED

Premier Ernest C. Manning's Social Credit government in Alberta is expected to come under attack because of the problem-ridden Peace River Power Development Corporation. The Liberal opposition will hear Treasurer-attorney James Allan's budget, expected to call for the highest government spending in history — and without an increase in taxes.

ATTACK EXPECTED

Premier Ernest C. Manning's Social Credit government in Alberta is expected to come under attack because of the problem-ridden Peace River Power Development Corporation. The Liberal opposition will hear Treasurer E. W. Hinman last year. Mr. Manning said he asked for the resignation because his business activities were not in line with his duties as a minister.

In Manitoba, a legislative committee has been studying Premier Duff Roblin's proposal to allow Roman Catholic parochial schools to share facilities of public schools. The plan is being bitterly opposed by Roman Catholics who want direct aid but not public control.

Premiers Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick will introduce resolutions in their legislatures urging study of a number of factors in possible union of the two provinces.

In Ontario, the budget will approach $1,500,000,000, up about $100,000,000 from 1964-65.

The government also may announce a moratorium on provincial corporation taxes for industries operating in federally-designated depressed areas. In New York state, hopes to lure industry to parts of the province outside the so - called "Golden Triangle" of N.Y.C.

In Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher says he'll cut one per cent from the five-per-cent provincial sales tax and free such items as school books and clothing. He'll also cut back personal and corporation taxes but also have promised along with laws allowing farmers to use tax-free gas in their trucks.

Mr. Thatcher's new Liberal government was elected last April, says he'll cut government expenditures by $10,000,000 in his first year as premier.

Lennox Warden Opposes Plan To Ban Press

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP)—Dougal Ross, retiring warden of Lennox and Addington County, has advised county council Tuesday to hold its meetings in private if the newly-proposed privilege press releases afterwards to avoid "distorted news reports." Mr. Ross said he made the suggestion at the request of the new president Mr. George Waldrum.

The following were named committee chairmen at the meeting: educational, Mrs. Charles Fohl; agriculture and conservation, Mr. Cliff Wannamaker; international relations, Robert Hanes; public and business affairs, Clarence Woods; support of churches, Mr. Bert Thompson; achievements, Mr. Robert Armstrong; interclub relations and fellowship, Mr. Keith Baldwin, Kiwanis administration and attendance, Mr. Max Bush; membership development, Mr. John Sancroft; sergeant and arms, Mr. Ted Cournoyer; chairman of finance, Mr. George Sinclair; bulletin and public relations, Mr. Harold Gall; Easter flowers, Mr. Ed Wise; Kiwanis Karnival, Mr. Ray Holmes; rink canteen committee, Mr. Wally Moffatt; golden anniversary, Mr. Fred Woolfrey; boys' and girls' work, Mr. Keith Cotton; laws and regulations, Mr. Gil Cotton.

The membership of each committee will be announced at a later date.

The directors have approved the purchase of crests and scarves for Cubs, Scouts and Rovers; letter openers to be presented to guests, and placemats and Kiwanis objects for the 50th anniversary dinner to be held on January 31st.

Racial Issue Crops Up As Foreign Secretary Seeks A Commons Seat in Leyton

By PATRICK MASSEY

LONDON (AP)—Like a label that won't wear off, the colorful Patrick Gordon Walker as he fights to get into Parliament.

Through two campaigns, he has been haunted by a provocative slogan: "If you want a nigger neighbor, vote Labor."

The theme comes up again as Gordon Walker campaigns for the House of Commons seat for the grimy London suburb of Leyton. Voting is Thursday.

British political tradition requires that Gordon Walker must get into Parliament if he is to continue as foreign secretary.

In last October's general election, he was defeated in the 13th Parliamentary district of Smethwick—and Labor's Midlands speciality heavily settled by non-white immigrants from the Commonwealth.

It was at Smethwick that the "nigger neighbor" slogan first cropped up.

A flood of leaflets bearing this slogan appeared in that district. Gordon Walker's Conservative opponent, Peter Griffiths, denied any hand in them.

Griffiths agreed that many members of a tiny Fascist group actually sponsored the leaflets. But they accused Griffiths of playing heavily on white prejudice during the campaign. He denied.

LOST LARGE MAJOR

In the voting, Gordon Walker lost what had previously been a Labor district, largely because of the racial issue, political sources agree.

Harold Wilson, becoming prime minister as a result of the general election, offered Gordon Griffiths as a "parliamentary leper."

Despite Gordon Walker's defeat, Wilson went ahead with his original intention to make him foreign secretary. A second chance for a Commons seat came when Parker Solomon's 73-year-old Labor member who had held Leyton by a 7,926-vote margin, died and created a vacancy in the House of Lords.

Gordon Walker was duly nominated as Labor candidate for the district which has some New Zealand immigrants. It looked like a cinch victory.

Then, addressing a routine press conference in A Gordon was startled by a bellow of "How would you like a nigger for a neighbor?"

It came from Colin Jordan, leader of the tiny British Nazi party.

"You are a disgusting racialist traitor," Jordan bellowed at Gordon Walker before being hustled out of the room.

Outside, Jordan admitted he was circulating "nigger neighbor" leaflets on the same lines as the Smethwick ones.

SPARKED RIOT

Three days later, Jordan and his men invaded an election meeting into a riot when they started chanting "Send the blacks back."

The violence was condemned by both Gordon Walker's principal opponent, Conservative Ronald Buxton, an engineer and son of Admiral of the Fleet Admiral Sir Max Horton, a baker.

But the racial issue cropped up again with one of two Independent candidates calling for a referendum on colored immigration. The newspaper, Jeremiah Lynch, styles himself a representative of the United Kingdom and Dominion party.

Why does the color issue cling to Gordon Walker?

One theory is that extremists still nurse resentment over the opening speech he made supporting colored immigration at the time of the Conservative government's curbs on immigration in 1962.

Though it opposed the curbs at the time, the Labor party has since modified its view.

Political forecasters believe there is little chance Gordon Walker will suffer another defeat at Leyton. But a significant drop in his winning margin could damage both the party and his own reputation.

Minto

MINTO — The January meeting of Salem U.C.W. was held in the church hall with a good attendance. Mrs. George Cole was hostess for the meeting and a quilt was completed for her. A pot luck dinner was served at noon with many of the men in attendance. Mrs. Stanley Thompson, the new president opened the meeting in the usual manner, also read two most appropriate poems.

Mr. Wilkes was the entertainer. He "purely" becomingly vented his wrath though the Anglican Church of Canada, Presbyterian Church in Canada, Salvation Army and Lutheran Church in America plan similar unions.

Roman Catholic priests have supported it. In particular, Father Gregory Baum of the Catholic Information Centre, Toronto, gave six radio broadcasts on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. United Church critics for not knowing what they were talking about.

Father Bader says he has "many" criticisms in Toronto newspaper by people who opposed the curriculum.

KNOWN TO FEW

"One gets a impression gained from reading these letters is the inability of many people to realize the difference between the message given by God and the style in which this message is given," he says.

Very Rev. James Thomson of Montreal, United Church moderator from 1958 to 1962 and author of the adult study book "Exploring Our Religion," says:

"There are very few people who can actually read a single book of the Bible, let alone a whole curriculum. For this there is a very good reason. The Scriptures were written originally what for most of us are foreign languages—the Old Testament in Hebrew, the New Testament in Greek. If you look at the Bible page of the Bible, you will see that it is translated from the original tongues."

Rev. Clyde Nicholson of Vancouver, chairman of the British Columbia conference committee on religious education, says the curriculum "puts the Bible on a meaningful basis," and "helps the understanding of the Bible just cannot be held responsible."

But Rev. D. W. Reed of Dunbar Heights Baptist Church in Vancouver disagrees.

"Most Baptists will object to any changes in interpreting the Bible," he says. "The Bible is the Word of God. All the scholarship in it are factual and should be accepted literally."

MAY PULL OUT

Critics of Baptist Book Room is of particular interest because the Baptist Convention at Ontario Baptist Inc. — operated with the United Church prepreducing the New Curriculum.

But Rev. Leland Gregory, convention secretary, said recently that Baptists have asked next June to withdraw completely from the curriculum on the grounds that its contents are unbiblical. And Rev. E. J. Bailey, president of the Baptist Federation of Canada, says the material points to "very important theological and Biblical differences between Baptists and the United Church."

MORE FOR ADULTS

"Much has been said about the curriculum in respect to its use in Sunday schools. Very precious little has been said about the fact that it is primarily aimed at adults," says Norman Vale of the department of information and publications of the United Church.

"We are hoping the New Curriculum will make Christianity less embarrassing to many people who call themselves Christians and who in all honesty realize they don't know much about the faith and similarly honest people who don't."

Mr. White says the curriculum is "purely" becoming. Additional vernacular though the Anglican Church of Canada, Presbyterian Church in Canada, Salvation Army and Lutheran Church in America plan similar unions.

Controversial Curriculum Wins Acceptance in United Church

By DON HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The United Church of Canada, largest Protestant denomination in the country, sparked a national religious controversy last September when it launched a New Curriculum of religious instruction among its 3,600,000 members and adherents.

Most of the criticism of the curriculum has come from persons of other denominations, but the strongest disagreement also has come from within the United Church.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press, however, indicates the curriculum has been readily accepted by many persons in the church.

More than three-quarters of the church's 4,000 Sunday schools have adopted the 30-volume series while the remainder are either enrolled in other plans or considering the New Curriculum.

The survey indicated few schools have retrieved from adopting the curriculum because of disagreement with the contents. Instead, of the 1,000 schools that haven't adopted them most seem to have been scared off by the cost.

Independent stores in Toronto figure it costs between $2.50 and $8 a person annually for a complete set of the curriculum books.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce and the Life Underwriters Association all repeated complaints that they've pumped up frequently since the joint Senate - Commons committee began holding hearings.

The Winnipeg Chamber gave its full support to the Canadian Chamber's position that further development of Canada's social security system should come through "suitable modification and reformation of the 1964 Age Security Act in the light of present - day needs and resources." This extension of social security coverage would provide contributory plans.

Among suggested amendments to the Act, the chamber said:

That the proposed 10 - year maturity period for the plan be reduced to 5 years, in connection with private plans; that benefits be adjusted periodically rather than annually with the cost-of-living index; that contributions funded in the hands of the private plans should be kept separate and reported on annually.

The Winnipeg brief said loans from the pension fund to the province "will temporarily facilitate the provincial debt, the judgment of the market and of the taxpayer as to economic prudence to embark on uneconomic projects."

Mr. Hunter said the chamber places a great emphasis on the government establishing priorities before undertaking any large - scale programs. Education, medical care and pensions for all subjects which should be considered.

Briefs Claim Pension Plan Does Not Provide Benefits To Those Who Need It Most

New Revenue Deputy Master of Gentle 'No'

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP)—Few people can say "no" with more gentle warmth than Raymond Labarge. And in his new job as deputy minister of national revenue he will probably say it a good many times.

As administrative head of the customs and excise tax division, the new deputy will face thousands of requests from taxpayers who seek ways to avoid or lighten the burden of their taxes. Mr. Labarge's combination of charm and firmness will serve him well.

As if the mammoth task of overseeing collection of nearly $2,300,000,000 a year in taxes were not enough, the 51-year-old Mr. Labarge faces the added difficulty of succeeding one of the most popular and able deputy ministers in the civil service. Before his retirement David Sim was known as "Mr. Civil Service" and was almost an institution.

"Yes, I think it's going to be very difficult to succeed him," Mr. Labarge said quietly as he moved into the expansive deputy minister's office for his first day on the job. "He was extremely popular and capable."

Then, after a moment's thought, he added: "But you can't change your nature. You are you, and you can only do the best I can, and I don't pretend in the least to be another Mr. Civil Service and was David Sim."

THINK ALIKE

While the two men differ in appearance and mannerism, some officials of the department say that if each were given an identical situation they would probably arrive at the same conclusion in the same length of time.

David Sim would operate with obsilient Scottish humor; Raymond Labarge with quiet Gallic charm.

A similarity they share is that they started their careers as private secretaries to Liberal cabinet ministers and were given added responsibilities by subsequent Conservative administrations. Mr. Sim began as private secretary to the late William Euler, revenue minister in 1927. Mr. Labarge began as private secretary to the late James J. McCann, revenue minister in 1945.

In 1949 Mr. Labarge was appointed administrative officer of the customs and excise division, and four years later was made general executive assistant in the department. He became assistant deputy minister in 1957, a position he held until his new appointment except for an 18-month period in 1962-63 when he was loaned to the Privy Council as assistant secretary to the cabinet.

SERVED IN NAVY

Mr. Labarge, a native of Ottawa, was awarded the MBE for his services in the navy during the Second World War. He left the navy in 1945 as a lieutenant-commander. Two of his brothers were killed in the RCAF.

Fluently bilingual, he came to the department armed with a broad education in arts, economics, history and jurisprudence, gained from the University of Ottawa, McMaster University and Oxford.

He returned from Oxford with a British accent "but my brother soon knocked that out of me." There he also met his wife, who has an international reputation as a historian, Under the name of Margaret Wade Labarge, she has written several books on medieval history. She often reviews books on a radio program. They have two sons and two daughters.

When Mr. Labarge speaks about his family his eyes tend to twinkle and his round face cracks into broad grins. He'll occasionally run his hand over his steel-grey hair.

"I guess we're a pretty close bunch," he says. "All my recreation involves family activities. I find we come closer together by working on projects, whether it be cooking or building. It's a do-it-yourself household. We play golf, tennis, swimming and canoeing together and we've also covered a fair chunk of Europe together."

POPULATION INCREASES

The population of Czechoslovakia increased by 104,000 in 1964 to bring the European nation's total to 14,126,000.

PRIMARY INDUSTRY — Fishermen start the job of cleaning the fish as their boat returns to harbor. Fishing is Nova Scotia's biggest primary industry, with an annual catch worth $70,000,000. It employs 12,500 men, with another 5,000 working in fish-processing plants. Value of the annual catch is expected to rise to $100,000,000 by 1970, although there is some concern about depleting stocks, especially of such valuable fish as lobsters. (CP Photo)

SHIPPING A PROBLEM — A worker inspects paper as it is rolled at the Mersey Paper Mill at Liverpool, N.S. Transporting forestry products to central Canadian markets is a serious problem for Nova Scotia companies, forcing emphasis on United States and European markets. Great emphasis is being placed by the government on better utilization of resources, from the forests through to by-products. (CP Photo)

Manufacturing Hits $500 Million

Growth is Unprecedented, Nova Scotia Wants More

By KEN SMITH

HALIFAX (CP) — The value of Nova Scotia's manufacturing, for the first time in its history, is believed to have surpassed $500,000,000 in 1964.

If confirmed by final figures —and preliminary indications are that it is a conservative estimate—it will represent an increase of more than 10 per cent over 1963, a sign of healthy growth.

Few people in the province, however, are satisfied. Government, business and labor leaders want more.

With a labor force of 250,000 people and steadily growing, finding a supply of jobs is rated by Premier Robert Stanfield as Nova Scotia's No. 1 task.

FOCUS ON JOBS

"There are good prospects for economic expansion in fisheries, tourism and, with better utilization of resources, forestry," he said in an interview.

"But it is in the field of secondary manufacturing that we will have to progress if we are to have the jobs for people in the coming years."

A civil servant put it this way:

"I'd rather see a $1,000,000 plant come here with 200 jobs than a $2,000,000 plant with 100 jobs."

Here is a brief rundown on business, labor and government views of Nova Scotia's major industries:

Manufacturing — now employing more than 15 per cent of the labor force, expansion prospects are considered excellent, especially with federal tax incentives and special financing deals available through the government's industry - promotion arm.

There is a Maritime market of 2,000,000 people to be exploited and the province of course is excellently suited to export trade.

Many people are seriously worried, however, about tapping the rest of the Canadian market because of transportation problems.

Construction—next to manufacturing, the province's biggest money maker. Total construction in 1963 was worth an estimated $219,000,000 and gave work to more than 21,000 people.

Residential construction is strong, about 30 per cent of the total. But construction is seasonal and regional. The future strength of the industry obviously rests on demand for new factories and houses, and the roads and other services they would need.

Fisheries—Nova Scotia's biggest primary industry, with an annual catch worth $70,000,000. It employs 12,500 men, with another 5,000 working in fish-processing plants.

Value of the annual catch is expected to rise to $100,000,000 by 1970, although there is some concern about depleting stocks, especially of such valuable fish as lobster.

Some officials also question whether an increased catch would provide much additional employment directly. Highly automated plants and the larger, more efficient trawlers now being introduced in the province require only a small percentage of the human power needed a few years ago.

Mining — Nova Scotia's coal mines were for years a keystone in the economy, but they have fallen on dark days since the Second World War with about 6,000 jobs lost because of mine closings.

A recent policy, however, of trimming away inefficient operators has offered hope of some stability to the industry—as long as markets, gained by government grants to last Nova Scotia coal in central Canada at competitive prices, hold up.

Officials say the 6,000 miners still working actually are better off now than a few years ago, since today's emphasis on efficiency offers them steady, full employment.

But much of the industry's equipment is obsolete or worn out, and Dominion Coal Co. Ltd., which operates four collieries in Cape Breton, has said it is seriously short of working capital.

Coal mining was worth $45,000,000 in 1963, of a total mineral production of $87,300,000. Salt and gypsum are the other major products; Nova Scotia produces four-fifths of Canada's gypsum.

Tourism — brought in $35,000,000 in 1963 and a 10-per-cent increase is estimated for 1964 despite a poor summer. The government is actively promoting the trade, even setting up a special branch to be responsible for accommodation and food services.

Forestry—Close to a $50,000,000-a-year industry, with 4,000 employees. Transporting products to central Canadian markets is a serious problem, forcing emphasis on United States and European markets.

Great emphasis is being placed by the government on better utilization of resources, from the forests through to by-products.

Tomorrow: Government and business partners in industrial drive.

ECONOMY WILL GROW

Canada's economy can expect continued strong growth this year, but there will be an accompanying sharp increase in the foreign trade deficit, the Prudential Insurance Co. of America forecasts in its annual economy survey. It predicts the gross national product—the total of all goods and services produced—will rise by about $5,000,000,000 to $49,400,000,000 despite an anticipated slowdown in the last half of the year.

YEAR SHOWS INCREASE

Total supply of natural gas utilities in October amounted to 82,965,978,000 cubic feet, an increase of 20.2 per cent over the October, 1963, supply, the bureau of statistics reported today. Transport and distribution systems delivered 81,951,113,000 cubic feet of natural gas to gas utilities in October, while they received 855,110,000 cubic feet from storage.

FREIGHT VOLUME UP

October volume of freigh handled at Canadian ports to talled 25,533,100 tons, an increase of 3.2 per cent from 24,752,548 tons in October, 1963, the bureau of statistics reported today. Freight volume in the January - October period increased 15.4 per cent to 171,294,000 tons from 157,370,067 tons in the corresponding period in 1963.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARTER, Sports Editor

The word got around the L.A. mob the other day that hockey's stormy petrel was on the loose again. The APB said "Be on lookout for husky young man last seen in hockey uniform and angry expression. Stolen or strayed from Los Angeles Blades hockey team. Approach with care. Subject not armed but may spit without warning. No reward."

Howie Young, the best spitfire to be catapulted from the carrier "NHL" had, as Andy Capp would say, "done a bunk".

The spittin'est leopard of them all had not changed his Marco Polo spots and had acted in keeping with his philosophy that continuous labor without respites of playfulness, was one he'd have to go through life.

Mr. Young, molars grating from being a prolonged back-bencher in the Blades' cabinet (he had had two minutes ice time in the last game) was missing when the Blades soared into the wild blue yonder headed for far-away puck pastures.

A story from Vancouver says that Young was later tracked, located and snared in the wild canyons of Portland, Oregon.

They say an earlier coach of the winged-heeled Young once told him to "get lost". To date he's been lost more times than "The Englishman" and seems he took the wrong streetcar in L.A. and sometime later was discovered in Hewitt, teaching hula dancers how to Watusi without dislodging a straw in their skirts.

In his National Hockey League days, the boys always said good-bye to Howie at the end of each game. They never knew when they would see him again.

He never drew his battle lines. B-girls, G-men, bartenders, cops, anything and everything up to an NHL governor was fair game for his fists or expectorations.

Howie and a brawl were as inseparable as Sheriff Nelson and a bow tie. And Puck's Bad Boy and the Toonest cravat had something in common; they always wound up getting it in the neck.

Young always kept Alfie Pike, the Blades' coach, on edge. There was never a dull moment when Howie was on the ice; and the most of the time when he was adorning the bench.

Prior to his latest bid for freedom, Young set out so many Blades' waiters draped in an Indian blanket that one of the B.C. tribes adopted him as a blood brother. They lifted this puck-chasing Sitting Bull for on the rare occasion he leaped the rails, he went on the warpath.

Hell-raising Howie got the heave-ho from the National Hockey League after his now famous demonstration of the Expectoration Waltz in Toronto.

Stafford Smythe, top banana of the Maple Leafs, is alleged to have made some derogatory statement anent Master Young during a game in Toronto. Handsome Howie retaliated by pursing his lips and loosing a cuspidor missile in the general direction of Smythe. It missed target and unfortunately struck a lady sitting next to the Leaf boss who happened to be Mrs. Smythe.

The NHL dangled Young on a $23,000 hook and the west coast Pike swallowed the bait. The Grey Young Blade caught the LA four fancy, and it wasn't long before they were yelling for him if he stayed off the ice too long.

But the swashbuckling musketeer after a few excellent displays of puck swordsmanship soon felt the shackles of discipline. He rebelled at practice, started to slip out of condition and accumulate more cheap penalties.

The Blades looked down on him. They took the cream off the top of his salary and sent it to his wife down east. They made the payments on his LA apartment and doled the rest of it out to him in daily donations. Somehow he saved enough, after bar expenses, to purchase an $80 monkey for a pet.

He felt that if the Blades were going to make a monkey out of him they might as well have a living model to work from.

Then it happened. Young blasted off again without benefit of a count-down. It likely is the last time. Pike's pique has reached its crest. The NHL wants no part of him. The Vancouver Canucks didn't even sniff at the Young bait. It looks like curtains for a guy who will always be young at heart.

Cassius The Clown 'Corns' Chuvalo

By JOE REICHLER

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—It was like a scene from an old Mack Sennett movie Tuesday.

Here was George Chuvalo, in training for his Feb. 1 heavyweight bout with Floyd Patterson, looking nervously over the shoulder of his sparring partner in the middle of the ring.

On one side, shouting himself hoarse while being restrained from climbing through the ropes, was heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

Directly across the ring, photographers were having a field day and television cameras were grinding merrily away.

"Let me in there, let me in that ring," Clay kept shouting. "He insulted me and I'm going to whup him. That's what the champ is goin' to do . . . whup that washerwoman."

It was all make believe, of course. Clay had come to the Toronto heavyweight's headquarters to help the ballyhoo for the fight that may produce a challenger for Clay's world title at some future date.

But to the goggle-eyed gallery, comprised almost entirely of hotel guests, it appeared the real thing.

Some cheered Clay, urging him to get into the ring. Others, angered by Clay's antics, yelled derisively at the champ, telling him to shut his big mouth and go home.

Clay arrived at Chuvalo's headquarters hereby in time to watch the Canadian strongboy's workout. He had driven up to this Catskill mountain resort, about 100 miles from New York, in his own bus, painted bright red with white letters "world's heavyweight champion" printed on the sides.

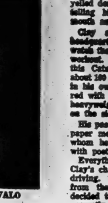
His passengers were 30 newspaper men and photographers, whom he regaled on the trip with poetry, song and quips.

Everything went fine while Clay's chauffeur was doing the driving. Then, about a mile from the destination, Cassius decided to take the wheel. He promptly ran the bus into a snow-covered ditch. No one was injured.

Clay entered Chuvalo's headquarters with a mop and pail and promptly presented them to the Toronto heavyweight in the centre of the ring.

"I have come as heavyweight champion of the world to offer you a chance at becoming the champion which would bring you great honor and dignity and make you a national hero in your home state of Canada," Clay proclaimed as Chuvalo looked at him in amazement.

"If you can defeat the rabbit and look good in defeating him, I may give you an opportunity to be in a $10,000,000 gate with me."



Clay apparently became more impressed with each of the four rounds Chuvalo sparred.

"He's tougher than I thought," said Cassius. "And he hits pretty sharp. Maybe I ought to go in training soon. I think from now on, I'll call him the washerman."

At the conclusion of Chuvalo's workout, Clay climbed into the ring, gloves on his hands, and tried to coax the Canadian into sparring one round with him.

Chuvalo by then had found his tongue.

"Don't bother me when I'm working, sonny," he snapped. "I'll give you my autograph later."

Stratton Leads A.L. Points Race

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Art Stratton, Jean Lunde and Pat Hannigan, partners on Buffalo Bisons' No. 1 forward line, are on an American Hockey League point rampage.

But Wayne Hicks of Quebec Aces, overtaken recently by two of the Bisons' hot trio in the league's individual scoring race, isn't giving up without a battle.

Stratton, the top playmaker with 45 assists, leads the points parade, according to AHL figures released today. He has 55 points, four more than Lunde, the top goal scorer with 27, and Hicks, who moved into a second - place tie with a four-point game against Providence Reds Tuesday night.

Hannigan, with 43 points, is tied for sixth, and closing on the leaders.

Ed Hoekstra of Quebec picked up two assists against the Reds Tuesday and holds the No. 4 spot, three points behind Lunde and Hicks. Ed Litzenberger of Rochester Americans trails Hoekstra by two points.

Gerry Cheevers of Rochester is the top goalie with a 2.49 average while Buffalo's Ed Chadwick leads in shutouts with four.

Fred Glover, Cleveland Barons' veteran player - coach, is the penalty leader. He passed the 200 penalty minutes mark in a 16-year AHL career last week.

Peterborough Wins Curling Playoffs

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Peterborough Curling Club won the District 3 curling playoffs Tuesday, defeating Lindsay 25-14 in the double-rink contest.

Peterborough will meet the winners of Districts 1, 2 and 4 Thursday in Cobourg, Ont.

Howard Woodcox skipped his rink to a 10-7 win over Al Widdis of Lindsay. Bob Hendry's Peterborough rink then downed the Lindsay rink of Murray Davis 13-7.

Earlier, Lindsay won 26-10 over Cobourg's Fred Brown and Peterborough Curling Club had a 25-13 victory over Peterborough Country Club.

Boston President Proposal

Players Should Name All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — The president of Boston Bruins proposed Tuesday that National Hockey League all-star teams be selected by vote of the players, rather than sportswriters and broadcasters.

Weston W. Adams, whose team was shut out in the first half balloting by the writers, did not take issue with selections made. But he said that to place Bruins' defenseman Ted Green sixth was ridiculous.

"The best judge of the best players at their positions are the players themselves," he said. "So I would have the players decide the all - star teams. For example, the players know which defenseman gives them the most trouble and would vote accordingly."

Adams said he will suggest at the league's winter meeting Feb. 3-3 in New York that a player-voting system be set up. He proposed that forwards vote for defenceman on the other five teams and defencemen vote for the forwards they find hardest to stop.

HONEY INVOLVED

The goalie would vote for every position and every player would vote for goaltender.

Adams said "there is a lot of money involved for those selected as all-stars, something like $25,000. So it is pretty important to the players and I think they should have an opportunity to make the choice."

Adams also told a hockey writers luncheon that any potential deals rumored recently between the last-place Bruins and other NHL clubs now are dead.

He said he had hoped to make a trade announcement Tuesday but it fell through at the last minute.

He said the Bruins will inaugurate a program of selecting three players who starred in each game at Boston, a feature at other NHL cities. He said the first selection would be made Sunday night when the Bruins play host to Montreal.

"The awards are not sponsored yet—there'll be no prize—but I hope that will come," he said.

OLDEST PIRATE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Right-hander Bob Friend has signed his 1965 contract with Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday, making him the oldest Pirate in point of continuous service. This is his 15th year with the National League baseball team. In 1964, the 34-year-old pitcher won 13 and lost 18.

Minor Hockey

Games were played in the Belleville Minor Hockey Association's novice, midget and juvenile divisions here last night.

NOVICE

Rangers defeated the Generals 4-1 with Paul Ackerman potting two goals, Mike Fleigler and Mike Burley also scored for the winners. David Taylor was the lone Generals' marksman.

Leafs nipped the Canadiens in a 1-0 cliffhanger. Tom Rogers triggered the game's only goal to give Leafs the nod.

Bruins scored a 5-2 victory over the Wings. Martin Thistle and Richard Burnett starred for the Bruins by scoring two goals apiece. Allen Woods notched the other one. Both Wing goals were scored by Terry Collins.

JUVENILE

Comets won a 5-1 decision over the O.S.D. Wolves.

Chappell was the top Comet scorer with two goals while one each went to Hunter, Lancaster and Harvey. D. Muldoon, Fahey and Turner had an assist each.

Ulliet tallied for O.S.D. with Cripps getting an assist.

The losers drew six of the game's ten minor penalties.

MIDGET

Elks' Hawks copped a 5-3 win over the Red Wings with two players scoring all the Hawk goals. T. Wellesley fired three goals and assisted on another while J. Cole potted the other two goals and had two assists. T. Herrington had two helpers with one each for J. Royal, D. Middleton and D. Walker. W. Mulr and Ed Hancock were the Wing scorers. R. Fuller and D. Keller each had an assist.

Leafs and Canadiens battled to a 3-3 stalemate. Allen Lupenette, Nick Day and K. McFarland were the Canadiens' goalgetters. H. Badwen got the only assist. Leaf scorers were R. Green, W. Stems and R. Rosebush, with W. Garrison having one helper.

Portland, Victoria Rack Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A pair of games ended in identical scores Tuesday night and changed the occupants of the four top positions in the Western Hockey League.

Portland Buckaroos moved into Vancouver and defeated the Canucks 5-4 to take over first place and shove Vancouver into fourth.

At Victoria, the Maple Leafs moved past Vancouver into third place and plucked Seattle out of the league leadership with a 5-1 win.

Buckaroos have 30 points, Toronto 49, Leafs 41 and Canucks 40. Los Angeles, fifth with 37 points, goes to San Francisco tonight to play the Seals, now the cellar dwellers with 21 points.

Canadiens Join Two-Goalie Circle

Gump And Hodge

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens have become the fourth National Hockey League team to adopt the two-goalie system.

Following the lead of Chicago, Toronto and New York, coach Toe Blake disclosed in Toronto Tuesday that he plans to alternate Gump Worsley and Charlie Hodge in the Canadiens' nets for the balance of the season.

"That's the plan at present," he said. "We are not thinking of sending either goalie to the minors."

Worsley was called up from Quebec Aces of the American League last week to spell Hodge who had allowed 16 goals in three games. He was between the posts for Montreal's weekend victories over Boston and Chicago.

And he'll get the call again tonight when the Canadiens meet the Maple Leafs at Toronto. Boston and Chicago Black Hawks in the only other game scheduled.

Blake made it clear Hodge won't be out of the nets for long. "We don't want to break his spirit or have him play stale."

He also disclosed that Jean Beliveau won't return to action immediately. Across the hall, Toronto coach Punch Imlach said one of his injured returnees, Andy Bathgate, also will be sidelined for at least another game.

Beliveau has been out since Dec. 23 with a knee injury and although he has full ambition game with Montreal Monday, Blake said he didn't want to rush Beliveau's return.

Bathgate has missed 12 games. His broken thumb has healed and although he's reported fine in workouts, Imlach said he probably will return only Saturday against New York. Dickie Moore also is an unlikely starter.

Imlach himself has had his hockey activities curtailed somewhat. The Leafs coach and general manager has been called for jury duty Jan. 21-29 and possibly longer.

"He'll probably miss several practices but will be behind the bench for games, Frank (King) Clancy, Imlach's right - hand man, will fill in for his boss on other occasions.

The two-goalie system is not new to the Canadiens. They alternated Jacques Plante and Gerry McNeil back in the early 50s, but dropped the system.

Toronto picked it up again in the 1962-63 season with Johnny Bower and Don Simmons alternating — Simmons worked 39 of the regular-season games. Bower went into 1963-64 when Simmons worked 20.

This year the Leafs are using the same system with Terry Sawchuk and Bower.

The Hawks flirted with the club last year when Dennis DeJordy was brought up to give Glenn Hall necessary breaks but this season New York kept both Jacques Plante and Marcel Paille on the payroll for alternate duty in goal.

Blues Star Ups Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Steve Monteith, three - time all-star right winger of the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League, dressed his name in the scoring race to eight points with three goals and four assists in two games last week.

The 21-year-old University of Toronto Blues forward, who has 15 goals and 15 assists for the season, edged closer to the league career record for goals scored and points, 62 goals and 126 points. He has 59 goals and 117 points.

Steve's brother, Tank, who has been sidelined for three games with a separated shoulder, managed to hold down second place with nine goals and 13 assists for 22 points. Grant Moore, also of Toronto, is four points back with 11 goals and seven assists.

Gary Bonney of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs leads the goalkeepers with an average of only 3.29 goals per game.

'Cashing In For Family Sake'

Bobby Making Hay While Hull Shines

CHICAGO (AP) — Prosecutors building up on the incredible Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks' 21-year-old Golden Jet.

This is the amazing pace he is setting in the National Hockey League:

—A stranglehold on the scoring lead with 36 goals and 59 points in 41 games.

—The foregone conclusion he will repeat for the fourth time as left winger on the all-star team.

—The most valuable player and the league's most sportsmanlike performer for the first half of the season.

In the 1961-62 season, Hull became the third man in NHL history to score 50 goals. The best was off then because he started slow and nobody expected him to do it.

His scoring timetable this season, however, was so fast that talk of his breaking the record started after the season was only six weeks old. And it is building steadily.

If he should slow down and end with 47 or 48 goals, would he be ridiculed?

Off the ice pressures have been brought on Hull by himself. He is involved in several businesses and is in constant demand for endorsements and personal appearances.

WANTS RECORD

As a father of three children, he feels he must take every advantage of his reputation to help gain financial security.

"I've seen too many players go through this league in 10 years and the big money stops when they quit," he says. "I don't want that to happen to me. I have to cash in as much as I can right now for my family's sake. But it is getting pretty rough and I might have to taper off a little.

"But if fans are interested enough in wanting my autograph or a writer is interested enough to do a story, I'm sure not going to walk away from them. That's part of the business."

Pressure on the ice is something Hull admits must simply be endured.

"It seems as though each team has one line they like to use against Phil Esposito, Chico Maki and me," he says. "And generally they hook and hold, but they don't irritate me to the point where I'm going to retaliate and get a penalty.

"I just hope I can hold up the rest of the way and the team can win its first league championship."

Bathgate, Moore Practice

TORONTO (CP)—Andy Bathgate and Dickie Moore returned to practice for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League Tuesday but it is unlikely either will play tonight when the Leafs play Montreal Canadiens at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Bathgate broke his thumb in a game here two weeks ago and has not played since. The cast was removed Tuesday and Toronto coach Punch Imlach said Bathgate will probably play in Saturday's game against New York Rangers.

Moore, who played his first good game of the season for the Leafs against Chicago last Wednesday, reinjured a knee Saturday.

The former Canadiens star will probably be given a few days rest since Pete Stemkowski, his replacement, is playing well and Imlach says he is not keen about sending Stemkowski back to Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League until necessary.

MISSED 10 GAMES

Meanwhile, Toe Blake, coach of the Canadiens, said here he does not know yet whether Jean Beliveau, who has missed 10 games since a knee injury Dec. 23, will play in tonight's game.

"I'll be surprised if he plays. We played an exhibition game against Peterborough (Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series) Monday night and he played the whole game but he didn't look too good. There's not much sense rushing a thing like this."

In the game against Peterborough, Beliveau scored once and set up two other goals as the NHL club defeated its junior farmhands 5-2.

Blake said Gump Worsley, who won in two games in the Canadiens' nets last weekend, will definitely remain in goal for the Montreal club.

Scotsmen Drop Six Matches

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg curlers displayed their skill Tuesday as they swept six matches with visiting Scottish rinks in the Strathcona Cup curling competition.

Scoring run - away victories in four of the matches, the Winnipeg clubs piled up 84 points to 34 to run the aggregate total for the tour to 764 points against 527 for the visitors.

The Scots moved to Fort William for a set of matches today.

The Canadians rolled heavily on sheets about. Their Scottish opponents said they were the best curlers they had encountered to date on their Canadian tour.

Since the Strathcona competition started in 1909, the Canadian and Scottish curlers have held the trophy five times each.

HELPING HANDS

Generals Tie Wings
Flyers Clobber Rangers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bill Goldsworthy must wish he could play against Kitchener Rangers all the time.

When Goldsworthy scored three goals against the Rangers Tuesday night, it marked the second time in three days he had fattened his goal - scoring total by the same number.

In addition, he helped Niagara Falls to an 8-3 win over the Rangers, extending the Flyers' lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series to four points over Toronto Marlboros.

In Tuesday's other game, Oshawa Generals rallied from a two-goal deficit to tie Hamilton Red Wings 3-3.

Goldsworthy scored the first goal for the Flyers in the second period when they were down 1-0, then added the other two late in the game to wrap up the scoring.

Don Marcotte scored twice for the winners and Ted Snell, Andre Lajeunesse and Rod Delorey added single goals.

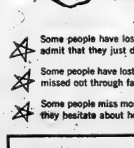
Captain Sandy Fitzpatrick scored both goals for the sixth-place Rangers.

In Oshawa, Ron Buchanan counted his 36th goal of the season and defenceman Bobby Orr his 22nd to lead the Generals. Bill Little added the other Oshawa goal.

Peter Mahovlich, Dick Lidster and Brian Watts counted for the Red Wings; contact 34.58 in the game.

Dufour Tops Central Pro

DETROIT (CP) — Marc Dufour, hard - shooting right-winger of St. Paul Rangers, continues to hold down first place in the scoring parade although the Rangers share third position with Tulsa Oilers in the Central Professional Hockey League standings.



In 53 games, the 23-year-old forward has fired 23 goals and picked up 25 assists for 51 points.

Veteran Tom McCarthy of Tulsa is chasing him for the leadership with 22 goals and 22 assists for 50 points.

McCarthy's teammate, Mike Walton, holds down third position with 34 goals and 25 assists for 47 points.

Canadian Amateur Sports Federation

Sports Training Centre, Games Topics For Meeting

OTTAWA (CP) — A sports training centre, the role of sport in centennial year and the on-again, off-again Canada Games are among topics for a meeting here Saturday of the Canadian Amateur Sports Federation.

The one - day session under President Melville Rogers of Ottawa will bring together representatives of about 45 amateur sport bodies in the country.

Establishment of a training centre, perhaps in the Gatineau Hills outside the capital, has been suggested at previous meetings.

Mr. Rogers said in an interview Tuesday it could be used for both winter and summer sports training and that it could have particular value in providing a place for Canada's Olympic teams to gather prior to going overseas.

In 1964 the sports bodies were asked to fill out questionnaires on what they were willing to do to help Canada mark the 100th anniversary of Confederation. This information will be discussed at the Saturday meeting.

REPORT ON GAMES

A report is to be made on the Canadian games. Originally scheduled for Quebec in 1965, the target date now is the winter of 1967 but plans aren't firm because of lack of money.

Mr. Rogers said the National Fitness Council has recommended a grant for the games and that both the federal and Quebec governments approve the project in principle.

The games would bring together at least 1,500 Canadian athletes once every four years. Each province would field a team, thus giving other than Olympic - calibre athletes a chance to better themselves through competition.

The federation has estimated it needs $700,000, most of it from the federal government, to stage the 1967 games.

OLYMPIC TEAM MEMBER—Roger Bourbonnais, 22, a native of Riviere Qui Barre, Alta., is in his second year with Canada's Olympic team. A law student at the University of Winnipeg, he has scored six goals and 19 assists in 27 games, including a pair (one was the winner) in the club's 3-2 win over Czechoslovakia in Toronto January 10. Aces Clip Reds 6-2, Barons Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleland Morison fired three goals for Quebec Aces Tuesday night, to come within striking distance of the American Hockey League scoring leader.

The performance sparked the eastern division-leading Aces to a 6-2 win over Providence Reds, and gave the 30-year-old Arnfield, Que., native 22 goals, third highest in the circuit this season.

He now is only 12 points behind Art Stratton of Buffalo Bisons, who leads the AHL with 55 points.

In other action Cleveland Barons, who trailed the western division, defeated Baltimore Clippers 5-2.

Red Berenson, Germain Gagnon and Wayne Hicks were the other Quebec marksmen. Jeannot Gilbert got both goals for Providence.

It was the third win in as many starts for rookie goaltender Gilles Baseville, who is filling in for Gump Worsley. Worsley was called in to replace Montreal Canadiens' regular goaltender Charlie Hodge in National Hockey League action last weekend.

Bob Courcy, Fred Glover, Wayne Larkin, Doug Senior and Joe Szura were the Cleveland marksmen. Gordon Labossiere and Dick Meissner replied for Baltimore.

GLOVES OR SHOES?

Ring's Ratings

Griffith Is Fighter of Year

NEW YORK (CP) — Emile Griffith, the busy welterweight champion, was named Tuesday as Ring magazine's fighter of the year for 1964. The 26-year-old New Yorker, a native of the Virgin Islands, beat out heavyweight champion Cassius Clay for the honor in Ring's annual poll of its staff and worldwide correspondents.

The poll and Ring's ratings for the year were based on 1964 achievements.

Ring's fighter of the year selection and its annual world ratings were released in the monthly magazine's March issue.

The ratings:

Heavyweights: Champion, Cassius Clay, Louisville, Ky.; 1. Sonny Liston, Denver; 2. Floyd Patterson, New York; 3. Ernie Terrell, Philadelphia; 4. Cleveland Williams, Houston; 5. Zora Folley, Chandler, Ariz.; 6. George Chuvalo, Toronto; 7. Eddie Machen, Los Angeles; 8. Doug Jones ,New York; 9. Karl Mildenberger, Germany; 10. Roger Blacher, San Francisco.

Light heavyweights: Champion, Willie Pastrano, Miami, Fla.; 1. Gregorio Peralta, Argentina; 2. Harold Johnson, Philadelphia; 3. Jose Torres, New York.

Middleweights: Champion, Joey Giardello, Cherry Hills, N.J.; 1. Joey Archer, New York; 2. Dick Tiger, Nigeria; 3. Rubin Carter, Paterson, N.J.

Welterweights: Champion, Emile Griffith, New York; 1. Luis Rodriguez, Miami; 2. Jose Stable, New York; 3. Brian Curvis, Wales.

Junior welterweights: Champion, Eddie Perkins, Chicago; 1. Jose Napoles, Mexico; 2. Piero Brandi, Italy; 3. Sandro Lopopolo, Italy.

Lightweights: Champion, Carlos Ortiz, New York; 1. Dave Charnley, England (retired); 2. Bunny Grant, Jamaica; 3. Carlos Hernandez, Venezuela.

Junior lightweights: Champion, Flash Elorde, Philippines; 1. Johnny Bizzarro, Erie, Pa.; 2. Teruo Kosaka, Japan; 3. Willie Quartuor, Germany.

Featherweights: Champion, Vincente Saldivar, Mexico; 1. Tamael Laguna, Panama; 2. Sugar Ramos, Mexico City; (retired) 3. Floyd Robertson, Ghana.

Bantamweights: Champion, Eder Jofre, Brazil; 1. Fighting Harada, Japan; 2. Joe Medel, Mexico; 3. Jesus Pimentel, Los Angeles.

Flyweights: Champion, Pone Kingpetch, Thailand; 1. Salvatore Burruni, Italy; 2. Hiroyuki Ebihara, Japan; 3. Horace Accavallo, Argentina.

Bantams, Juniors Beaten

Quinte Srs. Edge Moira

By ROBERT SNEFJELLA

Quinte Seniors tripped Moira Trojans in an exciting 90-84 game to prevent a triple-header sweep for Moira in Bay of Quinte COSSA basketball action yesterday.

Moira Juniors demolished Quinte 83-35 and the visiting bantams scored an easy 63-37 win in the games played at Quinte Secondary School.

Moira's bantam victory was a convincing one, as they scored effortlessly against a futile Quinte defence. Especially good for the winners was Beresford, who controlled the boards at both ends and was easily high scorer with 24 points. Also scoring well for Moira were Bishop and LaRue, each with 10 points, Paul Goodfellow had 11 points for the losers, while Ted Shaw and Glen Easton added eight each.

Mike Watson and Dave Beresford led the Moira Juniors to their overwhelming victory. Watson was high scorer with 21 points, and Beresford followed with 20. D. McLean and John Haymen contributed 10 and five points respectively. Phil Buddle and Doug Dickey scored nine points each for the losers.

In the first quarter of the senior game Moira continued the night's trend, that is, Quinte's obliterution. They led 19-5 going into the second quarter. Quinte rallied, however, and actually held Moira scoreless for over half of the second quarter. At half time Quinte trailed by three points, the game was tied at 32-32 after the third quarter and Quinte's momentum carried it to its 90-84 win.

For Moira, Dunsmore was the chief rebounder and scorer with 24 points.

Tony Meddings was the key figure in Quinte's victory, although it was a fine team effort.

Quinte's next opponent is Trenton High School, who will play at Quinte this Friday.

Senior game: Quinte (90) — Meddings 19, Leslie 8, Medved 8, Reppard 8, Taylor 8, Valyear 1, Bylaga, Brooks, Johnson, May, Mulligan, Wright.

Moira '(44) — Dunsmore 24, Bailey 8, Leckie 6, Pugh 6, Graham 2, Dolan, Farrow, Milligan, Probert, Ritchie.

MULTIPLE GUIDANCE

BROMLEY, England (CP)— Lois Broughton doesn't know it yet, but she has 50 godparents. The baby daughter of the curate of Christ Church in this Kent town was attended by all the members of the church's youth group and they all agreed to be godparents.

Slippery Roads Cause of Two Mishaps

PICTON (Staff) — As accident on County Road 13 Tuesday afternoon ended in approximately $400 damage to two cars. A vehicle driven by James Whitaford of R.R. 1 Cherry Valley crashed into another auto driven by Paul Potts, also of R.R. 1 Cherry Valley when Whitaford entered the county road from his laneway. Damage was confined to the front end of each car. Whitaford was very poor and road conditions very slippery at the time. There were no injuries recorded in the accident. Only one other accident has been reported by OPP this week in spite of poor weather conditions for driving in the county. Early Sunday morning Peter Bowman, 30, of R.R. 1 Carrying Place had a lucky escape from injury on the Redmond mile road. His car left the road, broke off a hydro pole and travelled 30 feet coming to rest on its side. Both doors were forced open by the impact and Stanton was half thrown out before he regained the wheel and pulled himself back inside the car. OPP who investigated the accident believe that this action may have saved his life.

Juniors Crush Peterborough By 14-1 Score

PICTON (Staff) — The Junior "C" Merchants crushed Peterborough 14-1 and Peterborough bantams downed the Peterborough bantams 6-1 in a pair of exhibition hockey games here Tuesday night.

Peterborough Don Bye Funke "Eye" were to have played the local Merchants but the visiting team consisted mainly of juvenile players.

Harold Haddock led the Picton attack with four goals while Paul Dean and Ron Hall added three goals apiece. Ernie Sharpe scored two, Bob Hopkins and Billy Hicks also scored.

Hatton triggered the only Peterborough "marker. The game in the third period.

Plant Forced To Reduce Work Staff

PICTON (Staff) — Picton's Proctor-Silex plant has been forced to lay off employees for the first time since it began operations here some 15 years ago. A 15 per cent increased tariff on toasters being imported into Great Britain has affected the market for the appliances. Great Britain is one of the main export markets for toasters. The local firm has a total of 305 employees and is running 176 are still working on other lines of appliances. A new type iron known as the "spray iron" is being added to the plant's appliance line in the near future.

Police Alerted After Ship Reported Afire on Lake

PICTON (Staff)—A ship was reported afire in the area of Duck Islands Tuesday night. Mrs. H. Roth of R.R. 4 Picton phoned Picton Police at 9 p.m. that what appeared to be a ship on fire at approximately 9:30 p.m. had a light house on the bow. Originally she thought that a barn or building on the island might be on fire. On observing closer, however, she found the object to be more like a ship every appearance of a ship being on fire and she and her husband phoned authorities. Police moving in a car in the direction, she said, toward Amherst Island. The False Duck Islands are located some 10 miles out in the lake from the Roth residence.

The Islands are only a little over two miles from the tip of Point Traverse, the most easterly point of Prince Edward County and projects well out into the lake. Provincial Police were alerted in Picton and Search and Rescue at RCAF Station Trenton notified that it might be a ship on fire. According to authorities the only known ship on the lake at the time was the Government Survey Vessel, Port Dolphine. This ship was checked out by police officials and found to be in no trouble.

It is presumed that the glow seen by Mrs. Roth was caused by the ship's lights. The ship is well lighted and there were heavy swells on the lake, also there was a fairly heavy snow fall at the time, that would make recognition uncertain. According to the latest report received from Mrs. Roth the glow disappeared after about one half hour. As long as the locally have lived in this area she said they had never seen a boat out in the lake before at this time of year and although it could have been ship's lights she said they decided not to take chances and report it.

Will Replay Kingston, Hull Game

OTTAWA (CP) — The St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League has ordered that the Jan. 16 Hull Volants and Kingston Aces in Kingston be replayed, with the Hull team meeting travelling expenses.

The game was awarded earlier to Kingston when Hull coach Chester Konecny pulled his team off the rink after a scuffle involving Hull players and Kingston fans. The score was tied 4-4 in the second period when the trouble started.

League President Art Taylor announced that Konecny and Jules Bellefle, also of Hull, have been given three-game suspensions for their part in the fracas.

The league decision requires approval of the Ottawa District Hockey Association, but Taylor said he expects the association to support him.

FINLEY FRODS FRICK

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles O. Finley, owner of Kansas City Athletics of the American League said Tuesday commissioner Ford Frick has authority to initiate what Finley termed much - needed inter-league play in baseball's major leagues. He said the commissioner has authority to rule over both leagues and should get them together for inter-league play "which fans certainly deserve and can be baseball's greatest salvation."

LOST IN MOUNTAINS

FUNAESDALEN, Sweden (AP)—A 78-year-old Lapp reindeer herder survived 40 hours in a snowstorm and temperatures near zero after he lost his way hiking to his cottage in the northern Swedish mountains. When found by a mountain rescue squad, Lars Fjellsten commented shamefacedly: "It was no good that a mountain man like me became lost."

KENNEDY SPEAKER

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York will be the principal speaker at the 42nd annual dinner of the New York Baseball Writers Association Jan. 31. The association announced Tuesday Kennedy will head a group of celebrities to include former postmaster general James J. Farley, baseball commissioner Ford C. Frick, American and National League presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles, and Brooklyn Dodgers president Tommy Richardson.

NEW COMET SEEN

TOKYO (AP) — China claims its scientists have discovered a new comet. A New China News Agency dispatch said astronomers in Nanking first observed the comet on the night of Jan. 1 in the constellation of Gemini and confirmed the discovery by with another sighting five nights later.

Sophia Loren Is Busiest Film Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You're not get few arguments that Sophia Loren rates as one of the screen's most beautiful and talented actresses—and absolutely no arguments that she is the busiest.

In the last year, the shapely Italian star was lucky to get a Sunday off. Look at this schedule:

First, Marriage — Italian Style.

Then came Judith in Israel, a particularly demanding role that involved more action than a John Wayne movie.

She finished that on a Saturday. She used the Sunday to move to Paris to start Lady L for MGM on a Monday. She will be on the film until March.

In between she had that marvelous television tour of Rome.

And, if her schedule will permit it, producers Joe Levine and Ponti want to bring her to New York and Hollywood for the openings of Marriage—Italian style.

TWO YEAR YEN OFF

"But when I finish Lady L," says Sophia, "I am going to take one full year off and rest."

A reporter interrupted: "After one month, you'll be ready to get back to work again."

Sophia's eyes sparkled: "One month off, that seems too long. I'll probably be back after two weeks."

The actress and Ponti own a fabulous villa on Lake Orta, which they seldom see, another in Switzerland, and have a beautiful apartment in the Avenue George V in Paris. She's living there now.

Why was she work so hard?

"When you do something you love, it's not work. It's joy. I have a lot of work so much that I am miserable when I'm not working."

AGED RACER DIES

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Tar quinius, a seven-year-old pacer who won $105,000 in purses last year, died Monday in the Cornell University veterinary hospital of an infection. The horse had undergone a bone operation on his left fore-leg last Wednesday. He was named as the aged pacer of the year in 1964 by the U.S. Harness Writers Association and the U.S. Trotting Association.

Shade Blacks 4-3 Hornets Widen Margin

DUNNVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Galt Hornets increased their lead to three points in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior standings here Tuesday night with a 4-3 defeat of the collar-dwelling Welland Blacks.

The game was a rescheduled affair slated for Welland. However, ice time was not available there because of previous commitments.

Most of the scoring in the game came in the final period. The two teams were deadlocked after the first 30 minutes and Galt led 2-1 at the end of the second period.

Larry Pinti, Jim Dahmer, Pete Kowalchuck and Bert Brown scored for the winners. Ron Montague, Murray Davidson and Bill Owens replied for the Blacks.

Welland outshot the Hornets 36-24.

Galt's Pfaff drew a penalty for high sticking when his stick met Welland's Mike Green. Green, on loan from Port Colborne Sailors of the Intermediate series, needed several stitches to close the cut around his eye.

Rollins Tie With Cobourg

Belleville Bulldogs came from behind to grab a 3-3 exhibition tie in a peewee game played in Cobourg last night.

Cobourg jumped into a 3-0 first period lead, Bulldog slipped back to lead 3-2 at one time but Cobourg scored a 3-3 before the end of the second period and both sides were scoreless in the third.

Dennis Cone, Terry Maughner and Rick Meadows fired the Belleville goals in that order. John Mulvihill had the club's lone penalty.

Sherwin, Alexander and Johnson tallied for Cobourg. Marcel Sailors two assists, Beavan, Kelly and Burnam one apiece.

There were nine penalties in the game, roughly-played at times, including fighting majors between R. Alexander and Rollins' T. Meagher in the first period.

Here at Memorial Arena tonight, Belleville Oddfellow midgets play the only OMHA game, United Wellington, at 8.00 while the novice Riteways play Cobourg at 6.00 and the Oddfellow bantams tackle Cobourg at 7.00 in exhibition games.

A BMHA juvenile game between the Tigers and Aces will be played at nine o'clock. This game has been postponed from Sunday, Jan. 24, due to schedule changes brought about by the "Hockey Week" which starts Saturday.

Spicy and Daring Themes In Serial Cause Rumblings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Ever since ABC's evening dramatic serial Peyton Place turned into one of the season's hit shows, there have been rumblings about its spicy, daring themes.

The page reporter Variety coined a new word for the evening serial, "a sexist" and reported that a movement is under way in at least one community to persuade the television station to discontinue the program.

Peyton Place does have some situations rarely encountered in, say, The Donna Reed Show or The Munsters.

But the ripples caused by the show's plots and sub - plots could only have been the persons unaware of what has been going on for years in the daytime soap operas.

A friend who keeps an eye on half dozen of them finds Peyton Place pretty mild stuff. In one of the daily diversions, a girl graduate of reform school and prison has married a nice young man for money but continues to have an affair with the thief with whom she once lived and by whom she is having a child.

This is the great day for the Democrats and the television networks as Lyndon Johnson is inaugurated as president and the networks plan to cover it from stem to stern.

Inaugural highlights, NBC, 7:30-8 EST; inaugural ball, CBS and NBC, 11:15-1 a.m.

RIDZIK SIGNS UP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pitchers Steve Ridzik and Bennie Daniels signed their 1965 contracts with Washington Senators Tuesday, making a total of four players signed for next season by the American League baseball club. Catcher Jim Hicks, who have signed are outfielder Frank Howard and first baseman Bob Chance.

Canadians Sixth In Practice

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Britain's Olympic champions, Tony Nash and Robin Dixon, easily led the field again Tuesday in practice runs for the world two - man bobsled championships next weekend.

Snowfalls slowed the St. Moritz Olympia run, but the British pair was more than three seconds faster than their closest rivals for the two runs down the twisting ice course. Nash and Dixon had times of 2:28.68 and 1:20.17, for a total of 2:48.85.

The Canadian team of driver Vic Emery of Montreal and Mike Young, a 21-year-old student at the University of Western Ontario, finished sixth Tuesday with a total time of 2:47.88.

Dr. John Emery of Toronto and Purvis McDougall of Montreal were eighth with a total time of 2:48.87.

FIFTEEN PENALTY

SEATTLE (AP) — Western Hockey League directors have stiffened the penalty for high-sticking. High - sticking now calls for a five-minute penalty in an attempt to lessen the number of cuts and head injuries, the directors have said. to add a $25 fine to the penalty. The decision was made at directors' meeting that ended Tuesday.

Astrological Forecasts

By STANLEY OMARR

For January 21

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Be aware of limitations. Maintain an open mind, attitude. Tries to impress higher-ups. Do so by deft handling of responsibility. Make minor concessions. Gains will be major.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Finish what you start. Complete projects. Romantic interests could prove expensive. Keep both feet on ground. Avoid extravagant promises. Be realist . . . thoughtful.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Be seen — and heard. Fine for relaxation. Getting out, being with loved ones. You can impress people today. Valuable, new contacts possible. Lead rather than follow.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Financial matters appear slow here. Don't become involved in serious dispute. Tact, diplomacy are most effective allies. Check details. Be thorough. Analyze.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Avoid tendency to scatter forces. In trying to protect interests, some efforts need to be concentrated. Emphasize objectivity. Means see persons, situations as they exist.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Early you are restless. You want to be "on the go." Could lead to errors. Let this be fair warning. Utilize energy in creative endeavors. Then you are wise, mature.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Cycle moves up. But some changes remain necessary. You simply cannot bury past mistakes. Face up to them. Make revisions. Obtain aid of expert. Then you feel better!

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Aggressive friend may act like "bull in a china shop." Be on guard! Your role is that of diplomat. Strive for harmony. Be the moderator. Others need you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Time when you can combine work with pleasure. Make valuable contacts through social event. Be gracious. Turn on charm. Personal magnetism rating high.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Your sense of perception enables you to find valuable clues. Be confident. Even accidental meeting could be of decided importance. Be grateful!

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Make financial plans which could include travel. Start preparing. Future appears bright where adventure is concerned. Don't be satisfied to stand still. Move ahead!

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Pressures on personal scene require legal affairs. Necessary to be cautious in all dealings. Be sure your wealth is not undermined. Look out for one who proposes blazing schemes.

Buddhists Quit Viet Nam Govt., Monks Fasting

Hunger Strikers' Head Man Who Upset Diem

From Reuters-AP

SAIGON (CP) — Paratroopers today crashed down on a row of shanties near the barricaded Buddhist headquarters here where fire razes were on a death fast against the government.

The paratroopers moved in and arrested nine persons after an unruly mob outside the headquarters threw rocks at police. The troops then left the scene and the crowd dispersed.

The hunger strike, aimed at the downfall of Premier Tran Van Huong and his government, was in its second day.

Buddhists today withdrew from a recently - formed military - civilian unity council because, they said in a statement, armed forces representative Brig.-Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky had joined the cabinet.

A police spokesman said 15 troopers were injured in rioting Wednesday in front of the Buddhist headquarters, but only six were in hospital.

Four South Vietnamese generals assumed cabinet posts Wednesday after some hesitation. Huong reshuffled his cabinet Monday to include the generals, apparently in a bid to strengthen his hand against strong Buddhist opposition.

Leader of the hunger strikers is Thich Tam Chau, the chief of the local Buddhist Institute and a leader of the Buddhist agitation that helped to overthrow President Ngo Dinh Diem. But after Diem's overthrow, the military took over and the Buddhists were bypassed.

Huong announced that he and the other four monks would continue their hunger strike until death unless Huong and his cabinet quit. He charged that the government was suppported only by the Americans and elements of the Diem regime, was without legal basis and was distributing arms to the Buddhists.

On the military front, U.S. sources said that the South Vietnamese air force was making a determined effort to throw the Communists out of the Boi Loi forest about 30 miles west of Saigon. They said South Vietnamese Skyraiders flew 137 sorties so far this week and B-26 bombings were expected.

The Communists have used the forest as a base of operations for several years.

PC Leader Praised And Blamed

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's record on relations with Quebec, central issue in the Conservative party's public squabble, has come in for praise and blame by two of his former cabinet ministers.

Alvin Hamilton, agriculture Minister for more than two years, tried to convince a national television audience Wednesday night that the former prime minister is not a "bigbad wolf" and said "our record with Quebec is good."

Quebec leader Leon Balcer, a former transport minister, is quoted as telling party President Dalton K. Camp that "not every issue touching the taproots of Confederation, the hopes and aspirations of French Canada have been distorted, misrepresented and ignored."

Mr. Balcer's remarks are taken from a letter the Montreal Gazette says he sent to Mr. Camp following the 10-member Quebec caucus' public demand last week for a leadership convention.

The demand for a leadership convention had support from 10 outside Quebec. But 34 said they are opposed to a convention and see no need for one.

There are 86 Conservatives in the 265-seat Commons.

Party House Leader Gordon Churchill, a staunch ally of the opposition leader, hopes these divergent views can be reconciled in private discussions after Parliament resumes Feb. 16.

'ALL ARE FRIENDS'

"Basically, we are all Conservatives and we are all friends, and we have been able to resolve these things without coming to blows in the past," he said.

The 10-member Quebec caucus has said it will meet again if the party's national execu-

Passed '$60,000 Word'

MONTREAL (CP) — Guy Masson, vowing "I was very much the layman," testified to the Dorion inquiry today that he did not know last summer whether the extradition of Lucien Rivard could be prevented.

Masson said all he did in the Rivard affair was pass along word to Raymond Denis, at that time executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, that $80,000 was available for the Liberal party election fund if Rivard was not extradited to the United States to face charges in connection with a narcotics smuggling case.

Yves Fortier, counsel for Pierre Lamontagne, suggested that after last July 8 Masson and Denis decided that Rivard had to be got out of jail on bail at any cost.

Masson replied that he did not know what Mr. Fortier meant by the words "at any cost."

He said there never was any question between him and Denis at that time of a bribe or of Mr. Lamontagne's association with Rivard.

$80,000 BRIBE OFFERED

Mr. Lamontagne is counsel for the United States justice department which wants Rivard extradited. He has testified that Rivard offered him a $20,000 bribe to agree to Rivard's release on bail.

Mr. Fortier asked how, with $80,000 in hand "were you going to go about preventing Rivard's extradition?"

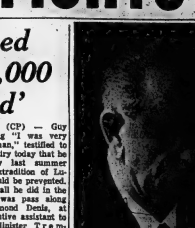
"I had no idea whether we could or couldn't prevent extradition, Masson replied. "I was very much the layman . . .

"All I did was carry out the errand to Mr. Denis that Mr. Gignac had asked me to do.

Masson has testified he has accepted $1,000 from Robert Gignac, his business partner, now charged with capital murder in a gangland-type slaying here last Sept. 17, to enlist help in Ottawa on Rivard's behalf.

PROTEST NEWS REPORTS

As the hearing reopened before Chief Justice Frederic Dorion, Francois Chapados, counsel for Masson, protested about newspaper reports quoting Municipal Affairs Minister Pierre Laporte as making personal remarks about Masson.



The counsel said Mr. Laporte has no business making such statements outside the hearings.

Masson has testified he was the chief Liberal organizer in Chambly, Que., in 1960.

Mr. Laporte is the Liberal member for Chambly in the Quebec legislature. He said in an interview Wednesday that Mr. Masson is his greatest political enemy.

Masson, asked whether he be-

REFLECTION AFTER SPEECH — President Johnson leafs through notes in a moment of reflection following his speech at ceremonies marking his inaugural as the 36th President of the U.S. With him is Vice President Humphrey. (AP Wirephoto)

Poverty, Ignorance Are Foes Says Johnson at Inauguration

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Johnson, inaugurated Wednesday as leader of the United States for the next four years, says poverty and ignorance are national enemies and such evils as racial injustice and international hatreds must go.

In a solemn, lightly-applauded address launching his first elective term of office, Johnson predicted that these enemies of progress will be conquered before this generation has finished its life span.

He said that while "we can never again stand aside prideful in isolation," the United States "aspires to nothing that belongs to others."

The president spoke in an idealistic vein for 22 minutes after he had repeated the oath of office read to him by Chief Justice Earl Warren of the U.S. Supreme Court. His right hand raised, Johnson's left hand rested on his late mother's bible, held for him by his wife.

The president's description of the kind of America he wants to see emerge from an era of "rapid and fantastic change" was couched in such uncontroversial terms that even Republicans who support his aims for a "great society" will involve massive new federal spending had only praise for his speech.

Politically, the speech was interpreted as an appeal for continuance of the consensus that resulted in his November landslide victory.

His speech fixed humanitarian goals with which few Americans could disagree. Patterned on Franklin D. Roosevelt's first inaugural rallying call for Americans, it was devoid of politically challenging phrases.

The noon - time inauguration ceremonies in sunny but chilly weather climaxed three days of Texas-flavored celebrations for the accession of a man who had been a caretaker leader for 14 months after the assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy. In his own words, Johnson now is president "on his own."

Johnson, 56, took his oath of office minutes after Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was sworn in as vice-president.

Security measures were the most stringent in U.S. history but were broken by the president himself. The inaugural parade had hardly begun when the president jumped out of his bullet-proof limousine. In long strides he proceeded to the band of his alma mater, Southwest Texas State College, and shook the hands of four girl banner bearers.

It was the most expensive inauguration ever at a cost exceeding $2,000,000, although much of all of it will be recovered in the fees charged party faithful for attendance.

Later, surrounded by his wife in her jonquil yellow satin dress, he attended the inaugural ball, spread out over five great halls. Some 26,000 persons had paid $25 a ticket for these kingsized "dances."

Speech Short On Surprises

TORONTO (CP)—The speech from the throne opening the third session of the 27th Legislature of Ontario contained 5,000 words, covered about 50 items and contained one major surprise.

Opposition Leader Andrew Thompson, the third Liberal Leader to face Premier John Robarts in his 3½ years as head of the government, called it a patchwork of platitudes.

New Democratic Party Leader Donald MacDonald had his own alliterative phrase—he termed it a tedious teaser.

The major item in the 17-page document was an announcement that the government will set up a non-partisan committee to advise it on Ontario's position in Confederation.

Presumably, it will act in a manner similar to a committee set up by the Quebec government two years ago to study that province's role in Confederation.

GROUP ADVISORY

Mr. Robarts said the group will advise the government on matters "in relation to and arising out of the position of Ontario in confederation."

In addition, a select committee of the Legislature will be set up to study the Corporations Act and related legislation.

Shows Fleeting Indications Of Consciousness

'At Very Low Ebb' But Still Clinging to Life

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill, reported Wednesday night to be at a low ebb, continued his valiant fight to live today.

The 14th medical bulletin, issued at 12:16 p.m., said:

"There is no change in Sir Winston's condition. There will be a further bulletin this evening."

Seven days after he was felled by a stroke, the 90-year-old statesman was in a semi-coma, but with momentary fleeting signs of consciousness.

Only members of the family inside the Churchill home at the time of the medical bulletin were Lady Churchill, 79, and young Winston Churchill, grandson and namesake of Britain's wartime prime minister. He is the son of Randolph Churchill.

The midday bulletin was issued by Churchill's personal doctor and old friend, Lord Moran, who left his home in Hyde Park Gate home in west London for about 50 minutes today.

Wednesday night Moran said Churchill was at a very low ebb . . . clinging to life from one day to the next.

SMALL CROWD

A small crowd stood at the entrance to Hyde Park Gate—a deadend street—to see Moran drive away.

Today's visit was longer than usual. Several times during the crisis that began last Friday when Churchill was stricken with cerebral thrombosis, Moran completed his diagnosis in half an hour or so.

Seizing at every straw for signs of a dramatic turn either way, reporters pressed the doctor for further information. But Moran shook his head and refused to comment on his medical bulletin.

An informant said that Moran had given his word to Lady Churchill that he would not comment beyond the medical bulletin.

Reporters took as a good sign—or rather not a bad one—that the new alliterative phrase—he termed it a tedious teaser.

The major item in the 17-page document was an announcement that the government will set up a non-partisan committee to advise it on Ontario's position in Confederation.

Moran visited Churchill three times Wednesday, once before issuing a 9:30 p.m. bulletin, the third since Churchill was afflicted Friday by a cerebral thrombosis, saying:

"The weakness of Sir Winston's circulation is more marked. There is nothing else to report."

The Daily Telegraph's medical correspondent says the bulletin indicates that "what have been days of waiting now may be shortened to hours."

"His condition is stationary,"

New Flag Raised On Feb. 15

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new red and white maple leaf flag will be raised for the first time officially soon Monday, Feb. 15, Prime Minister Pearson announced Wednesday.

He said the flag would be raised on the Peace Tower of the parliament building with appropriate ceremony and he hopes similar flag-raising ceremonies can be held across Canada, and at Canadian missions abroad at the same time.

Mr. Pearson said he will write a proclamation formally in the next day or two outlining the plan and asking whether they wish to join in the ceremonies.

Feb. 15 is the day before the Commons resumes its parliamentary session. Mr. Pearson hopes MPs would attend the ceremony.

Mr. Pearson made the announcement after a two - hour cabinet meeting at which he and External Affairs Minister Martin reported to their colleagues on their discussions last weekend with President Johnson and Secretary of State Rusk at the LBJ Ranch in Texas and in Washington.

The cabinet also discussed Wednesday the resumed session of the UN General Assembly and the difficulties it faces over Russia's refusal to pay peace-keeping assessments.

At a brief press conference after the cabinet meeting Mr. Pearson also commented on:

—Redistribution: Speaker Alan Macnaughton showed him his list of appointments to redistribution commissions and "I have no fault to find with any of the names."

—Ontario: He expressed "very great interest" in the Ontario government's decision to set up a committee to examine Ontario's role in the constitution, and he would look forward to Premier Robarts' statement on pensions.

—Capital Punishment: The government has made no decision on whether or not a private MP will introduce a bill abolishing capital punishment at the next session of Parliament, on which there will be a free vote. Even so, while the government is continuing to handle capital cases in the normal way, giving each individual study.

NASSER NOMINATED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters) President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt was formally nominated Wednesday night for a further six-year term in the presidency by the National Assembly. The nomination ceremony was broadcast live by Cairo Radio.

Bleinheim, Where He Was Born, Married, Resting Place For Winnie

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill remarried once day:

"At Bleinheim I took two very important decisions: To be born and to marry.

"I am happily content with the decisions I took on those occasions."

Sir Winston didn't mention still another decision he had made to return to Bleinheim Palace — or, more precisely, the adoining churchyard at St. Martin's, Bladon — as his last resting place.

This became known Wednesday as he lay grievously ill. It will come as no surprise to Blenheim, to Bladon, where Sir Winston's parents are buried.

One resident told a Canadian reporter two years ago that villagers were convinced Winston would want to come back to his birthplace and that near "they" — apparently meaning the government — might insist on Westminster Abbey as more suitable.

Blenheim, often described as the most beautiful and sumptuous private residence in Britain, is the palace built not only as a monumental structure set in 100 acres of Oxfordshire parkland.

Queen Anne decreed its construction for Sir Winston's ancestor, the first Duke of Marlborough, in the days when victorious English generals were invited to palaces with titles but with more tangible gifts.

The duke, John Churchill, was granted the castle after he defeated the French at the Danu town of Blenheim Aug. 13. 1704.

It is the only non - royal secular residence bearing the name of palace. Famous writers have filled pages with praise for the building and setting which caused George III to exclaim: "We have nothing to equal this."

The visitor may be surprised to find that Sir Winston was born in a pokey little room that once served as a cloakroom for visiting dignitaries. It contains such things as his baby clothes and a lock of his hair.

Winston's mother, the vivacious American Jennie Jerome, wife of Lord Randolph Churchill, had been married when the birth pains came and she made it back to the palace—only one foot. She didn't reach a bedroom.

As a boy, Winston was held presumptive to the dukedome—and hence to Bleinheim—and is cousin of the present owner. It is nearly 50 years since he proposed to Clementine Henley in the palace gardens and they have visited the Marlborough's from time to time.

Sir Winston's parents are buried beside St. Martin's Parish Church, visible from the palace, and it is there he requested that he should rest when the time comes. A space has been reserved beside his father's grave, which is marked by a big stone cross,

Think Dockers at New York Will Vote to Settle Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A possible early end to the crippling Maine-to-Texas dock strike was in the hands of striking New York longshoremen today, as they voted a second time on a contract they rejected two weeks ago.

Thomas Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL-CIO), says he has received enough petitions and telephone calls to assure acceptance of the proposed contract with the New York Shipping Association.

But even if his prediction proves correct, contract disputes in other ports could prolong the 11-day walkout that the maritime administration says has made idle 343 ships on the east coast.

Some 60,000 men are idle and the estimates of the cost to the U.S. economy range from $20,000,000 to $67,000,000 a day.

A New York agreement traditionally sets the pattern for contracts in other ports, although the ILA has a tradition of signing separate but not wholly unlocal contracts in all ports have similar agreements with employers.

Union leaders have blamed the New York rejection on a misunderstanding and lack of information. They called it the first contract in union history with a guaranteed annual wage of $5,980 and fringe benefits unmatched in any previous agreement.

In return, however, the shippers won the right to cut workgangs to 17 men from 20 in four years—a concession to automation that the union has firmly opposed. This provision was blamed generally for rejection of the contract, and the union has been conducting an intensive education campaign.

Britain Will Stand by Its Treaty Obligations to France Over Concorde

LONDON (Reuters)—Aviation Minister Roy Jenkins announced Wednesday a qualified British go-ahead for the Anglo-French Concorde supersonic airliner project.

But he refuse dto give details of the terms on which the Labor government's decision was taken nor to say how this alters the program started under the previous Conservative government.

Jenkins' statement to the House of Commons announced that Britain would stand by its treaty obligations to France over the Concorde.

He stressed: "We have, and we still retain, some doubts about the financial and economic aspects of the project."

Jenkins refused to be drawn when asked specifically whether the government had decided to go ahead only with production of the prototype of the 1,400-mile-an-hour aircraft.

But he did say:

"We would like to know as much about the performance of the prototype before entering into a very heavy production program."

Future discussions with France, he said, would decide exactly how the two countries should proceed with the project.

Latest unofficial estimates of the cost of the Concorde project as a whole are £350,000,000. The cost of two prototypes is estimated at £60,000,000 each for Britain and France.

CAS Service in Northern Part of Country Would Be Expensive Council Told

The possibility of expanded children's aid services for the North Hastings district was discussed by county council yesterday following presentation of the annual CAS report.

The matter was left for further consideration by the county property committee but Mrs. Bruce Kerr, Society superintendent, warned that expansion of present services would prove costly.

The Society report showed that there were 143 children in the care of the society at the end of December 1964, a decrease of 32 from the first of the year.

During the year 90 children had been admitted to the care of the Society while 122 had been discharged.

Hastings county had paid maintenance for 54 children in care during December with 32 being sheltered to care from the county during the year.

ASKS QUESTION

Discussion of CAS services in the north end of the county was raised when Reeve Hughes asked why there was no boarding homes north of No. 7 highway.

Mr. Kerr said there were several reasons for the policy, one of them being financial.

Also, he said, it has been his experience that children in foster homes close to headquarter's supervision do well with greater success in later life.

Bancroft Reeve M. J. McAlipine suggested that it might be better if the whole of the CAS headquarters was not concentrated in the south and asked if any consideration had been given to stationing of a worker in the north.

Mr. Kerr replied that this had been suggested to county council a decade or so but was returned down by council for financial reasons.

He said, however, that expanded CAS services in the north was highly desirable.

SERVICE DESIRABLE

Mr. Kerr admitted that expanded CAS services in the north would be "highly desirable" but at the same time said that all complaints of child neglect from that area were now being investigated as quickly as possible.

Dr. Sidney Rose, CAS president stressed the importance of Society services pointing out also the value of preventative care which had greatly reduced the number of children being taken into care by the society.

County safety inspector Earl Mackey said he was now out receiving more co-operation from builders although the winter months were a slack period in construction.

The importance of municipal building inspectors forwarding building lists was stressed so that the county inspector could check on construction. County Clerk-Treasurer Carl Bateman said this was doubly important now that a county assessment commissioner system had been adopted.

STAFF APPOINTMENTS

During the afternoon session council ratified earlier caucus decisions on appointments while Warden Fred Beckett also named several special committees.

These included the hospital building committee, planning committee, assessment committee; technological school committee and a committee to further investigate the idea of a central jail.

AOTS Installs Ted Poste As President

The regular monthly meeting of AOTS club started the ball rolling for 1965 with an enjoyable Twi-light Supper Meeting, enhanced by the efforts of Mrs. Campbell's U.C.W. group who did the catering.

Retiring President Doug Thompson welcomed the guests and expressed his appreciation of the members support given him in rounding out a successful year.

Mr. Ray Scott gave an impressive devotional, choosing as the theme Christian Witness: Sabbath and Work-a-Day.

An exhilerating sing-song by Ron Jones added to the evenings entertainment.

The installation of the evening, Mr. Keith Hubbard, vice-president of Prince Edward District A.O.T.S. was introduced by S. Orr.

Mr. Hubbard conducted the installation ceremonies assisted by the incident of the ilcoming president Ted Poste, Deputy Bill Bird being called out earlier from the meeting to report for duty.

The executive officers installed for 1965: president — Ted Poste (in absentee) stand in Jim Orr past president; vice president — Beldon Tripp, secretary — Ross Fairman; Treasurer — Charlie Outlaw. The installation concluded with a prayer of dedication by Rev. C. Coleman.

TALKS ON SOCIETY

Mr. Hubbard gave an inspiring and much appreciated talk on the relation of A.O.T.S. work to church and community life, stressing its value to the individual in the development of a Christian personality.

Mr. Beldon Tripp thanked the speaker on behalf of the members.

The meeting closed with benediction by the pastor of the church.

Mr. Beaudrie will be taking up his duties on Monday, Jan. 18, 1965. His office will be located in the Township of Thurlow Municipal Building, Canniffton.

Automation Threatens Jobs Of Blind, Conference Told

"Many industrial jobs formerly done by the blind, both skilled and unskilled, are now being handled through automated processes." This ever-growing threat to job opportunities for the blind was emphasized at the conference of Ontario Field Secretaries of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, held at 473 Bloor Street West, January 5, 6 and 7th.

During his talk, the speaker, H. C. Hamilton, newly appointed CNIB National Director of Employment, outlined steps his department is taking to offset resulting loss of employment for the blind. "Automation points up the need for more education on vocational lines for blind students. It also emphasizes the need for research into job selection and the training required to equip blind youth for work never tackled by blind persons before.

STUDY PROJECT

At present, CNIB is studying the possibilities of computer programming. Research has already been done in the United States, but CNIB has spent considerable funds in investigating the matter and is currently working with the University of Manitoba on a pilot project for Canada."

The 3-day conference held in the Toronto CNIB headquarters, probed this and many other questions confronting the forthcoming year. Ontario Director Mrs. Ruth Bowen has developed a thorough program of aid to the blind and blindness prevention," stated Mr. P. I. Timmins, District Field Secretary for Ontario.

"Automation points to the fact that more education and job demands on this agency are greater today than they have ever been before in its 47 year history. As blind people become better trained and more equipped, their horizons become broader. The CNIB must keep pace with these growing demands if it is to continue to fulfill its responsibilities to the community".

SERVICE PROGRAM

Twenty-two field secretaries representing 11 Ontario District Offices reviewed the agency service program and studied new developments and techniques of rehabilitation. There are 7,767 blind persons in Ontario, 440 of whom are in the six county district covered by Mr. P. I. Timmins and Mr. J. T. McCallum, Field Secretaries.

In Belleville, the Hastings County Advisory Board is a member agency of the Belleville United Appeal.

Counsel Will Appeal Term

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Morris Kamin, counsel for Earl Bernard Nantais, 20, of Windsor, who was convicted Tuesday of non - capital murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, said Wednesday he will appeal the conviction.

Mr. Kamin said he is appealing the conviction on two grounds that it is "perverse". He did not believe the jury was justified in convicting his client on the evidence and bringing in the verdict.

Nantais was charged in the fatal stabbing of Lawrence Mailloux, 28, of suburban Sandwich East Township during a 'knife brawl' in Windsor Aug. 28.

County School Children Tour New Building

It has been visiting time this week at the county administration building for county school children.

Tuesday, on the opening day of inaugural session of county council, high school students from Bancroft made the long spending part of the day watching Supreme Court proceedings.

Then yesterday public school children from Madoc township visited the county buildings. They also took in the Supreme Court sittings and in the afternoon briefly visited the council chambers while council was in session.

Stirling Seeks Financial Aid For Ice Plant

County Council financial support to help defray the cost of artificial ice equipment for the Stirling Arena, was asked yesterday by a Stirling delegation.

Spokesman for the delegation, former reeve, Harold West, said that the cost of the ice project was costing $30,000 with about one half of this figure already raised. The item raised by public subscription.

Hundreds of hours of volunteer labor had been given by preparation of the rink for the ice making equipment. District farmers donated lumber, contractors had donated the use of their equipment and machinery.

"For many of the local boys it has meant that all our spare time in many weeks has been spent at the arena," he said.

But the installation is now complete, the ice in, and the rink is being officially opened on Friday evening.

The request of the Stirling delegation was referred to the council ways and means committee.

IN MEMORIAM

STEED — In loving memory of our father, John Stephen Arthur Steed, who passed away six years ago today, January 21, 1959.

No one knows how much we miss him

No one knows the bitter pain, we have suffered

Life has never been the same.

Sadly missed by his children and grandchildren.

There is not a day but memory strays

That we do not think of you

We bet our best when we lost you.

—Deeply missed by son Edgar, Barbara and Ken.

STEED, Arthur — In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away January 21st, 1959.

Looking back with memories,

Over the path you trod,

We bless the hours we had with you,

And leave the rest with God.

Sadly remembered by wife Lula and son Don.

REID, Samuel C. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Samuel C. Reid, who passed away January 21, 1963.

Faithful husband, one of the best,

May God grant him rest.

Lovingly remembered, Wife and Family.

GIARDEN — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Wilfred, who passed away suddenly on Jan. 21, 1964.

I was not there to say goodbye,

Perhaps it was just as well,

For I never could have said good-bye,

To a dad I loved so well.

Sadly and fondly remembered by daughter Leona, son-in-law Greg and grandchildren.

WHATTES — In ever loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frederick W. Whattes, who passed away one year ago today.

More and more each day we miss him,

Friends may think the wound is healed

But they little know the sorrow,

That within our hearts concealed.

—Sadly missed by his wife Ada and daughter Joanne and Linda.

Nuclear Expert Named Hydro's Chief Engineer

J. M. Hambley, general manager of Ontario Hydro, has announced the appointment of Harold A. Smith, 46, as chief engineer.

Mr. Smith, who has been promoted in Canada's nuclear power development program, will be responsible to the general manager for the work of Hydro's Operations, Engineering, Construction, System Planning and Research divisions, which, in recent years, have become increasingly interdependent.

Mr. Smith, native of Lockney, Ont., joined Hydro in 1940 upon graduation in electrical engineering from Queen's University. From 1943 to 1945 he served with distinction in radar development work with the Royal Canadian Navy and was awarded the M.B.E.

Returning to Hydro after the war, Mr. Smith held a number of senior engineering positions. He has been assistant general manager - engineering since 1957. He also served as project co-ordinator of a team carrying out joint studies with Atomic Energy of Canada on the feasibility of generating power from nuclear sources, and later as manager of the Nuclear Power Plant Division of A.E.C.L. from February, 1958, to December, 1961.

Mr. Smith is a member of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario, and of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

County Council Votes to Haul Down New Flag

Hastings County Council today voted down Canada's new maple leaf flag in favor of the red ensign.

The flag had been flying over the county building here since council went into its inaugural session Monday.

Today the flag was hauled down after councillors concurred in a motion by Madoc reeve Tom Burnside that the new flag not be flown until it has been hoisted over the Parliament buildings in Ottawa.

Reeve Burnside thought it was "premature" to fly the flag over the county buildings.

The honor of first flying the new national flag should belong to the federal government, he said.

"The county should retain the red ensign until the government shows the way," he said.

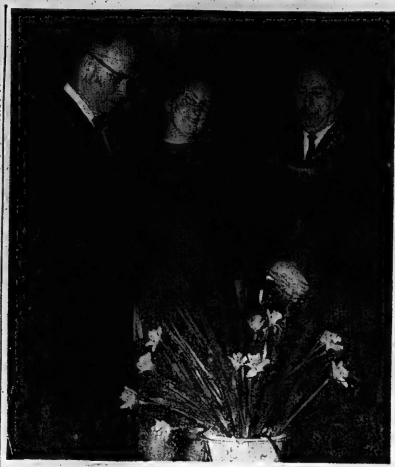
Bancroft reeve Mike McAlpine took a more philosophic view.

He felt since the new flag had been hoisted it should "stay there."

However, the council approved a formal motion put by reeve Burnside and Tyendinaga reeve Charles Long.

Quebec May Sell Liquor in Shops

MONTREAL (CP) — Lorne Power, Quebec liquor board administrator, said Wednesday he will suggest that liquor be sold through privately-owned package stores in Quebec province if he finds it advantageous for the government.



He made the statement after studying a report by M. B. Bolsonault, director general of the board, on the sale of liquor through stores in New York state.

Some 3,200 QLB employees have been on strike since Dec. 5. The employees' unions are asking for a $23 increase to the $57 weekly basic wage now paid employees.

Redistribution Committees Are Named

OTTAWA (CP) — The enormous task of completely revising the boundaries of Canada's federal constituencies was turned over Wednesday to 10 independent commissions, one for each province.

The commissions, intended to be non-partisan, have one year to finish a difficult, delicate job that may see fewer than a dozen of the existing 263 federal ridings escape change.

They must operate under Parliament's instructions to strike an average constituency population for each province, then draw electoral boundaries around groups that number no more than 25 per cent above or below that average.

There now are 139 ridings larger or smaller than these so-called "tolerance" limits. For every one of them that are reduced or enlarged in population size, one or more other constituency boundaries must give way.

The commissions were created Wednesday with the publication of their membership in a special edition of the official Canada Gazette.

One member of each four-man commission is a superior court judge chosen by the chief justice of the province, as required in the legislation passed by Parliament last November, ON ALL GROUPS

Acting as a member of each commission is Nelson Castonguay of Ottawa, federal representation commissioner and chief electoral officer.

The other two members of each commission were chosen by Commons Speaker Alan Macnaughton as part of a parliamentary compromise.

Originally, the government proposal would have amounted to Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker each nominating one commissioner in every province.

Unable to agree on this procedure, the Commons before turning the selection over to the speaker defeated a New Democratic Party move to have the chief justices in each case choose one university professor and the province's chief electoral officer.

As it turned out, Mr. Macnaughton's selections accomplished largely what the New Democrats sought to achieve.

Next step will be a meeting of the commission chairmen—the judges — with Mr. Castonguay, called for Jan. 30 in Toronto, to work out uniform procedures including "housekeeping" arrangements. These will include $100-a-day allowances for the speakers' appointees and travelling allowances for the judges and Mr. Castonguay.

Toronto Rabbi Fined $1,000

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Malevitz, 36, a suburban Downsview orthodox rabbi, was fined $1,000 or six months in jail and Aloja Witkowski, 38, of Buffalo was fined $500 or three months after they pleaded guilty Wednesday in charges of possessing 404 transistor radios smuggled into Canada from the United States.

Hazard Wants Name Changed

GRAVENHURST, Ont. (CP) If Charles Henry Hazard has his way, people will be greeting him with the name Lebris Sextius Hanchez when they meet him on the street.

Mr. Hazard's application for change of name will be heard by a judge in Bracebridge Jan. 28 and, if successful, it will cost him about $100 for the change.

He got his new name from a magazine adventure story he read "many years ago."

Mr. Hanchez, a bachelor, is a cleaner at the Ontario Hospital school in this Muskoka district town.

NAMED DIRECTOR

CTTAWA (CP)—Brig. Lloyd E Keagan, 48, of Ottawa, has been appointed director general of intelligence at defence headquarters, it was announced Wednesday. He was formerly senior military adviser to the Canadian commissioner on the International Truce Commission in Viet Nam.

VON and Cancer Society Hold Meet at Frankford

TRENTON — The annual joint meeting of the Trenton branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Trenton Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society in Rose Hall at Frankford last night was well attended in spite of hazardous driving conditions. The dinner, arranged and served by ladies from all Frankford denominations, was "emblematic of the spirit of cooperation which exists between the two organizations" . . . as pointed out by clerk comptroller O. W. Larry of Trenton, representing the town and Mayor James Macdonald at the banquet. Among the honored guests present were the former mayor of Belleville, A. McLean Hall; Trenton hospital administrator, Miss Hazel Naudett and the guest speaker, Joseph De Pencier, president-elect of the Ontario Division of the Cancer Society.

Clifford Miller was named VON president and Mrs. Greer branch, to succeed 1964 president George Greer. Other officers are: James Utley, honorary president; James Giles, vice-president; H. J. (Bud) Swanton, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Laidley, secretary.

Mrs. George (Vera) Greer will continue as president of the Trenton Cancer Unit and her officers are Mrs. W. A. L. McDonald, Mrs. M. Burns, Harry Foster, Mrs. Anita Fraser and C. Christian. James Campbell of Brighton will be fund-raising chairman. Mrs. George McLay is Frankford president, Keith Taylor is Brighton branch president and Mrs. J. Downey, Batawa, president.

REPORTS GIVEN

Miss Mary Margaret Gillies, VON nurse-in-charge read her annual report and noted that 1814 visits had been made during the year.

Mrs. Shore, 1964 treasurer for the VON branch, reported a deficit of $1,300 on the year's operations.

Mr. De Pencier recalled his first visit to Trenton in the summer of 1907, as a child of seven. His father, a minister, bought a steam yacht, the Bonny Bessie and took young Joseph and his two brothers on a trip up and down the Trent River, and on on down the Rideau Canal system to Ottawa.

Touching on VON operations, Mr. De Pencier noted that nurses had made more than one million visits in Canada last year.

Education and welfare were the first duties of the Cancer Society, Mr. De Pencier said, and thirdly, the raising of money for cancer research. He urged the members of the local unit to double their efforts to raise money for this research.

Reeve Raymond Moran of Frankford welcomed the guests to the joint meeting and during the evening, the VON honorary president, James Utley led in a rousing sing-song, with Norman Harris at the piano and selections from choir members in the audience, dubbed the "Frankford Harmonicats," by Mr. Utley.

Fall or Falls Caused Death Says Jury

TRENTON — A coroner's jury sitting in Brighton yesterday deliberated into the cause of the death of Mrs. Alma Louis Hansen, 77, of R.R. 1 Trenton.

Mrs. Hansen died January 6 in Trenton Hospital. She had been admitted to hospital on January 4. The jury found that Mrs. Hansen died as a result of a fall or falls in her home at a time when she was ill.

Immediate cause of death was listed as exposure and a moving of blood clots.

Mayor Consults With Dept. Of Highways

TRENTON — Mayor James MacDonald was in Toronto yesterday to consult with the deputy minister of highways, A. T. C. McNab, about several items concerning the town.

One of these was the proposed signing of an agreement with the federal department of transport by the terms of which the town would take over the operation, repair and maintenance of the swing portion of the present bridge across the Trent River.

In return for the town taking on this obligation, the department would make a grant to the town of $350,000. This money would be used mainly to help finance the building of a second bridge across the river.

The deputy minister has suggested a number of changes in the agreement and these will be included in the town's copy of the agreement submitted back to the department at Ottawa.

The mayor also discussed the proposed building of a dam along the new development in the Murray Township with the deputy minister. The dam would be used as a hold back to form a pond from which water would be drawn to serve the town.

The town expects to get a grant from the department of highways.

377 Admitted To Hospital In December

TRENTON — During the month of December, 377 children and adults were admitted to Trenton hospital, according to a report released on Wednesday by hospital administrator, Miss Hazel Naudett. Average daily patient day population was 108.5.

During the month, there were 56 births and 11 deaths. Major operations numbered 46; minor, 80.

Outpatients treated numbered 1,200 and 316 emergencies were handled.

And during the month, 11,060 tests were carried out in the hospital laboratory.

Two Remanded For Sentence

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — Two youths who allegedly planned a supermarket holdup for two years were remanded Wednesday for sentence Jan. 29 on a charge of armed robbery.

Victor Gerald Pomery and Larry Kulik, both 17 and of Oshawa, pleaded guilty to holding up a National Grocery Company store here Dec. 17 in a robbery which netted about $8,000. Kulik is to face a charge of possessing an unregistered pistol. A juvenile has also been charged in the robbery.

Bell Boosts Phone Charges

MONTREAL (CP)—The Bell Telephone Company of Canada announced Wednesday that price increases in 12 telephone exchanges in Ontario and Quebec will go into effect within the next six weeks.

The company said that because the number of telephones in the local calling areas had increased beyond the limits of present rate groups the prices had to be raised to bring the rates in line with those charged in other centres with a similar number of telephones.

The increases, apply to local service only.

The Ontario exchanges affected are Caledon, Galt, Hespeler, Palmer Rapids, Dunbarton, Maple and St. Jacobs.

What Are They Talking About?

Rulers of seven communist nations are conferring at Warsaw.

This may mean nothing—or much.

The parley marks the first time that Soviet Russia's First Secretary Leonid Breshnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin have been outside their homeland since ousting Nikita Khrushchev from power.

It would be natural for them to wish to talk to the leaders of the European communist satellites, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Rumgary, Romania and Bulgaria. This might not mean that they wished to make any alterations in existing relationships between these states, or in the foreign policy followed under Khrushchev.

At the same time, a conference would be absolutely essential if any major changes were contemplated.

It may occur to many that any changes could be in either of two diametrically opposed directions.

But if the new Russian leaders wished to initiate a tougher policy, towards the West, a return to "Stalinism", would they stage the conference in the capital city of the communist leader who has been in the forefront of the drive for liberalization and diversification of the party line? Gomulka is too tough-fibred a man for even the most arrogant to treat in this manner. No, if the conference is of any real significance, if important changes are planned, they are almost certain to be an extension of Khrushchev's policy of seeking an accommodation with the West. Possible actions would be a renewed stress on the proposal originally made by Poland for the establishment of a non-nuclear zone in Eastern Europe and, perhaps, some new bid for revision of the status of Berlin.

What Good Is Latin?

What good is Latin?

How often has the average parent of high school youngsters heard that complaint?

Sometimes it has been difficult enough to quell the incipient revolt, even without such stories as that which James Marlow, Associated Press news analyst, wrote the other day.

Churchill, said Marlow, was "doused in the English language" because his teachers thought he was not clever enough to devote his time to Latin and Greek.

If the results of eschewing Latin were always such a magnificent mastery of the English language as Churchill acquired, then Latin would be a doubly dead language.

It seems to us, though, that it would be as ridiculous to expect every student to respond as Churchill did as it would to argue that parental indifference, (to which Marlow ascribes Churchill's search for recognition and, therefore, his drive for success), was a certain spur to achievement.

Churchill cannot be judged by ordinary standards, and, indeed, this is as true of his English as of any of his other achievements. There is the story, possibly apocryphal, of the foreign office type who changed one of Churchill's sentences, because it ended in a proposition. "This is pedantry, up with which I will not put," read Churchill's note. And Marlow comments on Churchill's lavish use of adjectives, in itself a trait regarded highly by many scholars, but coming from Churchill's pen "turning the language into thunder over Mount Sinai." A rather handy man with a phrase himself, this chap Marlow.

Two Arguments for Death Penalty

In the Virginia State Penitentiary at Richmond, Virginia, a murderer serving a thirty-year term ran amok and stabbed three prison employees. They died.

Those who maintain that the death penalty for murder serves no good purpose might find it difficult to convince the families of these men of the validity of their argument.

A man who has been hanged poses no threat to the safety of prison officials, or those in prison on charges other than murder.

Is not being locked up with a killer a rather stiff sentence for burglary, forgery or car theft?

What right has society to demand that its servants on prison staffs go in peril of their lives from proven murderers who are already serving life terms and have no further punishment to face?

Those who oppose the death sentence for murder, termine it barbarous, never seem to consider the danger to which they would expose others.

Computer Has Your Number And You Cannot Confuse It

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — You may be John Smith to your wife, neighbors and employer.

But to the National Revenue Department and its new electronic brain, known to the computer freaks as "770-74", you're a 12-digit combination of letters and figures containing the first five letters of your surname, three coded figures of your birthdate, a three-digit sequence and a final check number.

And while there very possibly are more John Smiths living in Canada than anyone else, including the James Browns and William Jones and other such "big family-tribe names," there is only one "you, and "770-74" has your number.

Whatever slips and perilous chance there was of cutting a quiet corner with Federal Income Tax now has been completely, utterly eliminated by "770-74," the Electronic Brain already quietly humming over thousands of tax returns in its private building out at Tunney's Pasture in Ottawa's West End.

The thought of giving "770-74" some sort of lovable, even affable - sounding name like "Baby" or "Big Bill."

But since there's nothing either lovable or affable about it, the Revenue executive who supervise its diet call it simply "The Computer," and the working staff, which feeds it, knows it perhaps more realistically as "The Monster."

IT IS TO LAUGH

To "The Monster" must go the credit, if you care to call it that, of giving you what the Revenue Department, with tongue in cheek, refers to as your own, your very own "personalized" tax return.

Actually, nothing could be calculated to be any more coldly impersonal than this "personalization."

For "The Monster" has you and 6,999,999 taxpayers numbered, coded and, indeed, taped back for two years, with your financial affairs committed to its mechanical memory.

Before the working staff feeds it last year's diet of tax returns next month, "The Monster" will be fed an appetiser of your '63 and '62 wage and salary records with those automated additions, your bank records with interest and your dividend paymentts.

If these figures are not matched in "reasonable" relation to those on your new tax return, "The Monster" will suffer from a tack of electronic indigestion, throwing out a "question" for either a re-accounting or even a visit from the Revenue Department investigators.

Here's the drill when they feed your new tax return to "770-74" with its latest electrical recall of what you reported in the last two years:

First a mathematical check is made to see that all required information has been entered on your form and that charitable or medical receipts and dependent claims are in order.

Then, one of 700 key punch operators converts all the figures from the form to a coded card for translation at 800 cards a minute by two smaller computers other than the tape for the inspection and consideration of "The Monster."

INSTANT ANSWER

In a fraction of a second — the strange world of the computer knows it as a millisecond — the electronic brain of "770-74" calculates your return, either confirming or correcting it, with orders to issue a new tax assessment if there has been an error, and a refund cheque or a receipt if it is accurate, or, in some cases, whistling up a Revenue inspector for an investigation.

First to be tripped up by "The Monster" are the careless taxpayers who file several returns, claiming a refund on each. With "770-74" running on the "one to a customer" basis, these extra or "let's take several cracks at it and maybe get lucky" tax returns are nailed right there.

Second in the chisel line are the sharpies who erase and change either the amount of income or taxes deducted from pay in hopes of getting a fatter rebate. At this point, "The Monster" remembers the figures from last year and the employer's reported from payroll returns.

Then, too, "770-74" knows the size of every taxpayer's income and insists that they grow only at what the Revenue Department likes to call "statistically acceptable rate" — although perhaps triplets, quads and certainly quints might tend to set it to scratching its wire-filled head.

"The Monster" is simply so mechanically smart, so electronically clever, with such a high automated IQ that it can suffer what its keepers insist is a nervous breakdown.

In rare cases, when it blows its electronic top, it can stun the odd taxpayer with an astronomical tax bill or delight another with a multi-million dollar "refund." But don't count on it.

Strictly Personal

Passion Can't Be Overcome By Reason

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: The ten most mispronounced words in the English language are very likely these — lamentcullinary, gondola, conversant, abla, miscellany, irreparable, impious, venison, incognito and heinous.

Appealing to a person's "better nature" is useful only when his worse nature doesn't want anything too strongly; a passion cannot be overcome by reason, but only by a stronger passion; and it is love, not logic, that conquers and subdues hate.

Elderly people who are bored are customarily those who cared only about their petty pleasures and profits in earlier years. "Whoever shrinks from chaos," said Goethe, "ends by having nothing but sensations" — and the sensations of old age are inevitably dull.

People who instruct others on how to achieve success are in the same embarrassing position as fortunetellers; if they could really do what they pretend to do, would they be grubbing for a living like the rest of us?

It comes as a great shock to most Americans to be told that Europeans have been as afraid that America might start the next war as that Russia might start it; a nation is nearly capable of seeing the ominous implications of its own power, whether such power is military or economic.

Letters should not be carried around in pockets as long as they are if we adopted the custom in Holland of having the stamp-vending machine right alongside the letter-boxes.

Talleyrand described a certain type of woman to perfection, when he said of a contemporary: "In order to avoid being called a flirt, she always yielded easily."

If traffic policemen were given personality tests to determine which ones have the temperament to deal with motorists, our maddening traffic snarls would be enormously relieved at rush hours; a bilious, irritable or frustrated cop can fool up traffic worse than a road-block.

The last lesson a girl learns in growing into womanhood is that the only real way for her to please a man is by being so much herself as she can be, and not by trying to be what she thinks he expects of her.

Old people who give their recipes for longevity to newspaper reporters (drinking milk, rising early, etc.) are not as candid as the wonderful 100-year-old man I interviewed in 1936, who said: "I attributed my age chiefly to the fact that I was born in 1836."

It is a naive illusion to say that we are "voting for the man not for the party" — because when we hand the man the pin, the party gets the plums.

Money Satisfactory

—Brantford Expositor

In Miami, a dissatisfied customer told the Better Business Bureau, according to Insider's Newsletter, that he had demanded his money back from a company that had clearly advertised "your money returned if not entirely satisfactory." He got his reply: "Your money is entirely satisfactory and we therefore decline to return it."

Stroke Sometimes Results From Aneurysm in Brain

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about an aortic aneurysm? Has this anything to do with heart attacks or stomach trouble? — H. G. B.

An aneurysm is a weak place or bulge, in an artery, and it can occur anywhere in the body. (Strokes sometimes are the result of aneurysms in the brain.)

An aortic aneurysm is one in the large artery leading from the heart.

Many such aneurysms (or parts or other blood vessels) are small enough to require no treatment, except to watch, lest they begin to grow bigger. Many of them, in fact, are discovered quite incidentally, when X-rays have been taken for other purposes.

The problem is not related to heart disease, but it is the gloomiest possible view, if the aneurysm is large and bursts, death can be very sudden.

But more realistically, many aneurysms never burst, and some of them never given cause trouble.

The problem depends, of course, on how large is the bulged, weak place, as well as its exact location. This may be in the chest or abdomen. Pressure from the bulge may cause pain in the chest, back, abdomen or legs. Or it may cause shortness of breath, not uncommon, in a coronary. Remember that the aorta is a large vessel which loops up over the heart, and then sends one big branch downward to serve the lower part of the body.

In the past, physicians did what they could to prevent rupture of such an aneurysm, and otherwise took various steps to ease the discomforts, whether actual pain or coughing or difficulty in breathing, if that happened to be involved.

Today surgery can take positive action in a good many cases. Some sufferers don't need it. But in a certain number it is now possible to use various materials to strengthen the weakened place.

You may have heard about "dissecting aneurysms." An artery has three walls — inner, outer and middle. With an aneurysm, the weakness is in the middle wall. If blood gets between the inner and outer layers, it gradually works its way along the artery, separating the layers. So, of course, a doctor is always on guard against that occurence.

Dear Dr. Molner: About two years ago I lost my baby. I was only about a month and a half alone and didn't have any trouble, so I never went to the doctor. Since then I have not been able to become pregnant. Could this have anything to do with it, and should I have a D. and C? — Mrs. F. O.

Medical attention always should follow a miscarriage, whether you think you need it or not. Yes, this can prevent future pregnancies. A D. and C. (dilation and curettage, or "scraping" of the interior of the uterus) may be required, but let your doctor decide.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could a person with nerve deafness have a stapes operation to hear better? I now use a hearing aid. — Mrs. A. K.

The stapes operation is used when the tiny bones which conduct sound from the ear drum to the inner ear become rigid or locked together. Instead of being able to move freely, they do not conduct sound as well. Hence the operation to restore their usefulness.

Such surgery will not correct nerve deafness.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Jan. 21st, 1945

When the doughty people of Dartford, Northumberland County village make up their minds to do something, it takes more than snowfilled roads and plugged byways to deter them.

For instance, on Sunday when one resident decided to donate his blood to the Belleville Blood Donors Clinic, fence-high snow faced him for two miles to where other Dartford residents awaited him with horse and cutter. Nothing daunted, he secured one of his own horses, leaped on its back and plunged his way through heavy drifts to where his compatriots were. The four people then drove the long distance to this city where they all became blood donors.

Sixty-one donations in all were given at the clinic on Sunday, with 37 of this number braving wintry blasts to make the journey from Warkworth, Marmora and Dakoro.

30 YEARS AGO

At the annual meeting of the Belleville Horticultural Society, the following officers were elected: Pres. Mrs. George Bonisteel (re-elected); 1st vice - pres. Quintin Boyd; 2nd vice - pres. Harry Dingle; sec.-treas. John Watson; auditors, Miss Dorothy Grant and Mr. I. L. Moore. Mrs. Bonisteel, in reviewing the activities of the society during the past year succeeded in thanks to the members for the support given her, but she especially desired to express her appreciation of the co-operation by the secretary, Mr. John Watson in carrying out the objectives of the society. The following were appointed to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Society in Toronto on February 21st and 22nd; Mrs. H. Revell, Harbord St., Tyrone, George Bonisteel, and Mrs. Bonisteel.

Lieut. Col. E. A. Goss was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Board of Education for this year at the inaugural meeting.

Many of our citizens will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity to visit Toronto in order to witness at the Royal Alexandra Theatre the splendid production of Mr. Joseph Nevin Doyle's spectacular opera, "The Golden Age," which was given to such splendid effect in this city last spring. The Alexandra Theatre cast is of a high standard, being composed of the best Toronto talent, and will appear in fine form after a long season of training. This is the first Canadian opera ever given to the public and the fact that a Belleville boy is the author will have every one of his fellowtownsmen the crowds. With his usual generosity, Mr. Doyle puts the opera under the auspices of the Red Cross branch of the Patriotic Association.

The new licence commissioners for Prince-Edward County, are Messrs. Royal Church, T. E. Kenny, both of Picton, and George VanVlack of Waupoos.

Construction Round-Up

By DOUG SEIP

AMODEO'S

Amodeo's new building, located on the corner of North Front and Valleyview Crescent, will be divided into three sections. Amodeo's will occupy one section, The Royal Bank a second, and a unnamed concern, since the last part is not rented, the third. Cold weather has brought block work to a halt.

HEXA PLANT

Electricians are installing wiring and fixtures at Union Carbide's Hexa plant. Foreman Lou Smith reports all power will be on in about two weeks. Test runs on inside motors have started.

DUNDAS ST. CLINIC

Framing for the inside walls is complete at Dr. Williamson's Dundas St. Clinic. Wiring is in and waiting for the main line hook-up. The basement furnace is in operation.

LCBO

In the LCBO store, a large painting by Dolly Cain depicting South Front St. will cover a portion of the wall above and behind the front counter. Tile will be laid this week.

WILLIAM ST. CLINIC

Glass is in and framing for the inside partitions is up at the William St. Clinic. Electrical installation was completed Wednesday.

ARGOSY

Due to cold weather block work on the Argosy warehouse is at a standstill. North and south walls are up, east and west walls are partially done.

PUBLIC WORKS BLDG.

Inside a plastic tarp masons are building the Public Works' scale house. Construction on it should be completed this week. The mezzanine slabs are now in on the main building, but the cold spell has halted further block work.

DIXIE LEE

Tile has been laid and inside and outside doors are ready for installation at the Dixie Lee shop on Coleman St.

NEW POLICE STATION

Gyproc work on the first floor of the old YMCA is almost complete. On the second floor, Gyproc work will take another two weeks. Basement block work is in progress.

ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Pipe-fitters are installing conduit piping for the Ontario Intelligencer heating system.

Block partition walls on the first floor are built. The drive shaft, main drive, and brake motor for the presses have been lowered into the basement.

CHARLES LAMBERT

Ontario's cold weather seige has hindered further work on Lambert's Wallbridge Crescent double tri-plexes. At the Moira St. triplex, shingles should be on, glass put in and insulation completed this week.

WILSON CONCRETE

A beginning date for building Wilson Concrete's prestressed concrete crane bay roofs has not yet been established.

NICHOLSON COLLEGE

The permit for an addition to Nicholson College has been issued. Construction will start February 15. August 24 is the completion date.

Drug Makes Bird Screech Till It Dies

TORONTO (CP)—A chemical causing birds to fly in circles and screech distress signals until they die will be tested in Ontario corn-growing areas this summer, Dr. M. L. Dyer, director of blackbird control for the University of Guelph, said Wednesday.

He said the screeches from one bird are enough to frighten a flock of 2,000. The noises begin about 20 minutes after the bird eats a treated kernel of corn.

He said during an interview at the annual meeting of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association that the product, avitrol, manufactured by an Oklahoma petroleum firm, may be more effective than noise-making devices now used.

Dr. Dyer estimated that red-winged blackbirds destroy about $1,000,000 worth of sweet corn in Kent County alone each year and damage by other species in fruit-growing areas is higher.

CHILDREN'S HEALTH

A 1963 report by Britain's chief medical officer says one child in 200 in the country's schools was found to be in unsatisfactory health.

'Spring Thaw' Opens Season

VICTORIA (CP)—The Canadian musical revue Spring Thaw opened its 18th season here Wednesday night in two performances before near - capacity audiences in the 1,500-seat Royal Theatre.

Spring Thaw this year is booked for an eight-month tour of 44 Canadian cities and towns.

Critic Bert Binny of The Colonist said the premiere "tended to resemble a rather damp firecracker which smoulders, spetters and flares intermittently but which finishes with a real, terrific bang."

Andrew Johnston of The Times described it as a "bright, bouncy balloon filled with laughing gas," but said there were moments "when the balloon sank to earth with a soft but unmistakeable thud."

One high point was a skit, based on the current dissent between Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker and Leon Balcer, head of the Quebec Conservative members of Parliament.

SHOWER AND CHARIVARI

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Vanclief were given a largely attended shower in the church basement on Saturday evening. An amusing address in the form of "This Is My Life," was read by Mrs. Clifford Caisan and enjoyed by all present. Following the opening of the many gifts Ross thanked all and lunch was served. Later after all had supposedly gone to their homes and retired for the remainder of the night, the Vanclief home was rudely disturbed by shot-gun blasts and they rose to find a second charivari in progress. Some of the young people who had been in Toronto attending a Junior Farmer conference when the first charivari was staged the previous Saturday, had decided on a second celebration.

Even in the wee small hours they were invited in and treated most royally by the Vanclief families.

Mrs. Mac Hubbs attended the Co-Op Medical Association's banquet at the Club Canara in Belleville, on Saturday, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Caisan.

Mrs. Morris Pulver was hostess for the January meeting of Victoria U.C.W. on Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance.

GM Wins More Than Half U. S. Auto Market

DETROIT (AP) — Unofficial tabulations showed today that General Motors posted more than 50 per cent of U.S. car sales in 1964, marking the third consecutive year it has attained that goal.

General Motors dealers settled for 52.1 per cent of the 7,018,734 new car sales last year, despite the handicap of production losses due to a strike throughout the United States and some subsequent local plant strikes that fall. GM sold 3,970,220 units.

This compared with the 53.7 per cent of sales attained by GM dealers in 1963 and the 54.7 per cent of 1962.

Ford, which was hit by lesser labor problems, tallied 27.7 per cent of the sales last year, its best record in three years. Ford posted 26.3 per cent in 1963 and 27.4 per cent in 1962.

Chrysler Corp. continued its three-year climb as its new car dealers grabbed off 14.7 per cent of U.S. sales last year, compared with 13.1 per cent in 1963 and 10.3 per cent in 1962.

American motors wound up with about 5.1 per cent of 1964 sales, compared with 5.6 per cent in 1963 and 6.4 per cent in 1962.

Studebaker, which now builds all its cars at Hamilton got 0.4 per cent of U.S. auto sales in 1964, compared with 0.5 per cent and 1.2 per cent in the two preceding years.

Communists Pick Kashtan As Their Chief

TORONTO (CP) — A mild - mannered man who joined the Communist movement at 18, five years after he quit school, has been elected leader of the Communist Party of Canada.

William Kashtan, 58, of Toronto was unanimously chosen Tuesday by the party's 27-member national committee at the end of a four-day closed meeting here.

Mr. Kashtan said at a press conference Wednesday that his election was not contested but must be approved at a general party convention.

Tim Buck, retired 74-year-old leader, was not nominated for the position. Mr. Kashtan, executive secretary, has been handling party affairs since the November death of former leader Leslie Morris.

The 14-man national executive meets next week to pick an executive secretary. Nigel Morgan, 50, of Vancouver, British Columbia party leader, will replace Mr. Morris on the executive committee.

The meeting endorsed the Russian concept of peaceful coexistence, said Mr. Kashtan.

Mr. Kashtan said one of the party's main tasks this year will be an attempt to make its aims more palatable to Canadian voters. He said if there is an election in 1965 the party will field several candidates and support the New Democratic Party in the other ridings despite NDP repudiation of Communist support.

BIG CRUSH

A British manufacturer has produced a rock crusher that can reduce quarried stone in a single operation from 24-inch feed pieces to sizes as small as 1½-inches.

Johnstown

Mr. Glenn Stickle, Mr. Kenneth Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers attended the funeral on Tuesday of Bruce Hogle at the Thompson Funeral Home at Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Parks and family of Trenton were guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gass and children on Sunday evening.

Sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to Mrs. Darby in the passing of Mr. Theodore Collar this week at Glen Miller.

The Mr. and Mrs. Club of Johnstown United Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Harder on Wednesday evening. The new officers were: president — Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tripp; vice-president — Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Harder; secretary-treasurer — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hamilton; program convener — Mr. and Mrs. Melford Harder and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Harry.

CHEESE POPULAR

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians ate more cheese in 1964 than in any other year and there are prospects of even greater sales in the future, the annual convention of the Ontario Cheese Manufacturers Association was told Wednesday. Sales last year hit a record of more than 160,000,000 pounds, an increase of 160 per cent over 1963, association president M. R. McCrae told the convention. The retail value was in excess of $100,000,000.

Refused to Lend Money to His Brother

TORONTO (CP) — Chicken poisoning suspected Wednesday by a man refusing to lend money to his brother, and a dead chicken thought to have been the murder weapon in another — a brother — were to be introduced as exhibits when the case is debated.

Count, the first witness, told of his 39-year-old brother, Thomas F. Morack, sitting at Count's table in the counties of suburban Scarborough of counterfeit travellers' cheques in Toronto.

Thomas Morack testified he had saved $1,200 to China to gamblers and was told that if he cashed travellers' cheques for the gamblers in Toronto they would settle up for his debt.

Morack was accosted hours last June after a number of Bank of Chicago travellers' cheques had been cashed in Toronto banks.

He testified that he was also instructed by the gamblers to return to Chicago, report the cheques had been cashed and there is a second time. He said he thought the cheques were genuine.

Const. Morack said his brother had approached him a short time before the cheques were cashed and asked to borrow $1,200.

He told he refused to lend the money because the accused already owed him $2,000 to $3,000. Const. Morack said he wanted his brother to go to police with information against the gamblers.

The trial continues.

minister of transport will be able to appear before an appeal board which will be set up by government legislation.

However, drivers who lose their licences on being convicted of offences where suspension is mandatory, or those who are suspended from driving by the courts, will have no appeal.

The only other surprise in the speech, read haltingly by Lieutenant - Governor Earl Rowe, was the announcement that the government plans to extend workmen's compensation benefits to all agricultural workers.

FEW COVERED

At present only a limited number of farm workers are covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act. The speech said the change was decided on after a careful review by the government of problems pertinent to these workers.

Charles Hoffman, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said his organization would support the measure even if it means seeking assistance to help pay premiums.

Most of the other points in the speech either announced continuation of present policy or officially announced as government policy what had already been announced by various ministers.

As expected, the government announced it would introduce legislation to make privately operated medical care plans universally available in this province. Private insurance carriers will be regulated by the new law.

In a prepared statement issued outside the House, Mr. Thompson said the speech was a dry and uninspiring document. In many areas, the government had not made its views known.

WELCOMED SUGGESTION

However, he welcomed the suggestion for the committee on Confederation, stating that he had suggested it about a month ago.

Mr. MacDonald was less kind toward this suggestion. He accused the government of making the Legislature a rubber stamp by creating the committee.

Parts of the speech were prerecorded Tuesday night by Mr. Rowe and tapes sent out to the Ontario radio stations marked for broadcast at 3 p.m. Many of the stations played the tapes at that time, although the lieutenant - governor did not begin speaking until about 3:35. His speech was broadcast live by CBC radio and television.

Mr. Thompson said the prerecording was an insult to Parliament. Mr. MacDonald said the honored traditions of Parliament are demeaned by such practices.

Noticeably absent from the speech was any reference to proposed changes in the province's liquor laws. It had been hinted that amendments to the Liquor Act would allow drinking with meals on Sunday and might extend beverage - room drinking hours.

PC Leader

tive does not fix a leadership convention date before Parliament resumes. Mr. Balcer was unavailable for comment on whether the group is willing to wait.

Mr. Balcer is reported to have written that "The Conservative party can no longer carry on as a great national party without its present leadership and the policies that leadership has engendered.

". . . It would be tragic for all of us if a challenge fatal to Confederation itself were the party "so misguided as to indulge in the political luxury of nourishing an anti-Quebec backlash.

". . . It is because we are Conservatives that we have been so deeply disturbed by a trend which, increasingly, leaves representatives of one of the founding races feeling ill at ease and uncomfortable within the party."

The thorniest problem confronting Canada, Mr. Balcer is reported as writing, is that involving relations between French- and English-speaking Canada.

"It is a question that may be a source of embarrassment at times in both communities. But it is the great question before us nonetheless; to be ignored at our peril."

EXECUTIVES BRIEFED

OTTAWA (CP)—Senior executives of the Canadian shipbuilding industries will be given a special technical briefing Thursday on future construction, conversion and refit programs of the Canadian navy, nounced Wednesday.

Alvin Hamilton Tries to Heal PC Dissension

OTTAWA (CP)—Alvin Hamilton sought Wednesday night to convince a national television audience that Prime Minister is not "a big, bad wolf."

The former agriculture minister did so in a speech told to heal the internal dissension the Progressive Conservatives and to present the party as an attractive alternative to a "bumbling" Liberal government.

The Saskatchewan MP, credited in some quarters as the architect of Mr. Diefenbaker's famed northern vision, urged his Conservative colleagues to work out their differences in "a dignified, democratic manner, in the privacy of the party caucus."

He spoke on the CBC TV network in the free-time political series, The Nation's Business. He occupied time which originally was to have been taken by Mr. Diefenbaker, now holidaying in Prince Albert, Sask.

CITES TRADITION

The Conservatives demanding a national leadership convention, Mr. Hamilton said:

"We have a long tradition in regards to leadership based on parliamentary practice. When there is a vacancy, the association of the party sets up the machinery to select a new leader. When there is no vacancy, the caucus is liaison with senior party officials from the Liberal party.

FRIENDSHIP HELPED

Mr. Hamilton said he feels he speaks for the majority of the party in saying that "once all matters are put in perspective . . . order and unity will follow."

He deplored the fact that in the confused state of Canadian politics "the centre of gravity has begun to centre on John Diefenbaker, the ogre who was opposed to Quebec."

In fact, he said, "our record with Quebec is good." Such things as university grants, the Trans - Canada Highway and hospital care assistance plan were worked out with Quebec in relative harmony by the Diefenbaker government.

Kennedys Keep Their Emotions Well Concealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the Kennedys, Robert F. of New York and Edward M. (Ted) of Massachusetts, the inauguration address of President Johnson must have stirred mixed emotions.

But, whatever their feelings, they kept them concealed.

Just four years ago their brother, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, was inaugurated. Robert Kennedy then was attorney-general-designate. Edward Kennedy held no public office.

At the 1961 inauguration, Bobby and Teddy Kennedy sat in the upholstered seats reserved for very important persons in the front row of the inaugural platform. With them were other members of the Kennedy family.

This time, they sat in an uncovered wing of the platform, about 50 feet from Senator Johnson sat. Their seats were hard, unpadded bleacher benches reserved for members of the United States Senate. The Kennedy brothers were in row seven.

VISITS GRAVE

Robert paid two visits during the day to the grave of his slain president at Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River.

Early Wednesday morning, he came bareheaded in sub-freezing temperatures, bowed his head and said a brief prayer as the eternal flame by the grave flickered in a brisk breeze.

After the inauguration, the Kennedy party returned to and turned to the grave. With head bowed, he reached down, picked up a fistful of dirt and rose again. It vigorously in his left hand. Then he left.

At the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol, the Kennedy brothers filed into the seats with other senators and chatted with colleagues. Both were hatless. Both wore dark business suits.

lieved the $60,000 would prevent Rivard's extradition, replied, "No."

He said he had called the Liberal party treasurer, Senator Louis S. St. Laurent, because Mr. Denis had asked him to and that if the senator had agreed to see him, he would have left. mo.med him the $60,000 was available.

What did you expect in return? Mr. Fortier asked. Masson replied that he didn't know.

KNOWS FAYREAU AMIR

Mr. Fortier asked whether Masson knew Andre Letendre, executive assistant to Justice Minister Favreau.

Masson said he has known Mr. Letendre fairly well for about a year. It was possible Mr. Letendre had attended the April 3 dinner-meeting of executive assistants of federal cabinet members at which he (Masson) had been present.

Mr. Fortier asked whether Masson is frightened of Eddy Lechasseur "and his gang."

Lechasseur, possessor of a criminal record and a suspect in a fraud case, was a previous witness at the inquiry.

Masson said that in view of what had been going on it is only natural to be a little nervous, but he was not frightened of Lechasseur.

In replies to Guy Guerin, counsel for Mr. Denis, Masson said he was possible he had told Denis that Rivard was a "million dollar" member of the Liberal party, and that it was possible that Rivard had donated money to the Liberal party.

FRIENDSHIP HELPED

Masson said that his friendship with Mr. Denis helped him get construction contracts and access to the finance with the executive associations.

He elaborated on his earlier statement that Mr. Denis accepted $1,000 to look in Ottawa for possible means of financing Rivard.

He said that, prior to his "intimate" friend Mr. Denis that $30,000 to $80,000 was available for the Liberal party campaign fund if Rivard was not extradited.

He said Denis, who left his ministerial post Oct. 1, resigned him to Senator Gelinas, the Liberal party treasurer, who refused to grant him an interview on hearing what was involved.

Testifying under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, Masson said he and another person he refused to identify attended a dinner for ministerial aides last April 6.

DENIES OFFER

He denied he had offered to pick up the tab for the dinner at the swank La Touraine Restaurant.

Mr. Masson, who said his business was to know all people "who have or close or a remote connection with construction," testified he had succeeded in obtaining contracts through his association with Denis.

However, Denis had not promoted construction contracts. He had merely introduced the businessa representative to other people like Mr. Gelinas. "He helped me obtain them . . . he didn't obtain them himself."

He said he had regular contact with "five or six" federal departments of which defence construction and public works were two.

Prior to March, Masson had worked for Benta Construction, a Montreal company specializing in the erection of concrete pylons. His position had been vice-president and chief of public relations.

After that he became associated with Gignac who was supplying pylons for the power companies headed by Masson. Masson rejected the suggestion by counsel for the New Democratic Party that the only reason Gignac wanted him as a partner was for his "powerful political contacts."

Mr. Gignac also was a business associate of Rivard in a real estate enterprise.

The inquiry, headed by Quebec Superior Court Judge Frederic Dorion, is investigating allegations by Liberal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he was offered a $20,000 bribe by Denis last fall by other political pressure applied in an effort to have him drop opposition to bail for Rivard.

Masson said he did not know Rivard personally but undertook to help on June 22 when Gignac offered him $1,000 to see what he could find out.

Masson said he phoned immediately to Denis in Ottawa that afternoon and they had a mid-night meeting at a motel in Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River from the capital.

It was during the trip to Hull that Masson said Gignac told him there was up to $60,000 available for Liberal party funds if Rivard were not extradited.

OLD CEDAR TREE — A man stands beside a yellow cedar tree overlooking the Nimpkish Valley in British Columbia. The tree, more than 1,800 years, is eight feet wide at the base and stands 130 feet high. Isolation has saved the tree from man and it was not until recently that foresters found it by accident. (CP Photo)

Over 1800 Years! Vancouver Cedar Could Date From Age of Nero!

By PAT CARNEY
of the Vancouver Sun

VANCOUVER (CP)—High on a silent plateau overlooking the Nimpkish Valley on Vancouver Island there stands a yellow cedar tree more than 1,800 years old.

It is a healthy tree, this ancient. Bark rot has hollowed its trunk, but the paper-thin layer of cells between the bark and the wood which transforms cellulose into a living tree is still in excellent shape.

If you came upon the yellow cedar in the forest, you would know its age by its size. It measures eight feet wide at its base and stands 130 feet high. Green lichen, white - flecked, has rooted itself in the silver brown bark, deeply shredded with age. At the base of the tree where the trunk joins the roots there are swellings, like arthritic joints.

But it holds its handsome crown on a straight, strong trunk and in the proper season produces cones.

In the second century after the birth of Christ, a yellow cedar seedling settled on the wind to the plateau. The Roman Empire was at the height of its glory, with Hadrian on the throne highways and magnificent, cosmopolitan Rome.

The cycle was high and poor and wet, and the tree grew steadily but slowly. In the fifth century, when Alaric burst through the gates of Rome to gloat in its streets as conqueror and Attila the Hun sacked Gaul, the yellow cedar was a small, smooth-barked youngster about the thickness of a telephone pole.

SURVIVED FIRES

By 1066, when Harold fell at the Battle of Hastings, age began to shred the tree's bark. And by 1215, when Genghis Khan had plundered Asia and burned Peking, the yellow cedar had probably reached its full height.

Today the yellow cedar stands in a climax forest, undisturbed by the natural catastrophes of the woods for at least 1,800 years. Blowdown has not felled its neighbors, old-growth hemlock and cedar trees, nor has disease sapped its strength.

Fire has ravaged the Nimpkish at least once every hundred years, leaving the coast's finest fir stands to grow in the blackened ruins. Fire has come within a mile of the yellow cedar, but it has always escaped unscathed.

Isolation has saved the tree from man. Its plateau overlooks an old Indian trail and remains of old dugout canoes can still be seen on Schoen Lake below. But these Nootka Indians and Indians ever climbed up to the tree, some 2,500 feet above sea level. Forests were found by accident, with the snow peaks of the Nimpkish framing its crown and blueberries thriving at its roots.

Nobody seems to know why the yellow cedar has lived so long, for nobody values its tree dies. And nobody knows much about the yellow cedar, except in our forests. Except that it's not really a cedar at all.

The creamy wood of the yellow cedar is extremely durable and that has probably helped it defy decay, and the aromatic oils which give the wood its pungent perfume may have preserved the tree.

Eventually, in the natural cycle of the forest, the yellow cedar will succumb to the buffeting which has hollowed its trunk and will complete its destruction and then fall to the forest floor.

In the meantime, it will grow on its mountain plateau as it has for more than 1,800 years. Somehow, that's a comforting thought in these chaotic, critical times.

Shows

said Moran, indicating it could go on that way from day to day.

The reference to Sir Winston's circulation was made since the initial bulletin last Friday, which said he had had a cold, then developed a respiratory weakness following a cerebral thrombosis.

Churchill has apparently been sleeping or in a coma most of the time since he was stricken. Moran's medical reports have indicated he has felt no pain.

Churchill, too ill to be moved to a hospital, lay in his ground floor back bedroom overlooking a garden behind the brick home at No. 28 Hyde Park Gate.

His family stayed close at hand in London, as they have done since the stroke just six weeks after Churchill's 90th birthday.

Lady Churchill, who will be 80 next April, took an hour's drive Wednesday with her younger daughter, Mary, wife of Conservative politician Christopher Soames. She had left the house only twice before during the week-long vigil.

Snow and sleet rendered the surroundings dreary Wednesday at the end of the Hyde park Gate cul-de-sac where passers-by stopped to ask about Churchill's condition. But the weather was clear and bracing today.

Romania Seeks Aid From Western Bloc

By PRESTON GROVER

BUCHAREST (AP) — Romania is firmly pushing aside the strong hand of Russian controls on her industry and society, and reaching for help and support in the West.

Next to Yugoslavia, Romania has taken the most independent stance of any of the East European states.

However, the country doesn't intend to try to break out of the Soviet orbit, even though delegations have headed West in recent months to establish political, cultural and business contacts.

The United States has lowered some of its trade barriers with the immediate result that American companies have agreed to build two new factories in Romania, the first in years.

Last April the Romanian Communist party announced determination to take an independent line in foreign policy.

The party said a socialist state must protect its sovereignty and keep its own hands all the "levers" for managing its own economic and social life.

In 1963, the party leaders expelled a Moscow-trained group headed by Ana Pauker, which had been installed with the backing of Soviet troops soon after the war ended. Into power came Georghiu-Dej and a group of Communists less aligned with Moscow. They still are running the show.

ANGLES RUSSIAN

In recent months there has been a whole series of "independence" statements. Russian pictures of Soviet leaders are no longer carried in major parades. Courses in Russian in Romanian schools was abolished in 1962. At the major language institute in Bucharest English is first with 120 students, French second with 80, and Russian third with 60.

French and English have replaced Russian as accepted languages at official receptions.

Western films and music have largely replaced the Russian output. A Russian radio program called Moscow Speaks, once given daily, is heard only occasionally. Streets and squares which once had Russian names have been given Romanian or non-national names.

Romania does not have Russian troops within its borders, as have Hungary and East Germany. She does have well over 200 miles of common frontier with Russia. About three-fourths of her troops are in the vicinity of other Communist countries, leaving about one-fourth which goes inward toward Russia.

Western diplomats and other foreigners are far more free to travel than in Russia, and Romanians talk to foreigners more readily than to Russians.

But Romanian opinion is described by Western diplomats as close and strict.

Rowe Criticized For Giving Out Recorded 'Cuts'

TORONTO (CP) — Lieutenant - Governor Earl Rowe was criticized in Wednesday's legislature for sending portions of his speech from the Throne Speech in advance so the recorded "cuts" could be distributed to radio stations.

Mrs. Rae Luckock, leader of the Ontario New Democratic Party, said in an interview:

"I think it's very unconventional because, in effect, a PR (public relations) officer for the government has been given then the honored traditions of our Parliament are being degraded."

Don Fairbairn, one of the government's press officers, said that to his knowledge this was the first time the Lieutenant - Governor had ever recorded portions of his speech from the throne in advance.

The government press officers sent five extracts from the speech, varying in length from 20 seconds to 2 minutes, to 65 radio stations in the province prior to the opening of the Ontario legislature Wednesday.

They were accompanied by a listing of the topics the tapes dealt with and the radio stations were advised they could air the extracts at 3 p.m.

It was about 3:15 p.m. before the Lieutenant - Governor began reading the government-written speech outlining some of the legislation to be presented in the legislature during the session.

The CBC carried the speech live on both radio and television.

Five Children And Mother Perish in Fire

MINETTO, N.Y. (AP) — A mother and five of her 10 children died Wednesday night in flames that destroyed their two-storey frame home.

The father led the other five children to safety.

Firemen said the victims were Mrs. Valeta Petrie, 35, and the children, Susan, 8, Barbara, 6, Bryan, 1, James, 5, and Gary, 13.

Mrs. Petrie, about 40, suffered smoke inhalation, burns and shock, firemen said, when she tried to rescue his wife and the five children from the home, about seven miles south of Oswego in central New York state.

Oswego County sheriff's deputies said a space heater apparently touched off the fire.

Stirling

STIRLING—The Misses Judy Donohue and Sheila Richardson, members of the River Valley 4-H Club, attended the Achievement Day at Morin Secondary School, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Armstrong entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong of Corbyville; the Misses Barbara Tweedle and Jenis Sharpe, Mrs. Harold Shannik, Paul, Darlene and Donna and Mr. and Mrs. William Ashby.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Metcalfe, Bowmanville, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker. On Saturday they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Caskey at Murray. They also attended River Valley W.I. social party on Friday evening.

Mr. Arthur Hulin, Church Street, recently observed his 94th birthday.

Stirling L.O.B.A. No. 655 cancelled their euchre party scheduled for Thursday evening January 16 due to the extreme cold.

Rev. Ward Scott was guest speaker at St. Paul's A.C.W.'s Men's Club meeting. He gave a humorous and interesting talk. The devotional was in charge of Grant Potter.

The annual meeting of Stirling Horticultural Society was scheduled for Monday afternoon, January 28th, was postponed to a later date.

Recently Mr. William Ashby of River Valley who resides along the Trent River, reported that a large school of bill fish had been seen underneath the ice. A number of people were of the thousands of fish all huddled together.

Mr. Jim Burkitt, Belleville, who is attending Peterborough Normal College, spent last week with his aunt, Mrs. Ezra Bush and will practice teaching at Leighton Hill School.

The members of River Valley Women's Institute catered Mon day evening at the Hickson Livestock Sales at Roads.

102nd BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Rebecca L. Sine, Mill Street, observed her 102nd birthday anniversary on Friday, January 22nd.

Mrs. Sine has one son, Karl Sine, Belleville, and two daughters, Mrs. Irene Ford of Toronto and Mrs. Ruth Mills, District Wannamaker of Colborne.

Mrs. Sine reads the Belleville Ontario, a newspaper paper every day and the weekly paper on Wednesday, thus keeping up with the world affairs at large.

Rivard Indicted For Smuggling Heroin Into U. S.

DALLAS (CP-AP) — District Attorney Henry Wade said that four Montreal men and an American had been indicted by a U.S. grand jury here in Houston last May in connection with smuggling heroin into the United States from Mexico.

The files indicate that Lucien Rivard, 49, Charles Emile Gros-sard, 32, Antonio Lamarre Jones and Julien Gagnon, 35, all of Montreal, and Jones Lopez, 37, of Milton, Ont., had been indicted May 27, 1964, on charges of conspiring to smuggle 76 pounds of heroin across the Mexican border at Laredo.

The smuggling allegedly took place in October 1963, and other men have been convicted here between January 1963 and May 1964.

William Jackson, assistant U.S. attorney, assessed the value of the heroin at $56,000, or $750 of sold at illicit underworld prices.

In Houston, Woodrow Seals, acting district director for the Southern District of Texas, said the seizure of heroin was the largest single haul ever made at the Mexican border and the third largest in U.S. history.

Jackson said the apprehension of a Canadian truck driver, Joseph Michel Caron, with 76 pounds of heroi. in October 1963 "tripped open" the indictment against the men.

Caron, who is serving a 10-year prison sentence after pleading guilty to the smuggling charges, had testified before the grand jury that returned the indictment.

He was granted immunity by Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay from the testimony he had given the jury. Trial of the is to be held in Laredo but no date has been set.

What Women Are Doing

Mrs. Donald Hickson is president of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary.

The Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary meets on the first Thursday of each month, with the exception of the months of July, August and September, at the Kiwanis Centre on Dundas Street East.

The Auxiliary was formed in January 1945 and was the first Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary in Canada. Mrs. John Marsh was the first president and Mrs. Norman Edwards was made honorary president. A constitution was drawn up in November in 1944 with the assistance of Mr. Lorne McDougall, who was then president of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

During the war years of World War II, the wives of the Kiwanians met each Monday afternoon at the Kiwanis Centre as a Red Cross Unit and sewed and knitted for the Red Cross. Mrs. Norman Edwards was the chairman of the Red Cross unit. As World War II began to draw to a close an idea was born by the wives of the Kiwanians and plans were made and the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary was formed. Their aim was to help the Kiwanians raise money to further the social welfare work of the Kiwanis Club. Bazaars, card parties, and teas were held by the ladies as money making projects.

Today the chief money raising project of the auxiliary is their dessert bridge held each year in March, a marathon bridge is also held during the first part of the year.

Assistance is given each year by the auxiliary to the Red Cross with the blood banks, about six are held each year. The Cancer Society also is given help in making cancer dressings. The White Cane Club meets once a month at the Kiwanis Centre and the auxiliary supplies lunch and gives the members a Christmas party and gifts. Dolls are dressed each year to help the Kiwanis Club with their Christmas toy project. This project is growing larger each year. It was begun by Mrs. Eric Cooper.

Keyette clubs have been formed at the Secondary Schools in the city and the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary acts in an advisory capacity to them.

This is the second in a series of articles about women's groups and their activities in Belleville.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

A cup and saucer shower was held recently in honor of Miss Lois Richards at the home of Miss Mary VanStone, Emily Street. A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. VanStone and Margaret.

For the evening's play the winners were: first, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keller; second, Mr. and Mrs. H. Keller; third, Mr. O. Hales and Mrs. R. Colbourne. The second series of bridge games commences next week.

White Linens Again Popular In France

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — Parisiennes are almost as fashion-conscious in their household furnishings as in their clothes.

Changing styles in sheets, for example, are reflected in the big "white sales" which take place each January, offering bargains in all types of soft furnishing from terrycloth bed linen and table cloths.

This year, the emphasis is on white again. Printed and colored sheets are less in demand, according to the French cotton board and leading department stores.

In the mid-1950s, rainbow-colored sheets, snack bars and the cha-cha arrived simultaneously in Paris from the United States. Colored sheets immediately became a status symbol in the smarter Left Bank.

Just as French dress fashions frequently show retrospective influences, many trends in household linens tend to revive the romantic frou-frou styles of the Empire and Empire.

White embroidery and appliqué, lace, frills and ribbon edgings trim white sheets today.

The newest effects feature semi-detached flowers in bands of guipure lace or eyelet embroidery, evoking the décor of boudoirs in the reign of Napoleon III.

But the bridal white look of the 1965 bedroom is not carried through into the dining room, kitchen or bathroom.

In striking contrast are the brilliant floral colors and fanciful print of towels and tablecloths. And one of the leading department stores here reports that 85 per cent of its bathroom accessory sales are in color.

HANDICAPPED WIFE

Concert Orchestra Displays Splendid Form in Program

By EUGENE LANG

For the second time the St. Julien Chapter of the I.O.D.E. presented the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra before a very sizeable audience in the Collegiate Auditorium last evening. Judging by the listener response it would seem that this is on its way to becoming an annual event that will be anticipated yearly.

Since its inception only three years ago the orchestra has progressed in leaps and bounds. Starting with a nucleus of only a few players the orchestra now numbers about forty musicians that meet regularly each week in Batawa to rehearse under the very able guidance of their founder and conductor, Stephen Choma. Members of the orchestra reside in many towns and villages in this district including Trenton, Belleville, Brighton, Colborne, Wellington, Campbellford, Frankford, Havelock, Batawa and Stirling, yet regardless of their places of residence they all make extreme efforts to be on hand for practice sessions every Sunday evening. And all these rehearsals are certainly paying off, as one can notice the gradual development of the organization from its tenure beginning to the stature that it has now reached in that all of these amateur players have progressed remarkably and that through their dedicated application to their respective instruments are emerging into the musical scene as an orchestra that this community is proud of for its aims, ambitions and talents. Give them a few more years, and players and who knows but that full fledged classical symphonies and tone poems will be forthcoming from this group in well seasoned interpretations.

ELEVEN SELECTIONS

Last evening the orchestra played a series of eleven selections takes from the classical, salon and modern repertoire that made for a most enjoyable two hours musical entertainment. Old favorites such as "Poet and Peasant" overture and "Colonel Bogey" march were interspersed with contemporary works of a novel character as exemplified by "Riviera Holiday" and "The Naughty Little Clock". The A Minor Violin Concerto Capriccio movement of Vivaldi gave the string section ample opportunity to exhibit their ensemble playing and fluency in unison. The Civil War Suite of Harold Walters and the Ballet Parisien of Offenbach were two sensitized offerings that demonstrated to the listeners the potentialities of the various choirs of the orchestra in matters of tone color and blendings of brasses and woodwinds. Owing to the absence of the Tympani player the orchestra was at a disadvantage as this instrument so often is foundation structure on which the rest of the orchestra relies for support in certain works.

The theme from Beethoven's second Symphony did not fare too well, but this fault was partly due to the arrangement. The opening loud introduction to this could be left out entirely as it detracts from the interest of the rest of the movement. The arranger had poor taste in trying to weave the "Coriolanus" overature into this lyrical interpl. The Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah" broke at the seams in a couple of places and needs more sewing together at all. Cues were not picked up by the players as the conductor required them, hence a certain amount of late entrances gave this a dragging aural appearance. More verve and vivo needed in this.

Guest Artists Hazelmae and Robert Reid sang six numbers from popular Broadway productions of the past few years and in each of the selected songs they increased the decibel ratings from their heavers. The upper and lyrical voice of Hazelmae blended with the vibrant and ringing voice of Robert Reid lovely results in all of the duet selections. Both were admirable and delightfully in full unity to exhibit their ensemble singing — they never fail to please — and Belleville audiences love them for that. Ronald Robertson was the piano accompanist to the lyrists in a most capable manner.

Before the concert Mrs. Ralph Ellis, Regent of the St. Julien Chapter of the I.O.D.E. welcomed all in attendance and gave a brief talk on the Orchestra, Soloists, Conductor, Concertmaster and the aims of the I.O.D.E.

One admonition to the audience: please, oh please do not applaud in a work of more than one movement until all the piece is over. The unneeded applause that occurs between movements could have been used at the end of the first part of the program until the Conductor retired to the wings.

Summing up: All players did their very best — except the violas. Are there any viola players in this district. If so, contact Mr. Choma.

ST. ANNE'S C.W.L.

The January meeting of St. Anne's Catholic Women's League, Point Anne sub-division was held at St. Anne's school with 16 members present.

The meeting was opened by the president Miss Patricia Whalen. Plans were made to have a euchre party in the Club House in January.

In the absence of the spiritual convenor, Mrs. Buckley, the president Patricia Whalen read an inspiring account on Vigilence written by Reverend M. A. Harrington, Archbishop of Kamloops.

As there was no further business on hand meeting was adjourned.

Progressive euchre was enjoyed by all with prize winners — Mrs. Art Genereaux, Miss Patricia Whalen and Miss Ruby MacDonald; door prize, Mrs. Art Genereaux. After distribution of prizes a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses for January, Mrs. Michael Whalen, Mrs. Burton Whalen and Miss Patricia Whalen.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR CLYDE MACFARLANE

Macfarlane — Flindall

Christ Church was the scene of a lovely wedding recently, when Reverend E. F. Smith united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony, Sharon Arlene Flindall, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Flindall, to Arthur Clyde Macfarlane, son of Mrs A. C. Macfarlane and the late Mr. Macfarlane.

The altar was decorated with white mums and Christmas green, with white ribbons decorating the guest pews.

Six choir boys rendered four selections accompanied by Mr. J. Withers on the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white chiffon velvet, fashioned in princess style with a shaped scoop neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of imported lace was held by a wedding ring crown studded with pearls. She carried her white prayer book enhanced with red roses, holly and white streamers.

Miss Gayle McDougall was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Gayle and Glenda Flindall, twin sisters of the bride and Miss Linda Macfarlane sister of the bridegroom who were similarly attired in street-length dresses of red velvet, elbow length sleeves and scoop necklines. Their headdresses were wedding ring crowns of red velvet and net veils. They carried a sheath of white 'mums and holly.

Mr. Peter Macfarlane acted as best man for his brother. The ushers were Mr. Allan Macfarlane, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Mr. Wayne Mountford and Mr. Edward Flindall, brother of the bride.

The reception was held at Club Canara where guests were received from Newcastle, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Burchill Lake, Belleville and district.

For their honeymoon trip through Vermont, U.S.A. and Quebec, the bride chose a cranberry red coat with a raccoon collar, brown accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will reside in Belleville.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honored at miscellaneous showers, given at the home of Miss Gail Pointer with Miss Margaret Farrow as co-hostess, and at the home of Mrs. L. Kennedy with Mrs. H. Kelleher and daughter Lois Lynne as co-hostesses. Mrs. A. McDougall and Gayle were hostesses at a coffee party after the wedding rehearsal.

Home and School News

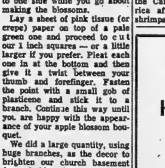
KING GEORGE

The regular monthly meeting of King George Home and School Association was held on January 11th.

A skit entitled "Getting Thru" was presented by members, which dealt with parents' membership in Home and School. This was well presented and provided an excellent topic for group discussion afterwards.

Refreshments were served during the discussion and a most enjoyable meeting came to a close.

SINGER'S DEATH



World famous soprano Grace Moore was killed in a plane crash over Denmark in 1947.

Area Government Subject Of Mayor's Address

At the January meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club the speaker was the Mayor of Belleville, Jack Ellis.

Mr. Ellis spoke on a most interesting and timely subject "Area Government". This was defined as municipal government spread over a region perhaps 3,000 square miles. In hypothesis using Belleville as the nucleus, this area would stretch out about forty miles from the perimeter, taking in the towns and villages, industries, schools, hospitals, water systems and roads in this area. This would result in great economy and provide a self sustaining unit. Health services, school curricula, revenue, rates, equalized assessment, co-ordination of industry, roads and so on would be planned for in a waste preventing method. This could be the key to greater accomplishments in the future.

President Marie Huffman told the members of her trip to Montreal recently to attend a Business and Professional Women's conference on Arts and Amusements, which she found enlightening. She welcomed the opportunity to exchange ideas with French-Canadian sisters and found no differences there.

Susanna's Family Fare

WINTER BOUQUET

Dear Susanna: Create a lovely, springtime illusion in your house by making a large, colorful apple blossom bouquet. Let it greet you in the front hall or grace your dining table.

First, bring in an armful of bare branches — as many or as few as you wish for your centerpiece. Arrange them artistically in your favorite container. Set to one side while you go about making the blossoms.

Lay a sheet of pink tissue (or crepe) paper on top of a pale green one and proceed to cut four 1 inch squares — or a little larger if you prefer. Pleat each one in at the bottom and then give it a twist between your thumb and forefinger. Fasten the point with a small gob of plasticene and stick it to a branch. Continue this way until you are happy with the appearance of your apple blossom bouquet.

We did a large quantity, using huge branches, as the decor to brighten our church basement for a fashion show and tea we were putting on. The result was breathtaking and so little expense was involved. — "Beauty Lover"

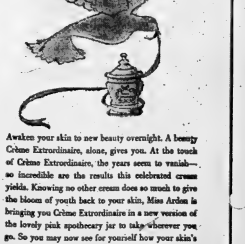
See, the best things in life are still free . . . well, almost!
— SUSANNA

P.S. — Yes, Sir!

Dear Susanna: With three children, I do a lot of ironing so the ironing board cover always wears out in the center first.

By the time it does, I have patches cotton type, fitted to cover the worn spot, I can get considerably more use from the cover, and have a neat smooth ironing surface again.

That's my solution to a "pressing" problem. — Mrs. S. Weston



You said it, Mrs. Weston, I didn't. — SUSANNA

Lunar Bits are Party Hits

by Mary Moore

Relatives are fine, but when it comes to asking their advice, you are obliged to follow it.

I made what were promically called Ham and Cheese Pastries and served them to my sister and brother. They are perfectly delicious (relatives included) I told them I needed a catchy name for them and explained the pastry contained cheese. Since these pastries are half-moon shaped and since the moon is known (by some) to be made of green cheese, my sister came up with the title.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Baked Sausages; Spiced Crabapples; Kernel Corn and Lima Bean Casserole; Buttered Cabbage; Relish Tray: Dill Spears, Celery Curls, Green Pepper Strips; Old-Fashioned Raisin Pie (see Tuesday); Cheddar Cheese; Tea.

SUNDAY (Guests)

Pepper-steak (see Wednesday); Fluffy Rice; Crumbed Cucumber Strips (see Wednesday); Butterflake Rolls; Individual Moulded Perfection Salads; Roquefort Dressing; Baked Bananas (see Saturday) or Broiled Grapefruit Halves (see Wed.); Coffee.

LUNAR BITS
(thirty-six 2¼" savory turnovers)

Take or leave the title but do make these. They are ideal for late evening snacks or the cocktail hour.

Pastry: ¾ lb. (4-oz. package) white cream cheese; ¼ lb. (½ cup) butter; 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour.

Filling: ¾ cup (6-oz.) ground cooked ham; 2 tablespoons catsup; 1¼ teaspoons prepared mustard; ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Note: Neither the pastry nor filling require any salt.

Cut cheese and butter into flour with pastry blender until you can press the whole mass into a ball. Chill this dough. Roll out one-half at a time. This dough will crack at the edges because it is cold, but as you roll it to ¼" thickness keep coaxing the cracks at the edges together with your warm fingertips until you have a smooth sheet of dough. Cut out rounds measuring 2¾" or 2½". Roll and cut out remaining half of dough. I cut out 36 in all.

Mix together filling ingredients in order given. Place ½ teaspoon at side centre of each pastry round. Fold over uncovered side to form a half-moon-shaped turnover and seal edges by pressing firmly with fingertips. Note. This is a time-consuming step, so be patient and neatly professional. Place on two buttered cookie sheets in uniform rows. Prick top of each with fork tines. Glaze tops by brushing with mixture of 1 egg yolk mixed with 3 teaspoons water. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 10 to 12 minutes, or until tinged with pale gold.

Notes: 1) A comforting feature of these delicious tender titbits is that they may be made in advance. When serving time comes reheat in oven at 300 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes. 2) My plan was to give you this recipe in time for your New Years entertaining but once more, space did not permit - so have another small party in January to show them off.

Women's Hospital Auxiliary Has Outstanding Year

Need to Clarify Thinking About Education of Nurses Speaker Tells WHA Members

When hours of duty were long and nurses were on call at any time during the 24 hour period, it was important to have nurses readily available. These conditions no longer exist but they continue to include residence-living as an essential part of the nursing educational process. This means that we must find money not only to pay for nursing education, but also for board and lodging which makes up half the total cost," Miss Gladys J. Sharpe, Reg. N., B.Sc., senior consultant, Nursing Services, Ontario Hospital Services Commission told the members of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary at their annual luncheon meeting on Wednesday in Education Hall.

STUDENTS PAY OWN BOARD

"In the case of university schools of nursing, students supply these non-educational perquisites of living at home or by paying for them. Should not the cost of accommodation for student nurses be paid as in other fields of education, by the student, the family, or some other supporting agency?

"While living in residence may in some aspects be satisfactory, it is not strictly sine qua non. We look around us and find well-adjusted, responsible, mature persons fulfilling their obligations to society in an able manner who have never lived in a student residence.

CLARIFY THINKING

"We need to clarify our thinking about the perquisites associated with nursing education but not essential to it, and try to do away with or limit in helping to solve the problem of increasing the cost of nursing education rather than hindering it."

Miss Sharpe dealt with the comprehensive study of health needs of the Canadian people contained in the report of the Royal Commission on Health Services which was tabled in June, 1961.

This program deals with all phases of physical and mental health, including dental services, optical services, prosthetic services, home care services; drug addiction, rehabilitation; psychiatric care; rehabilitation; personal attendant and home care program either community-based or in co-operation with hospitals.

WHOLLY EDUCATIONAL

It was suggested that the budgets of the schools of nursing operated by the hospitals be separated from the nursing service of the hospital to the end that the schools of nursing become wholly educational in their function and that hospitals make their educational and clinical facilities available for the clinical experience of students, without claim on the student for service; also that provincial legislation be amended to provide for licensing of the graduate as a registered nurse on the successful completion of examinations following the two-year course.

Many floral tributes were presented in the report which follows this discussed, and in her concluding remarks she suggested that recognition of nursing education at a meeting independent support as does education for other professions would attract more young people as they faced a career choice.

Introduction of the speaker was made by Mrs. R. Burley, and thanks were expressed by Miss Nelly Merry, who also presented the speaker with a gift.

Mrs. F. A. Beeby presided at the luncheon, which was convened by Mrs. A. Duffy and Mrs. J. Parrott. Rev. C. W. Coleman said the invocation.

Mrs. Parrott was pianist. Introduction of the head table was made by Mrs. A. Duffy.

BROUGHT GREETINGS

Greetings were brought to the meeting from the city of Belleville by Alderman H. J. Allin, who congratulated the women on the work they were doing. The newly elected Warden of Hastings County, Mr. Fred Beckett, brought greetings and expressed appreciation for the fine work the women had done. The Board of Governors was represented by Chairman A. McLean Haig who thanked the Auxiliary for the great contribution they had made, raising between $50,000 and $60,000 in the years they had operated. "We cannot over-emphasize our gratitude," the chairman said.

Mr. Stanley Johnson, hospital administrator spoke of the good relations the hospital staff had enjoyed with the Auxiliary members. Mr. Johnson assured them that without their help the new B. G. H. would be a lot poorer. He thanked them for the gift to complete the furnishings of the nurses' residence.

Dr. J. R. Birchard, president of the medical association brought greetings on behalf of the doctors, and thanked the members for the countless things they had done for the doctors and patients, especially in-hospital care. They had not neglected the psychological care of patients and relatives.

DIRECTOR OF NURSES

Miss D. Smith," director of nurses brought a warm greeting from her department, a nd thanked them for the high quality care of patients in a multitude of ways, and the warm way they had treated patients and relatives. The assistance given in the educational program for nursing students.

The spirit of thankfulness and friendship had deivoped with the hospital and the Auxiliary, which the speaker described as "the gentle art of being kind."

Rev. C. W. Coleman spoke briefly on behalf of the ministerial association.

At the installation ceremony conducted by Mrs. W. H. Finkle, Mrs. Beeby transferred the insignia of office to Mrs. Dale Cass; and Mrs. Finkle presented the past president's pin to Mrs. Beeby.

The officers for the coming year are: past president — Mrs. F. A. Beeby; president — Mrs. William Dallas; 1st vice-president — Mrs. W. G. New Project Is Gift Case

The Women's Hospital Auxiliary of the Belleville General Hospital opened a small gift case, in the main waiting room of the hospital, in January 1964.

Small gift articles, specially suitable for hospital patients, are offered for sale. In this case many beautiful hand knit baby clothes are being offered. All these knitted articles are made by Auxiliary members and friends. Many of these are knitted, while the Auxiliary was pleased to provide the wool for the others. Many thanks, to all the knitters.

The committee is most grateful to the Belleville Knitting group, who last spring, had a shower of gifts for this case. Thanks also go out to those members who have donated articles and the volunteers on duty at the case who have handled the sales.

It is sincerely hoped that this new project will prove successful and has a most successful future.

Girl Guides, Brownies, G.G.I.T. Assist WHA With Favors on Holidays

The purpose of the Holiday and Treats Committee is to observe each "Special Day" of the year. As these occasions come along, we try, in some small way to brighten them for each patient. During the past year, many youth groups of Belleville, as well as members and friends of the auxiliary, have been most co-operative and helpful in this endeavour.

Favors made by the Girl Guides and Brownies of Belleville, were placed on the supper trays on Valentine's, and St. Patrick's Day. As there are really 259 beds in the hospital, and often extras set up, this means that during the year, these Girl Guides and Brownies, make many hundreds of favors for distribution by the auxiliary. For this we are most grateful.

During Easter weekend, the hospital auxiliary, presented each patient with a small house made of egg shells. These pretty articles were remembered with an Easter novelty. C.G.I.T. groups help our branches, kindly made these articles.

Mother's Day, hand knit booties were given to the "new mother" in maternity. These bootees were knit for us by friends and members of the auxiliary. There were 31 "new mothers" in our hospital last Mother's day.

Nurses' graduation day, a very special day to them, did not go unnoticed. A gift was given in their honor, the auxiliary presented each graduate with a pair of engraved Sterling cuff links.

Hallowe'en, brings forth the spooks, and a Hallowe'en party, during which their colorful supper servettes in a Hallowe'en motif, were also made by members of the auxiliary. Favors were made by Girl Guides and Brownies of Belleville. Pumpkins with happy faces cut into them, were placed in paediatrics for that day.

Christmas this year, the auxiliary, remembered every Christmas day patient with a small gift which the Girl Guides of Belleville, made most attractive favors, in such numbers, that we were able to place them on both the Christmas Eve trays.

We sincerely hope that "Holiday Treats" made a patient's stay in Belleville General Hospital, during 1964, just a little happier.

Puppets Given To Children In Hospital

Puppets, made by this group, were given to children in the paediatrics department after a stay in hospital and were supplied each month. After a summer holiday it was decided to review the project. Mrs. Beeby, Mrs. Casey and I interviewed Miss Whittle, department head in order to ascertain the exact needs of this department. This was necessary as the amount of puppets required seemed rather excessive. The conclusion reached was that the puppets served a vital need in the hospital but that a closer supervision of their distribution was necessary. This has been put into practice. The auxiliary supports the project financially since it is the feeling of the group that, as the puppets are given to the children, they do not wish to have them sold. From time to time, due to thank the ladies of the different church groups who have contributed to the success of our project. We anticipate a continued support.

(Signed)
Mrs. J. Lennox Smith,
Chairman.

SAMARITAN CUPBOARD

During 1964 a total of 27 layettes were placed in the Samaritan Cupboard, for needy babies. Each layette consists of 2 nighties, 2 shirts, 2 diapers, a knitted shawl, bonnet and bootees and a large blanket.

Supplies are on hand to be placed in the cupboard and a balance of $35.21 remains to purchase material as needed. Sewing and knitting were done by a number of interested members and friends of the auxiliary.

(Signed)
Mrs. R. E. Wood,
Convener.

Retiring President Presents Report

"After listening to me so often during the past two years, I'm sure that many of you will heave a sigh of relief at the thought of a new face and voice at the head of our auxiliary. Today brings mixed feelings for me; a sense of release, a sense of pride and a deep sense of gratitude for those who have worked so well during my term of office. I very much miss our past president today. Mrs. Jones has been a friend and a steady rock on many occasions. All of our good wishes go out to her for better health soon.

Looking back on 1964, we find that our auxiliary now has the largest membership in its history. Due to the un-selfish ering efforts of our membership convener. Even better than membership, we have a large percentage of working members. The Opportunity Shop has proved a great auxiliary with the much-needed cash for its many undertakings, to which we are grateful for surplus goods and to provide a helping hand to the less fortunate and to the bargain hunter.

The Coffee Cart flis a need and surprised us with a cheque at our December meeting. Our newest venture, the Gift Corner, is still in the trial stage, but as it becomes better known, we hope it will blossom into a profitable and useful project. (Tell your friends about it!)

IN-HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS

The in-hospital volunteers continue their valuable and humanitarian service; the puppet group and those who work for the Samaritan Cupboard; to those who provide gifts and favors for patients and those who shared in the outstanding success of our fashion show, and so many others all deserve a pat on the back.

We have endeavored to become more informed about our hospital and our meetings have all been geared toward preparing our members to be good ambassadors. We have been fortunate in having doctors, heads of departments, nurses and technicians willing to tell us our hospital story in a most competent and exciting way.

LITTLE EXTRAS

Some of our ventures have not been pretentious, but were much appreciated by those who benefitted by them. Christmas for elderly women, garden chairs for nurses, newspapers for elderly men patients, music for hospital dining room and toys for paediatrics. We do not rank in magnitude to bed-side laundry equipment and furnishing for nurses' residence, but all have their place in providing those little extras so needed in such a hospital a warm, friendly place.

I have been pleased to represent you at the Provincial convention in Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Casey, where I was privileged to take part in one of the programs. I attended two conferences in Kingston, one in Peterborough and one No. 9 and, with Mrs. Buchan, took part in a voluntary services clinic in Toronto. I attended all activities connected with our nurses' graduation and spoke on hospital auxiliary work to the Women's Institute in Marmora. As your voting representative on the Hospital Board I was most interested in being a member of four committees: Public Relations, Supervisory, nominating and public relations.

NURSING PROGRAM

All of these have been most instructive and enlightening. On the building committee I was in consultation concerning all phases of our new hospital and during the time the nursing advisory committee has reviewed all facets of our nursing program with a view to being able to offer the finest in tuition and conditions possible for our future nurses.

We are on the threshold of big things at Belleville General Hospital. The sod turning ceremony tomorrow marks an exciting and challenging phase of our hospital's history. The auxiliary will be needed more than ever and our contribution of time, of service and of just being welcomed boosters for our hospital should be the goal of every member.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

In making my last report to you as president, there are many I should thank, starting with our executive who have been most co-operative and helpful. To our Board of Governors, our administrator, director of nurses and all members of the hospital staff who make us welcome and our work a pleasure. The Corby Public Library and its staff for assistance with the library cart service in this Ontario province and to radio station C.J.B.Q. who so graciously bring our efforts to the attention of the public, and to every member of the auxiliary who by their support and friendship has made these two years happy ones for me, thank you most sincerely.

I wish our new president Mrs. William Dallas and her executive every success and Mrs. Dallas brings to this office a wealth of experience, having worked in several positions in the auxiliary and other organizations. I am confident that you will support her in every way possible and, under her guidance the auxiliary can look forward to a year of growth and achievement.

(Signed) Lois B. Beeby,
(Mrs. F. A.)

Department of Volunteer Services Contributes to Patients' Welfare

A substantial proportion of our in-hospital volunteers are also members of the hospital auxiliary and there is a very warm relationship between these two sections of the hospital.

The in-hospital volntteer program, grows a-pace and we are now staffing 13 services. Among the new developments of 1964 are: volunteer services in the department of Cardiology; the Gift Corner (an Auxiliary money raising project); transportation service which supplies transportation to and from the hospital for out-patients unable to provide their own; and an add-uh group of mealtime assistants who staff at noon.

There were 150 volunteers who gave 4,328 hours last year, staffing these various services. This is approximately 1,000 more hours than was given in the previous year.

ESTABLISHED SERVICES

To give a brief outline of our nine long established services, they read as follows: admitting means, mealtime assistants — staffed by students from the Secondary schools; information desk, patients' library, outpatient hostesses, office overload, occupational therapy, coffee cart, wardrobe mistress.

To Miss Olive Delaney, chief librarian of the Corby Public Library whose active interest in the patients' library has made it the much appreciated service it is, we express our appreciation and to the Corby Public Library Board for their generous donations to the effect.

In-hospital volunteer work brings us into frequent contact with the nursing staff of the hospital and the never failing interest, taken in this department by the Director of Nursing, Miss Doris Smith has been invaluable.

At last, but by no means, we thank the hospital Auxiliary for its continued assistance, both financial and in man-power.

Record High of 232 Members This Year

REPORT OF THE RECORDING SECRETARY, THE WOMEN'S HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

By MRS. W. DALLAS
Recording Secretary

The affairs of the organization have been guided, during the past year by the following executive officers: Mrs. F. A. Beeby, president; Mrs. M. F. L. Jones, 1st vice-president; Mrs. W. Dallas, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Brown, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. W. Dallas, recording secretary; Mrs. W. G. Harvey, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. E. Nelles, treasurer.

Our membership has reached a record high this year, testifying through the energy and initiative of Mrs. J. B. Casey, membership convener.

During the year ten executive and ten general meetings were held, with an average attendance of 48 at our general meetings. The interesting programs presented, at these meetings increased the knowledge of our members about hospital auxiliary work, by the number of interested members and friends of the auxiliary.

In January, our annual luncheon was convened by Mrs. K. Haig and Mrs. J. Parrott, with Mr. S. J. Johnston, hospital administrator, as guest speaker. Mr. Johnston traced the development of hospitals from their early beginnings when they belonged to religious orders, to their present state, describing it as a magnificent tapestry woven over the years.

In February, Mrs. Margaret Berry, assistant head nurse, in the Intensive Care Unit, outlined the latest equipment and care in this department.

At the March meeting, Mrs. H. Brown, convener of the Opportunity Shop, presented a fashion show and mock wedding, with auxiliary members modelling the costumes available at the Shop.

In April, the members were privileged to hear Miss M. Totten explain radio isotopes, and in May, Miss M.K. Barrett outlined the duties of nursing assistants and aides — thus bringing the Red Nurses for more important work.

The presentation of cheques from the Opportunity Shop and Coffee Cart, the main fund raising projects, was the highlight of the June meeting. A dessert luncheon preceded this meeting.

After the summer recess, the auxiliary was again privileged to have the hospital administrator, Mr. S.J. Johnston, describe the plans of the new Belleville General Hospital in detail. In October, a talk on Physiotherapy by Mr. Ivan Wright, head of the Physiotherapy Department, was given.

In November, Dr. P. Loder gave an interesting address on Histology. Mr. A. Casey spoke on Pharmacology.

Following this, reports were heard from the Provincial Convention held in Toronto, by delegates, Mrs. F.A. Beeby and Mrs. J. B. Casey. Also at this meeting, the sum of $100.00 to the Corby Public Library to purchase books for the occupational library, and a cheque to the occupational therapist for $50.00 to assist in purchasing materials for her work.

The year closed with an enjoyable Christmas dessert party, and the presentation of awards from the Opportunity Shop, Coffee Cart, and Gift Corner to the president. A cheque in the sum of $4,000.00 was presented by Mrs. F.A. Beeby to Mrs. Frank Domenico, vice-chairman of the Board of Governors. This was the final instalment on the Combi-Folder, a gift from the Auxiliary; also, a cheque to Mr. S. J. Johnston of $1,000.00 for drapes and scatter rugs for the administration offices, records to Miss Doris Smith for the record player in the cafeteria, and toys for the children were presented to the pediatrics head nurse.

The annual fashion show was again a financial success financially, and was artistically convened by Mrs. J. H. Forrester, with Mrs. Douglas Burr and Mrs. J. R. Blackbourn in charge of the admission tickets. A reception for models, exhibitors, and all helpers was held in Education Hall, following the fashion show, under the convenership of Mrs. M. F. L. Jones and Mrs. Stan Kravetz.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Public relations director for the year was Mrs. Douglas Burr and Mrs. Ben E. Burley. This entails a constant effort of interpreting the hospital to the public, being constantly on the alert for misconceptions, complaints, and misinformation regarding the hospital, and then having the pertinent facts to correct such misconceptions, complaints and misinformation. The results are intangible. But if just one person a day is brought to understand the hospital and its staff are trying to give the utmost service to each and every patient, then it is most worthwhile. In discharging this duty, regarding the hospital and the auxiliary, our PR director arranges for the publicity for each service, and arranges the display at the provincial convention in Toronto. She also supplies the meetings, social events and projects, together with press clippings from the hospital, and the monthly bulletin are forwarded to the Provincial P.R. director each month.

Serving on the PR committee are: Mrs. J. A. Blackbourn, who submits to the local press articles regarding the work of the auxiliary; Mrs. J. H. Forrester, who edits the interesting and intriguing bulletins each month . . . lets each year; Mrs. J. E. McFarlane, who types the stencils for the bulletin ten times each year; and Mrs. A. E. Campbell, who processes the bulletins for mailing each month, with yearly total of approximately 1,330 pieces of mail.

During the year, social conveners, Mrs. B. Safe and Mrs. S. Kvarda were kept busy. Two general luncheons were served at the June and December meetings were arranged by Mrs. Safe, with Mrs. Kvarda serving following all other meetings. In May, they arranged the mother and daughter tea for the graduating class, when each nurse was presented with a pair of silver cuff links by Mrs. Beeby, a gift from the Auxiliary.

Many Letters, Phone Calls by Secretary

The volume of correspondence for 1964 slightly greater than for 1963, again reflects the variety of activities conducted by the Auxiliary.

Since the last annual meeting 244 letters have been written on behalf of the whole auxiliary and they do not in any way include or reduce the large volume of correspondence conducted by the separate activities within the auxiliary.

The breakdown of correspondence for the year is as follows: general business, 76; invitations, 59; thank you notes, 78; get well notes, 31; sympathy cards and letters, 8.

In addition to the handling of this correspondence, it has been a duty of the corresponding secretary to communicate by telephone with the officers and executive members in advance of the executive meetings. Approximately 200 telephone calls were made in this regard.

The exchange of letters and the telephone conversations during the year have been varied and in all cases most pleasant.

Mrs. W. G. Harvey.

OPP Shop Excels Records Of All Previous Years

Once again the Opportunity Shop excels previous years in all aspects of its work. Many members offered their time voluntarily, which is most important as without the volunteers the shop could not exist.

Approximately 3,500 hours of volunteer work given by 75 members of which 25 are on the spare names list made it possible this year to present to the auxiliary the sum of $5,-300.00.

The financial gain in this project plays a small part in comparison with the help it provides to many needy families by making available clothing and household articles at a fraction of its value.

Hundreds of pounds of surplus clothing were given to Church women's groups, who in turn send them to missions in the northern areas. The apparent need of the missions for these articles makes every effort in this part of the work most worthwhile. A new outlet started last fall, was to supply a local motor dealer with wipers cut out of articles of clothing, linens and bedding not suitable for sales.

A great deal of credit for the successful year goes to the efficient staff and convenor Mrs. E. D. Tomsett; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Sharp; bookkeeper, Miss Ivy Eggleton; pricers, Mrs. J. C. Young; Mrs. R. VanDerslingen, Mrs. Robert Long, Mrs. R. Gelsthorpe, Mrs. Jos. Hilard; also to the faithful calestaff volunteers, to our thank you notes lady Mrs. G. H. Craig and to the generous members who phoned after picking up donations to the shop. We greatly appreciate the valuable publicity given by radio station C.J.B.Q. broadcasting the shop hours and type of merchandise many times in the year.

Frequent notices and news articles in the local newspaper have also kept the shop before the attention of the public. It is hoped that the members and citizens of Belleville continue to encourage the workers of this project by sending to the shop all articles which they no longer require. (Signed) Mrs. Herbert Brown, convener.

CAIRN UNVEILED

MONTREAL (CP) — More than 450 members of the Quebec Women's Institute travelled to Dunbarton, to unveil a cairn commemorating the formation of the first ingitute in the province in 1911. Mrs. C. Brown, daughter of the founder and first president, attended the meeting.

Is it that nagging backache again?

If it's backache that's bothering you, it could be due to urinary irritation and bladder discomfort. If so, Doan's Pills may help. Doan's Pills stimulate the kidneys to help relieve the conditions causing the backache. Then you feel better and rest better. Get Doan's today. Insist on Doan's Pillsy Pills.

Many Visitors Served by Coffee Cart

The coffee cart, a service which came into existence in mid 1963 as a result of the shop space being utilized for other needs by the hospital, continued to operate in 1964 in a very satisfactory manner.

For those who are unfamiliar with this operation, the coffee cart is essentially a service provided for the benefit of out-patients and visitors and is not designed as a money making venture. Its location is in the general waiting room and judging by the response, has been very much appreciated by the out-patients, visitors and staff.

We have a staff of 14 regular volunteers who contribute a minimum of 3 hours semi-weekly, in some case weekly, and an additional staff of 4 spares who are called upon in an emergency. Although the service was discontinued during the summer months, approximately 1100 hours were contributed by this staff during the year.

Our balance on hand January 1, 1964 was $281.67. In June, we presented a cheque to the Women's Hospital Auxiliary in the amount of $200.00 and a further cheque in the same amount in December bringing our total donation for the year to $400.00.

My appreciation goes out to our Director who acted as liaison between myself and the volunteers, to our treasurer who handled the financial end of the operation and finally to my sincere gratitude to the ladies who by their faithful attendance made this much needed service possible.

(Signed)
Mrs. T. N. Davidson, convener.

Ann Landers

Room in Bed for Two But Old Shep Has to Go

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have been married only a month and am having troubles I never expected. I've mentioned my problem to a few people but all they do is laugh. They think I'm joking.

Two weeks ago when Denny and I returned home from our honeymoon his dog was very glad to see him. Shep had been in the kennels and I figured he would be especially happy to see his master. But it turns out Shep is more important to Denny than I thought. Denny confessed the dog had been sharing his bed for seven years I was shocked and said so. Denny said "I'm sorry, but I can't change things now. It would break Shep's heart."

ANN LANDERS

Our bed is large, but no bed is large enough for a couple and a dog.

I haven't had a good night's sleep in two weeks and I don't know what to do. This is no gag. I'm dead serious. You hear about all sorts of kooky problems and I hope you can solve mine. — HONEYMOON GONE TO THE DOGS.

DEAR GONE — If your husband can't part with his bow-wow at bedtime, order twin beds and tell him you hope he and Shep will be very happy — way over there.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a fairly attractive private secretary on the lying side of 30. All the men I work with (or near) are too old, too young, or too married. The women around here are no help. If they knew of an eligible man they'd grab him for themselves.

Every day is like the day before — no incentive to dress smartly or to change my hair. Who would notice? The jokes I heard today are retreads of the ones I heard last year.

My job pays well but I am dying of boredom. Since you are the lady with all the answers, how about tossing one my way? —SLEEPY HOLLOW.

DEAR SLEEPY — Anyone as bored as you are can't possibly be doing a good job. Do yourself and the company a favor and remove the corpse from the office.

Get a new job. You need to meet some new faces and hear some new jokes. People often become hopeless victims of monotony because they are too lethargic to extricate themselves. Get going, Sister. Life can be beautiful — but ya' gotta help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Please tell me if I did right or wrong. My sister's husband became involved with another woman and she found out about it. They have four lovely children. Divorce is outlawed by her religion so my sister obtained a legal separation.

My husband and I used to see a great deal of them as a couple but when they began to have trouble we decided not to take sides.

Last Friday my husband ran into my brother-in-law and brought him home to dinner. We had a lovely evening and it was pleasant to see him again. Not one word was said about his personal affairs.

This morning my sister phoned to say she was disgusted with us for entertaining "that louse" and since we have shown friendship for him she wants nothing more to do with us. Is she justified in her position? — BLACK SHEEP.

DEAR SHEEP — Your sister has no right to tell you whom you may entertain in your home. If she chooses to interpret your act of friendship toward her estranged husband as an act of unfriendliness toward her, I'd say she is the loser, not you.

As a mature person would respect your neutrality but obviously your sister does not qualify.

Lonely? Uncomfortable? Just not able to make friends? Write for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 40c in coin and a long, self addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Doris Asks Opinion on 12 Year Old Wearing Nylons

DEAR DORIS — Do you suppose I'm doing the wrong thing by allowing our 12-year-old daughter to wear nylons to Sunday school and on special occasions during the week?

Seems to me she should still be wearing knee socks but most of her class seems to be wearing nylons now. I'd like to hear what other mothers think. — UNCERTAIN.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR UNCERTAIN — So would I. I know some who would say "Ridiculous!"; others who'd tell you to go right ahead.

We're torn between holding the line on dressing-for-her-age routines, and letting her snatch her classmates. Your compromise has the earmarks of good sense.

Other mothers — Would you care to put pen to paper about this?

DEAR DORIS — Reading the letter that was sent in by G.W. regarding eating in the dining room on Christmas Day. I really was very amused at her husband's disapproval. Why in my home, and we have three growing children, we always eat our dinners in the dining room. The children and my husband are more relaxed and we have a wonderful time over our dinner.

I use my good dishes all the time. Why shouldn't it! If I kept them for something special they would hardly ever be used. My husband and I were both raised to believe in this and we both came from ordinary middle class homes.

So G.W. eat in the dining room and enjoy every minute of it and I'm sure your husband will love it! — HAPPY HOUSEHOLDER.

DEAR HAPPY — You're so right. Meal times are family times. With some thought given to encouraging conversation they can be opportunities for digesting nourishing ideas along with good food. And putting our best foot forward with our very best peoples makes sense to me too!

* * *

DEAR DORIS — Thanks to you I now have two swimming coaches to choose from. During the summer I swam different, challenging parts of the lake. Sometimes disappointment came, sometimes a great feeling of satisfaction came too. I'm sure glad I contacted you as my hopes were slowly going down.

Can you tell me if the C.N.E. will hold a long distance swim this year? Do you have to be invited? How? — GRATEFULLY YOURS.

DEAR GRATEFULLY — The boss says probably not this year. When they do run one, the C.N.E. tries to control the number of entries for safety's sake. They look for swimmers who have a record of some type for long-distance swimming.

If your coach is encouraging, write to the General Manager, Canadian National Exhibition Association, Toronto, Canada, for further information.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SYLVIA — At 12 years of age, you shouldn't want to look younger! If it is overweight which is giving you too much waistline, do like the rest of us do: cut down on the fats and sweets, but don't neglect your proper nourishment. If you want some helpful low-calorie menus and recipes, write in again, enclosing ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Baby sitting eight brothers and sisters isn't likely to leave much time for study. Discuss this with your mother. (About your question on organizations, write to them and ask them.)

DEAR DORIS — I read with sympathy the letter from the lady who suffered from noise. I find a tight wad of tissue (from a paper hanky) stuffed in each ear a tremendous help.

It does not block out sound completely and I can even talk on the phone with these homemade plugs in my ears, but the sharp edge of the noise is blunted with a resulting soothing effect on the nervous system. I prefer tissue to cotton wool, because I can take it in and out more easily — QUIET PLEASE.

DEAR QUIET — Good idea. Far better than the solution of the man who developed a psychological (but none the less real) deafness in reaction to his wife's relentless natterings!

* * *

Confidential to DISGUSTED AND FED UP — Such a tale bearer is trying to feel important, at your expense. If she lies all the time, people will get tired of listening. Why not warn her that you know what is going on?

* * *

(Do something about what is troubling you. Your letter to Doris will be treated in confidence and answered privately if you enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

New Pledges Join Gamma Mu Chapter

The second meeting of the year, of Gamma Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held at the home of Mrs. Joan Turner.

Mrs. Barbara Baird announced the names of the seven new pledges. They are: Mrs. Dorothy Day; Mrs. Jane McNicol, Miss Sharon Sutton, Mrs. Ann Davey, Mrs. Louise Lally, Mrs. Judy Mowat, and Mrs. Nicole Butler.

It was decided to buy a croquette for the Padiatrics wing of the hospital from the proceeds of the puppet show held last November by the chapter.

The speaker for the evening was Mrs. Mary Denton, whose topic was "The Body Beautiful".

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Oriol Temple, Mrs. Joan Turner, and Mrs. Jane Lewis.

DESTINED FOR CHURCH

Former Russian leader Stalin, christened Joseph Vissarionovich Dzhugashvili, at one time was trained as a priest.

Legion News

BRANCH 99 L.A.

On Tuesday the general meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary Branch 99 was held. A few days previous, all the officers for 1965 were installed in a most impressive ceremony. It was the first time all three branches of the Legion had combined in a joint installation. Vice-Regional President "Dode" Hills was the installing officer.

Two new members, Comrades Harrigan and Hoelke were initiated.

Zone Commander H. Begley was invited to attend the February meeting, when there will be a chicken supper.

Arrangements were made to have a Valentine's Dance in February; also a grand euchre is planned for the near future.

The Saturday dances are to be discontinued and in their place a social on Friday's will be held. This will include darts, cards and other activities.

Medals were pinned on Begley for being secretary in 1964; also on 1st vice-president Rashotte who acted as sergeant-at-arms. Gifts were also presented to the outgoing officers, in appreciation of their services.

After the meeting, a social time was enjoyed together with the serving of refreshments.

A PLEASANT dyture that children like because it's unusual is Lollipop Tea. All that's needed is a cup of hot water and a simple lollipop (no fancy center). Stir the water with the lollipop 'til it melts to make "tea." This is good for most convalescents, and makes a nice idea for an impromptu party.

Eastern Star Chpt. Honors Grand Sentinel

On Friday evening a special event took place in the Masonic Temple, Foster Ave., when at the conclusion of their regular meeting, Belleville Chapter No. 70 Order of the Eastern Star ... tained in honor of Mr. Earl McKeever, Grand Sentinel of the Grand Chapter of Ontario, and a ... lding Sentinels of District 11. Despite the below zero temperature, the Chapter room was filled to capacity.

Visiting from other Chapters included members from Picton, Verona, Quebec, Scarboro, Prescott, Perth, Kingston, Napanee, Port Hope, Cobourg, Brighton, Warkworth, Trenton, Picton, Wellington, Marmora, Madoc, Bancroft, Havelock, Marmora, Tweed and Minerva Chapter, Bellleville.

The Worthy Matron, Mrs. Bobbe Locke, and the Worthy Patron, Mr. Elton Sharpe, warmly welcomed the Grand Sentinel and other Grand Officers, a large number of provincial and past officers, the visiting sentinels, and all visitors.

Grand Sentinel McKeever expressed thanks and gave a most interesting interpretation of the use of the Star and the meaning of the "Star Points". The District Deputy Grand Matron, Mary Johnson, of Havelock, spoke briefly, with brief speeches by several past D.D.G.M's and other visiting officers.

KEY CEREMONY

After closing the business portion, the impressive Key ceremony was performed, in which a beautiful five pointed star in the colors of the "Star Point Officers", was placed in the centre of the room. The Grand Sentinel and visiting Sentinels were escorted to central positions. Poems appropriate to the occasion were recited by the Worthy Matron, the Associate Matron, the Conductress and associate Conductress. The Chaplain approached the star, and after reciting a prayer placed the replica of the Bible in the centre of the star; after which, each Star Point Officer in turn approached the star, and after reciting a verse about keys, pinned a ribbon in their colors with a "golden" key attached to the corresponding colored point of the star.

The Worthy Matron read a poem about keys, and a presentation of a key case was made to the Grand Sentinel on behalf of the Chapter, by the Conductress. Another gift for travelling was presented to Mrs. Sentinel, Mr. Earl Gray. The star was also presented to her as a momento of his visit. The visiting Sentinels, and No. 25 Sentinel were presented with key rings with an Eastern Star inscribed.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

A musical hour followed, with a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Earl McKay, presiding Worthy Patron and Worthy Matron of Quinte Chapter, Amelisburg. Three solos by Mrs. Anne Davidson P.W.M., and two coronet solos by Gary Chaplin, accompanied by the pianist by Mr. Angus Macleod, music director of Holloway Street United Church.

Refreshments were served, under the convenorship of Sister Anne Comby and her group. The buffet table looked beautiful with a centrepiece of driftwood filled with blue and yellow flowers, flanked by candelabra with tall blue and yellow candles.

National Council of Women Prepare for Annual Meet

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP) — The executive of the National Council of Women has approved a resolution supporting the transfer of some services to Canada's Indians from the federal to the provincial governments.

The resolution, which goes before the council's annual meeting in May for final approval by representatives of the 70,000 members, asks the government to "continue its negotiations" for transfer of education, welfare and community development services.

It was one of 15 resolutions passed by the executive on Wednesday afternoon at a session that stretched two hours into overtime.

National president, Mrs. H. H. Steen of Vancouver, said: "We had lots to talk about and got lots of things done."

The resolutions passed by the executive are to be distributed to members across the country for their consideration.

MEET MAY 30

Then, the local councils will send delegates to the annual meeting at Nanaimo, B.C., May 30 - June 3, with instructions on how to vote on the various issues raised.

Mrs. Steen and other officers were to meet Prime Minister Pearson today to present resolutions passed at last year's annual meeting in Hamilton.

The women also approved a resolution urging the federal government to increase income tax exemptions for elderly people.

The women also want the national membership of the organization increased, asking the federal and provincial governments to make results of scientific research in the unmarried females admissible in all Canadian courts.

Another resolution to be studied by the council is one asking that the staff of the federal food and drug directorate be increased.

Other resolutions asked:

—The federal government should give "further study" to the abolition of capital punishment.

—The age at which young people may purchase rifles and firearms should be raised from 14 to 18.

—The federal government should require all firms manufacturing, importing, or distributing drugs in Canada to be registered with the Food and Drug Directorate.

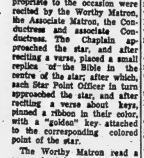
The council also hopes to turn the Manitoba Home of Nellie McClung into a centennial memorial to all women in Canada's planning centennial.

Mrs. Steen said following the meeting that it was hoped the home, at Manitou, Man., be purchased and moved to the International Peace Gardens on the U.S.-Manitoba border.

Nellie Mooney McClung was born near Chatsworth, Ont., the child of a farm family near Swanesa, Man., with her family in 1880, when she was six.

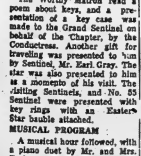
She was chiefly responsible for the granting of provincial vote to Manitoba women in 1916. They were the first women to be provincially enfranchised.

She also spearheaded the campaign that led to the federal franchisement in 1918 of all Canadian women.



Afterwards, she was elected to the Alberta legislature in 1921, and defeated in 1926.

The council also plans a second centennial project, the building of a cabin to honor the Tuskish woman for a year's study in Canada.



Mrs. Steen said both projects were still in the planning stages and could not yet be considered final.

BUDGETS FOR CITY

MONTREAL (CP) — Constance M. Jones, a statistician with the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, has bigger budgets to worry about than her shopping needs. The only woman doing her job, she budgets highway construction and electric utility costs and worries about screened and crushed gravel, earth and rock excavation and bituminous and hot - mixed pavement.

Club Activities

CHRIST CHURCH CONTACT CLUB

Recently the Contact Club of Christ Church held its first business meeting of 1965. Prior to this, an executive meeting was held at the home of President, June Fisher to discuss plans for the coming year and this meeting was well attended by newly elected officers for 1965.

At the first regular meeting for this year, the new slate of officers were introduced to the members: president, June Fisher; 1st vice-president, Edith Pringle; second vice-president, Dorothy Sinclair; secretary, Beverley Shanick; treasurer, Iris Foster; social convener, Mary Phillips; Sunshine fund, Pat Spencer; reporter, Evelyn Beesley; nursery and layette convener, Betty Guthrie; program convener, Doris Stewart; ways and means convener, Florence Lennox; membership convener, Irene Weatherstone; representative to Vestry Council, Shirley Harris and the Group Leaders are Carol Kidd, Bernice Fraser and Bert Brotherick.

PLAN PROJECTS

Many interesting projects are planned for the new year, including a rummage sale in February, a bridge and euchre in March, a dance and a Fun Fair at the end of May. It was also decided that the doll bazaar which was so successful last year, would be the fall project for 1965. The meeting was closed with the minutes of previous meetings and the correspondence read by Secretary Bev. Shanick.

Following the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. Since this is the Centennial for Christ Church, members tried to think of many words they could make from "Centennial", and the high score was 34.

Dainty refreshments and coffee were served by hostesses Bev. Shanick and Bert Brotherick.

SECOND MEETING

On Monday, January 18th, the second monthly meeting of Contact Club was held in Christ Church. A short business meeting was conducted by President, June Fisher.

Guest speaker for the evening was Canon C. B. Wright, rector of Christ Church. Close attention was paid to Canon Millen of evening talk I, and the timely address concerning Christian duty towards the church, the community, friends and families. A short question and answer period followed and Canon Wright left behind some thought provoking answers to members' queries.

Refreshments were served by Barbara Bertrim, Iris Foster and Mary Phillips. President, June Fisher reminded the members that the annual vestry meeting will take place next Monday and while there will be no regular club meeting, it is hoped that members will attend the vestry meeting.

Church Groups

ST. JAMES THE MINOR C.W.I.

STIRLING — An extremely cold night did not deter the ladies of St. James the Minor Parish, Stirling Catholic Women's League, from holding their Christmas party the new year, recently, in the recreation rooms of the Rectory.

Mrs. Ed. Hallowell, director, opened the meeting with the league prayers. Mrs. J. Forsythe, secretary, read the brief business session, reading a card of appreciation from Rev. F. Hall, rector, pastor, thanking all parishioners for so many prayers, thoughts and acts of kindness during his recent illness.

Mrs. J. Ryan, group leader, reported names are now under way for a euchre party to be conducted by her unit. "Day of Recollection" for the ladies of the League, has been tentatively scheduled for April, with final plans being made at a later date.

At the February meeting, a Chinese auction, where all members take two or three articles, will be given auctioned off to the highest bidder, will be held. All proceeds from this sale will go into the treasury. A spiritual reading was given by Mrs. Ray Burley after which two games were enjoyed.

KEEP THE SCORE

MONTREAL (CP) — Fifty-two women will be official scorekeepers for the Canadian Open golf championships this year. Each threesome starting out will be accompanied by one of the women. But one of the rules states: If the scorer's scores differ from those of the players, the players' tally will be accepted.

Congregation Honors Pastor On Departure

The lower auditorium of the Alliance Church was filled to capacity recently when the congregation met to honor the pastor, Rev. Sackville Palmer, his wife and family, prior to their departure for Owen Sound to take up their new duties in the Alliance Tabernacle there.

Lloyd Kerr led the congregation in the singing of several hymns and choruses. Mr. F. Allan, Mr. A. Rogers and Mr. C. Fenton were in charge of the entertainment part of the program, and a number of games were played.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer were invited to the front of the auditorium and on behalf of the women's groups of the church, Mrs. R. Reid presented Mrs. Palmer with a dresden plate quilt done by the ladies of the group. Mr. W. Ewberg, secretary of the church board, expressed appreciation to the pastor for the work he had done during the eight and one half years of his ministry in Belleville and to Mrs. Palmer, congregation, presented him with a recliner chair.

Mr. Palmer read expressed to Mrs. Palmer as well for her ministry in the church, and she was presented with a "Rose Birch" china.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program. Mrs. F. Allan was the lunch convener and she was assisted by the young people of the church.

U.C.W. Meetings

EGGLETON U.C.W.

MADOC JUNCTION — The January meeting of the Eggleton United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Johnson with 15 members in attendance.

Mrs. Harlow presided over the business which had been prepared by Mrs. W. McMillen.

Three hymns in keeping with the theme were sung during the devotional with Miss Joyce Stapley, pianist.

The Scripture reading and meditation lesson were given by Mrs. Forde Stapley.

A two minutes silence was observed in loving memory of the late, Mrs. Hugh McMullen, who while residing here, was a very active worker in the organization, and took an active part in church and community activities.

Community Friendship secretary, Mrs. Bruce Stapley reported that a donation of $10 had been made during the month. She also read the complete annual report. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Harlow.

OFFICE APPOINTMENTS

Thanks were expressed to Mrs. Carl Bridges, who had donated the mimeograph machine to the church communion table.

Mrs. Forde Stapley, supply secretary, reported supplies sent and supplies sent away this past year.

The February meeting is to be in charge of Mrs. Ivan Harlow with Mrs. F. Stapley and Mrs. R. Prest to prepare the program.

Mrs. C. Bridges and Mrs. Charles Stapley were in charge of reading, and Mrs. Bruce Stapley contributed a piano solo.

STUDY BOOK

The chapter from the study book on Brazil was presented by Mrs. Joyce Stapley using a map of Brazil and a broadcasting setting. Mrs. Bruce Stapley played folk songs from Brazil on the piano and Mrs. Forde Stapley and Mrs. Clarence Fitzsimmons sang. Mrs. Harlow led a questionnaire.

The president thanked the hostess and all who had assisted on the program.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

BETHEL-ZION U.C.W.

The January meeting of the Bethel-Zion U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Earle Sayers.

President, Mrs. Delbert Rowe opened the meeting with a reading. Mrs. Morden Brough led the worship service. Mrs. Lauliton Ketcheson gave the Scripture reading and prayers were given by Mrs. Frank Benton, Mrs. Earle Sayers and Mrs. Gordon Russell.

The study book on India was in charge of Mrs. G. Russell. Mrs. Sayers followed with lunch served by the hostess and her assistants.

Hitch-Hiking Vancouver Girl Becomes Interested In Plight of Donkeys

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — Muryl Anderson, a Vancouver vagabond with the wanderlust, left Britain with sparkling vivacity of a hitch - hiking odyssey perhaps unmatched by any other Canadian girl.

The blue-eyed former schoolteacher recently set out on London on an odd mission—to help Moroccan donkeys.

"I've let down to my ideals," said the 26-year-old brunette. "Besides, I happen to like donkeys."

Muryl spun yarns — sometimes light - hearted, sometimes wistful — of her journeys which began in June, 1959, when she climbed aboard a boy's racing bicycle and pedalled from Vancouver to Montreal in three months.

Two years, several countries and many adventures later the bike was stolen in Paris—"and believe me, that was a tragedy."

"My original idea was to travel around Europe for two years and then go around the world. When I saw a bit, I wanted to see more. The appetite was whetted. I hope to go to India this year."

Ticking the places on her long, slender fingers, Muryl said she has toured the British Isles, Ireland, Scandinavia, Finland, the Soviet Union, Poland East Germany, West Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Spain, Portugal, Israel and Morocco.

BOUGHT CAMELS

"I've been a chambermaid in London, a scrubwoman and later a nursery nun in Copenhagen, a domestic servant in Paris, an attendant in an Arab-owned public bath, a children's a fortune-teller in Gibraltar, a worker on a kibbuts in the Israeli desert and a camel-buyer in Morocco."

It was also in Morocco that she became interested in the plight of donkeys. In Fez, she rang the bell of the French consulate and asked about a suitable campsite.

"But we know a wonderful Canadian family here," she was told.

That was how Muryl came to stay in the mountain village of Rimouski, Que., and Montreal, director-veterinarian of a big animal hospital, and his wife Carmen.

Miss Anderson found the hospital, the American - financed (stable) established by a Boston woman in 1927, to be a "clean little, high-shaded paradise" in the sun - baked city whose donkey population is 250,000.

Impressed by the "amazing idealist" who has become a sort of missionary in the art of animal healing, Muryl decided to join.

That was began in January, 1964, but now, with the hospital running low on funds, Miss Anderson is touring Britain on a money-raising mission to Britain, France and Monaco. She hopes to fly to Fez in November. Prince Rainier is becoming patron.

CRUEL TREATMENT

Fez has many animals besides donkeys, but Miss Anderson seemed particularly fond of the latter. "They're so human, often the victims of frightful cruelty by their Arab owners who treat them with spike - tipped prods.

"It seems that almost every donkey in Fez has a scarred patient. They call 'hee-haw' when they pass outside, saying hello, and sometimes they even wiggle back. Sometimes a donkey coming to us is so maltreated that we cannot help him to escape and tell the owner he died by Allah's will."

All this is slightly different from Muryl's old life in Vancouver, where she lived with her mother, Mrs. Pauline Anderson, and her brother, Andy. Her father died.

"I tried schoolteaching and then worked for a tourist agency." Then she went into the lives of people. You know, in Canada people do not understand each other. I wanted to go and see the countries our people came from, to learn what makes us tick.

"I also wanted to go by bicycle and get in touch with the people in the countries I visited. That way you don't carry your own world with you. You're somewhere, around with you. . . . One must get off the main roads."

After tours of British and Scandinavia, Miss Anderson said she entered Russia aboard a Finnish bus and rode her bicycle to Moscow, Minsk and Smolensk, remaining in the country 1½ months in the summer of 1961.

WARM-HEARTED PEOPLE

"I found the people very warm-hearted. It helped that I had 'Canada' and a maple leaf on my jacket. They seemed to like a kick out of my blue jeans and my pigtails, which reached my waist. I stayed with many families and were overjoyed to hear I was a student, my brother a worker—that I was not a big capitalist."

Miss Anderson said she arrived in Warsaw almost flat broke from Russia and overstayed her Polish visa which was good for a five days. A group of students, again responding to her Canadian identification, put her on a train, with bicycle, for Berlin over the protests of the conductor, who later relented and gave her free passage.

I spent a hungry winter in Paris in 1962," said Muryl. "Trying to get a job with my inadequate high - school French, my bike stolen. I have picked up snatches of language everywhere, but it is difficult.

"Being a very impatient person, I didn't stay long enough to let it depress me. I started hitch-hiking again.

"In Gibraltar for a joke I told the fortunes of tourists with a deck of cards. They loved it. They put up a sign: 'Fortune teller at the Barbary Caravan.' Later I was hired by a tea-room, and interviewed on radio and television. At the same time I took in washing. My price was constant, two shillings stagnes to tell their fortunes or wash their shirt."

Miss Anderson, who radiates friendliness, found it ... possible for a girl to travel safely alone.

"In Turkey, for instance, it would work out something like this: I might meet a family on a bus, and be invited to their home. They would go out of their way to make me feel safe. They would send the father, or brother, to take me on the next leg of the journey. . . . You were a friend of theirs, a girl, and no harm must come to you."

But Muryl, laughing, passed on this bit of advice to other girls who may want to go hitch-hiking on the grand scale:

"Always go on your toes! Know how to jump out of a moving car, landing on your feet."

Princess Made Big Hit With Bias in Collection

By LOUISE HICKMAN

ROME (AP)—Princess Irene Galitzine made a bid with bias dresses, sheaths and tunics for fall and summer collection. It was a big hit.

The evening show, topping the start of four days of Roman fashion presentations, was the first real gala, with sea-packed opening on the program.

Subtly based on the bias, the collection was elegant and ladylike. But at the end came great, fluttering butterfly dresses in swirling, shimmering silk prints.

Otherwise the look was so restrained, so pure as to seem easy. But such fluid shapes come only from the technique of cutting on the cross.

Galitzine avoided not only the bias trap but also the most part its traditional fabrics. No one usually associates the cut with crepe. Linen was more typical in this collection.

The shape was based on the barrel of many dresses were gently clinging tubes of silk wrapped upward around the body.

ONE SHOULDER SHED

High-crossing surplice bodices were frequent. For evening they had one shoulder.

Skirts were soft but rarely full. Many were double, showing at most an inch of underskirt. Some had wafer-thin pleated aprons panels of apron-effect pleats in front.

When there were belts, they were circles of soft knotted leather or lightly tied bows of ribbon.

Nothing was allowed to clutter the look, not even buttons. Double-breasted closings were hitch-hiking again.

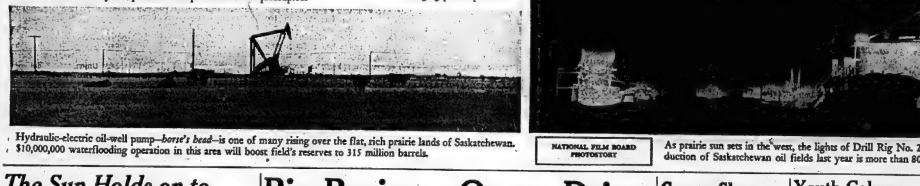
High on Growing List of Province's New-Found Riches

Saskatchewan Oil



Stepping squarely into the big pictures of Canada's booming development, resource-rich Saskatchewan is making its impact upon the world. Renowned more than ever for massive wheat exports, the quarter-million-square-mile province now balances its agricultural earnings by producing another one and a half billion dollars worth of other vital commodities — not least among them, oil. In a dozen years Saskatchewan oil has risen to an average daily production of 230,000 barrels — nearly a third of Canada's total — a growing flood of natural wealth which, combined with new-found riches in potash, base metals, chemicals and manufacturing, has set the provincial economy on a steady course to increased prosperity. As the demand for oil continues, 1965 is expected to be the third consecutive year of growth in Saskatchewan's new petroleum boom. Exploration, up 70 per cent last year, is estimated to keep up its fast pace during the coming year and the industry's expenditure is likely to match the $300,000,000 spent in 1964. For the million people of Saskatchewan, the modern developments in mineral wealth mean a succession of economic record-breaking years, the fastest growth in Canada of retail sales, soaring per-capita income and a buoyant, wider outlook across the horizons of their changing prairie province.

Drilling-crew member descends from Drill Rig No. 27, near Midale in southeastern Saskatchewan. In 10 years, province's oil production has quadrupled.

Oil-well owners of Saskatchewan's Weyburn field have consolidated in the operation of Canada's largest waterflood project for forcing oil to surface. Above, Caspar Waldal checks alarm panels in control room.

The Sun Holds on to Its Place in the Sun

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — The Sun, Britain's fledgling national daily newspaper, is almost 100 days old and holding its own in the tough competitive world of Fleet Street.

Founded Sept. 15 as a brash radical paper "born of the age we live in." The Sun replaced the old pro-Labor party Daily Herald after unprecedented advance publicity, by the International Publishing Company.

IPC Chairman Cecil King, who also controls the mass-circulation Daily Mirror, gambled several million pounds launching The Sun. The paper is expected to run at a loss for at least a year.

Within days, the Sun's initial print order of 3,000,000 was drastically reduced. Now the newspaper's circulation has levelled out at about 1,500,000—lowest of London's popular dailies.

However, King and IPC's editorial overlord, Hugh Cudlipp, hope this circulation base will steadily advance to higher figures as the Sun's lavish use of news features and opinionated columns attracts more readers.

DIDN'T RAISE PRICE

One selling point is the Sun's refusal to follow the lead set by three out of its four competitors which put their price up recently by one penny to four pence. Apparently King would prefer to absorb the losses resulting from rising costs, particularly in the increased price of newsprint rather than risk a circulation fall.

From its first dawning, The Sun disappointed Fleet Street commentators because it failed to be as revolutionary as King had predicted it would be.

"Frankly the big let-down has been that The Sun looks and behaves like any other newspaper," wrote the anonymous columnist Perceiver in the World's Press News.

But Sir Linton Andrews, writing in the same journal, said The Sun struck him "as first-rate, independent, radical and feminist."

"It is a big bouncing three-penny - worth with plenty of features in news form, strong sport and a cheerful, forward-looking temperament," he wrote.

Although Randolph Churchill predicted that The Sun would soon be sicking to join The Daily Herald, informed opinion now believes it will continue to shine at least throughout 1965.

SOME COMPLAINTS

One complaint about The Sun, echoed by several left - wing commentators, is the newspaper's refusal to take a strong partisan socialist stand as did its predecessor.

During the recent general election campaign, The Sun came out halfheartedly and belatedly for the Labor party after weeks of indecision. Since the election, the newspaper has remained cautiously critical of the Labor administration.

"The heart of a newspaper is still to be found in its editorial column," writes Lord Francis Williams in The New Statesman.

"If The Sun seems too long guilty of that sin of not caring enough, it will, apart from failing behind in its obligations, run the risk of losing the respect of both its inherited and acquired readers."

TOURIST RENDEZVOUS

MADRID (AP)—Spain entertained more than 14,000,000 foreign tourists in 1964, an increase of 28.8 per cent over the previous year's figures. Information Minister Manuel Fraga Iribarne announced he expects some 16,000,000 in 1965.

Big Business Opens Drive For Bilingual Employees

By DAVE STOCKAND

MONTREAL (CP) — French for everybody is still on the far horizons but big business is doing its bit in the meantime toward making Quebec province truly bilingual.

The Montreal-based corporations which have launched programs for teaching French to their English-speaking employees went into them for hard-headed business reasons which in the present mood of Quebec grow more valid daily.

They are sticking to their let's - learn - French ventures generally limited in scope in relation to the total number of people on their payrolls who speak English only. But in some instances teaching methods have been sharply reassessed.

With the experience they have gained, and through experimenting in what they like to call their language labs, has come a growing awareness of the make-or-break importance of employee attitudes.

Not everybody delights in plunging — even on company time — into the depths and shadows of an unfamiliar language.

"Ghetto - type attitudes are still all too common in Montreal," one businessman said.

"The follow-up is the problem in learning French or any language—and it's something that is beyond our competence.

"We can provide the foundation but the difficulty lies in getting an employee to carry on for his own satisfaction, learning by reading French books or newspapers or watching the French channels on television."

GET COOL RECEPTION

The well-it's-about-time attitudes of some French-speaking Canadians can be another obstacle to the adult student making his first tentative foray in French conversation.

The Quebecer who has had to speak English all his working hours isn't likely, after all this time, to gush over a stumbling effort in his own tongue.

Some employees simply feel lost away from the job, fearing perhaps that they will lose checks — or worse — that they won't be missed while they are attending classes.

Nonetheless, while it's not true in all cases that you must know the language — or even everybody's doing it, an impressive array of companies has lined up on the side of positive bilingualism.

Among others, there are the railways, the Simpsons-Sears market people, the Northern Electric and Westinghouse companies and the Dominion Tar and Chemical Company.

English-speaking players on the Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League are being offered French instruction. So are candidates for the Anglican ministry.

Most of the firms started their programs within the last three years, although the Aluminium Company of Canada has been giving language instruction for more than a quarter of a century.

"We've traced our program back as far as 1923," an Alcan spokesman said, "but we've been at it so long the actual starting date is lost in antiquity."

TAUGHT TO TALK

Some companies have full-time language instructors on the payroll. Others work through universities or language schools. The University of Montreal has been particularly active in the corporate field.

In greater part, French is taught through the use of tapes and slides. The objective is to provide a basic working vocabulary and emphasis is on conversation rather than grammar and writing.

Whether the course goes beyond the basic stages hinges on job category and the degree of an employee's daily involvement with the majority French-speaking population.

"The criterion we use in selecting candidates is which of our employees need French as a daily working tool," said a Steinberg's spokesman.

Said the Canadian Pacific Railway:

"We pick from the various operations of the company people whose job functions would better benefit from application of the two languages."

Canadian National Railways began its French instruction with audio-visual methods still used by many of the firms but recently made a major change in its approach.

The CNR operated its first classes on the basis of a half day of instruction and a half day on the job with courses ranging up to 14 weeks.

CHANGE EMPHASIS

The "first image" method was used, augmented by a language lab equipped with tape recorders for practice and playback. Students were taught 1,500 to 2,300 words.

"We found in this type of training there was very little assimilation, especially by beginners," a CNR spokesman said.

Now the CNR has inaugurated a new concentrated course with all-day classes six days a week. It includes some reading and writing and puts greater emphasis on advanced conversation.

"Results lead us to believe this is the kind of beginners' French training we should be giving in 1965," the spokesman added.

A byproduct of the corporate bilingualism bid has been a decision in several instances to start English courses for French-speaking workers. CNR and Steinberg's will be starting their first English lessons soon and Dominion Tar said it expects to take a similar step.

Corner Shop On Way Back

By RICHARD F. WHALEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the old corner grocery store before the days of supermarkets? Those "mom and pop" stores may be making a comeback.

Nowadays they call them convenience stores, bantams or superettes and their trade organization says they're sprouting in neighborhoods across the United States.

Mom and pop, plus a part-time helper, could run one of them; but they'd probably need a cram course in modern merchandising methods.

Gone is the cracker barrel and long wooden counter. It's all drive-in, self-service and fast check-out.

The idea is to catch the housewife when she runs out of something between weekly trips to the supermarket.

The key to success seems to be the right location (near new housing in the suburbs and apartment projects), long hours (seven days a week when laws permit) and a carefully selected stock of fast moving goods such as dairy and bakery products and beverages.

EARN MILLIONS

The average sale is about $1, but the annual gross for all such stores in the U.S. totals more than $1,000,000,000, says the National Association of Convenience Stores.

The association counts more than 5,000 in operation now—double the number five years ago. Most are in the South and Southwest.

Youth Column
Castle Frank High --Unorthodox School

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP)—The classroom is equipped with a cash register and display shelves loaded with a variety of items, from detergents to shoes. Part of one wall is a display window showing its wares to passers-by.

The schoolroom is unorthodox, but so is the school in which it is located.

Castle Frank High School, overlooking the Don River Valley in east - central Toronto, was opened in 1963 to teach practical job skills to students, preparing them for work in service industries. They learn by doing.

Michael Maserwich, the merchandising teacher, outlined the workings of his course as an example. The room in which he teaches includes a small store that sells gym equipment and occasionally some school product, such as food from the food-preparation course.

Students got a graphic example of how real salesmanship works when Mr. Maserwich told them bags for carrying gym equipment weren't selling and suggested they push them. They did and the gym bags moved.

Students organize supermarket, drugstore and shoe displays. They dress the display window. They practise salesmanship on one another and hear their pitches played back on a tape recorder. They ring up sales on the cash register and fill out invoices and sales slips.

Merchandising majors learn some commercial art—for lettering and display. They may take interior decorating to learn about a particular type of merchandise. They study bookkeeping and go out to work in local stores.

Embryo gas station operators come to Mr. Maserwich to learn how the cash register works; photography students learn salesmanship, and almost all students take a course in how to handle personal finances.

Principal W. A. McLauchlin says the curriculum was planned in the light of the decreasing number of unskilled and semi-skilled jobs available and the growing importance of service industries.

Its idea is to offer courses to train students for jobs that will survive automation, and in fields that need people.

But it is also planned to allow enough flexibility to change courses as the market for workers changes.

Even the required academic courses are geared to job-training. Social studies may include the history of the labor movement. English offers instruction in how to use a telephone properly.

In their first year they elect a minimum of six shops which they take with their academic work to help them choose the field that interests them most.

In second year they spend two hours a day in their major shop and take semester courses in the related subjects. Field work or tours of factories and businesses are arranged.

Many Americans Feel U. S. Has Suffered Enough Abuse From Variety of Sources

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Johnson's inaugural statement that the United States "can never again stand aside, prideful in isolation," will fall unsympathetically on many American ears.

It comes at a time when many Americans feel their country has suffered more than enough abuse—from Paris to Jakarta and from Saigon to Cairo.

Conversations with Americans repeatedly reveal frustration and irritation over what are regarded as gratuitous insults to the United States.

Americans ask themselves—and others — why they should bend before de Gaulle; send foreign aid to those who burn American libraries or tolerate a Castro regime just off the coast.

They concede that anti-Americanism is not new, that "the wealthy and powerful are seldom liked.

But they nevertheless show that the incessant and increasing abuse has had a psychological effect on the nation; caused deep-seated resentment against the outside world.

The effect is two-sided: For some there is an inclination to pull back inside "fortress America," to tell Congress and the world go hang. Others look back with nostalgia on Teddy Roosevelt's "big stick" policy, when United States show a much harsher face to those who try to twist the eagle's tail.

These sentiments seem even to creep into the conversation of some Americans who realize full well that gunboat diplomacy is outdated and that U.S. cannot possibly draw back now into the isolationist shell of the 30s.

Some of these people voted for Barry Goldwater's brand of tough brinkmanship, but nevertheless feel a reluctant sympathy for it.

The very fact Johnson included the reference to isolationism in his speech indicated awareness of the public mood.

How this will be transferred into government action is still to be seen.

But already there is discernible reaction in Congress and the administration over foreign aid. This year's foreign aid request was the smallest any administration has presented to Congress since the Marshall Plan days.

And there is evidence the administration is going to crack down hard on minor anti-American provocations of the library-burning variety.

But on the big issues—Viet Nam, The Congo, or the proposed Atlantic nuclear force—the likelihood is that the administration will continue to walk softly and keep its big stick out of sight.

Poor Packaging, Price Variation Reduce Exports

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian food exporters are losing the faith of British importers by using flimsy packaging and undercutting each other's prices, Agriculture Minister William Stewart said Wednesday.

Mr. Stewart said that during a trip to Britain last fall, he saw cases of Canadian canned goods that had been broken open and the cans bent while being shipped. He said some companies are using the same packaging materials for overseas export that they use for domestic shipping.

He told the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association annual meeting that British importers asked him how they could have confidence in Canadian products when processors' prices differed on similar products.

He urged the Canadian firms to agree on export prices for specific products and stick to them.

UN Assembly Recess Likely To Avoid Clash

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United States is reported resigned to a recess of the UN General Assembly until spring if the majority of the members want it to avoid a U.S.-Soviet showdown over peace-keeping dues.

U.S. sources said Wednesday night, however, that Ambassador Adlai Stevenson will place before the assembly a demand that voting rights be denied the Soviet Union and any other member nation refusing to pay the dues.

Stevenson is expected to present the U.S. demand to the 115-nation forum at the winding of the general debate, expected Monday.

Confirmed a U.S.-Soviet showdown is inevitable if the assembly takes up its agenda now, a number of smaller nations are reported urging a recess until May or June so the big powers can negotiate some more.

The United States is promoting the view that a showdown is preferable to any more delays.

Former Aide Of Churchill Hundred Today

LONDON (Reuters)—A former naval aide to Sir Winston Churchill celebrates his 100th birthday Friday.

He is the senior admiral of he fleet, Sir Henry Oliver, believed to be the oldest British naval officer living.

In 1914, he was appointed naval secretary to Churchill, at the time the first lord of the admiralty. Churchill later made him chief of the naval war staff.

For five years during the First World War, Oliver directed naval operations in all seas.

It is 37 years today since he reached navy's highest rank. His length of service is claimed as a record.

Another record is the estimated £76,000 ($222,000) in gifts he has drawn from the time he ceased to be an active officer to the present day.

Oliver entered the Royal Navy in 1878.

Johnson Barely Touches On Foreign Affairs in His Address at Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little that President Johnson had to say about foreign affairs in his inaugural address emerged in philosophical and inspirational terms as a plea for peace and a protest against hatred and destruction in the world.

He devoted Wednesday's address almost entirely to domestic affairs.

Thus, those who looked to the address for guidelines to Johnson administration foreign policy must now turn back to the president's Jan. 4 State of the Union message and to various other Johnson speeches.

But the significance of emphasis on domestic issue in the inaugural speech and a lesser degree in the State of the Union message seems to lie in the way the president regards the major tasks of his administration.

It strengthens the growing impression that Johnson's first concern is with home-front problems. This is said to be a part a matter of personal choice.

It is also true that Johnson is starting his new administration in a relatively peaceful though still dangerous world. He evidently believes he has time to move with deliberation in foreign affairs.

CONFRONT DANGERS

The most serious dangers he confronts in South Viet Nam, which constantly confronts the administration with hazardous choices and carries potentially extreme perils.

The other most pressing foreign policy problem is how to handle the spread of nuclear weapons.

In traditional areas of the cold war a pervasive quiet prevails. Relations between the Western powers and the Soviet Union, keyed to a slow easing of tensions, are steady at the moment and could remain that way for weeks or months.

Two problems are pending in U.S.-Soviet relations. One is Johnson's invitation given to the State of the Union message to Soviet leaders to visit the United States; they have been marking time on a response as on practically all other East-West matters.

The other is the apparent Soviet violation of the Russian test prohibition nuclear test-ban treaty, which U.S. officials believe was accidental. The Kremlin has been asked to explain how an underground test in central Russia last Friday could have blown radioactive fallout into the air so that small amounts were detectable as far away as Japan.

Between the Western allies and the United States the major problems requiring presidential attention are reorganization of the Atlantic alliance and the related question of what to do about proposed creation of a nuclear weapons force for NATO.

On these issues Johnson has put it up to the major interested countries, Britain and West Germany, to come up with some answers. Though he says he still wants to put through the U.S.-sponsored NATO multilateral nuclear force in some form, he has ceased to press the allies urgently for its acceptance.

He seeks to avoid alienating any ally however sharp the disagreement with the United States, as shown in his effort to maintain contracts and minimize differences with French President de Gaulle.

He belligres in face-to-face talks with other heads of government, not only those who come to Washington but those he may see abroad.

While he may concentrate on domestic programs, his most dramatic actions are still likely to lie in the field of foreign policy.

STRIKE CAUSES CUT

Scheduled car production in Canada this week is 11,280 units compared with actual production of 14,186 last week, the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers' Association says. Reason for the drop is the strike at Ford of Canada plants. Ford produced 1,486 cars last week as workers walked off the jobs at the Oakville, Ont., plant Wednesday and at other plants Friday. Production of cars and trucks to Jan. 16 was 34,661 units compared with 39,790 at the same time last year.

BUILD NAPLES PLANT

A $5,000,000 mill to produce soft paper will be built in southern Italy by the Kruger Organization Ltd. of Montreal, the company announced Wednesday. B. J. Kruger, president of the Canadian - owned company which operates paper mills in Canada, the U.S. and South America, said the new mill near Naples will produce 40 to 50 tons of soft paper daily in the initial stages. Construction will start immediately.

EXPORTS HIGHER

Canada's export trade in November reached $724,600,000, a gain of 5.6 per cent from November, 1963, the bureau of statistics estimated Wednesday. Exports for the first 11 months of 1964 thus rose to $7,372,000,000, up 19.7 per cent from the same 1963 period. Shipments to the United States, Canada's biggest customer, were worth $405,400,000 in November, compared to $343,000,000 a year earlier. For the 11-month period they were $4,047,900,000, a gain of $460,900,000.

SALES GO UP

Sales of radios, TV sets and record players showed gains in the first 11 months of 1964, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday. Number of sales, with comparable 1963 figures bracketed: Radios 781,463 (685,875); TV sets 472,484 (403,808); record players 177,241 (152,878).

Tax Supervisor Given Year for $3,394 Theft

COOKSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A former Toronto Township tax collector supervisor, sentenced Wednesday to a year in reformatory, for theft of $3,394 in tax money, was told in court he would be recommended for parole at the first opportunity.

Magistrate H. T. G. Andrews told John S. Robertson, 52, of Port Credit, Ont., that evidence showed he was a strong and useful worker and a compassionate and kind man.

No Negligence Found in Death After Surgery

ALLISTON, Ont. (CP)—A coroner's jury found Wednesday there was no negligence in the death of Peacil Cook, 66, of Alliston, who died Nov. 27 in Toronto's St. Michael's Hospital following emergency surgery in Alliston and Toronto.

The jury ruled that death resulted from a malfunction of the kidney.

Dr. Thomas Irwin of Alliston testified he operated on Mrs. Gray for hemorrhoids Nov. 19. While the operation was proceeding, he said he decided to correct a protrusion of the rectum which he had discovered. He said he considered her condition satisfactory but later noticed there was a stoppage of the kidneys. He ordered her sent to St. Michael's Hospital for emergency surgery. She died there Nov. 27.

Dr. Frederick Jaffe of the attorney - general's laboratory testified there was a tear in the patient's rectum which eventually led to peritonitis, an inflammation of the lining of the abdominal cavity. He said the peritonitis was the cause of death.

However, Dr. Jaffe's evidence conflicted with testimony given by Dr. Irwin, Dr. D. W. McFarlane of Alliston and Dr. Vincent Colapinto, Dr. Alex Little and Dr. J. C. Lankail, all of St. Michael's Hospital.

They said the woman died as a result of a complete breakdown of the kidneys but were unable to account for the tear in the rectum.

Student Shoots Iran's Premier In Neck, Pelvis

TEHRAN (Reuters) — Premier Hassan - al Mansour of Iran was shot twice in the neck and in the pelvis, by a student as he prepared to enter the Majlis, the lower house of Parliament.

The premier, 41, was taken to hospital where surgeons said doctors operated to remove bullets from two serious wounds, one in the neck and one in the other in the pelvis near the spleen.

The sources said the operation was followed by a blood transfusion. A government statement broadcast by Tehran Radio quoted doctors as saying his condition is satisfactory.

The statement said the premier, who came into office last March, was shot by a young man named Mohammad Bokharail, while leaving his car in front of the parliament.

Authoritative sources said the assailant was under questioning by security authorities. They said Bokharail was a high school student between 18 and 20.

Eyewitnesses said the attacker fired several shots. They claimed they also heard several shots fired simultaneously in parliament square from other directions indicating he may have had accomplices.

Centrally-Administered Scheme for Canada Pension Plan Proposed in Brief

OTTAWA (CP) — From two-quarters the parliamentary pensions committee heard suggestions Wednesday that the federal and provincial governments get their heads together again and try to replace the proposed Canada Pension Plan with a new centrally - administered scheme.

But the Canadian Manufacturers Association, and Samuel Eckler, a Toronto actuary, differed somewhat on what should emerge from any new negotiations. While the association recommended changes in the plan as proposed, Mr. Eckler suggested the program be scrapped and replaced with a Ontario scheme—an extension of the present Old Age Security program.

Mr. Eckler said that the idea of starting afresh at this stage is probably "an exercise in nostalgia," and if this were the case, then the federal and provincial governments should get busy to develop a new international plan, as opposed to one from which provinces could opt out to start their own. He said the plan should be administered by a state agency representing the federal and provincial governments.

The association's brief said it was disappointed that modifications have failed to produce a single plan.

Ron Basford (L—Vancouver Burrard) asked the delegation whether the federal government had done a good job in dovetailing the federal and Quebec plans into a uniform system.

Harry Taylor, vice-president of the industrial relations division of Union Carbide of Canada, said "if they had done the best of job we'd like to see them do, they (the provinces) would all be in."

As for the proposed plan, the association said this:

It should be revised to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis instead of being heavily funded in the early stages. Mr. Taylor said there would be "an extremely heavy build-up" in the first years and he didn't think it was necessary. A "modest reserve" should do.

EXEMPT STUDENTS

The base level of $600 a year at which wage - earners enter the plan should be eliminated, entitling persons earning less than that to a pension of 25 per cent of $600. Persons between 18 and 25 who attend university should be exempt. Instead they should be credited automatically with the cost-of-living index, they should be reviewed every five years.

Another suggestion was that persons retiring before 65 should receive benefits before actuarial reduced basis.

Eckler said — Hamilton West) was given deak - thumping support from other committee members when the actuary association's brief was one of the most helpful received by the committee.

Wednesday night, the actuarial firm of Alexander and Alexander said that provisions in the plan to make maximum benefits payable after 20 years instead of 10 is a gift to new employers the right to withdraw from the plan.

Their brief said the 20-year period would solve many of the difficulties posed by the present 10-year clause and have a stabilizing effect on the rate of contributions.

Contracting-out should be allowed to those employers with private pension plans that provide benefits equal to or above those of the Canada Pension Plan.

Norman Kirkland represented the firm and said that the extending the transition period of the plan to 20 years it would still give new employers great benefits in line with most other countries.

RAILROADER DIES

MONTREAL (CP) — Henry B. Bowen, a railroader who won honors for his part in the St. Lawrence Seaway in the Second World War, died Wednesday at the age of 80. Mr. Bowen, who started his railway career as a machinists' apprentice, was at his retirement in 1949 chief of motive power and rolling stock for Canadian Pacific Railway. He was made a Commander of the British Empire in the king's birthday list of 1946.

Labor Ministers Expect to Win Seats in House

LONDON (Reuters)—Two Labor Party ministers today hoped to win seats in the House of Commons in a pair of byelections also expected to indicate current public feeling for the three-month-old socialist government.

The two are Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker and Technology Minister Frank Cousins. They were running in the first contests since the fall general election.

Both were expected to win easily and attention was mostly focused on the size of their victories as a clue to whether Prime Minister Wilson will call an early general election some time this year.

Polls have shown an upsurge in Labor popularity since the October election when the socialists squeezed into power with a four-seat majority in the 630-seat House of Commons.

Gordon Walker fought for a seat from the London suburb of high proportion of old-age pensioners, which Labor won by nearly 8,000 votes in October.

Gordon Walker's campaign has been marred by neo-fascist attempts to arouse racial hatred in the district. The veteran Labor legislator was beaten in October when colored immigration became an issue in his old Midlands constituency of Smethwick.

FIRST TIME OUT

Cousins, former chief of the giant Transport and General Workers Union, never has run for Parliament before.

The former labor leader contested the Midlands district of Nuneaton, a manufacturing town with a long history of Labor solidarity. Socialists won last time by nearly 12,000 votes.

Tape Perforator And Computer Will Be Used

OTTAWA (CP)—Partial conversion of the Federal Printing Bureau in nearby Hull, Que., to a computerized composition system was announced Wednesday.

The new automated technique will be in operation within six months and a bureau official said it will mean a net saving of $1,500,000 over the next 10 years.

It will replace part of the bureau's conventional linotype composition by a tape perforator and a computer.

The announcement said the system "is the most recent introduced by many of the largest printing and publishing printing plants in Canada and the United States."

The spokesman stressed that although the system will reduce to 200 the present composing room staff of 258, no layoffs will take place.

"We will be able to maintain job security for all of our present composing room employees," the spokesman said. "We will follow the same procedure that we observed with the introduction of other printing techniques and equipment in other divisions of the bureau."

Some staff members would be retrained as perforator operators. Retirements and normal resignations over the next few years would absorb the remainder.

The bureau is one of the largest printing operations in the country, employing more than 1,700 persons.

DEFILE CATHEDRAL

ARMAGH, Northern Ireland (Reuters)—Thieves broke into St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral here Wednesday and stole 250 pounds ($700). From the strong room. Offertory boxes were broken open and another 30 pounds taken and vestments soaked in communion wine were found flung on the floor.

Pension Plan Will Be Main Item of Que. Throne Speech

QUEBEC (CP)—The Lesage administration presents its 1965 program today at the opening of the fourth session of the 27th legislature.

Main item in the speech from the throne to be read at 3 p.m. EST by Lieutenant - Governor Paul Comtois probably will refer to the pension plan the government hopes to get into operation by Jan. 1, 1966.

The contributions it will draw from 2,000,000 workers are aimed at much at building up funds for Quebec's development as at providing social security.

Just before a record 130-day session ended last July, Liberal and Union Nationale members passed a resolution approving the pension plan idea.

The overflow from the last session includes the unprecedented three - year suspension of Yves Gabias, 44, Union Nationale member for Trois - Rivieres, after he was unable to back up charges of corruption against a cabinet member.

The session is expected to feature strenuous debate on a resolution to have control of the British North America Act pass to Canada from Westminster.

Besides the pension plan, at least 60 pieces of legislation are likely.

Quebec's 26,000 civil servants and the province's well - organized teachers are seeking the right to strike, and labor laws affecting them will be drawn up this session.

Mining growth in Quebec was the greatest in Canada last year, and a mining act which predicts that boom over development that began in the east 20 years ago will be revised.

Revision of the Quebec Civil Code will continue and a new hunting and fishing act may be introduced, while changes in welfare and housing laws are expected. Also due is a revision of the Coroner's Act.

A farm policy to better the lot of farmers will be forthcoming and proposals of the Parent royal commission on education may be put into effect to bring about changes in the school and university system.

Education will continue to take the major portion of a budget that might reach a record $1,000,000,000 — double the figure of the 1950s.

However, tax revenues are rising as a result of higher employment and generally increased economic activity, and Quebec now collects 44 per cent of income tax instead of last year's 41 per cent.

Despite rural problems and reaction to higher taxes, the Liberals won all six byelections held in the last six months, a couple in rural ridings. One of these was Dorchester, which the Union Nationale had held since 1935.

Standing in the assembly is Liberals 64, Union Nationale 30, Independent 1.

Britons Immigrate

"This Be the Winter Of Their Discontent"

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—In a long winter of economic discontent and general soul-searching, Britons are apparently thinking more and more of life in Canada and elsewhere.

Emigration is on the increase to Canada and the other "white" Commonwealth countries. One Conservative newspaper even speaks of a possible exodus greater than that which followed the Suez disaster of 1956.

"We'd like to get more people from Britain," says A. C. Banard, 50-year-old deputy director of the Canadian Immigration Service in London.

The CIS, however, takes a long-term view. It isn't so much looking for people who are "running away from something" —who see advantages for their long-term prospects in Canada.

A government report from the overseas migration board says that in 1962 a total of 106,000 people left Britain for the four main receiving Commonwealth countries — Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Rhodesia. Canada's share was 34,000.

30,000 TO CANADA

Unofficial estimates place the 1964 figure at about 130,000, including 30,000 to Canada, compared with 77,500 in 1962 when Canadian immigrants totalled 18,800.

The rate of increase, if maintained, would carry some 200,000 Britons to Canada, Australia and New Zealand in 1970, more than departed in 1957, in the post-Suez era of humiliation and frustration.

The Labor government, although extremely pained at the "brain drain" of scientists and engineers, generally feels it is to the advantage of this high population country to maintain as far as possible the British proportion in the Canadian population.

Many authorities see as an irony that this tight little island is not a net importer of population, although the overseas board reports a sharp decline in the excess of immigrants over emigrants in 1962.

The excess, which made its first post-war appearance in 1958 and rose to a peak of 170,000 in 1961, had dropped to 10,000 in 1962.

POPULATION GROWS

The Commonwealth Immigration Act, designed to control the flow from non-white countries, came into force July 1, 1962. The government, assuming an annual net inward migration of 30,000, estimates that the British population, now 54,000,000, will be 71,000,000 in the year 2,000.

Londoners suffered an acute case of the shudders some months ago when they were told that the population of the already congested metropolitan area will increase by 4,000,000 in the next 10 years.

Banard said in an interview the British government gives "excellent co-operation" to the CIS in its search for would-be immigrants. Canada, of course, is looking particularly for professional and skilled applicants and, unlike Australia, does not provide a subsidized passage. The government provides facilities at its various employment offices for Canada's some 100 immigration officials to interview applicants.

The old chestnuts about Canada being a freezing country at the end of the world no longer are of prime importance in this age of central heating and jet planes. But Banard said he is surprised at the number of Britons who cautiously ask about attitudes in Canada toward British immigrants—whether there are prejudices against them.

GOOD SALESMEN

The best salesmen for Canada are immigrants already living there and it has been estimated that these satisfied customers, by letters and personal advice, account for 40 per cent of new migrants to Ontario, which gets the lion's share of Britons.

Prospective Canadians sometimes have questions about Quebec's separatist movement but the biggest factor in their decision, said Banard, is the general economic outlook in Canada. Canada's history of unemployment is remembered although the picture has improved.

Canadian officials make much of the prospects in housing and education, for example. These sound attractive to the London family man who can rarely hope to own his own home or send his son to university if he remains in Britain.

Still No Clues on Medical Plan Setup

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Roberts today signalled his intention to go ahead with a medical health insurance plan for Ontario but gave no further clues as to the make-up of the plan.

He said its provisions would be based on the report of the Hagey committee, appointed by Mr. Roberts in 1963 to study a draft medical services insurance plan introduced in the legislature that year.

The report of the inquiry committee will be tabled in the House as soon as possible, the government said in the speech from the throne read at the House opening today by Lieutenant-Governor Earl Rowe.

The inquiry committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. J. Gerald Hagey, president of the University of Waterloo, was asked by Mr. Roberts to fill out the government's skeleton proposals for privately - operated medical insurance.

HAS PROMISED

The premier has promised that the government will make private medical plans available to every person in the province, although no one will be under any compulsion to subscribe to a plan.

The government will establish the minimum benefits which insurance companies may offer in their plans, and the maximum premiums they will be allowed to charge subscribers.

Insurance companies will not be allowed to turn down any applications for medical insurance, nor will they be allowed to cancel anyone's health insurance plan because of poor risk.

Government aid will be given to persons in marginal income brackets who may not be able to afford the whole of the premiums. Complete subsidies would be provided for families on welfare.

Two years ago Health Minister Matthew Dymond estimated this would cost the government $30,000,000 a year.

TO INTRODUCE ACT

The section of the speech from the throne on medical insurance stated:

"My government will introduce in the legislature a Medical Services Insurance Act based on the recommendations of the medical services insurance committee, whose report will be tabled in the House as soon as possible."

"This could lead to one of the biggest battles of the session. Both of the opposition parties—the Liberals and the New Democrats—are committed to the idea of publicly-operated medical care.

Ont. Reviews Business Act

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government will undertake a review of the province's Corporation Act, it was announced today in the speech from the throne.

The speech noted the last review of the legislation was made 10 years ago. It added that the government feels it is "desirable and timely to review this important legislation which a view to adapting it to the changes that have occurred in commerce and industry."

The review would be made by a select committee.

The speech also noted that two reports can be expected during the legislature's sittings dealing with securities legislation.

One report would be from a special committee established at the last session to review securities legislation, especially as it affects takeover bids, insider information, disclosures in shareholders and other matters.

IN TIMMINS AREA

The second would be from a royal commission appointed up to look into trading of shares of Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. and some other companies with interests in the Timmins area. The commission, under Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Supreme Court of Ontario, was established after the price of Windfall shares greatly wildly during the summer.

The speech said the reports and recommendations will be considered in detail "as a basis for amending legislation."

It also said an amendment will be introduced to the Expropriation Procedures Act to establish an informal and inexpensive preliminary arbitration procedure.

TEACHING THE NEW GENERATION — Joanne Bird, 10, learns the basics of an ancient ritual, the corn grinding dance, from Mrs. Meggie Jackson. Children on the Sarnia Indian Reserve are being taught the traditional Indian dances after the band found that the annual Pow-wow, held each August, had to depend on imported dancers. (CP Wirephoto)

Set up Advisory Body on Federal-Ontario Affairs

TORONTO (CP) — Formation of an "advisory committee on Confederation" to assist the Ontario government on federal-provincial affairs was forecast today in the speech from the throne, read at the opening of the legislature.

It was the only announcement in this field. The speech said a statement on government policy respecting the Canada Pension plan will be made during the session but not no further.

The advisory committee will be non-partisan and will have a broad terms of reference, the speech said. It will advise the government on all matters concerning Ontario's position in Confederation.

Discussing 1964 developments in this area, the speech described as "significant" the agreement reached among the federal government and provinces on a formula for amending the British North America Act. There would be a legislature debate on this agreement.

SET UP TAX BODY

Also significant was the establishment of a joint federal-provincial tax structure committee to make recommendations on which would be based new fiscal arrangements between the central government and the provinces to take effect in 1967.

"These steps hold out the promise of basic adjustments in the Canadian federal system," the speech said.

"Whether or not we adapt the structure of our government, it can still be said with justification that we are entering a period of nation-building that is given to very few. The lives of generations of Canadians yet unborn will be influenced profoundly by the decisions that will be made over the course of the next few years.

"Whatever the future holds, this is a challenge that must be met now. . . .

"To assist in formulating Ontario's position, an Ontario advisory committee on Confederation will be established with broad terms of reference. It will be empowered to advise the government with respect to all matters in relation to and arising out of the position of Ontario in Confederation.

OF VARIED TYPES

"It will be a non-partisan committee which will draw upon the knowledge and experience of persons widely versed in the intricacies of our Canadian system of government and the history and development of our country."

A one-sentence reference to the Canada Pension Plan on Page 15 of the speech made no reference to the reported prospect of Ontario joining Quebec in opting out of the national scheme, it said:

"A full statement will be made to the legislature on Ontario's position and the policy of my government respecting the Canada Pension Plan."

Worker Compensation Extended to Farm Help

TORONTO (CP) — All farm workers in Ontario are to be covened by workmen's compensation, it was announced today in the speech from the throne read at the opening of the legislature session.

Farm workers have been the largest group not compulsorily protected by compensation. The speech said the decision to bring them in was made after a government study of the "special problems" involved. No details were given.

The law at present permits individual farmers to cover their help voluntarily, and about 1,200 employers are registered. It costs the farm employer $4 per $100 of payroll. Farmlands do not pay.

On other sections touching on labor, the speech forecast amendments in several pieces of legislation in the field of industrial safety to keep them in line with current advances.

TO AMEND CODE

The Human Rights code will be amended to provide "strengthened guarantees" against discrimination in employment, as well as in housing and public accommodation.

Recommendations of a royal commission on the question of arbitrating labor disputes affecting hospitals will be tabled in the House, the speech said. It did not indicate whether there would be legislation.

The speech also made reference to the recently-announced reorganization and expansion of the labor department's facilities for the training of workers.

"Overhaul Total Effort"

Ontario Enters New Phase in Education

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario has entered into a new phase in education where the government has realized its responsibility extends beyond that of simply providing a basic school system.

This was the message carried in the speech from the throne today read at the opening of the third session of the Ontario legislature.

"We have launched a massive program to expand our total educational effort," said the government-written speech delivered by Lieutenant-Governor Earl Rowe.

But it had few new announcements to make in the educational field. Education Minister William Davis already has fired most of his guns by announcing a shake-up in his department and the hiring of Dr. Z. S. Pohlmann, director of education for Toronto, as deputy minister.

No mention was made of government plans to establish a system of two-year community colleges across the province. It was learned, however, that permissive legislation will in fact be introduced this year.

ON DISTRICT BASIS

The community colleges will be allocated on a district basis throughout the province. Tuition is expected to be free and entrance requirements low.

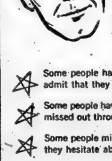
After two years in junior colleges students will proceed to regular degree courses in the province's universities, completing these in a further two years.

Aid to universities and the establishment of new teacher training institutions was stressed in the speech from the throne.

A new Ontario College of Education to be affiliated with Queen's University will be built in Kingston. Another OCE is being built in London. Ont., location of the University of Western Ontario.

In Hamilton the department plans to establish an Ontario Education Centre. This will consist of an institute of technology and a vocational centre on a common campus.

SCHOOLS FOR TEACHERS



New schools for teacher training are being built at Laurentian University in Sudbury and at Brock University in St. Catharines.

A bill is to be introduced in the legislature to change the name of the Lakehead College of Arts, Science and Technology "to reflect its status as an independent, degree-granting institution." The college's administrative set-up also will be changed.

The government said it is establishing an advisory council within the department of education to study educational trends and developments.

Duff Gets Winner ★ ★ ★

Habs Nip Leafs; Hawks Blast Bruins

★ ★ ★ 37th For Hull

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sooner or later, a traded player comes back to haunt his former National Hockey League club.

Billy Hicks did it to Montreal Canadiens less than two weeks ago when he scored three goals in a Saturday night game to lead New York Rangers to a 6-5 victory at the Forum.

It was Dick Duff's turn Wednesday night. His effort was less spectacular, but his second-period goal in Toronto stood up as the winner in a 2-1 decision over the Canadiens over the Maple Leafs, his former teammates.

In the only other game Wednesday night, Chicago Black Hawks outshot lowly Boston Bruins 40-17 in romping to a 7-1 victory over the visitors.

Canadiens' win preserved their two-point lead over Chicago atop the NHL standings, while Toronto, still in third spot, dropped to three points behind the Hawks.

Duff, who came to Canadiens from New York after being traded last year by Leafs, banged goal in 7:28 before Toronto goalie Johnny Bower could move.

That goal could have made Bower unhappy, but he did more complaining about the opening goal, scored three minutes earlier by Claude Larose.

"I had it, and lost it, and had it again," Bower grumbled. "Just it finally went over me."

The victory was the third in three starts for veteran Lorne (Gump) Worsley since being called up from Quebec Aces of the American League to sub for Charlie Hodge.

Worsley stopped 30 shots, but his shutout bid was spoiled when Jim Pappin steamed in Bob Baun's blueline shot at 12:17 of the second period. The goal was only the fifth that Worsley has allowed in three games. The third period, like the first, was scoreless.

Three minor penalties were assessed to each side. Montreal defenceman Jacques Laperriere drew a 10-minute misconduct when he argued about a high-sticking call.

In the sloppily played Chicago contest, Bobby Hull scored his 37th goal of the season but actually lost ground in the NHL scoring race to teammate Stan Mikita, who picked up two goals and an assist.

The other Chicago scorers were Pierre Pilote, Bill Hay, Al MacNeil and rookie Fred Stanfield. Johnny Bucyk saved the Bruins from a whitewashing when he scored the first goal of the second period to make the count 3-1.

The Hawks led 3-0 after the first period and 6-1 after the second.

Pilote opened the scoring when he trapped the puck near the Boston blueline and rove a 30-footer past Bruins goalie Ed (Eddie) Johnston. Four minutes later, Mikita made it 2-0 on a short poke after Johnston made four saves and was flat on his back.

Hay tallied less than a minute later when he rapped in Stanfield's rebound.

Bucyk netted his 19th goal of the season on a pass from Murray Oliver, who stole the puck near the Chicago net.

But Chicago roared back a minute later. Stanfield slipped through the whole Boston offense and scored on a 30-foot blast.

Hull hit four minutes after that, driving in Chico Maki's rebound, and MacNeil made it 6-1 on a long screened shot at the eight - minute mark.

Nilkita closed out the scoring in the third period when he put a 15-foot backhander past Johnston.

The embattled Bruins visit Detroit Red Wings for tonight's only scheduled game.

Canadian Referees Favored

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A suggestion that Canadian referees accompany hockey teams on tour in Europe may become a reality soon, Fred Page of Port Arthur, vice - president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said in an interview Wednesday.

Mr. Page, who accompanied Lacombe (Alta.) Rockets of the Central Alberta Hockey League on a recent European tour, said Czechoslovakian officials like the suggestion.

"They're all for the idea. They'd also like to see these referees conduct clinics for European officials.

Mr. Page said the Lacombe tour was a success. The team played clean hockey and members kept their tempers under some adverse conditions.

The suggestion that Canadian referees accompany teams on tour was made by Ottawa Montagnards.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVEN, Sports Editor

Jack Radford of Brockville can look me a pissage aboard his fleet of four freighters and scoot me "around the world in 80 minutes" any time he feels inclined.

During my career as a newspaperman I have seen travelogues and travelogues and heard narrators and narrators.

I never saw Jack in my life until Tuesday night when he was the feature attraction at the Fish and Game Club's annual ladies' night dinner meeting.

He is a veteran newsman, broadcaster, actor, director, "talker" and dialectician. Take any — and he's tops in the field.

Mr. Radford is by far the best narrator and travelogue photographer these near-worn eyes and ears have ever heard and seen.

I would hate to owe a man like Radford money. His memory, drenched with detail, would make that of the traditional elephant a blank page.

Unlike the usual world traveller of his kind, Radford took his memory and cameras into the out-of-way places. While he featured the landmarks a lot of which are known to the average schoolboy, he picked the off-the-beaten-path spots usually ignored by professional "travelogue-rs".

Top newsman that he is, Radford based his camera judgment on "every picture tells a story". There were few, if any, of his slides, that did not carry something more than mere pictorial value.

And the detail was forever etched on a remarkably retentive memory.

Take a natural "gift of the gab", garnish it with years of radio and other news media experience, add a man that can sniff the news wheat from the tare of places, people and things, top off with a delightful sense of humor and you've got Jack Radford.

Give him a camera and places to go and later the commentary will run off his vocal assembly line in a stream carpeted by fact and dotted with islands of ribtickling humor.

Take that picture of Hindu maidens gathering sacred cow manure for fuel purposes. Comment: "First time I ever saw a woman with a handful of the stuff".

Or that of the fabulous park outside Sinzapore which depicts in lifesize statues, scenes being caressed by pretty maidens. Comment: "Just a fellow feeling".

One of the freighters he travelled on, Jack said, had a crew of Chinese, a Polish captain who was "mistressed with long curly hair"; had a German mate, a Japanese wife and a small daughter who spoke "fluent Scottish".

And off-beat "settlements" of Calcutta where people sprawled sleeping on filthy streets with goats and sacred cows and "one can lean on the smell".

Few if any of his audience knew that the splendidly beautiful, gleaming snow-white post office of Calcutta, was built directly over the famous "Black Hole" where some 140 British soldiers died from asphyxiation during the equally famous Lucknow siege.

Radford pictured part of the journey where the deck cargo of the freighter consisted of 150 water buffalo, 500 pigs and a gaggle of 150 geese. "The blended aroma," he quipped, "saved the ship's dining room many a breakfast."

He showed the unloading of the buffalo as they swung to and fro high in the air while being slung over the side of the ship into small craft.

"I wanted to get closer to get a picture. In fact I got too close," he said. "I have shot a lot of the stuff in my life but this was the first time I was covered with it."

WELSHMAN WINS

CARDIFF, Wales (Reuters)— Welshman Brian Curvis, the British and Empire welterweight boxing champion, outpointed Vince Shomo of New York over 15 rounds here Wednesday night. It was Curvis' first appearance in the ring since September, when he failed to wrest the world title from Emile Griffith of the United States. Though Curvis was undisputed winner, he took a lot of punishment from the 149-pound Shomo.

Thought He Could Make It
Boston Fan Tries Out With Team

BOSTON (AP)—Ever get the idea you could do better than some of the players on your favorite sports team—that you should be in the lineup?

Then Bill Kindy of Sandy, Ut. wanted to help Boston Bruins.

The Bruins need help. They are dead last in the National [illegible] victories in 41 games. But they didn't expect a volunteer like Sandy.

Sandy is a 30 - year - old slightly balding fan. He stands five feet, eight inches and weighs 175 pounds.

Coach Milt Schmidt said Sandy turned up at his office last Monday morning.

"I want to try out with the Bruins," he told Schmidt. "I've seen your team play and I think I can make it."

FIRED QUESTIONS

Schmidt, whose temper was not improved by his team's 3-1 loss the night before to the Maple Leafs, fired off some questions:

"How old are you? Who have you played for? What makes you think you can play in the NHL?"

Sandy stood up to the questions. He explained, "I can skate faster than anyone on the Bruins and I'll bet $10 I can."

Schmidt's temper soared a bit more. He said, "Go home and get your skates and we'll see."

Sandy's chance came at practice Tuesday morning. The skates he brought hadn't been sharpened in two years, but trainer Dan Canniff lived them.

On the ice, Schmidt asked, "What's your position?"

"Wing," said Sandy. Schmidt put him on a line with Murray Oliver and Johnny Bucyk. They drove in on goalie Ed Johnston.

MISSED BY INCHES

The puck was fed to Sandy right in front of the net and Johnston obligingly stepped out of the way, leaving the way open. But Sandy somehow missed the puck and his momentum carried him beyond the cage.

"I guess I'm a defenceman," he said to Schmidt. He was paired with Leo Boivin against a tough man rush by the Oliver line.

"Back up, back up," yelled Boivin.

"For what?" asked Sandy as the three skaters whizzed past and zoomed in to carry a goal.

Schmidt called a halt and asked Sandy about that $10 speed bet.

"No-o-o your chance," the coach said. "Pick a player and he'll race you."

"No," said Sandy. "I'll race you instead, coach."

"Okay," said Schmidt, rated one of the NHL's great skaters.

But Sandy reconsidered. "Ah, never mind," he said. "I don't want to embarrass anyone."

Bobby Hull scored his 37th goal Wednesday night, but Stan Mikita moved ahead slightly through two goals and an assist for Chicago Black Hawks in Hull in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Hull, the scoring leader, now has 74 points on 37 assists for a 60-point total. Mikita, his Chicago 73 pts. Team-mate, has 37 goals and 39 assists for 76 points.

Montreal Canadiens' Jean Beliveau got one assist for a 56-point total, and moved into a tie with fifth spot with Phil Goyette of New York. Floyd Hillman added a goal and assist with Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings with equal 56 points.

Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings and Claude Provost of Montreal fourth with 58.

CFL Studying Operations Merger

Would Retain Divisions

OTTAWA (CP)—A complete interlocking schedule for the nine teams making up the Canadian Football League now is being considered as a two-man committee studying the merger of all operations of the Eastern and Western conferences.

However, said CFL president Sam Berger Wednesday, one schedule for both conferences probably would develop gradually. But other operations could be brought under one administration by 1966.

The two conferences now play a partial interlocking schedule but each has its own executive, makes its own rules and draws up its own schedules.

The one - league operation would retain eastern and western divisions and thus there would be no change in deciding the national championship, which at present pits the eastern winner against the best in the west after separate conference playoffs.

When the nine teams reach the stage where they play the same schedule, then a method will be devised to continue the Grey Cup final, Berger said.

The Ottawa lawyer cited television revenues, park rentals, changes to make the sport more crowd-pleasing, and contending with the "fantastic offers" now being made to players in the U.S. leagues, as problems to be considered.

The decision to make the merger study came at a recent CFL meeting in Chicago. The job has been taken on by J. Barry O'Brien, one of the owners of the Ottawa Rough Riders, and Gordon Lawson, a Winnipeg Blue Bomber executive.

They are to make a preliminary report at a league meeting here in mid - February. A final report is expected later this year.

Mr. Berger said merging operations of the two conferences is a natural step following creation of the pro group in 1958 and the appointment of G. Sydney Halter as national commissioner.

Western conference president Al McEachern of Vancouver said the west favors integration but predicted that financial terms might be a stumbling block. He said the east wants each club to handle its own expenses while the west wants an agreement on a shared-revenue basis.

Ted Workman, president of Montreal Alouettes, said the proposal isn't new and came up at a league meeting a year ago.

"Outwardly, it has no benefit or consequence to the public because the league is already one," he said. "It's an inward problem, a book - keeping matter and nothing more."

Seals Flip Over Blades

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wayne Connelly scored the first and last goals of a seven-game Western Hockey League game Wednesday night to give San Francisco Seals a 5-4 victory over Los Angeles Blades.

With the win, the Seals crept within four points of the Blades but still remain sixth and last in the league, 17 points back of first - place Portland Buckaroos.

Other San Francisco scorers were Nick Mickoski, Gerry Odrowski and George Swarbrick. It was Gord Haworth, Willie O'Ree, Gord Vejprava and Norm Johnson for Los Angeles.

Connelly's performance put him into the WHL goal-scoring leadership with a total of 37. Larry Keenan of Victoria Maple Leafs has 36.

Wellington Ties OMHA Juveniles

Wellington came from behind to grab a 3-3 tie with Belleville Oddfellows in an OMHA fixture played here last night.

Meanwhile, in a B.M.H.A. Juvenile game, moved up from Sunday, the Tigers whitewashed the Aces 6-0.

Two exhibitions were also played. Belleville's bantam Oddfellows blanked Cobourg 4-0 and the Belleville novice Riteways defeated the city peewee Black Hawks 2-2. Cobourg novices were scheduled but did not play.

In the OMHA midget tilt, Belleville led 1-0 in the first period and 2-1 going into the third.

Wellington ripped back to get the tie by outscoring the Oddfellows 2-1 in the final frame. Bob Lavender, who assisted on Wellington's initial marker, rattled home both his club's third-period goals. L. Sharpe also got a goal and an assist.

J. Parks and C. Wilson claimed a goal and assist apiece for the Oddfellows. J. Ling potted the other marker with W. Storms and D. Muir each having one assist. Belleville picked up seven of the game's eight minor penalties.

Tigers, playing one of their best games, opened up a 4-0 first-period lead against Aces in the juvenile game. They got the final pair in the second. Smith fired two goals with one each for Doran, Olsen, Soule and Foley. Emerson and Olsen each earned two assists, Foley and Doran one apiece.

In the bantam exhibition, Oddfellows scored two goals in each of the first and third heats against Cobourg. The winners also got five of the game's six penalties.

Dennis McCormack, T. Waite, Bill Janisch and Joe Lumsdon were the goal-getters. Mark Acquafreddo, Lumsdon and Reid Mallory earned assists.

Riteway novices got single goals from Grant Geegan, Peter Smrke, Jim Richardson, D. Smith and D. Lupenette. Assists went to D. England, Geegan, Lupenette, M. Coates, Smrke and M. Hayes. Dale Hunt and Peter Frulick fired the peewee Hawk markers, unassisted.

TOLD TOO OLD

LONDON (AP) — Jaroslev Drobny, 1954 Wimbledon tennis winner who now is 42, was told Wednesday he is too old to be coach of the British Davis Cup team. He was the only applicant for the job, which became vacant last month at the death of George Worthington. Drobny coached the Italian tennis team that reached the challenge round in 1960.

Oldtimers Put on Show, Win 10-3

TRENTON (Special) — The National Hockey League "Oldtimers" put on another impressive hockey display here last night before an estimated 1,200 fans while whipping Trenton RCAF Globetrotters 10-3.

The game is an annual affair with proceeds going to the Trenton Rotary Club's benevolent fund. In a minor hockey warmup, Wellington subbed for Napanee and tied Trenton Rotary novices 5-5.

The Oldtimers, led by "Long John" Henderson and big Harry Watson, led all the way against the Trotters. It was 4-0 and 8-2 by periods.

Henderson, ex Boston goalie, not only proved tough to beat in the winners' net but kept the crowd roaring with his actions. He staged a twist contest with a couple of local girls, in full goal-tending attire, midway through the third period.

Both Henderson and Daryl Johnston, who tended goal for the RCAF boys during the game's second half, went on successful scoring rushes.

Watson paced the goal-getters with four while Brian Colleen and Sid Smith each added a pair. Gary Collins and Henderson got the others.

John "Shiker" Baker, Lionel Scully and Johnston looked after the Globetrotter scoring.

The crowd, said to be down from about 2,000 last year, appeared more than happy with the show. The Oldtimers' puck handling and passing was at times fantastic.

PLAY TO DRAW

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Manchester United and Everton tied 1-1 Wednesday night in the first game of their two-game, total-goal series in the third round of the European Inter - cities fairs soccer tournament.

Three-Team, Eight Player Deal

Cleveland Fans Happy; Rocky Is Back

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito, slugging outfielder traded away by Cleveland Indians in 1960, returned to the Indians Wednesday in a three-team, eight - player deal in the American League.

The Indians gave up catcher John Romano, pitcher Tommy John and outfielder Tommie Agee to Chicago White Sox. Chicago sent veteran outfielders Jim Landis and Mike Hershberger and a starting pitcher to be named later to Kansas City Athletics and catcher Camilo Carreon to Cleveland.

General manager Pat Friday of the Athletics described the pitcher coming to his club from Chicago as a player of "tremendous potential with the ability to become an outstanding player."

It is believed he will be Johnny Rushardt, who had a 10-8 record last season. Fred Talbot or Dave Debusschere.

Colavito, traded by the Indians to Detroit Tigers for Harvey Kuenn, had a greater personal following among Cleveland fans than any other player of the last 10 years. The muscle - flexing, handsome outfielder had fan clubs of girls, who protested vigorously when he was traded by Frank Lane, then Cleveland general manager.

HIT 34 HOMERS

Gabe Paul, Cleveland's general manager, said he figures the acquisition of Colavito will make the Indians, who finished sixth last year, a pennant contender next season. Colavito blasted 34 home runs and knocked in 102 runs with a .274 average last season for the last-place Athletics.

"We have been trying to get Romano for two years," White Sox manager Al Lopez reported from his home in Tampa, Fla. He said John, a southpaw, may help the pitching staff which was weakened after the departure of left-handers Don Mossi and Frank Baumann.

Carreon, 27, was one of three catchers used last season by the White Sox, who finished 7 game behind New York Yankees. He was out much of the season with injuries.

In nine seasons in the American League, Colavito has hit 302 home runs. His best year was 1961, when he had 45 homers, 140 runs batted in and a .290 batting average for Detroit.

Romano, 30, started in the majors with the White Sox in 1958 and was traded to the Indians after the 1959 season. He batted .241 last year, with 19 homers and 47 runs batted in. His best year was 1961, when he batted .269, hit 21 homers and knocked in 80 runs. A broken hand hurt his performance in the 1963 season.

Ian Houckin, Bill Latchford and Don Smith hit double figures to spark the Belleville attack. Houckin collected 19 points, Latchford 18 and Smith 10. Houckin sunk 14 of his points in the second half.

Dennis Clarke was a one-man scoring show for Cobourg. He had 23 points but 16 of them came in the second half, too late and too little. Next high man was Jim Coughlan with nine points. The Kiwanis squad was again short several men, including high-scoring Brian Sayers.

A schedule change has Trenton Wilsons playing at Cobourg next Wednesday, rather than on Tuesday.

Belleville Lightfoots (64)—J. Guthrie 7, D. Smith 10, I. Houchin 19, J. McKibbon 5, J. Clapp 2, G. Duggan 3, B. Latchford 18.

Cobourg Kiwanis (38) — J. Coughlan 9, Frost, E. Bennett 4, D. Clarke 23, Gallagher, G. Coughlan 2, Milne, Stuart.

Lightfoots Win 64-38 In Cobourg

Lightfoots made the most of their scoring chances and the losers didn't as the Belleville squad took a 64-38 victory over Cobourg Kiwanis in Bay of Quinte men's basketball action last night. The game was played in Cobourg.

The win still left Lightfoots two points back of RCAF, however, since the Flyers defeated Trenton Wilsons in another game last night.

A Lightfoot spokesman said this morning that "the score did not indicate the play by a long shot. Both teams had the scoring opportunities but our shots were going in and Cobourg's were rolling around the rim and staying out."

Lightfoots led by a big 32-13 margin at half time and were never threatened.

Monte Carlo Rally Won By Makinen

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Finland's Timo Makinen, in a BMC Cooper, won the 36th Monte Carlo rally, unofficial results showed today. Pat Moss-Carlsson of Sweden, in a Saab, was the winner for the second year running of the women's cup, according to the provisional tabulations.

Final official results will not be announced until later today, but Makinen and Mrs. Carlsson seemed unbeatable following the last major rally test—a 375-mile speed run over mountain roads Wednesday night.

Only 94 of the 237 cars which started the rally late last week checked into Monte Carlo within the allowed time following the mountain run Wednesday night.

Ice, snow and fog plagued the 33 cars during the mountain test. It was the same rugged run over the mountains that cut out some 150 cars Monday night following their endurance runs from the nine rally starting points: Warsaw, Stockholm, Minsk, London, Frankfurt, Paris, Monte Carlo, Athens and Lisbon. It was one of the worst beatings for cars and drivers in the history of the 54-year-old classic.

Oaks Edge Guelph 4-2

OAKVILLE (CP)—A third-period goal by Brian Pryce broke a 2-2 tie and sparked Oakville Oaks to a 4-3 victory over Guelph Regals in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior game here Wednesday night.

Bob Bishop clinched the win when he scored into an empty net with 24 seconds left to play after Guelph pulled goaltender Harold Hurley for an extra attacker.

The win snapped a three-game winless streak for the fourth-place Oaks and extended Guelph's losing streak to four games. Guelph remained in second place, three points behind Galt Hornets.

Gus Mortson and Jack Price scored the other Oakville goals while Dave Luciuk netted both Guelph markers.

Oakville outshot Guelph 25-23. Only two minor penalties were handed out, one to each club.

Canadian Ring Ratings

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—President Richard B. Pearson of the Canadian Professional Boxing Federation said Wednesday Joey Durelle will continue to be recognized as Canadian welterweight champion until the situation regarding a proposed fight in Montreal is settled.

Durelle, former New Brunswick resident fighting out of Sault-Ste-Marie, Ont., has signed for a Montreal title bout with Armand Savoie of Montreal Feb. 15.

"We will not sanction a title fight in Montreal or Quebec City, as these cities are not now members of th federation, having withdrawn two years ago," Pearson said in a statement. He emphasized this does not mean Durelle must defend his title outside Quebec province.

The federation president has informed Durelle he may sign for a non-title bout or a match for the Quebec province welterweight championship at either of the two Quebec cities, but if he fights for his Canadian crown at Montreal the federation will withdraw recognition of his title.

Two-Man Sled Team Runs Well

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (CP-Reuters) — Vic Emery of Montreal and Mike Young of Port Credit, Ont., had a time of one minute, 21.80 seconds on their single run today during training for next weekend's two - man bobsledding world championships. It was the third best time of the day.

Emery heads the team which won a gold medal at the winter Olympic games in Austria last year, Young, of the University of Western Ontario, is a newcomer to the team.

Rinaldo Ruatti and Enrico de Loremo of Italy recorded the day's fastest run with a time of 1:20.70. Tony Nash and Robin Nixon of Britain had a time of 1:21.

Dr. John Emery of Toronto, and Purvis McDougall of Montreal, had a time of 1:23.33.

Stemkowski To Stay With Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League said today centre Peter Stemkowski will be staying on their roster.

Stemkowski, a former Toronto Marlboro star in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series who played this season with Rochester Americans of the American League, was brought up by Leafs to fill a gap created by injuries. He has scored two goals and six assists in eight games.

Hap Clancy, Leafs' assistant general manager, said "that way Stemkowski has been playing, it's highly unlikely he'll see Rochester again this year."

Scots Win One Match

PORT WILLIAM (CP)—Touring Scottish curlers managed only one victory in six matches against Northern Ontario rinks Wednesday in the Strathcona Cup curling competitions.

The matches gave the Canadians 76 points to the Scots' 45 and ran the aggregate total to 846 against the visitors' 572.

W. H. Robertson Aikman, captain of the Scottish group, scored the only victory when his rink stopped Doug Skinner, president of the Northwestern Ontario Curling Association, 14-10.

17-Year-Old Starting Like Kidd

Tucker Potential Excites Track People

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

"An outstanding prospect. . . has the potential to become a great . . ."

Remember those words? That was the sort of talk heard four years ago when Bruce Kidd invited himself to the Knights of Columbus indoor track meet at Boston, won the two miles in spectacular fashion and became a box-office hit on the North American circuit.

Meet directors stumbled over themselves to get the Toronto schoolboy on their programs.

Now, you'll hear the same sentiments expressed about another 17 - year - old schoolboy, from Hamilton. The word is out to watch Ray Tucker. He's a half-miler, the same as Olympic silver medallist Bill Crothers from Markham, Ont., who, on performance, is the second fastest man in the world at his specialty.

The Hamilton youngster a couple of weeks ago was in the same position as Kidd was in January, 1960. Then, Kidd was going to be in suburban Cambridge to take the Harvard entrance exams and he persuaded Boston meet director John Dunsaulit to permit him to enter the two-mile event.

The rest is history.

SCORES UPSET

Now, almost four years to the day, Tucker finds himself in a comparable position to Kidd. Early this month, the Hamilton Westdale Collegiate runner's coach, Jack Sibbald, wrote Dunsaulit and asked if his young athlete could compete in the 1,000 yards. The promoter said okay, but he'd have to get to Boston on his own.

Sibbald, a physical education teacher at Westdale, and another teacher, came up with $55 and the three went to the meet. Tucker came from behind in the final straight-away and raced to an upset victory over Jon Dunkleberg of North Carolina track club. His time was an impressive two minutes. 12 seconds.

Then things started to pop. Dunsaulit invited Tucker back to Boston for his 1966 meet with expenses paid.

Promoters of the Jan. 28 Millrose Games in New York followed with an invitation. Then came an invitation from the directors of the Telegram-Maple Leaf indoor meet at Toronto Jan. 29, the United States Amateur Athletic Union championships at New York Feb. 20, the New York Athletic Club meet Feb. 11.

"We'll enter him in the Toronto meet and then make up our minds about the others," Sibbald said in an interview this week.

"Ray has had the same impact on people as Bruce did when he was a 17-year-old," Sibbald said.

GAVE UP HOCKEY

Who is Tucker? He's a good-looking, dark-haired young man who has been running four years, holds the Canadian junior indoor record of 2:12.5 for 1,000 yards and has been a big name in Ontario high school meets for the last two or three years.

He works out every day after school and, altogether, runs 40 to 50 miles a week. And he has his sights set on a place on Canada's team to the 1968 British Empire Games in Jamaica, the 1967 Pan-American Games at Winnipeg and the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

He holds the Canadian junior record of 1:51.7 for the 880 yards. "Eventually," says Sibbald, "Ray could become a top miler. But right now his specialty is the half."

Tucker gave up minor hockey a year ago to concentrate on track. "He felt he had to go all the way in track and field and that it was a year-round endeavor, so hockey had to go," says Sibbald.

His best time for the mile is 4.32.0. "Ultimately", says Sibbald, "he could be an excellent miler. He has a lot of years of running ahead of him."

A lot of important and knowledgeable track people are excited about the potential of this young fellow. And, like Kidd, he had to invite himself to an American meet to gain national recognition.

Hare Makes No Difference To Greyhounds

LONDON (AP) — The mechanical rabbit didn't finish in a greyhound race at Crayford Track, but the dogs did.

The stewards, on the theory that greyhounds race because they think they're chasing a hare, ordered it rerun.

Without the hare, which had fallen off its carriage at the start, the dog from Chris No. 5 won with 3-4-6 following in order.

In the rerun, with the hare, the order was the same, 5-3-4-6.

Cheevers Racks Up 4th Blank

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goaltender Jerry Cheevers would probably be better off if he wasn't the property of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

The 24-year-old Cheevers is currently tied for the shutout lead in the American Hockey League and his Rochester Americans are the top team in the circuit's western division.

But Cheever has a tough combination to beat if he ever expects to become a regular Leaf goaltender. Harris Toronto's alternating netminders—Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuk — boast the best goals-against average in the NHL.

Cheevers registered his fourth shutout of the season Wednesday night as Rochester edged Buffalo Bisons 1-0. It was his third against the Bisons and tied him with Buffalo's Ed Chadwick.

Elsewhere, Cleveland Barons ace Hershey Bears battled to a 2-2 tie, and Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Springfield Indians 3-2.

Wally Boyer broke up the 60-minute goaltending duel with less than two minutes remaining, beating the Buffalo goalie on a breakaway from close-in.

Pete Conacher and Roger Desmond counted for Hershey, while Bob Courcy and Dave McComb replied for Cleveland.

Ivy Spencer, Jerry Toppazzini and Lowell MacDonald were the Pittsburgh marksmen. Mike Labadie and Dennis Olsen counted for Springfield.

Davy Jones Gets Three For Aces

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Davey Jones led the attack for Kingston Aces with three goals as the home team walloped Morrisburg Combines 9-2 in an Ottawa - St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League game Wednesday night.

However, Morrisburg retains its hold on first place in the league, while Kingston remains in third place.

Fiori Goegan, Pete Robertson, Bob Collins, Ron Earl, Ed Long and Pete Weston scored the other Kingston goals. Roddy Gillard scored the two Morrisburg goals.

Gordie Howe's Hockey

By GORDIE HOWE

There is a campaign on in the National Hockey League to improve hockey's "image." It has resulted in the shortening of the playing time of games this season more than six minutes.

This resulted from the strict enforcement of a rule that there was to be no complaint about a penalty.

Only one captain, or alternate captain, is allowed to discuss an incident with the referee involving a question of the interpretation of the rules.

"A complaint about a penalty is not a matter relating to the interpretation of the rules" is all the NHL players were warned before the season began.

They also were instructed that every penalized player must proceed immediately and directly to the penalty bench.

He isn't allowed to skate first to his bench for consultation with the coach, or to replace a broken stick, or for any other reason whatsoever.

The penalty for violation of either of these edicts is a 10 minute misconduct penalty. That carries with it an automatic $25 fine.

Consequently the players learned quickly to stop trying to argue with an official about a penalty. They learned to go to the penalty box directly on being singled out as the penalized player.

When it is a matter of the official's judgment that a foul has occurred and he awards a penalty, it is a waste of time to argue with him on it. Disrespect for officials hurts the game itself.

So by eliminating the needless haranguing with officials in turn speeding up the game, the NHL officials killed two birds with one stone. It has been good for hockey and players on all levels of the sport should take heed.

Six Tracks Get 440 Nights

TORONTO (CP)—There will be more than a year of harness racing in Ontario during 1965.

The Ontario Racing Commission approved a schedule Wednesday calling for 440 nights—including overlapping dates—at six Ontario tracks between March 13 and Dec. 18.

Garden City Raceway, which opened in St. Catharines last fall with a 36-day schedule, will have the six longest period of the six tracks—90 days.

Toronto's Greenwood Raceway has been given 89 nights, down from last year's 104.

Garden City will have two meets, from May 31 to July 17 and from Sept. 8 to Oct. 30. Greenwood will also have two meets, March 13 to April 24 and July 19 to Sept. 4.

The third Jockey Club Limited track, Mohawk Raceway near Campbellville, Ont., will have a total of 60 nights of racing during 1965, including a spring meeting April 26 to May 29 and a fall meeting Nov. 1 to Dec. 4.

Western Fair Raceway in London, Ont., has been given 69 nights and they will be split into two meetings—May 31 to July 17 and Sept. 30 to Oct. 30.

A new track, Ojibway Raceway in Windsor, is scheduled for opening Oct. 18 and has been awarded 80 days beginning on that date and continuing to Dec. 18.

Rideau Carleton, near Ottawa, was granted 90 days, down from the 98 last year. That track will be open from April 15 to July 31.

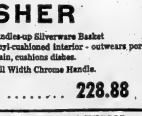
Nick Altrock Clown Coach Dies at 88

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nick Altrock, 88, one of the great figures in baseball history, died Wednesday in hospital.

Altrock suffered a stroke two years ago and had been in failing health for some months.

As a left - handed pitcher, who won 63 games over the 1904-1906 stretch, Altrock was one of a great staff that hurled Chicago's "hitless wonders" to the American League and World Series championships in 1906.

But to fans who remember him now, he was best known as a slow - coach with Washington Senators, whose uniform he wore for 45 years.



His humorous antics and pantomime caught the fancy of fans and endured for years.

Youth Pleads Guilty to Series of Thefts

PICTON (Staff) — Magistrate's Court ran all day Wednesday this week with many minor cases being heard. There were three convictions of impaired driving with fines ranging from $50. to $75.

19-year-old Brian W. Irvine of R.R. 1 Carying Place, who last Wednesday had a "one man joy-ride" and was charged with a series of thefts and five charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident pleaded guilty before Magistrate T. Y. Wills and was remanded for sentence. Irvine began his escapade in Trenton early on the morning of Wednesday, Jan. 13, when he stole a truck from Beaver Lumber Co. of Trenton. Then followed a series of thefts of automotive vehicles. He was apprehended at his Ameliasburgh Township home Wednesday night by Picton O.P.P.

Inquest Will be Held on Deaths of Three

PICTON (Staff) — An inquest into the deaths of three people killed in a car crash on Highway 33 during the month of December will be held at the Shrine Hall in Picton on Tuesday, Jan. 26. The accident, a two car collision took place near Wellington and there were no survivors. Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnston of Wellington and Frank Farrington of Milford. The inquest will be conducted by Coroner Dr. C. R. Richmond.

Attempt Being Made to Identify Body

PICTON (Staff) — Provincial Police of Picton has issued a circular to police officials within a wide area of Picton in an attempt to identify the body of a woman found on the Lake shore near here on Dec. 31. The body was discovered by Frank Frost of Picton, while walking along the shore near South Bay about 10 miles south of Picton.

No identification has as yet been made. The Attorney-General's Laboratory in Toronto supplies the following approximate information; 25 to 35 years of age, approximately six feet in height and weight about 160 pounds.

The body was severely and badly mutilated, in fact only a torso was found. However police feel there was no foul play involved. The Lab report stated that the body would have had to be in the water for at least one year to cause such deterioration. Anyone who might be able to assist in identifying the body is asked to contact the nearest police detachment.

St. Ola

ST. OLA — The Limerick Township Council met in the St. Ola Orange Hall for the first meeting of the new year on January 13. Reeve M. J. Hamm, Councillors Carrol, Hughes, Murphy, Wilson were in attendance, also clerk Mrs. Audrey MacGillicuddy.

Miss Janice Munro, Bancroft, was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Davidson.

Miss Sadie Mills has taken a position as companion housekeeper of Mrs. Rankin, a former resident of Limerick Township.

Mr. Ernie Reeks has returned home from Bancroft Hospital much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Bellisle and daughter, Toronto, were visitors for the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Martin are visiting in Scotia Corners.

Mr. Harold Palmateer served on the grand jury last week.

The St. Ola Church Board met in the manse on Tuesday evening for the annual meeting. There was a nice turn out and much business completed. Mr. Vander Veen acted as chairman. The 1964 officers were returned to office by acclamation. Mrs. Vander Veen served refreshments to bring the evening to a close.

AT THE BELLE — Just discharged from the army, brash Marlon Brando, explains his confidence-artist Techniques to suave David Niven, who is a connoisseur in the field, in this scene from Thiterwal's sophisticated romance comedy in color, "Bedtime Story". Shirley Jonas also is co-starred. "Bedtime Story", is now on the Belle Theatre screen.

NE WYORK (AP)—The three television networks were pre occupied Wednesday with the kind of an event that is admirably tailored for camera coverage — the inauguration of President Johnson and the parade and balls that followed.

The ceremonies and other events were planned meticulously far in advance, giving the networks ample opportunity to set up their equipment in strategic locations.

It enabled the network staffs to gather inaugural facts and figures to keep the commentary going during the luncheon break and the delay before the parade started.

NBC, with its Today Show, started its inaugural coverage at 7 a.m. EST and did not return to regular programming until after 5 p.m.

ABC and CBS joined the coverage at 10 and 10:30 a.m. All of the networks' top hands were in their accustomed places and with assists from big staffs, they all did good jobs.

The day's climactic moments needed no commentary—when the president and Vice - President Humphrey took their oaths of office, and during the president's speech.

The camera close - up had some delightfully revealing moments, including one at the conclusion of the swearing - in ceremony when as both women were watching their husbands admiringly, Mrs. Johnson gave Mrs. Humphrey a small, happy hug.

Their Films Win No Oscars But Are Big at Box Office

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the 1964 academy award nominations are announced Feb. 23, it is extremely unlikely that they will include any movies produced by American-International.

Its owners couldn't care less. They'd much rather continue winning their awards at the box office.

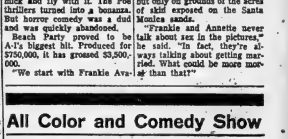
The brains behind American-International — known in the trade as A-I—are a former theatre owner named James H. Nicholson and lawyer Samuel Arkoff. They are the men who produced Beach Party, Muscle Beach Party and Bikini Beach, not to mention countless Edgar Allen Poe stories starring Vincent Price, Boris Karloff and others.

Their releases for 1965 also aren't destined for the Oscar derby: House at The End of The World, Ski Party, How to Stuff a Wild Bikini, Sergeant Deadhead.

Nicholson explained his philosophy: "A lot of the academy-award type of pictures are aimed at the older audience. We're not interested in the old folks; most of them stay home and watch television, anyway.

AIM AT YOUNG CROWD

"We're aiming for the young crowd. I believe I read somewhere that half the world's population is under 23. That's a big audience, and they are the kind that like to get out and go to the movies. We'll continue trying to give girls into bikinis."



Nicholson said the films have been criticized by moralists—but only on grounds of the acres of skin exposed on the Santa Monica sands.

"Frankie and Annette never talk about sex in the pictures," he said. "In fact, they're always talking about getting married. What could be more moral than that?"

AT THE PARK — "Please don't peg the Park! Jerry Lewis gets fitted for a suit by John Carradine in this scene from "The Patsy". Jerry's new Technicolor comedy hit romantic heights when it opens tonight at the Park Theatre. Also added is a fun-filled cartoon and a holiday which is made into a star. On the same program, in color, comes New Year Honeymoon, starring Frank Sinatra. One complete show starts at 7.00. "Come Blow Your Horn" at 7.30. "The Patsy" at 9.40. P.m.

2nd Sidney

2ND OF SIDNEY — Mrs. Ritchie Ketcheson arrived home from Hamilton, Bermuda, via plane at Toronto. On Sunday last and with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson motored to Toronto to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kidd's to bring his mother home with him. Mrs. Ketcheson enjoyed a wonderful three weeks' holiday with her friends Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Grills of Hamilton, Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White spent the weekend with a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ryley of Bethany.

P/S Lloyd Bewley has returned to Summerside, P.E.I., after spending three weeks leave with his wife and family.

On Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. William Sandercock entertained 19 girl friends of his sister, Barbara Sandercock, in honor of Barbara's coming wedding at the end of January, at a miscellaneous shower. Many lovely gifts were received. The evening was spent in contests and games followed by refreshments.

Wooler

WOOLER — Mrs. Vera Teal spent a couple of days with Mrs. R. Dawson in Trenton last week.

Mrs. F. A. Dorland is still in the Belleville hospital.

A shower was given for Mr. and Mrs. Bob Palmer by a number of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Sith on Friday evening.

Mrs. Charlie Jarvis spent last week in Burlington with her sister, Miss Dell Tilman and Mrs. Treen Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cope and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Smith returned with their mother and spent the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ruttan of St. Catharines spent the weekend with Mrs. N. N. Hagarty and attended the funeral of Arthur Anderson in Trenton on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Helen Bentley of Belleville spent the weekend at her home in the village.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Ed Nelson celebrated her birthday on Friday the 15th with ten of her family having dinner with her at her home.

Miss Cora Valentine, Mrs. Elwood Fox and Mrs. Vera Teal spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Charlie Nelson at Codrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Orvis of Peterborough were recent guests with Mrs. N. N. Hagarty.

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gooding have arrived at Flagler Beach in Florida where they will spend a few weeks.

Miss Nina Ames of Belleville is spending a few days with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ellis.

Jim Bailey is still in Trenton hospital suffering from bad burns he received.

MR. TWEEDY by Ned Riddle

"Wait, I think we should try some other house."

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR
For January 22

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Curb tendency to throw caution to winds. Do not argue with those with experience. Rather, try to learn. Exercise self-control. Then you earn added respect — and make progress.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Feeling discouraged because events don't progress as you wish . . . is not wise. Review potential. Discover different methods. Think. Analyze. Bring forth natural initiative.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Your attitude is being observed. Carelessness now causes serious loss. Strive for maturity. Create atmosphere of good will. Favorable if you are sensible.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Serious talk with mates or partner necessary. Release emotional Express true feelings. Then others understand. Events provide key to brighter future.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Sense of balance important. Weigh facts. Check details. Be sure and safe. Many urge flamboyant actions. But you succeed through caution, thorough approach.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Investments highlighted. Use your creative abilities. Intelligent mental opposite sex due to speak frankly. Listen and analyze. Base conclusions on facts.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22): Be aware of what persons near home base are thinking. Fulfill family needs. Co-operate with neighbors. Turn on inate charm. Utilize wonderful sense of justice.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Obtain hint from Libra message. You need allies today. Trust one who was loyal in past. Unusual factors to be considered. Visit individual confined to home or hospital.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Exciting social evening indicated. But remember you cannot buy happiness. Be sensible where money is concerned. Say no to one who advocates extravagance.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Aim for the best. Don't compromise. Many can be "won over." Know this — act accordingly. Evening finds you impressing very important people.

Finish what you start.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Subtle methods, approach necessary. Direct appeal likely to meet with opposition. Some original thinking gains your purpose. Message crystal clear by tonight.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Your interest in unusual matters heightened. Plan for evening at theatre. Important that you analyze, think and "read." Means pursuit creative forces to operate.

If today is your birthday: . . . you are natural pioneer, innovator . . . you were "on your own" in an emotional sense at an early age.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius. Special word to Taurus: Put forth best effort. Then one love is made happy.

Public, Private Enterprise Giving N. S. Some Weapons To Procure New Industry

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

HALIFAX (CP) — A unique combination of public and private enterprise is giving Nova Scotia some effective weapons in the inter-tribal warfare going on between the provinces to win revenue-producing industry.

Veteran observers agree that for decades Nova Scotia watched progress pass it by, starting with the switch to iron ships from wood. But they also agree that has changed.

"Not too long ago, if there were two courses open, Nova Scotia would choose the status quo," says W. S. Kennedy Jones, minister of trade and industry.

"Now we're determined to take advantage of the resources we have, including our people."

Premier Robert Stanfield—an unusually cautious man with words for a politician — says there is an air of confidence now among Nova Scotians.

"A substantial number of people have come to be encouraged about what could be done in the province," he said in an interview. "I believe that while we require a great deal of help, there is a lot we can do for ourselves."

30 NEW FIRMS

The most important thing, he says, is to build up secondary industry to create new jobs.

A key factor in the drive for new industry has been Industrial Estates Ltd., a Crown corporation set up in 1957 to sell outside firms on Nova Scotia's potential.

Although created by the legislature and operating on $50,000,000 capital provided by the government, IEL's dealings are conducted by its 12-man board of businessmen and, says Gerneral Manager Robert Manuge, are free from official interference.

Since its founding, IEL has had a hand in attracting more than 30 firms to Nova Scotia. In addition to providing a whopping assist to the construction industry — recent capital investments in plants is estimated at more than $150,000,000—the new factories have provided thousands of jobs.

Details of IEL's arrangements with its clients are kept secret, but it obviously can pour plenty of sugar into the pot.

Peter Munk, president of Clairtone Sound Corp. which is putting up a $2,500,000 plant in Nova Scotia, says the deal he got is so amazingly good he can't understand why more firms don't take advantage of the opportunities.

VIEWED WITH SUSPICION

An indication of the interprovincial rivalry came recently when Mr. Manuge—who travelled 100,000 miles on business last year—turned up at a Toronto reception for some visiting Japanese industrialists.

A staff member of Ontario's industry department hurried over and angrily asked what he was doing there. Assured it was by invitation, the staff member retreated — but watched Mr. Manuge suspiciously throughout the reception.

Nova Scotia has two other programs that are proving important in its growth plans—a voluntary economic planning system and a bid for more stable labor-management relations.

Finance Minister G. I. Smith says the economic planning was started to get the people of the province together to discuss their problems and look for solutions.

It is unique in Canada and, he says, perhaps in the world because of its setup.

Public meetings have been held to discuss various sectors of the economy and anyone sufficiently interested to spend the time to attend the meetings can put forth his views.

TRY TO AVOID STRIKES

Mr. Smith says more than 1,500 people have attended various meetings since the program was started in late 1962. Although it is too early to point to concrete results, the program is credited with generating considerable interest among the people.

The labor-management plan is based on getting the two sides together to thrash out problems before they reach the strike stage.

Stable labor relations are an important factor in dealing with outside firms, Mr. Manuge says.

Both labor and management spokesmen say the talks have already resulted in more mutual understanding.

Jim McMahon, district director of the United Steel Workers of America (CLC) at Sydney, says the discussions are of considerable importance.

One drawback he sees is that management hasn't got a body that can speak with authority for all employers—a problem also recognized by businessmen sitting in on the talks.

"It will take time to organize properly," Mr. Nicholson says. "But it will be a very good thing for the province if we can get to a mutually satisfactory situation."

Church Council Asks Catholics To Discuss Unity

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP)—The World Council of Churches asked the Roman Catholic Church Tuesday night to join it in formal discussions of church unity.

The council, representing 214 member churches of Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Catholic faiths, announced at its annual meeting it will set up a working committee for formal consultations with the Vatican.

The committee, "subject to parallel action by the appropriate authorities of the Roman Catholic Church," will have six Roman Catholic members and eight from the council.

The Vatican's two observers at the council meeting, Rev. Jerome Hamber of Belgium and Rev. Pierre Duprey of France, termed the council action "a step forward."

"In our opinion," they said in a statement, "the general trend of this report on the relations of the World Council with the Catholic Church is in harmony with the recent decree of the Vatican council on ecumenism (church unity)."

The report approved by the World Council's 100 - member central committee said the proposed committee would be purely consultative and "would not be able to make any decisions."

The report also noted that the council itself "cannot act for the member churches unless it is specifically authorized to do so."

Ask Exhumation of Body of Witness

Want To Learn Cause Of Death Of Ovide Gagnon

Dorion Inquiry Curious About Circumstances

MONTREAL (CP) — Ross Drouin, counsel for the Progressive Conservative party, formally asked the Dorion inquiry today to consider the exhumation of the body of Ovide Gagnon, one of three missing witnesses.

Mr. Drouin's request came after commission counsel Andre Desjardins submitted a death certificate for Gagnon, brother-in-law of Mrs. Lucien Rivard. He testified earlier that Gagnon was one of four persons to have contributed towards a $60,000 kitty raised to help her husband, wanted in the United States in a huge narcotics smuggling conspiracy.

Asked Rouleau Free Friend

BULLETIN

MONTREAL (CP)—Lucien Rivard, 43-year-old suspected narcotics-smuggling conspirator, told the Dorion inquiry today he once asked Liberal MP Guy Rouleau to help get "a friend" transferred to a new jail and released.

Mr. Drouin said that if the person mentioned in the death certificate can be properly identified the commission should consider "using the body exhumed "to determine the exact causes of death."

At all this step had been taken in Ontario when witnesses to be heard in the Ontario Crime Commission inquiry into organized crime disappeared in just about the same way as Gagnon did.

Mr. Drouin requested Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec Superior Court, presiding at the inquiry, to summon before the commission the doctor who gave a certificate of death for Gagnon.

"If there was a doctor," com-

Indonesia Officially Out of UN

By CARMAN CUMMING

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Indonesia officially notified the United Nations Thursday night of its decision to withdraw from the world body.

But UN sources said Indonesia will continue to be consulted on a member pending study of the notification, delivered to Secretary-General U Thant.

They said the Indonesian flag will continue to be flown outside UN headquarters in New York and her place will be reserved in the General Assembly Hall.

Indonesian diplomats said their country is no longer a member and the question of the flag is "the business of the UN."

Ambassador Lambertus Nicodemus Palar handed in the notice after returning from Jakarta earlier in the day. He stated he could not say whether the withdrawal was irrevocable but indicated there would have to be changes within the UN before Indonesia would resume membership.

IS FIRST WITHDRAWAL

The withdrawal, first in the 20-year-old history in the UN, reduced the membership to 114 countries.

Palar indicated, however, that Indonesia will remain in some of the UN specialized agencies.

TO TOUR MALAYSIA

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip will tour the trouble spots of Malaysia next month, Buckingham Palace announced Thursday. The announcement said Queen Elizabeth's husband will visit Sabah and Sarawak, the areas threatened with military attack by Indonesia.

Paratroopers Smash Their Way Through Mob of Monks and Nuns

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese paratroopers smashed their way with billy clubs and tear gas through nearly 500 Buddhist monks and nuns demonstrating against Premier Tran Van Huong in front of the United States Embassy today.

A few minutes later a mob smashed the doors and windows of the U.S. Information Service Library four blocks from the embassy.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Cold arctic air continues to push southward across the forecast district although its progress over southern Ontario has been bogged down by a weak storm moving eastward across the lower Great Lakes. A new storm is expected to move out of the southwestern states bringing wet snow rain and freezing rain to southwestern Ontario Saturday and possibly to the rest of the southern Ontario towards the end of the day. Northern Ontario is already well under the influence of the arctic air mass.

Crowds, mostly youths, shouted insults and police boxes in main city streets.

By mid-afternoon, scattered groups of demonstrators were moving all over Saigon.

A Buddhist source telephoned the Associated Press office that a monk would burn himself on a main city boulevard near the central market later in the day. This is the immolation technique that did much to rally opinion against the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Buddhists broke ranks under the attack and dispersed in all directions.

The demonstration occurred on the third day of a "week of the death" at Buddhist headquarters by five leading monks demanding the resignation of the Premier Huong.

Amidst the political turmoil in Saigon, the war against the Communist Viet Cong continued in the countryside. Reinforcements forces were flown into a battle in the Mekong Delta Thursday and killed 46 guerrillas and captured 61 others.

It was described as the government's biggest victory in weeks.

Helicopters in two massive waves airlifted some 1,500 soldiers into the fight, about 50 miles south of Saigon, in Kien Hoa Province.

Winston Remains In Coma

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's condition was still unchanged today and he had a quiet night, the noon medical bulletin announced.

The bulletin, issued by Lord Moran after his usual mid-day visit, said:

"Sir Winston had a quiet night and there is no change in his condition. There will be a further bulletin tonight."

It was the 16th bulletin since Churchill suffered a stroke last Friday.

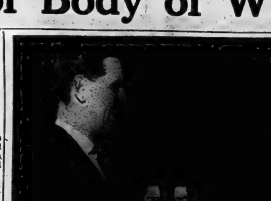
The bulletin Thursday night from the 90 - year - old statesman's bedside also had reported no change in his condition.

The waning prime minister's condition has remained stationary since Wednesday, when Moran said the weakness of Churchill's circulation was more marked and that he was at a "very low ebb."

Medical men interpreted the report as meaning that Churchill continued in a coma from which he could not recover.

A British Medical Association spokesman said: "This sort of condition could go on perhaps for days."

One physician drew a parallel with the case of Lord Illiven, 79-year-old former chairman of Rolls Royce, who suffered a stroke a number of years ago and has been in coma since.



The eighth day of Churchill's struggle dawned cold and miserable, with snow clouds heavy over the London skyline.

Churchill lay in a ground floor room at his London home, No. 28 Hyde Park Gate. A shivering huddle of reporters kept vigil at the entrance to the street.

Shortly before Moran, Sir Winston's 82-year-old physician, arrived for his mid-day call, fire broke out in an apartment on the other side of the Churchill garden, and smoke billowed around the windows of the statesman's ground - floor bedroom. The fire was quickly extinguished, and the fire engines did not clang their bells for fear of disturbing Sir Winston.

Lady Churchill—"very calm and very brave" in the words of her cousin, Mrs. Sylvia Henley—left Hyde Park Thursday to walk in Hyde Park with her daughter and son-in-law, Mary and Christopher Soames.

Meanwhile, technicians of the BOC were building television cables inside St. Paul's Cathedral, where the nation traditionally takes leave of its warriors. Police and soldiers were standing out positions in the village churchyard at Bladon, Oxfordshire, where Churchill will lie near his parents' grave.

Mild Weather on Prairies Saves Cattle, Game Birds

EDMONTON (CP)—A nine-day stretch of mild weather on the Western Prairies has sent cattle on southern ranches back to pasture and generally eased the survival struggle of upland game birds and animals.

Wildlife and agriculture officials said Thursday the situation is considerably improved for the hundreds of thousands of pheasants reported frozen and starving last month after severe blizzards and unusual cold and snow in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Officials estimated from 50 to 70 per cent of the pheasants in some areas of Alberta and up to 80 per cent in some parts of southwestern Saskatchewan did not survive the early winter storms.

About 1,000 head of cattle are missing or dead in southern Alberta and more than 200 antelope have been reported killed by trains or trucks in the two provinces.

KILLED BY CAR

TARA, Ont. (CP) — Donald Cramm, 65, was fatally injured Thursday when struck by a car driven by his employer in this area 12 miles southwest of Owen Sound. Police said the car was driven by Howard Barber, who was backing the vehicle from a barn when the accident occurred.

Dupuis Resigns As Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson has asked for and received the resignation of Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, it was announced today.

Mr. Dupuis' resignation is effective today. It applies only to his cabinet post, not to his Commons seat of St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville.

No explanation was given for the request for Mr. Dupuis' resignation.

The dramatic announcement was made to a group of reporters by Richard O'Hagan, press secretary to the prime minister, while a special cabinet meeting was still in progress.

Mr. O'Hagan read from a prepared statement of two sentences:

"On Wednesday of this week, the prime minister asked Mr. Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, to relinquish his position in the federal administration.

"Effective today, Mr. Dupuis is no longer a member of the government."

Foreign Secretary Resigns

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson has accepted Patrick Gordon Walker's resignation as foreign secretary, sources close to the government said today.

The sources said an official announcement will be made later today after Queen Elizabeth has been informed.

Gordon Walker conferred with Wilson for 20 minutes this morning following his failure Thursday for the second time to win a seat in the House of Commons. He lost to Conservative Ronald Buxton by 205 votes in a district that for 30 years had been considered safe for Labor.

Soon after Gordon Walker left 10 Downing Street, other cabinet members began arriving there to talk over implications of the defeat with the prime minister. The resignation of Gordon Walker will be a great loss to Wilson, for the foreign secretary is regarded as one of the ablest members of the Labor government.

MAY HANDLE HIMSELF

There was immediate speculation that Wilson may himself look after foreign affairs for a short time, leaving day-to-day

Grits Behind Move to Oust Him---Dief

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker Thursday accused the Liberal party and its "propaganda machine" of being behind the movement to have him replaced as leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

"The controlling part is that the Liberal party has been able to secure the apparent support of some Conservatives," he told a home constituency gathering of about 350 persons.

"The Liberal propaganda machine is active and it's aimed at me to take the public eye off their ill-handling of government," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

It was his first expanded public comment since a Caribbean holiday earlier this month on which he said there was "organized party ranks over his leadership and party policy. The anti - Diefenbaker faction has been spearheaded by the party's Quebec leader, Leon Balcer.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the "same people who walked out on him in 1956 are still working against me." But he mentioned no names.

His address at the Young Progressive Conservative Association dinner was applauded warmly several times. Before his speech he received a vote of confidence in his leadership.

Mr. Diefenbaker objected to what he said were claims he had harmed Confederation.

"Am I to blame for bringing in the flag issue?" he asked.

"Am I to blame that the Queen was brought to Canada and received the reception she did?"

He said Prime Minister Pearson is "dedicated to two nations or associated states — that's what's happening."

An indication of the Liberal trend toward dividing Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker added, was a recent resolution passed by Liberals in Ontario that the Queen should be abolished.

"If I'm to blame it's because we stood against these policies."

The Conservative leader also said the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism has cost a million dollars and "done many millions of dollars' damage" to Canada.

He said he refused to establish the commission in 1962 and 1963 cost him votes, but his judgment had been vindicated that "we would have a great division in this country if it was set up."

"If I had set out to destroy Canada, I couldn't have chosen a better way. Now Mr. Pearson says it's the fault of the opposition leader."

Mr. Diefenbaker recalled that an American magazine a year ago described Canada's government as a rudderless mess.

"It's still rudderless, but the mess is a lot worse," he charged.

He said that a national conference would be initiated by a future Conservative government to bring the provinces together in an effort to unite Canada.

Diefenbaker Made Scapegoat For Other Folks' Mistakes

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker is being made a "scapegoat for other people's policies and mistakes," former Conservative agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton said Thursday.

Mr. Hamilton said in an interview that many of the opposition leader's detractors personally participated in some of the decisions they now are blaming on Mr. Diefenbaker. He mentioned George Hees, Davie Fulton and Senator Wallace McCutcheon.

"When we were in government, policies were decided on the support of every member of the cabinet," Mr. Hamilton said, "It's the chief, Mr. Diefenbaker, is now being made the scapegoat for things that were the responsibility of every one of us."

On party leadership, Mr. Hamilton said: "Mr. Diefenbaker will remain as our leader until such time he feels he should retire. But if some MPs want to challenge him, we'll listen to see if their complaints can be mediated."

Premier Robarts Makes Statement In Legislature

Hopes Quebec Will Reverse Its Decision

By BOB EXELL

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Robarts dismissed what he called "substantial arguments" in favor of Ontario operating its own pension plan and announced Thursday that the province will participate in the Canada Pension Plan.

At the same meeting, Mr. Robarts expressed the hope that Quebec may at some future date reverse its decision to set it alone on pensions and enter the federal scheme as well.

"If this could come to pass," he told the legislature, "we would achieve our ultimate goal of a truly national pension plan that would go far toward setting the pattern for future, nation - wide social welfare legislation."

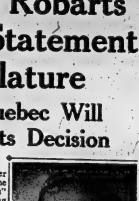
The announcement by Premier Robarts that Ontario would opt out of the Canada Pension Plan was well received by both opposition party leaders in the house—Andrew Thomson of the Liberals and Donald MacDonald of the New Democrats.

There had been speculation—and Premier Robarts took no hand to stop it—that Ontario would introduce its own public pension plan. Indeed, Mr. Robarts said Thursday there were good reasons for so doing.

WORKS FOR UNITY

"On the other hand," he said, "the province of Ontario and this government have traditionally worked for national unity and national standards of social services.

"We have participated in national social security programs and in many other instances have provided support in the interests of national standards and national stability.



"In the present circumstances. if we were to propose a plan in which there were any marked differences, even though 'comparable,' we might seriously impair the principle of national portability of pensions, which has been one of our goals for many years."

Mr. Robarts released a brief that the Ontario government will present to the Commons committee of the House of Commons and the Senate engaged in a study of the Canada Pension Plan bill, number C-136.

In the brief Ontario outlines its main objections to the bill.

Mr. Robarts said the most serious criticism is that the plan makes no provision for persons now retired or those

W. E. SANDERCOCK

Sandercock Is Deputy Speaker

TORONTO (CP)—W. E. Sandercock (PC — Hastings West) was named Deputy Speaker of the legislature today by Premier Robarts.

Mr. Sandercock, 56, who has served in the House for 17 years, takes over from W. G. Nodes (PC—Rainy River) who was Deputy Speaker during the 1964 session.

As Deputy Speaker Mr. Sandercock, a Belleville real estate and livestock dealer, serves as chairman of the committee of the whole House.

The Speaker continues to be Donald Morrow (PC—Ottawa West).

Mother's Burns Fatal

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Roland Belisle, 31, of nearby Quyon, Que., died in hospital here Thursday from severe burns she suffered while rescuing her 18-month-old son from a fire in her home Monday. She ran out with him through a wall of flames.

GETS OXFORD POST

OXFORD, England (Reuters) A 32-year-old historian, Christopher Hill, who quit Britain's Communist party in 1957 after 18 years membership, has been appointed master of Balliol College at Oxford, one of country's top academic posts.

Removal of Freckle-Sized Organ Cures Victim of Asthma Attacks

TORONTO (CP) — A young husband and father suffered acute asthma attacks that wakened him almost every night for six years.

"He was unable to play with his children, cut the grass or shovel snow."

Last year a surgeon at Toronto General Hospital removed a freckle-sized organ from an artery in the right side of the man's throat.

"Since the operation he has been very well. Is able to do any exertion, has had no attacks and his only medication has been to inhale a bronchodilator aerosol at most once a day," said a report to the annual meeting of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada here Thursday.

Dr. C. R. Woolf of Toronto General's cardio - respiratory laboratory reported on current efforts to help victims of severe asthma by removal of one of several tiny organs located at the carotid body.

The 12 cases of surgery on the carotid performed by Dr. Frederick Kergin, eight were successful in improving the condition of the Toronto patients, confirming the success rate of similar operations in Japan, Germany and Boston, Dr. Woolf said.

Some of the patients showed "dramatic" recovery, Dr. Woolf said, notably a 52-year-old man who had suffered from asthma for 23 years with daily attacks, including four that knocked him unconscious. He has suffered no attacks since surgery two years ago.

The problem is that nobody knows why the operation works in some cases and not in others. Nor can doctors tell beforehand which asthma patients are likely to be helped by removal of the carotid body in general, it is only attempted in severe cases that get no relief from drugs.

Dr. Woolf now is investigating the possibility that the operation works in some cases because some nerve passages are removed along with the carotid body in the surgery. The effect may be to "damp down" some nervous reactions that cause a restrictive spasm in the bronchial tubes.

Want To Learn Cause Of Death Of Ovide Gagnon

Dorion Inquiry Curious About Circumstances

MONTREAL (CP) — Ross Drouin, counsel for the Progressive Conservative party, formally asked the Dorion inquiry today to consider the exhumation of the body of Ovide Gagnon, one of three missing witnesses.

Mr. Drouin's request came after commission counsel Andre Desjardins submitted a death certificate for Gagnon, brother-in-law of Mrs. Lucien Rivard. She testified earlier that Gagnon was one of four persons who had contributed towards a $60,000 kitty raised to help her husband, wanted in the United States in a huge narcotics smuggling conspiracy.

Asked Rouleau Free Friend

BULLETIN

MONTREAL (CP)—Lucien Rivard, 49-year-old suspected narcotics-smuggling conspirator, told the Dorion inquiry today he once asked Liberal MP Guy Rouleau to help get "a friend" transferred to a new jail and released.

Mr. Drouin said that if the person mentioned in the death certificate can be properly identified the commission should consider how and the body exhumed "to determine the exact cause of death."

He said this step had been taken in Ontario when witnesses to be heard in the Ontario Crime Commission inquiry into organized crime disappeared in what sheet the same way as Gagnon had.

Mr. Drouin requested Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec Superior Court, presiding at the inquiry, to summon before the commission Dr. Sherbet who gave a certificate of death for Gagnon.

Winston Remains In Coma

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's condition was still unchanged today and he had a quiet night, the noon medical bulletin announced.

The bulletin, issued by Lord Moran after his usual mid-day visit, said:

"Sir Winston had a quiet night and there is no change in his condition. There will be a further bulletin tonight."

It was the 16th bulletin since Churchill suffered a stroke last Friday.

The bulletin Thursday night from the 90 - year - old statesman's bedside also had reported no change in his condition.

The wartime prime minister's condition has remained stationary since Wednesday, when Moran said the weakness of Churchill's circulation was more marked and that he was at a "very low ebb."

Medical men interpreted the report as meaning that Churchill continued in a coma from which he could not recover.

A British Medical Association spokesman said: "This sort of condition could go on perhaps for days."

One physician drew a parallel with the case of Lord Illiwd, 79-year-old former chairman of Rolls Royce, who suffered a cerebral thrombosis two years ago and has been in coma since.

The eighth day of Churchill's struggle against old and miserable, with snow clouds heavy over the London skyline.

Churchill lies in a Grand floor room at his London home, No. 28 Hyde Park Gate. A shivering huddle of reporters kept vigil at the entrance to the street.

Shortly before Moran, Sir Winston's 82-year-old physician, arrived for his mid-day call, fire broke out in an apartment on the other side of the Churchill garden, and smoke billowed around the windows of the statesman's ground - floor bedroom. The fire was quickly extinguished, and the fire engines did not enter their bells for fear of disturbing Sir Winston.

Lady Churchill—"very calm and very brave" in the words of her cousin, Mrs. Sylvia Henriques—on Saturday to walk in Hyde Park with her daughter and son-in-law, Mary and Christopher Soames.

Meanwhile, technicians of the BOC were building television booths inside St. Paul's Cathedral, where the nation traditionally honors its statesmen and its warriors.

Other organizations were staking out positions in the village of Churchill's birthplace, Oxfordshire, where Churchill will lie near his parents' grave.

Indonesia Officially Out of UN

By CARMAN CUMMING

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Indonesia officially notified the United Nations Thursday night of its decision to withdraw from the world body.

But UN sources said Indonesia will continue to be considered a member pending study of the notification, delivered to Secretary-General U Thant.

They said the Indonesian flag will continue to be flown outside UN headquarters in New York and her place will be reserved in the General Assembly Hall.

Indonesian diplomats said their country is no longer a member and the question of the flag is "the business of the UN."

Ambassador Lambertus Nicodemus Palar handed in the notice after returning from Jakarta earlier in the day. He stated he could not say whether the withdrawal was irrevocable but indicated there would have to be changes within the UN before Indonesia would resume membership.

IN FIRST WITHDRAWAL

The withdrawal, first in the 20-year-old history in the UN, reduced the membership to 114 countries.

Palar indicated, however, that Indonesia will remain in some of the UN specialized agencies.

Paratroopers Smash Their Way Through Mob of Monks and Nuns

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese paratroopers smashed their way with rifle clubs and tear gas through nearly 500 Buddhist monks and nuns demonstrating against Premier Tran Van Huong in front of the United States Embassy today.

A few minutes later a mob smashed the doors and windows of the U.S. Information Service Library four blocks from the embassy.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Cold arctic air continues to push southward across the forecast district although its progress over southern Ontario has been bogged down by a weak storm moving eastward across the lower Great Lakes. A new storm is expected to move out of the southwestern states bringing wet snow rain and freezing rain to southwestern Ontario Saturday and possibly to the rest of the southern Ontario towards the end of the day. Northern Ontario is already well under the influence of the arctic air mass.

Crowds, mostly youths, knocked over police boxes in main city streets.

By mid-afternoon, scattered groups of demonstrators were moving all over Saigon.

A Buddhist source telephoned the Associated Press office that a monk would burn himself on a main city boulevard near the central market later in the day. This is the immolation technique that did much to rally opinion against the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Buddhists broke ranks under the attack and dispersed in all directions.

The demonstration occurred on the third day of a "fast to the death" at Buddhist headquarters by five leading monks demanding the resignation of Premier Huong.

Despite the political turmoil in Saigon, the war against the Communist Viet Cong continued its construction. Communist forces were flown into a battle in the Mekong Delta Thursday and killed 46 guerrillas and captured 61 others.

It was described as the government's biggest victory in weeks.

Helicopters in two massive waves airlifted some 1,500 soldiers into the fight, about 50 miles south of Saigon, in Kien Giang province.

Mild Weather on Prairies Saves Cattle, Game Birds

EDMONTON (CP)—A nine-day stretch of mild weather on the Western Prairies has sent cattle on southern ranches back to pasture and generally eased the survival struggle of upland game birds and animals.

Wildlife and agriculture officials said Thursday the situation is considerably improved for the hundreds of thousands of pheasants reported frozen and starving last month after severe blizzards and unusual cold and snow in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Officials estimated from 50 to 70 per cent of the pheasants in some areas of Alberta and up to 80 per cent in some parts of southwestern Saskatchewan did not survive the early winter storms.

About 1,000 head of cattle are missing or dead in southern Alberta and more than 200 antelope have been reported killed by trains or trucks in the two provinces.

KILLED BY CAR

TARA, Ont. (CP) — Donald Cramm, 65, was fatally injured Thursday when struck by a car driven by his nephew on this area 12 miles southwest of Owen Sound. Police said the car was driven by Howard Barber, who was backing the vehicle from a barn when the accident occurred.

Dupuis Resigns As Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson has asked for and received the resignation of Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, it was announced today.

Mr. Dupuis' resignation is effective today. It applies only to his cabinet post, not to his Commons seat of St. Jean-Berville-Napierville.

No explanation was given for the request for Mr. Dupuis' resignation.

The dramatic announcement was made to a group of reporters by Richard O'Hagan, press secretary to the prime minister, while a special cabinet meeting was still in progress.

Mr. O'Hagan read from a prepared statement of two sentences:

"On Wednesday of this week, the prime minister asked Mr. Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, to relinquish his position in the federal administration.

"Effective today, Mr. Dupuis is no longer a member of the government."

Foreign Secretary Resigns

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson has accepted Patrick Gordon Walker's resignation as foreign secretary, sources close to the government said today.

The sources said an official announcement will be made later today after Queen Elizabeth has been informed.

Gordon Walker conferred with Wilson for 20 minutes this morning following his failure Thursday for the second time to win a seat in the House of Commons. He lost to Conservative Ronald Buxton by 205 votes in a district that for 30 years had been considered safe for Labor.

Soon after Gordon Walker left 10 Downing Street, other cabinet members began arriving there to talk over implications of the defeat with the prime minister.

The resignation of Gordon Walker will be a great loss to Wilson, for the foreign secretary is regarded as one of the ablest members of the Labor government.

Grits Behind Move to Oust Him---Dief

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker Thursday accused the Liberal party and its "propaganda machine" of being behind the movement to have him replaced as leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

"The Liberal party is that is the Liberal party has been able to secure the apparent support of certain Conservatives," he told a home constituency gathering of about 350 persons.

"The Liberal propaganda machine is active and it's aimed at me in the hope the eye of their ill-handling of government," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

It was his first expanded public comment since a Caribbean holiday earlier this month on the controversy that the Conservative party ranks over his leadership and party policy. The anti - Diefenbaker faction has been spearheaded by the party's Quebec leader, Leon Balcer.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the "same people who walked out on me in 1956 are still working against me." But he mentioned no names.

In his address at the Young Progressive Conservative Association dinner was applauded warmly several times. Before his speech he received a vote of confidence in his leadership.

Mr. Diefenbaker objected to what he said were claims he had harmed Confederation.

"Am I to blame for bringing in the flag issue?" he asked.

"Am I to blame that the Queen was brought to Canada and received the reception she did?"

He said Prime Minister Pearson is "dedicated to two nations or associated states — that's what's happening."

An indication of the Liberal trend toward dividing Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker added, was a recent resolution favoring Liberals in Ontario that the Queen should be abolished.

"If I'm to blame it's because we stood against those policies."

The Conservative leader also said the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism has cost a million dollars and "done many millions of dollars damage" to Canada.

He said his refusal to establish the commission in 1962 and 1963 was on votes, but his judgment had been vindicated that "we would have a great division in this country if it was set up."

"If I had set out to destroy Canada I couldn't have chosen a better way. Now Mr. Pearson says it's the fault of the opposition leader."

Mr. Diefenbaker recalled that an American magazine a year ago described Canada's government as a rudderless mess.

"It's still rudderless, but the mess is a lot worse," he charged.

He said that a national convention would be initiated by a future Conservative government to bring the provinces together in an effort to unite Canada.

Removal of Freckle-Sized Organ Cures Victim of Asthma Attacks

TORONTO (CP) — A young husband and father suffered severe asthma attacks that rendered him almost every night for six years.

He was unable to play with his children, cut the grass or shovel snow.

Last year a surgeon at Toronto General Hospital removed a freckle-sized organ from an artery in the right side of the man's throat.

"Since the operation he has been very well. Is able to do any exertion, has had no attacks and his only medication has been to inhale bronchodilator aerosol at most once a day," said a report to the annual meeting of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada here Thursday.

Dr. C. R. Woolf of Toronto General's cardio - respiratory laboratory reported on current efforts to help victims of severe asthma by removal of one of several tiny organs known as the carotid body.

In 12 cases of surgery on the carotid performed by Dr. Frederick Kergin, eight were successful in improving the condition of the Toronto patients, confirming the success rate of similar operations in Japan, Germany and Boston, Dr. Woolf said.

30 Miles of County Roads Will Return to Townships

Council Members Are Told

The deletion of approximately 30 miles of Hastings County road system and the addition of approximately five miles of township roads in the Belleville area, will be commenced by the county in 1966.

The reversion of the 30 miles of road to the township, and the addition of heavily travelled roads in the Belleville area, was recommended by the county roads and bridges committee as a result of a county roads needs study done last year by C. C. Parfrey Associates, traffic consultants.

Each of the roads to be reverted or assumed will be considered independently by council at such times as it is deemed expedient to add or remove them from the county system.

However, all bridges more than 20 feet in length will remain in the county system and any roads turned back to the township will first be placed in good condition.

ROADS MENTIONED

Roads recommended returned to the townships are arteries which no longer meet the criteria for county roads, or that are duplicated by other roads or highways.

Recommended for addition to the county roads system are the Jones Creek, sideroad between No. 3 highway and Suburban Road 2-A; Sidney Street south from highway 401 to join up at Highway 14 with county road 6 leading from Carnahan; Dundas sideroad in Thurlow township and Mitchell's sideroad in the same township.

Assumption of Leamings and Mitchell's sideroads would be conditional on the Department of Highways to provide access to Highway 401 east of Belleville.

The fifth road recommended for addition to the county system is in Tyendinaga township from the intersection of present county roads 12 to 13 to the Lemoxe and Addington county boundary — providing that this county assumes the road leading to Highway 41 through Leinster.

The recommendations for deletions and additions to the county roads system were presented to council following reading of the roads and bridges report by committee chairman Ernest Kelly of Sidney township.

A regular expenditure by-law of $400,000 — $300,000 for maintenance and $100,000 for construction, to be approved by the Ontario Department of Highways.

Of the total allotment $68,000 will be earmarked for the suburban roads commission which now maintains 16 miles of road in the immediate Belleville area. If the county assumes the four Belleville area roads recommended by the needs study, the suburban roads commission will take over their maintenance.

The main portion of proposed county roads construction this year will be taken provided for under a supplementary by-law to be passed in April.

County road employees this year will receive a 15 cents per hour boost in wages to meet with the minimum wage law for labor rates of $1.35 per hour. Patrolmen, operators and key men, will also get the 15 cents per hour wages boost.

The increase will boost wage cost for the year by about $12,000 the report of county engineer Larry Langlois noted. Vacations with pay for road employees will add another $4,000 to $5,000 to the wage total.

Tenders for the re-construction of 2.4 miles of county road No. 4 (south from Frankford) will be called this year. Between eight and nine acres of clearing will be required for the new road which is to be widened.

The Frankford-Trenton county road is to be rebuilt by the Ontario Department of Highways as a development road but the tenders for the first phases are expected to be called this year.

Salvation Army Seeks More Aid From County

To help defray increasing costs of the operation of its Bethany Home for unmarried mothers in Trenton, the Salvation Army has asked Hastings county council for an increased grant.

County council members were told Thursday by Army representatives Brigadier Earl H. Hill that seven unmaryied mothers from Hastings were cared for at the home in the last year— an increase of two from the previous year.

The average cost for such cases was said to be $240. Last year's county grant to the Salvation Army was $800.

Other phases of Salvation Army work receiving a vote listed in a letter to council from Envoy Bram Humphreys who spoke briefly at the county jail and among prisoners.

More emphasis on crime prevention was urged by the Belleville officer.

NO ACTION TAKEN

Hastings county council heard a grant request from the village of Deloro to assist in the reforestation of the community hill.

Council took no action on the Lanark county resolution asking that the welfare act be amended to allow payment for CAS wards between the ages of 18 and 21 to be dealt with in the same manner as for those under 18.

The request was intended to cover costs in special instances where wards were continuing in education after 18 years.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Harold (Alice) Reid of Belleville. She was predeceased in 1961 by her husband, the late Thomas Foster Gill. Mrs. Gill was the last member of her family.

Funeral on Saturday afternoon from the Graham Funeral Home, 68 North Front Street.

JAMES WINSTON CHURCHILL
Foxboro, Ont.

In failing health for the past six months, James Winston Churchill of Foxboro died at his home on Thursday. He was in his 55th year.

Born at Young Mills, Ont., he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Churchill. He had lived in Foxboro most of his life.

Mr. Churchill had been employed for the past 25 years by the Dale Estey Company. He was a member of Christ Church and was affiliated with the church choir.

He was very active in scouting in Belleville, Bataws and Foxboro for the past 26 years and was a charter member of the Foxboro Home and School Association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Connie Kwartz; two sons, James Morris of Lansdowne House, Ont., and Charles Thomas at home; one daughter Mrs. Charles (Joan) Young of Belleville.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Max (Dora) Langman of Belleville and five grandchildren.

Funeral on Saturday afternoon from Christ Church. Arrangements under the direction of the Thompson Funeral Chapel, 38 Everett Street.

Kingston Meet Held By Purchasing Agents

The Purchasing Agents Association of Eastern Ontario held its January meeting at the LaSalle Hotel, Kingston, on Wednesday evening. This being the annual "Vice-President's Night" the meeting was conducted by the association's vice-president, L. G. McBrien (Head Salmon of Canada Ltd.).

The main portion of the meeting was given over to a group discussion session under direction of W. K. Tennyson (Pyrotenax of Canada Ltd.) The topic was in the form of three case studies dealing with some of the problems a purchasing agent might encounter in vendor selection, expediting and contract negotiation. Also, as per the association's educational program it was announced at the meeting that a "Basic Purchasing Course" would be held at Queen's University, Kingston, on May 7th and 8th.

Thirty-two members and guests were present, including the following local men: D. N. Hallam (H. Corby Distillery Ltd.); Jack Palmer (Norlander Concrete Products); L. G. McBrien (Head Johnson of Canada Ltd.); Jack Palmer (Norlander Electric Co. Ltd.); J. R. Peoples (Head Johnson of Canada Ltd.); F. Stalker (Stephenson Canada Mfg. Co. of Canada); F. W. Newman (Stewart-Warner Corp. of Canada Ltd.), and E. Lavis (Northern Electric Co. Ltd.)

Asks Education Costs Be Born By Ont. Govt.

Hastings county council Thursday concurred in a Wollaston township resolution calling on the provincial government to assume the entire cost of education, including secondary education.

Township Reeve William O'Brien told councillors that the present system of education in his township was less than $2,000 and yet the millrate for secondary school education was 37.86 mills.

The total bill for education in his township amounted to approximately 60 mills, he said.

Reeve O'Brien felt that property should not be called upon to bear such a heavy load for secondary education costs.

Reeve Don Rodgers of Stirling, however, pointed out that the government paid 100 per cent secondary education costs but it would also want to have the whole say. He felt the government is paying 80 percent of the cost and for his part he would like to see the local ratepayers retain this little bit of autonomy.

Even if the government did pay the entire cost, the money would still have to come from the people," he said.

May Liberalize Abortion Law

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says the Ontario Medical Association will shortly recommend "liberalization of the Canadian abortion law."

The newspaper says in a story by reporter Dorothy Howe-Smith:

"Although the OMA committee studying the problem will not state its recommendations, it is believed that these will take into consideration a mother's mental and physical health as well as her life."

Registry Office Shows Profit Of $22,699

The Hastings county registry office had the most successful year in its history during 1964, members of county council were told yesterday.

County Registrar Will i a m Hoard told members that the registry office showed a surplus of $22,699.33 last year. Of this amount, $12,426 was returned to the county; $7,963 to the city of Belleville, and over $3,000 to the town of Trenton.

Mr. Hurst said the large registry office surplus was due mainly to the forest of county councillors who some years ago approved the purchase of new recording and microfilming equipment.

Since he became registrar in 1950, Mr. Hurst said the business of the office had increased four times and today has one less staff than 15 years ago.

The registrar's report drew a happy comment from Warden Fred Beckett.

The registry office is one of the few county departments which shows a profit," he said. "Finally the money is going the other way."

Shrine Holds First Dinner

Newly-elected president of the Belleville Shrine Club, Noble Alex Pierson held his first official dinner the other night.

Some 35 nobles were introduced to the 1965 directorate and heard plans for the coming year.

President Pierson outlined the projects that will be undertaken by the Shrine in 1965 and urged co - operation of all nobles.

He asked that special attention be paid to visit to the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, Montreal and requested a prevue representation of members.

Socred Leader Will Speak On "Africa"

Robert (Bob) Thompson, M.P. for Red Deer, Alberta and social credit leader of the Social Credit Party, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, January 26th.

His topic will be "Africa and the Congo Situation."

A graduate of the Bob Jones University in South Carolina and of the University of British Columbia, Mr. Thompson did post graduate work in education administration and for several years worked in the educational field in Ethiopia, and other African Countries.

Because of his knowledge of Africa Mr. Thompson last year went to the Congo for the Canadian government to assist in negotiations for the release of rebel-held hostages.

IN MEMORIAM

GREGORY — In loving memory of my dear sister and brother-in-law Marion and Lloyd Gregory, who passed away January 22, 1962.

A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps their memory ever dear.
Time takes away the days gone by
But memory turns back every day.
Sadly missed by sister Madeline, brother-in-law Mark and family.

BELL — In loving memory of a dear husband Carrie Bell, who passed away January 22, 1964.

Time heals the sorrow but not the heart.
Sweet be the flowers that grow above
Awaits the ones, who's now away,
But love just the same.
And in that home not made by hands,
The Master will prepare,
A place for you and me,
And I'll be there with those He calls,
To live my loved ones there.
—Always remembered by sister Mary.

mented Chief Justice Dorion.

Mr. Dronin said the commission should also be told whether there was a coroner's inquest into Gagnon's death. He noted that in testimony last week Mrs. Rivard had referred to Gagnon but made no mention until that Thursday he had died Dec. 7, the date listed in the certificate.

Chief Justice Dorion said before Mr. Drouin's request for exhumation that the questions of calling the doctor, whether a coroner's inquest was held and whether some further identification can be made of Gagnon will be looked into.

Mr. Desjardins said he now is taking steps to satisfy the inquiry about the questions raised by Mr. Drouin. Unless these inquiries show "something particular" exhumation should not be ordered immediately.

CANNOT FIND HIM

Mr. Drouin also noted that Bill Lamy, another missing witness and also said to be a source of a large part of the $80,000, cannot be found.

Mr. Desjardins said a subpoena was issued for Lamy ordering him to appear last Tuesday but Lamy could not be reached with a subpoena.

However, he said there is some hope that Lamy can be brought before the commission next week.

Roger Aubin, a suburban innkeeper, was reported taken suddenly ill. The judge instructed that Aubin be brought before him or, supply a medical certificate.

Commission Secretary Nicol Henry, Quebec City lawyer, personally located Aubin before today's hearing began. He said Aubin told him his illness had been legitimate and that he would be ready to testify.

Mr. Henry warned Aubin his appearance is essential in things would not go well for him.

However, when Aubin's name was called he did not answer. It took the second straight day and Chief Justice Dorion again ordered that police be sent to fetch him.

"Send someone right away," he instructed Commission Secretary Henry.

Meanwhile, police received a tip that Lamy may have left the city. The search for him was continued.

Gerard Turenne, 35, former hotel partner of Rivard, testified today that Gagnon was a ticket-seller at the Plage Idéale resort and made only $75 or $80 a week in the summer.

Mr. Rivard has said she borrowed $20,000 cash from Gagnon.

Mr. Turenne said Gagnon didn't own a house or a car.

He gave Gagnon's age as 50 or 55. But Mr. Rivard said it is around 61 or 62.

Mr. Turenne said he heard that Gagnon had died of a heart attack before Christmas.

Gagnon had seemed to have been in good health and as far as he knew he had never had a previous heart attack.

Mr. Turenne said the Plage Idéale resort provided him and Rivard with a net income of about $15,000 a year. He had recently acquired new partners in the business.

He estimated the worth of the resort at $300,000 and said there are two mortgages of $87,000 and $28,000 on the property.

Mr. Turenne said Mrs. Rivard asked him in late June for as much money as he could give her to put up bail for her husband. He had given her "quite a large package" of $5 and $10 bills amounting to $6,000 in cash.

Mr. Rivard had given back the full amount in September.

Mr. Turenne said Gagnon had no other employment except as a doorman at the resort and had been paid a $1.50 an hour for that.

He said he didn't know whether Gagnon had money of his own.

Mr. Turenne also said he knew Lamy slightly and that Lamy was a friend of Rivard. He didn't know whether Lamy was well off or whether he had loaned money to Mrs. Rivard.

The three missing witnesses were the inquiry.

The commission drew a blank on these witnesses in a day which included testimony by Senator Louis P. Gelinas, the Liberal party's Quebec treasurer, Shapely Linda Dumont, Shapely girl - friend of a prewitness charged with fraud, and Quebec assistant selfstyled federal Liberal organizational businessman and professed errand boy in offering the $60,000 to the Liberals as election campaign money.

Masson completed 11 hours of testimony, spanning three days. He said that at a midnight rendezvous last June 22-23 he told Raymond Denis, the executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, that $60,000 was available to the Liberal party provided Rivard was not extradited to the United States on the dope conspiracy charge.

Mrs. Rivard, 32-year-old redhead, said she put the $60,000 together, borrowing money for her husband.

Rivard, 46, is in Bordeaux jail and may be called to testify today. He was arrested June 19 at United States - Canada border, Stanstead, Que., on a U.S. grand jury indictment charging him as a kingpin in an international dope trafficking ring.

SAYS SMUGGLING TRIED

The indictment says the ring tried to smuggle heroin to the United States via Canada and Mexico. A 1963 seizure produced 76 pounds of narcotics said to be worth $56,000,000.

When Gagnon failed to answer the inquiry court crier's call, the witness was recalled to testify. She said she borrowed $20,000 from him — he was her brother-in-law — and he died in early December of "a heart attack I think it is called."

Ross Drouin, counsel for the Progressive Conservative party demanded to know when the authorities were advised "of this untimely death."

"Up until yesterday we were told that he couldn't be found, Mr. Drouin said. "Now out of the blue we are told that he is dead."

Canada's Railway Unions Favor Proposed Pension Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's railway unions came out in favor of the proposed Canada Pension Plan Thursday, but they sought assurance it would supplement, and not replace, existing pension coverage.

The national legislative committee of the international railway brotherhoods told the joint parliamentary committee now studying the Canada Pension Plan it is "deeply concerned about the possible effects of the new national scheme on existing plans.

It asked that a clause be added to the national plan "which would prevent the integration of pension plans on railways under the jurisdiction of the federal government with the Canada Pension Plan without the approval of the employees participating in such plans."

C. A. Huneault, chairman of the legislative committee, said the people we represent are quite anxious that the two plans be kept apart so the Canada Pension Plan will supplement the present plan."

He said that if "decking", the Canada Pension Plan on existing plans cannot be assured by legislation, the unions least want the guarantee of management — union consultations on the issue.

Dr. Robert M. Clark, a University of British Columbia economist who prepared a report on pension schemes in 1959 for the Conservative government, voiced opposition to the proposed plan.

WOULD BE BETTER

Dr. Clark said a flat - rate benefit system would be better than the proposed earnings-related plan. But since it would be saw little hope of change in the plan's basic structure. The plan, he said, is based on a principle in the Commons.

"The principle of government, he said, is to bridge the gaps between the spending levels of the population as a whole and the spending levels that can be provided by the private resources of the retired population. "Retired workers have little control over this widening gap between their spending power and that of the community. It is here that the state has a particular responsibility.

"I do not believe that the state should widen these differences in income after retirement by relating benefits to prior earnings, as is done in the Canada Pension Plan."

He said a strong case could be made for having flat - rate pensions graduate in accordance with pensioners' ages. On the average, the older the person, the less he has to spend.

Refuse Newsmen Use of Room In Legislature

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec legislature reporters have been refused access to an antechamber where they used to await the conclusion of weekly cabinet meetings.

A government spokesman said Thursday the decision was not intended to hinder newspaper men in their pursuit of news, but to reduce the heavy traffic in the antechamber of the executive council chamber, where cabinet meetings are held.

Funerals

MRS. MARY HELENA GRANT

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Helena Grant was held this Friday morning from St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. T. Boyle.

Interment was in St. James Cemetery. Prayers were said at the graveside by Rev. P. McAvoy.

Bearers were Richard, Donald, Patrick and Edward Barrett and Robert Kennon and Arthur Clouthier. Arrangements were under the direction of the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien, 30 West Moira Street.

APPROVE PLAN

OTTAWA (CP)—Board of control approved a new assessment plan for the city Thursday that would allow home owners to make improvements on their property without an immediate increase in taxes. Under the plan, suggested by Controller Ken Fogarty, home owners wouldn't pay taxes on the improvements for three years. Approval is required from the Ontario government.

Mayor Intends To Have Good Town Lighting

TRENTON — Mayor James MacDonald has set himself a mission . . . he hopes by Canada's Centennial Year, 1967, to have all the entrances to the town adequately lighted and otherwise attractive to motorists entering the town.

On Wednesday, the mayor was in Toronto, talking to Department of Highways officials on the subject. He managed to wring a half-promise from them that the front area of Bain Park, in the east end of town, would be fixed up at department expense. When Highway Two, adjacent to the air station, was widened, the department took over part of the parkland and the Bain Park Commission was not entirely satisfied with the way the park was left.

The mayor also hopes to get the department to install mercury vapor lights between the South Station sale and No. 6 RD road. Lights were installed from the 6 RD road into town when the road was widened.

Mayor MacDonald also discussed the proposed replacement of the CNR subway with department engineers. Plans for this are in the drawing stage and the mayor hopes to have the work completed by 1966.

Trenton Boy New Courier in Govt. Corps

TRENTON—Jack Wilson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson, 30 Elgin Street, attached to the Canadian Embassy at Washington for a number of years, has been promoted to the diplomatic corps as a courier, and while acting his headquarters in Ottawa, is spending a great deal of time flying to other countries on diplomatic missions. Mr. Wilson was in town briefly this week to visit his parents.

20 Years Behind Europe In Training Our Manpower

TRENTON — "The complacency and ignorance of the people of Canada in this age of automation is frightening."

Arthur Pigott of Toronto, a man with many years studying and working with the problem of manpower and education, made this statement during an hour-long speech to Trenton, Hamilton and district members of the annual inter-club service club dinner in the Batawa Recreation Hall last night.

"We're 20 years behind Europe in the development and training of manpower," Mr. Pigott stated. He told of a recent trip to Sweden where labor and management work together in complete harmony, working to increase the gross national product in order to give the workers better wages and better working conditions.

"Sweden is West Germany labor and management "think ahead" and workers whose jobs are due to become obsolescent because of automation are sent to school one day a week, while they continue to work, for retraining.

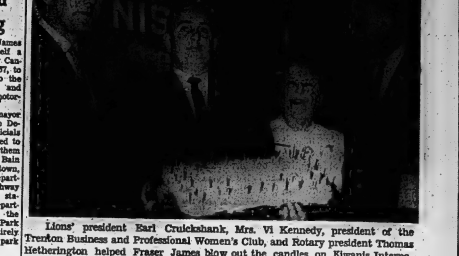
"In Canada, an effort is being made to retrain workers and educational authorities have provided technical and vocational courses, but it needs more than that, Mr. Pigott said. Industry and business must be encouraged, organizations must help. Many thousands of jobs are open, but since they require technical skills, there are no workers to fill them. Almost half of the working force in Canada has a Grade 8 education or less. These people cannot be retrained until they receive more education along basic lines. In higher educational brackets, only nine out of a hundred students reach university level and only six of these complete their course.

FALSE PROSPERITY

A "false prosperity" has been created in Canada in the past two years by large - scale sales (to Russia and China," Mr. Pigott said.

There is no guarantee that these sales will be repeated. Meanwhile, the human working force is being faced by machines which can overnight do jobs in which 227 people working three shifts several days to accomplish.

Automation has opened up the opportunity for thousands of new jobs, but men and women must be trained to do these jobs.



"We can't move into the most highly competitive market the world has ever seen without training and re-training. Every effort must be made to see that no worker goes to waste.—There's no answer in welfare for the unemployed except self- destruction. Unemployment has increased in the 16 and 20 year bracket harder than any other group. These "teen-agers" become depressed, join gangs or become criminals, and unless we do something about it, it's going to get worse." the speaker warned.

Kiwanis Marks 50th Birthday

TRENTON — Last night's service club dinner in the Batawa recreation hall brought out 125 persons up into the hosts, the members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club, celebrate Kiwanis International's 50th anniversary. Chairman for the evening was Kiwanis Lieut.-Gov. Fraser James and head table guests included Lions' president, Earl Cruickshank, Rotary president, Thomas Hetherington and Mrs. Violet Kennedy, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Kiwanis past lieutenant governor E. M. (Ted) Parker Jr., told the assembly facts about the beginnings of Kiwanis.

Special guests at last night's banquet were Kiwanis charter president Gordon Davis and Mayor James MacDonald.

Lions' president Earl Cruickshank, Mrs. Vi Kennedy, president of the Trenton Business and Professional Women's Club, and Rotary president Thomas Hetherington helped Fraser James blow out the candles on Kiwanis International's 50th anniversary cake at last night's inter-service club dinner in the Batawa recreation hall. Members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club were hosts.

Eben James Offers Tract Of Land for Water Storage

TRENTON — Trenton businessman, Eben James, offered yesterday to make available to the Public Utilities Commission a tract of land, one mile long, and located in Murray Township for use as a water storage lake if the commission would "take another look at the industrial water rate structure".

Mr. James said such a vast storage lake might induce new industry to settle in Trenton.

The members of the commission, Clifford A Baker, chairman, and commissioners Charlie Hilton and Mayor James MacDonald agreed to examine the industrial water rate structure, but were dubious about taking advantage of Mr. James' offer. The commission has spent months negotiating with Murray Township council and the provincial department of highways to build a dam along the new development road in the township, and later to form a water storage pond along the road. Mr. Baker pointed out the department would pay 75 per cent of the cost of construction . . . which would not be the case if the pond were built on Mr. James' property.

Mr. James and John Owens of Trenton Drying and Finishing Ltd. came before the commission yesterday to complain about the present water rates charged to industry. Specifically, they were at odds with the system whereby "seasonal industries" (Trenton's two canning factories) were charged for months of operation and 75 per cent of their "peak" bill for their water during the two two months for another four months they are idle.

Mr. James compared the Trenton rates with those in Belleville, where no commercial or industrial rate structure is to be considered, and added that industrial rates were very favorable in both communities, and in the case of using larger quantities of water than 200,000 gallons per day Trenton's rate would be cheaper, due to the fluctuating rate scale.

INCREASE INSURANCE

In other commission business it was decided to have utilities' insurance very much where it is, rather than adopt a recommendation from the insurance broker, Frank Cowan Company Ltd., that it be "upped" because of an increase in replacement values. There seemed to be very little point in increasing insurance on such items as the filtration plant, which would "take a lot of burning to burn down", and concrete block buildings which would fall into the same category.

However, it was decided to increase personal liability insurance having to do with possible accidents involving utilities vehicles and a plane, to go with "libel and slander" suits which might be brought against commission members.

The commission voted against signing a petition for sewer installation on McNicoll Ave., between North Murray Street and Creelman Ave., until more is found out about what it proposed. The commission owns two lots on this street, and the commission wants to know how many occupied lots there are on the street . . . how many vacant lots . . . how many residents have signed the petition . . . how many haven't, and why.

WILL PUBLISH REPORT

Rather than pay $30 for 200 printed booklets containing the 1964 financial statement from the utilities' office, the commission decided to invest $50.44 to buy a quarter of a page of advertising space in the local newspaper to permit the townspeople to read the report.

Utilities' manager, James Page was directed to write a letter to the town office pointing out that a boathouse, owned by Ross Forster and located on a town-owned street at the end of Baptiste Street, was located over a leak in a water main. The boathouse should be moved, says the commission, and it's up to the town to see that it's moved.

The commission also voted to remove its cottage on Jack Alyea of the York Road. By the terms of the contract, Mr. Alyea is permitted to have his gravel trucks from his pit along a road owned by the commission. He is committed to maintaining the road and must renew his liability insurance to protect the commission.

HAY NAME COMMISSION

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh indicated Thursday that a federal commission to inquire into the status of Canadian women may be appointed before or during centennial year in 1967. Miss LaMarsh told members of the National Council of Women who met with the prime minister and other cabinet ministers that she thinks the commission would be a "very good idea."

Building on Past Achievements

Premier John Robarts plans legislation to strengthen Ontario's anti-discrimination laws.

This is interesting because Ontario's record is unusual in that it stresses the practical approach.

Time and again we are told it is impossible to legislate racial prejudices out of existence. Some dispute this, but from the first Ontario has accepted the truth of this contention and yet proceeded to reduce the areas in which such prejudice can limit the rights of people of different races, creeds and color.

Behind all of Ontario's existing anti-discrimination laws has been the conviction that, while you cannot eliminate a man's prejudices by law, you can limit the injury done others by actions based on these prejudices.

For this reason, it will be interesting to see what new measures Premier Roberts has in mind. These were not spelled out in the speech from the throne at a new session of the Legislature opened on Wednesday. We were told the new laws would cover such things as employment, housing and public accommodation, but not the proposed terms.

We can, however, make some educated guesses. For instance the present human rights code forbidding discrimination in the rental of apartments does not cover apartment houses with six or fewer units. We may expect some reduction in this number — it is difficult to understand how it was arrived at in the first place. At the same time, it is doubtful whether any attempt will be made to eliminate discrimination entirely — it would not be realistic to attempt to end discriminatory practices in the rental of what is generally described as "shared accomodation" or in instances where the home-owner sets aside part of his own residence for rent.

The essence of the Ontario plan has been to move slowly, so that the regulations which are enacted receive general support. Apparently the Ontario Government believes it is now time to push ahead a little further. This is heartening, because it would seem to confirm the general impression one receives that good progress has been made to date. The Ontario public, we suspect, is now prepared to support some measure, with real teeth, making it mandatory for public accommodation of all kinds to be provided to all regardless of race, color or creed. Attempts to persuade proprietors of such establishments to conform with the code could very well give way to a determined effort to compel compliance.

With Stars in His Eyes

Who knows the heart of a man—any man?

When Lyndon B. Johnson was a senator, he was a politician's politician, the very model of the organization man in modern government, adept at wire-pulling and the art of the saw-off, with an uncanny ear which could tell a mile away when the thunder of the opposition was concealing a whispered plea for a face-saving compromise.

It is men like this who make our political machinery work, particularly in the type of regime under which the U.S. works, in which party discipline is slack and regional interests often paramount.

Yet this organization man, this wily old manipulator, no sooner becomes president in his own right than he starts to sound like a dreamer, a devotee of the search for Utopia.

"I will lead as best I can," he told his people on his inauguration day, "but look within your own hearts . . . to the old promises and the old dream. They will lead you best of all."

This is either corn, Texas-sized, whose lowest tassel would not droop as low as an elephant's eye—or it is the very heart-throb of a man who really does believe in the American dream.

"For thirty years I have believed this injustice to our people—this waste of our resources—was the enemy . . ," says Johnson.

Perhaps he really means it.

If he does, he is in a unique position. He is the chief executive of the only nation which really possesses the power—and today only for the first time—to build a land where poverty is unknown, where none go hungry, where the sick receive the best possible care, where all can obtain as much schooling as their natural talents will permit them to assimilate.

Political language—and with variations this is true of all political parties, from Conservatives to Anarchists—is designed to make lies sound truthful and murder respectable, and to give an appearance of solidity to pure wind.—George Orwell.

Victim of Liver Condition, Man Persists on Drinking

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has been a heavy drinker who paid no attention when he was told he would end with a liver condition. He admitted to th. doctor that he drank a quart or more of whiskey a day.

In March of 1952 he came home from work with a pain in his chest. He had a slight heart attack. Tests also revealed that he had cirrhosis of the liver. He was bloated and his color was not normal.

This was it. He stopped drinking and was a different person. However, he never will be his old self again. His legs swell and he gets cramps. But he did not drink for two years.

He visited our son in another city and a doctor there told him his heart is fine and that he could have two drinks a day.

My husband didn't say anything about his liver or what our doctor had told him on drinking.

What will happen to him? And you should see the size of the two drinks he takes. It was a decent life with him not drinking. Our son and grandchildren loved coming home to see us. Goodness only knows how it will be now.—D.D.

Your letter just about says it all.

Obviously your husband told the doctor only what he cared to tack but not about his liver and his past drinking habits.

Doctors aren't mind readers. (And that's one of the reasons why I consistently urge people to have a regular physician and to stick with him as long as possible. Your doctor, knowing the story, would have had a session with your husband an excuse to start drinking again. A couple of drinks for an ordinary person who has recovered from a slight heart attack is reasonable enough. But letting a quart-a-day man get started again, after he already has cirrhosis, is something else again.)

You don't have to be a mind reader to reveal the future. Get your regular doctor to tell your husband what is going to happen to that damaged liver once it begins being poisoned by alcohol again.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read your articles and fully agree with you that alcohol is a drug, but I do not agree that any use of it is helpful in any way. I am past 70 and I have seen too many cases where one or two drinks leads to more.

I'm sure you know it is the moderate drinker who is the menace on our highways, and no, the drunkard who will go off in a ditch or be home sleeping. I'm sure you get many letters from people who agree with me. — Mrs. E. S.

The person who lets one or two drinks lead him into excesses is not a moderate drinker. And most certainly after what I have seen of the aftermath of thoroughly soused drunks trying to drive, I deny your supposition that a drunkard will go off in a ditch or be home sleeping.

Dear Dr. Molner: My little brother's teacher (third grade) told the children that if the little girls watched too much television; they would become sterile. Is there any truth in this? — Girl from Camden

I can't imagine that any third-grade teacher would hand out such a stupid tale and I'd ask the boy whether he really heard it from her.

Wants to Try To Bridge Gap

St. Catharines Standard

Building of bridges between the free world and the Communist world has been accentuated by U.S. Senator J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee. It would be a modest and limited enterprise, and in no sense should be regarded as a harbinger of general reconciliation between East and West. Such a reconciliation is unlikely to happen in the lifetime, simply because the difference are too great to be eliminated by any process more rapid than the evolution of history.

The building of bridges, said, the Senator, means nothing more than the opening of normal contracts and communications across a chasm of misunderstanding.

The key assumption of a policy of building bridges to the Communist world is that Communist countries are susceptible to external influence and to internal change. The Communist bloc at present presents the world with a panorama of change proceeding at a widely varying rate, a situation presenting to the West opportunities to favorably influence events in the Communist world to Western security and interests.

Whether the ideological and national animosities of our own time will erode away in the decades and centuries ahead only time will tell. But there is belief that the lessons of the past offer grounds for hope that they will, if only we let them.

What is called for is a sense of historical perspective of meeting the crisis and tensions of the moment—a perspective from which we will perceive that the differences and the causes that arouse men to violence are transitory, that more often than not they fade into irrelevance with the erosion of time and circumstances. Only from such a perspective can we hope to build bridges that will stand—bridges that will bring a divided world together in a reawakened awareness of its common humanity, in a reawakened understanding that the common hopes, common interests and common dangers that unite men are far more important than the ideologies that divide them.

Tell the Truth

Peterborough Examiner

A Charlottetown school principal says that history should be told that Sir John A. Macdonald was an alcoholic for five years.

And why not? If history cannot be candid, when it is relevant, it doesn't deserve the name.

Strictly Personal

Most Advice We Get Is Confusing

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"Most of the advice we get is so confusing," said the college boy. "On the one hand, we are told to accept ourselves as we are on the other hand, we are told to be dissatisfied with ourselves. Which is right?"

The trouble with so much advice is not that it is untrue, but that it stresses one part of the truth at the expense of another part. And education consists in learning how to fit together different aspects of the truth.

What is hardest in one's continual journey toward self-knowledge is "separating and combining" — which St. Thomas called nearly the whole art of intelligence. We need to separate those things which seem similar, and to combine those things which seem different.

There is a right way and a wrong way to "accept ourselves." There is a right way and a wrong way to be "dissatisfied with ourselves." The wrong way of accepting ourselves leads to smugness and complacency. The wrong way of being dissatisfied with ourselves leads to despair and defeatism.

One's life is a matter of becoming what you are. This rather simple-minded statement is both more subtle and more complex than it seems.

"Becoming what you are" means two things at once; accepting one's basic nature and limitations, and at the same time struggling to realize one's full potentialities. A creative and developing life is a continual "tension" between these two.

The kind of "self-acceptance" we require is acceptance of what we have inherited, physically, spiritually, culturally, temperamentally. The kind of "self-dissatisfaction" we require is dissatisfaction with the perversions and encrustations of the self.

Many people, if not most, do exactly the opposite: they are satisfied with the perversions and encrustations, those prickly defences behind which the true self resides while, at a deeper level, they resent the limitations which their nature has placed upon them.

To be dissatisfied with oneself is a good thing, if the dissatisfaction is aimed at the proper target: not at the inner self, but at the modes of thinking and feeling and acting that prevent the inner self from becoming what it is.

This is why philosophic advice is so contentious and shallow. No one can tell you what should be accepted or rejected within yourself. Socrates did not make any man better by his teaching; only by his example of a man who had come to terms with himself by accepting who he was and rejecting all that was alien to his nature.

Loneliness, Foe of Aged

Orillia Packet and Times

The recent death under particularly tragic circumstances of an elderly woman living in Muskoka points up, as could nothing else, the appalling burden of loneliness which weighs on so many solitary elderly people.

To many such people, stranded by circumstances far from their original home and bereft of family and friends by the toll of the passing years, life becomes a dreary ordeal of existence in an unheeding world; a world with whose outlook they have little accord, and in whose problems they have no interest.

To such people the mere business of existence becomes a wearisome chore and loneliness an all-pervading agony, from which death comes as a deliverance, eagerly embraced.

The problems of the elderly, and particularly the aged people who have no close family and whose friends have been taken by death, are even more acute for people living in a small community.

Life in the smaller cities, towns and villages tends to become a pretty close-linked affair, and for the unattached person outside the community currents of life and activity, existence becomes a dreadfully lonely experience. There are few more poignant situations than that of the elderly person, quite alone in the world, living alone in frightened solitude unlightened by interest or attachment in the unheeding world outside.

Such cases there long and varied and useful lives, and the lonley death which waits at the end of them, rend the heart of the most insensible.

There are a great many such lonley people here in our midst, in Bracebridge and Gravenhurst, Orillia and Coldwater, Beaverton and Newmarket.

In some communities such as Orillia, there are excellent facilities and clubrooms and activities of one kind and another designed to brighten the days for elderly residents, but in most communities there is nothing of an organized nature.

In such circumstances it is surely a responsibility of every person of sensibility to help draw their elderly neighbors into some of the community life, and instill a sense of "belonging" to solitary people of advanced years. Friendship is a tie which can sustain anyone through the most arduous physical ordeal or the most grinding poverty, but loniliness kills the most comfortable.

In an age which accepts the philosophy that each of us is his brother's keeper, there is no excuse for such appalling tragic ends to the lives of our elderly neighbors. The recent passing of the lonley lady in Muskoka is an indictment of us all.

Europeans Depict West

Vancouver Sun

On film, the Wild West isn't what it used to be and probably never was, even in the days of Tom Mix. But an Australian actor who has just finished an Austrian Western directed by a Swede and filmed in Berlin and Yugoslavia has high praise for European country epics.

They are being made in Italy, Spain, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Hungaria, Russia and the Canary Islands, he says.

The European productions are more historically accurate than those of Hollywood, he claims. The actors show more character than fresh-faced California boys. And, in justly observes, there were plenty of foreign accents in the Old West.

Indeed there were. More than one cowboy answered to "Swede" or "Limey" and "Dutch" covered a multitude of Germans.

But if European Westerns become really authentic they will be a terrible shock to the younger North American generation. No fancy shirts, no guitars, no tight pants. For Beatsome, seldom a home on the range except a sod hut, and very few cigarettes.

"Swede" or "Dutch" usually wore an old pair of woolly chaps, a dirty Winter undershirt, a waistcoat open in front, a battered felt hat and chewed tobacco. Instead of a six-shooter he had a bucket of oats hooked on his saddlehorn, and a shovel tied under the flap. He almost never took pictures at bad guys or rescued maidens in distress. Most of the time he was twisting the tails of cows bogged down in mudholes.

Still, turnabout is fair play. The European dream that Doris Ameche invent the telephone and Errol Flynn reconquer Burma. In return, they are fairly entitled to inflict a genuine oldtime story on American audiences. But it will be brutal punishment just the same.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

That Prince Edward County can lay claim to being the Garden County of Canada and the heart of the canning industry is substantiated by figures just released by canning factory officials. Here are some of the highlights of the past season:

Farmers received $1,100,000. for tomatoes, pears, corn, pumpkin and small fruits, an increase of $1,000,000. over the previous year. Canning factory labor received $850,000.

Prince Edward's 40 factories packed 1,380,000 cases of tomatoes, tomato juice and puree, which required over 33 million cans or sufficient for three cans for every man, woman and child in Canada. In 1944, this county packed more than one-fifth of the total Canada pack of tomato products.

With a pack of 365,000 cases of peas, Prince Edward had ten percent of the pack in Canada. With corn, the pack was 175,000 cases, or nine percent.

Knowing How

Brockville Recorder and Times

Canada and the United States produce foodstuffs in such quantities that surpluses are a problem rather than shortages. Other countries with land that could be productive have failed to advance technologically and therein lies the cause of the difference. Never in the history of mankind have so few people produced so much as the people of North America.

Re-elect Bob Phillips to Head Fair Board

Belleville Agricultural Society - - organizers of the city's annual fair - - last night re-elected Robert Phillips as president.

It will be the third successive term served by Mr. Phillips as head of the fair board, a period in office in which the big annual event showed marked progress and made some new departures.

Supporting the president will be Dr. Harry Burns, and Cameron Bunnett, first and second vice-presidents; Carl Thompson, secretary and Earl Dafoe, treasurer.

The elections were made from the slate of 17 directors chosen at the Society's annual meeting in city hall.

The meeting also showed the Society to be in sound financial health - - with assets in the form of Fairgrounds improvements to show for Mr. Phillips' presidency.

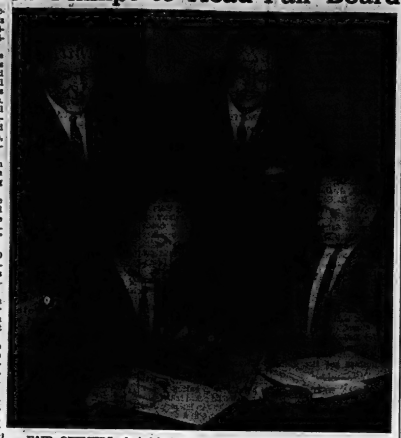
In the past year some $7,000 was spent on improvements. Despite this the annual report shows only a decrease of $74 in working capital.

The healthy financial pattern emerges despite near-disaster at last year's Fair when rain threatened to wipe out almost two days' gate receipts.

Increasing popularity of the big event was shown by those receipts. Paid admission totalled $18,100 in 1964 - - compared with $16,700 the year previous.

Enterprise also reared a favorable head in the overall financial picture. Late last fall, the fair board seized an elsewhere-opportunity to sponsor chuck wagon races at Belleville - - giving the city its first taste of the fast-moving western sport.

DIRECTORS NAMED



The subsequent presentation attracted $3,900 in gate - receipts.

Added to the overall financial picture for the year this helped bridge total receipts for the year to $51,100 against $42,200 for 1963.

Increased income was paced by higher expenditures, however, for 1964 compared with $45,200.

Following are the directors elected last night: Miles Benedict, Cameron Bunnett, Bob Burkitt, Harry Burns, Jack Burns, Phil Flagler, Steve Garvin, Bill Gault, Doug Harry, Hudson Ketcheson, Don McNeilly, Bob Phillips, Howard Smith, Don Spencer, Ridley Wallbridge, Gerald Vance, Arthur Corfield.

Delegates to the district fairs meeting Feb. 4 in Belleville will be Ben Bleecker, Bill Reid, Steve Garvin and Harry Rollins. Representing the Society at the annual Ontario fairs convention in Toronto Feb. 24-25 will be Carl Thompson, Harry Rollins and Cameron Bunnett.

FAIR OFFICERS elected last night were (front left) Carl Thompson, secretary, Robert Phillips, president, and (rear) Dr. Harry Burns, 1st vice-president, Earl Dafoe, treasurer.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were strong to higher on all classes and grades of slaughter cattle at the Ontario public stockyards this week.

Trading was particularly active on light numbers of good and choice steers and heifers. Good cows and bulls were also higher. Replacement cattle were steady.

Veal calf, hog and sheep and lamb prices were higher.

Cattle receipts were estimated at about 10,000 head, about 1,400 head less than last week and about 2,300 head more than this week last year. Western cattle receipts totalled 1,584 head, slightly more than half those of last week. Western stock calf receipts numbered 591 head, a decrease under last week of 1,200 head. Included in the western cattle receipts were several loads of mixed slaughter cattle. In addition to the Western receipts, cattle and calf 29 calves were received from Quebec. There were no shipments of the market to Eastern Canadian slaughterers however, 27 cattle were shipped off the market for slaughter in the United States.

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers sold at 23-24.4 with high yielding steers 24-24.40; good 22-23; medium 20-21.30; common and canners 18-19.50; choice heifers 21-22 with fancies to 22.50; good 22-23; medium 17-19; common 13-16; choice fed yearlings 23-25 with odd tops to 25.50; good 20-22; good cows 14-15 with sales to 15.50; medium 13-14; canners and cutters 10-12.50; good heavy bologna bulls 17.50-18.50 with a few tops to 19.50; common and medium 13-17.

St. John Ambulance Corps Holds Its Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Belleville branch of the St. John Ambulance reports were received from the various divisions of the branch, as well as reports of the activities of the branches at Trenton and Picton presented by Superintendent J. Hodgson of the Quinte Corps. Many calls have been made to supply first aid workers and supplies at various community functions. This represented the impressive figure of nearly five thousand hours being given voluntarily to local projects by the Belleville No. 156 Nursing Division, the 1350 Nursing Cadet Division, the 309 Ambulance Division and the 209C Ambulance Cadet Division. The total membership of these four divisions is eighty one.

The Picton 137 Nursing Division supplied 1853 hours for local projects where first aid might have been required and the No. 416 Trenton Combined Division supplied 1073 hours for similar purposes. The Picton and Trenton groups now number twenty three and twenty six members respectively.

During the year honours came to Saint John members in the Quinte District. The Governor General personally received Mrs. D. Dippenaar, Superintendent of the Nursing Cadet Division, and also Mrs. J. M. Porritt, Quinte Corps Nursing Officer, as Serving Sisters of the Order of St. John. Later the Governor General elevated Mrs. C. D. Ashley to Officer Sister of the Order of Saint John.

Mr. W. James, Local Secretary of the branch, and Corporal Waters of the Brigade were made Serving Brothers of the order.

The treasurer reported a small balance after all bills were paid. Colonel Angus Duffy, a member of the branch committee, explained that all branches of the Saint John Ambulance had now offered their services to the Emergency Measures Organization. Numbers of volunteers who are members of this organization who have been trained by Saint John can also be called on.

The voluntary humanitarian work of Saint John in the City of Belleville is made possible through the financial assistance of the United Appeal, of which it is a participating agency.

Fair Fairly Drips With Prize Money

Belleville Fair is loaded with loot for its exhibitors.

Last year the prize list dripped with a total of $14,580 in prize money — all of it awarded in lucky winners during the Fair's four days of exhibiting.

This was an increase of more than $1,000 over 1963.

The year's organization work that it takes to produce the big event cost a total of $35,800 — an increase of more than 10,000 over 1963.

Receipts, however, were up nearly $9,000 — $51,100 compared with $42,200 a year previous.

The annual report on the fair, presented last night, showed a pattern of progressive growth over past years.

House of Christian Dior Promises No Drastic Style Changes in Coming Show

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PARIS (AP)—The house of Christian Dior promises no drastic style changes when the spring fashion showings open next week.

When Marc Bohan inherited the throne from Dior's death in 1957, he promised "more evolutions, only evolutions."

To men, Dior still is synonomical with drastic, fastest-wrecking style changes like the New Look in 1947, the H-line in 1954, the A and Y silhouettes in 1955.

Bohan is willing to talk about his style formulas if it will give his fellow men more peace of mind.

"There will be a change—not a great change," he adds quickly, fearing the panic that can result from such news.

RETURN TO FULLNESS

"There will be an end to the lean, straight look in coming back of a fullness . . . pleats, flounces, crinolines. Waistlines? Oh, definitely, belts."

Short, short skirts? They've gone up about as far as they can go. No, I promise you, my hems will be about 10 inches from the floor. For evening? All things something a little different.

"Necklines? Most less decolleté, but across the shoulders dresses will be more elaborate, like chiffon. Black and long dresses will prevail.

"Hair styles will be two ways, short and curly, with a small bouffant, or a small chignon on a very small head. Hats will be very important, worn straight on and down the back of the head.

"My shoes will be very plain with heels a little higher and more slender than last year. Perfume for day. Open sandals for dress.

"I am using a lot of navy and white, and white by itself, and, oh yes, a great deal of beige."

Sunday School Appoints Officers

RAWDON — The annual meeting of the Mount Pleasant Rawdon Sunday School was held on January 14 at the home of the superintendent Robert Merrick and Mrs. Merrick.

Mrs. Robert H. Hoard was appointed secretary for the evening. The treasurer reported a small balance on hand. Several items of business were discussed, it was decided to present all the award pins at the annual rally day service in the fall.

Officers for 1960 are as follows: superintendent, Robert Merrick; assistants, Robert H. Hoard and Frank Bailey; teachers, kindergarten class, Mrs. James Hoard; Mrs. Robert Merrick, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and Mrs. Ira David; primary class, Mrs. Mac Sharp, Mrs. H. Crouch and Mrs. Frank Spencer; junior class, Mrs. S. Williams, Mrs. Donald Knight and Mrs. Wilfred McAdam; intermediate class, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Ross Jeffs; senior class, Robert H. Hoard and Mrs. Burton Sharpe; adult class, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Mrs. Carleton Potts; secretary - treasurer, Kenneth McConnell and assistants, Kalvin Sharpe and Larry Jeffs; Messengers, Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Clarence Scott and Mrs. David Potts; grading officer, Mrs. Carleton Potts.

At the close of the meeting the host and hostess served refreshments and Robert Jeffs, avd voiced appreciative thanks for the hospitality.

Sisters of Charity Lose Famous White Headpieces

By BENNET M. BOLTON

ROME (AP)—The Sisters of Charity have lost their famous white gull-wing headpieces. The Ursuline nuns are experimenting with a new dress-like habit of black serge and white blouses.

One Roman Catholic order of nuns, however, is determined to remain as it is—habitless.

They are the Ladies of Bethany, and they go about in ordinary street clothes—skirts and sweaters, dresses, makeup, jewelry, loafers or high heels to suit the occasion.

The Ursuline nuns—who soon will open their first U.S. house—are so modern in their rules that they are not even known individually by such names as Sister Mary Denise or Sister Placida. Instead each keeps her family name, plus the title of "sister."

Many communities of nuns have begun thinking recently about changes in clothing styles that may have started more than 500 years ago. The impulse has come from the more existence of the Vatican ecumenical council and its drive for "aggiornamento," or updating of Catholicism.

SET OWN RULES

The Vatican council has enacted no legislation in nuns. It is up to each order of nuns—there are more than 300 of them to set its own rules and disciplines, beyond basic church-enacted norms.

"We were founded just especially not to wear habits, because of the work we do," explains Miss Teresita Loeff of The Hague, one of the small band of Bethany ladies who live in Rome in bright, cheery rooms once furnished in Scandinavian modern style and overlooking the broad Piazza Navona, a Dutch Jesuit priest. Rev. James Conway of the University of Nijmegen faculty, established the order in 1919 with an eye to the contemporary. The nuns might make toward healing divisions in christianity through unity efforts.

The Ladies of Bethany were founded because they had to have a special Vatican indulgence—now no longer needed—to exist as a lay institute. Members are nuns who wore no standard habit.

HOW ORDER STARTED

Miss Loeff recalls that the personal relations in those days between Dutch Catholics and the Protestant Dutch Reformed Church had eased somewhat because of the First World War.

"The war drew our people together," she said. "Father Conway began thought what a pity it was that the forces apart again with the return of peace.

"His idea of our order was to stimulate a spiritual bond together of Catholics and non-Catholics, without persuasion and to overcome prejudices."

The purpose of the order is still the same, in Miss Loeff's words, "to give the possibility to meet the Catholic church in as unofficial a way as possible, giving them answers of their own level to any questions about the church and what God explains Miss Teresita Loeff of The Hague, one of the small

ST. MARGARET'S EVENING GUILD

The members of St. Margaret's Evening Guild held their annual meeting on Monday. President, Mrs. R. Rushbrook presided over the first part of the meeting when reports of a successful year were read.

Rev. J. A. Dunlop installed the new executive for 1959 as follows: honorary president — Mrs. J. A. Dunlop; president — Mrs. R. Rushton; vice-president — Mrs. T. Valdahl; recording secretary Mrs. Fred Anderson; corresponding secretary — Mrs. W. Bedell; press secretary Mrs. A. Parker; treasurer — Mrs. M. Coles; V.O.N. representative — Mrs. C. Millar; group leaders — Mrs. Eric Este, Mrs. R. Sands, Mrs. G. Palmer and Mrs. E. Hayes.

After adjournment refreshments were served by the retiring executive.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

The newly formed executive of St. Margaret's Evening Guild met at the home of Mrs. W. Este on Wednesday. Groups were formed and tentative plans for projects in 1959 were made.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rushton and Mrs. Este.

THE WESLEYAN METHODIST W.M.S.

The January meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Picton, was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Bert Locklin, Wright Ave. The devotional program was led by Mrs. Ira Spearman assisted by Mrs. Alez Glover and Mrs. Violet Mitts, pianist. The secretary, Mrs. Harold Blakely read the roll which was answered by the membership paying their Wesleyan Missionary subscription.

The president circulated pictures of the Davis family, now serving in Honduras and read a letter of thanks from Miss George in Paris who had received a monetary gift from the Society for Christmas but felt led of the Lord to pass most of it on to a needy couple with children. Mrs. Locklin reminded the ladies to save their Canada Packers labels which are exchanged for supplies for Silver Lake Camp. The members dedicated to have a work meeting to roll bandages for six overseas hospitals later in the month and also to pay their membership in the Women's Auxiliary of the Hastings County Hospital.

STIRRING MESSAGE

Mrs. Roger Rawlings brought a stirring message dealing with the responsibilities as mothers and as church leaders to recognize, in children, their potentialities as being heralds of the gospel. Basing her remarks on the account of Mary finding the boy Jesus in the temple talking to the doctors, she spoke of mentioned the need of mothers realizing opportunities with their children now for they will be lost opportunities". Mrs. Rawlings noted the boy was (a) be quiet, (b) listen, (c) answer.

LACK CANDIDATES

Some statistics were quoted which showed that two-thirds of the major organizations which control and screen missionary service, are lacking candidates. Blame for this dearth was to be shared by homes which emphasize material advantages rather than paid professions to their children and by the church related schools which fail to inspire young people for missionary service.

Having trained as a nursery worker in England, the guest speaker was qualified to state that before five years of age, a child's emotions, mind and character are deeply ingrained by the influence of the home, therefore the listeners were encouraged to start at home to train their child to be a missionary.

The hostess served lunch and the service was closed with prayer by the pastor's wife, Mrs. E. LeRoy.

Susanna's Family Fare

HANG YOUR HEAD!

Dear Susanna: Further to the letter from a mother who washes her children's hair by filling them down on their backs in shallow tub of water, I have a better solution to this problem:

Our girls both have waist length hair worn in braids, and I shampoo it by getting them to sit on the kitchen counter on their backs, with their heads hanging in the sink. When they were very small and thought they would fall, they could put their arms around me as I leaned over, and they felt secure.

Another thing, many kitchen taps have spray attachments which are handy for this and what a helpin gthis emethod is for rinsing.

Naturally we are careful to scour the sink and all adjacent areas well when we have finished.

A real old-time hint I learned from a great-grandmother, who baked by the greatest of rules, to have a jar or baking powder can handy. (Also a bottle full of fairly large holes (an ice pick does the job nicely). Fill it with flour and it is ideal for dredging the gravy, or for sprinkling it over meat or fish that is to be cooked, or for sprinkling over the baking dishes and the pastry board. — Just sign me "A Mother".

Great hint from a great, great-grandmother —SUSANNA

HOUSE PLANT CARE

Dear Susanna: One of the most satisfactory methods I know of keeping small house plants in good order during the winter months while one is on a two or three week vacation, is to cover them with plastic. It is so much less messy than placing them in the tub or sink in water and it also seems to keep the leaves fresh and green.

Fit a plastic cleaner's bag over the plant, and water it thoroughly watered it. Tie the bag first at the top so that it is not touching the leaves (if possible) and then around the base of the flower pot. This stimulates a greenhouse-like atmosphere.

Even if you are not going away just now, you might experiment with a plant or two so that you will understand the procedure. I have written to readiness for the time you find yourself starting out on a trip.

Birth Control Amendment By Criminal Code Wanted By Council of Women

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—A delegation from the National Council of Women asked Prime Minister Pearson Thursday to have the Criminal Code amended to legalize the dissemination of birth control information.

Following the 1-hour meeting with the prime minister and his cabinet members the women said their request received "excellent consideration."

However, they indicated that Mr. Pearson and the other federal officials present felt the time has not yet come for a revision of the law affecting birth control.

Several ministers were upset when it was mentioned the conflict of religious beliefs involved in the birth control controversy.

The council, which represents about 700,000 women in 1,500 affiliated organizations across the country, wants the government to take steps to amend Section 150 of the code.

NOW UNLAWFUL

The section now makes it unlawful for anyone to sell contraceptives or to give information and instruction in birth control methods. The council did not refer to the use of contraceptive pills and devices.

The women's organization wants the law changed to read that such a way that it will not be contrary to the provisions of the code to give recommended health and welfare agencies and qualified medical practitioners in the course of practice tion regarding birth control."

Mrs. R. H. Tabenor, W.I. convener, the council's national president, led the delegation that included five ministers and members of his cabinet.

The request said instruction acceptable to their personal, moral and religious conscience should be given by suitable trained persons to all parents who ask for it.

The women also asked the prime minister to set up a royal commission to inquire into Canadian laws affecting abortion, "and to recommend clarification and amendments to bring these laws into conformity with the realities of Canadian life."

URGE AMENDMENTS

The council urged amendments to the Criminal Code to provide stronger safe guards against racial discrimination and religious intolerance, "while continuing to respect the fundamental rights of the individual."

The women also told Prime Minister Pearson that many bodies of water are in such a state of pollution that they constitute "a serious threat to the health of thousands of people."

They requested the government to take action to eliminate water pollution without delay.

The government was urged to adopt measures for better control of cigarette advertising in all news media as part of an educational campaign against smoking.

Theatre Guild Plans Future Plays

The Belleville Theatre Guild held their playhouse, the Loft recently, for a general meeting which was attended by many old members and some new members. After listening to "A Child is Born", taped for the CBC and broadcast 17th December, members read for parts in a three act play, "After My Fashion". This play will be directed and produced by Gordon Collins in the early spring.

A one act play will also be made ready by Marion Wilson expressly for the forthcoming workshop with Norma Springford. Final arrangements are being made for the workshop which will take place over the weekend, February 19, 20 and 21; at which time it is expected that much will be learned by both actors and directors who come into contact with the expert guidance and criticism of Mrs. Springford. The workshop is open to interested members of the public.

Members were reminded of the Theatre Guild's next recording over CJBQ, on January 24th. This will be Eric Nicholl's "Rings On Her Fingers", a comedy.

The evening concluded with a lively social hour and revived hopes for future achievement.

Cheating Baby Sitter Good Way to Lose Her

DEAR DORIS — I am a girl of 16 and I baby sit quite a bit. What do you do with people who are cheap and very inconsiderate?

Two people I sat for always try and cheat me out of some money. It may be a nickel or a dime, but in six or seven times it sure adds up. What really burns me is that they never leave a bag of candy, a bottle of pop or even half of a candy for me even though they have it in the house.

One night we got talking and Mrs. X put her hand in her pocket with the money but with the change under the bill so I couldn't see it. This was my cue to leave. When I got home I found that she had slipped me out of 30 cents. What do you do with people like this? —DISGUSTED

DORIS CLARK

DEAR FRUSTRATED — It's a cheap trick. If you go back and tell them she doesn't deserve) count your change right in front of her?

Such a one is the loser in the end. Scrounging nickels is no way to get a good baby sitter on the job. Any redblooded Canadian girl appreciates the mother who invites her to help herself to a glass of pop from the refrigerator.

Confidential to IN NEED OF HELP — If I were your parent I'd take a good look at any boy who wanted to take you home. I'd probably end up by telling you to have dinner with the family at the dance and then I'd take you home myself. (For answers to other questions apparently written by other correspondents at the bottom of your pile, I suspect that they write in again, this time enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes for private replies.)

• • •

DEAR DORIS — One of our friends is a kleptomaniac. The others know this about her and talk about it but no one knows what to do. Just a couple of weeks ago she was caught stealing in a department store covered it up, as always.

She is a gracious hostess and an interesting person. Among our group are those who like to think we are respectable people, and we really are, except for this terrible disease hanging over one of us.

Is there any help for her? What shall we do? — FRANCES.

DEAR FRANCES — This "persistent neurotic impulse to steal" is evidence of a mental disorder. Could you bring yourself to talk to her husband about it? The way to a cure is through the family doctor, and from him to a psychiatrist.

Reader's Friday Column

By MARY MOORE

Question: I have always wished to be able to serve Fish and chips — restaurant style. The odds have seemed too great to tackle — kind of fish, exactly how to prepare. Chips . . . why do some people soak them in ice-cold water then dry them? . . . What type of pan? . . . Mrs. J. M.

Answer: If you are going into the business of deep frying, you must invest in a thermometer. Yours is a good question.

FISH AND CHIPS

Cut fish into serving size pieces, ¾" thick. Haddock is commonly used but halibut or cod could be used in this method. Thaw if frozen. Dry pieces of fish with clean tea towel. Dip in Batter: (sufficient for 2 lbs). 1¼ cups all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1 cup milk mix or sift dry ingredients. Add beaten egg and milk and mix until smooth.

Dip serving-size pieces of fish in batter, drain and fry 2 or 3 pieces at a time in cooking oil at 375 deg. Fahr. until golden brown, 4 to 7 minutes. Drain on paper towel and keep warm while remaining fish is fried.

NOTE: Oil has a high smoke point and does not fill the kitchen with smoke and may be cooled and strained and refrigerated for future frying.

Chips: (French Fried Potatoes)

Peel and wash potatoes. Cut into stripe ¼" wide and ¼" thick. Soak in cold, salted water 30 minutes to 1 hour. Heat oil to 390 deg. Fahr. (1" cube of bread will brown in about 20 seconds). Drain potatoes and dry them well. Using a deep frying basket, lower potatoes, about 1 cupful at a time into hot oil. Fry until golden brown, 5 to 7 minutes. Drain on paper towel. Sprinkle with salt and serve hot.

NOTE: The soaking brings out the starch in potatoes and produces puffier chips.

Use a deep saucepan with straight sides. An electric deep fat fryer is ideal. For 3-qt. saucepan use 4 to 5 cups oil. The oil should be deep enough to cover food generously — but 3" must be left between the oil and the top of the pan to prevent bubbling over.

2,250 Wintry Miles to Moscow

John Best, Canadian Press correspondent in Moscow, and his wife Jean made a 2,250-mile motor trip from West Germany to the Soviet capital in 10 days. The difficult mid-winter trip is described in this story.

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP)—From Stuttgart, West Germany, to Moscow is a distance of 2,250 miles travelling by way of Austria, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union. It's not what you'd call a well-worn tourist trail.

The route has opened up a bit in recent years for motoring travellers but they generally stick to the warm-weather months. Winter is a different story.

"You'll be setting a record," a German friend told me before we left Stuttgart. "Nobody has ever gone in by this route so late in the season."

Certainly few Westerners have motored through the Carpathian Mountains of eastern Czechoslovakia and the western Ukraine at this time of year, and for good reason.

The Carpathians aren't high as mountains go but the roads compound the complications posed by hairpin turns and precipitous inclines.

On two successive nights, because of driving snowstorms in the mountains, we didn't reach our stopover point until midnight—actually 2 a.m. in one case because of a two-hour time differential over the span of 250 miles from Koutce in Czechoslovakia to Lvov in the Ukraine.

DAYS ARE SHORT

Night comes early in those regions in winter. By mid-afternoon daylight begins to fade and by 4 p.m. it's dark. In the morning, darkness lingers until 9 a.m.

Traffic in the mountains was negligible. One night we travelled more than an hour without seeing another vehicle.

We made the journey in 10 days, counting one-day stops in Vienna, Lvov, Kiev and Kharkov.

From Ushgorod, just inside the Soviet — Czech border, to Kharkov, where we ceased going eastward and wheeled north to Moscow, is a distance of just under 800 miles.

And yet, to give some idea of the immensity of this land, that's only about one-fifth of the distance from Ushgorod to the Kamchatka Peninsula on the Soviet Union's Pacific shore.

The route to Moscow is studded with place names that recall the titanic struggles of Second World War—Kiev, Kharkov, Kursk, Orel, Tula. They add there, in the fields just off the highway, abandoned command bunkers can still be seen.

SOME BORDERS GUARDED

The trip leaves one with a kaleidoscope of impressions. There is Stuttgart, bustling and prosperous, one of the industrial capitals of booming West Germany and headquarters of the Mercedes-Benz auto empire.

There is Vienna, as gay and carefree as it's supposed to be; stores bulging with goods; wide, tree-lined boulevards and neon-spangled shopping streets.

Entering and leaving Austria is informality: they even stamp your passport. In Czechoslovakia there are armed guards, rigid and time-consuming formalities—customs, immigration, currency.

A sentry tower stands on the Czech side of the border with Austria and there is a regular patrol of two armed men and a dog on the lookout for persons trying to flee the country.

The Soviet border is different again. Accommodating officials are apologetic about the formidable red tape, constantly assuring us that much of the question-and-answer routine is strictly "formality."

Driving on Soviet roads is hazardous, especially at night. Vehicles with no tail - lights, drivers who don't bother to signal, poor route - directions through towns, people in dark clothing all over the highway, unlighted buggies are just a few of the things you have to contend with.

Govt. Action Cuts Pesticide Threat

By IRA DRYSDALE

WINNIPEG (CP) — A year ago the Canadian government cracked down on the use of two powerful pesticides in a move unprecedented in Canada.

Faced by nagging appearances of forbidden residue in dairy products, it banned the popular grasshopper killers dieldrin and aldrin from use on most farm crops.

The government now recommends farmers control the pests with substitute killers about three times as expensive and not as potent.

Agriculture Minister George Hutton says already there has been an encouraging reduction in the existence of residue.

The substitutes do not persist the way dieldrin and aldrin do in plant and animal matter. On the other hand they must be applied by far more exacting methods to be effective.

There was no massive grasshopper infestation in Manitoba in 1964, and some sources suggest the real test of the government move will not come until there is.

But Mr. Hutton says available commercial substitutes have shown they can attain 96-per-cent control if properly used.

NO TRACE ALLOWED

Federal food and drug regulations say there must be no trace of either in dairy products. So when a traceable amount is found in products being sold, an offence is committed.

Half a dozen Manitoba farmers have been fined for such offences—all in cases that arose before the ban. And Mr. Hutton says several producers were cut off from shipping dairy products. Some produce had to be thrown away.

The ban does not prohibit use of dieldrin or aldrin on horticultural crops in market or home gardens.

Spokesmen for chemical and other firms handling the two pesticides offered little or no opposition at the time: A spokesman for the National Grain Company Limited said the ban was necessary to protect Manitoba's dairy products.

Abe K. Doerksen, 45, a farmer of Stephenfield, didn't take it so lightly.

With a wife and two children at home he was growing grain and depending on a cream cheque of about $1,500 a year to keep his family in groceries.

He was charged with selling cream containing dieldrin, convicted and fined $3 and costs.

Now, he says, he has gone into egg production instead of dairy products. And the ban on dieldrin and aldrin was "more or less" the reason.

The Doerksens now buy their milk, "like city people."

The rest of Mr. Doerksen-fixures it, if he kept dairy cows, and if one of them picked up the stuff, the penalty possibly sprayed legally on a neighbor-ing farm, and if the cow's cream was sold, he might be subject to a second conviction.

And he says a second offence could mean a $500 fine, two years in prison or both.

It's "too chancy to stay in it."

He said a government-recommended substitute grasshopper-killer is not available commercially in his area. Grasshoppers had a "good foothold again" in the area.

Dieldrin had sold in the area for $8.50 a gallon, he said. Substitutes were available under brand of a chemical pesticide sold for about $21.

Mr. Doerksen in 1963 empowered the provincial government to ban the use of any pesticide in the province and to destroy crops or livestock contaminated by pesticides.

The law also provided that persons selling pesticides must be licensed. To be licensed they had to attend a training course, qualify in a provincial test on the safe use of agricultural pesticides and pay a $10 licence fee.

Mr. Hutton says the province has been slow to lift the ban.

He also said in an interview the day may come when powerful pesticides may be safely used by trained technicians instead of by the farmers themselves.

LEVEL NOT DANGEROUS

OTTAWA (CP)—The amount of cesium-137 absorbed by caribou-eating Canadian Eskimos as the result of radioactive fallout still is well below the danger level, the federal health department reported Thursday. A report by the department's radiation protection division said the average cesium-137 levels in 1964 are "generally somewhat higher" in northern Canada than those found in 1963.

Board Hires New Sec-Treas.

TOWNSHIP OF SIDNEY — Edison Sine, chairman of the Sidney Township School Board gave a report on recent activities. The new school board for Sidney Township meets Wednesday night at Wallbridge School. This schoolboard was elected recently and the inaugural meeting took place in Batawa on the 7th of January. Bill 54, Section 40, of the Ontario Legislature cancelled all local school boards in an attempt to equate education in rural and urban schools. Sidney Township now has five men to cover 20 schools with 39 classrooms. Edison Sine, R.R. 2 Frankford, Ralph Armstrong, Paymaster at Batawa, and Glenn Meyers, R.R. 3 Belleville were elected to serve two years as trustees; Hugh Gray, R.R. 3 Belleville and Glen Stickle, R.R. 5, Trenton, were elected for one year.

Mr. Dunsmore, Sidney Township School Inspector, spoke at Wallbridge on the advantages contained in the new system. He told of one overburdened teacher with 8 grades to teach and 63 children. It is hoped that in time there will be central schools of 6 rooms or larger and even possibly a school of 200 pupils. The new school board expects to save money on school supplies because buying in larger quantities earns a bigger discount. The board hired Lorne Hunt, R.R. 5, Trenton, as secretary-treasurer.

JEHOVAH WITNESSES

A meeting was held at the home of Robert Vanderlee Tuesday night, with 11 members of the Jehovah's Witnesses present. Bible study was conducted by Wilfred Leech, R.R. 5, Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. Leech have been visiting with Winnipeg.

JUNIOR FARMERS

The Sidney Township Junior Farmers under the leadership of Beverly Clapp held a banquet in Frankford on January 22; and are busy making plans for the Quinte conference. They meet once a month in Aikens' Church Hall.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

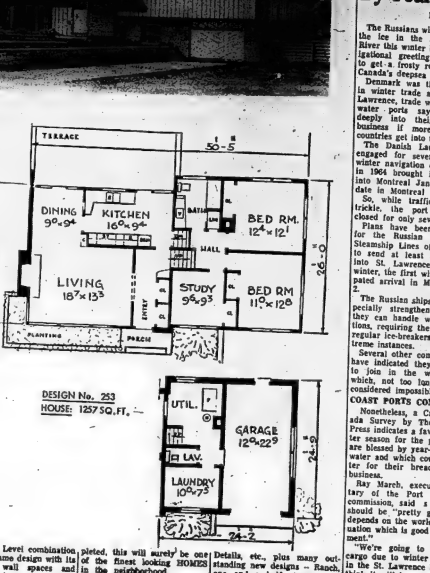
The annual congregational meeting of White's United Church was held Monday evening at the church. The minutes of past meetings were read by Mrs. Lorne Hunt, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Albert Jones. Mr. Mervin Parker is to be the new Sunday School Superintendent and Sunday School will begin at 10 a.m., instead of the former hour of 10.45 on Sundays. Mr. Dean is to be the new organist. There will be a teenage group started in the near future to be called the Hi-C and all boys and teenagers may contact Mr. and Mrs. Taylor or Mr. and Mrs. Dean. The Junior group under Mrs. Jones' direction is now president, Mrs. Lorne Hunt, are planning a World Day of Prayer service for March 5, and will invite Centenary UCW to join with them.

FARM MACHINERY ACT

The Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa has ported farmers that the new Farm Machinery Syndicates Regulations have been recently approved by Parliament. This Act is intended to help farmers finance machinery costs and it is hoped that if enough farmers become aware of its availability it will strengthen the economic position of the family farm. Three farmers pooling their down payments can buy larger, more efficient machinery than they could individually. The balance may be covered by a Farm Machinery Syndicates loan (at about 6% interest).

Each syndicate must have at least three members. They must be farming independently and the majority must have farming as the principal occupation. A syndicate may borrow up to $15,000 per member and that money may be used to cover up to 80% of the cost of any machine or group of machines. For further information the farmer can write to Farm Credit Corporation, 150 Kent St., Ottawa.

MESSENGERS MEET



Mrs. Gordon Wilman, 3rd of Sidney, and Mrs. Ross Marshall of Frankford, are resuming their activities as representatives of the Christian Education Movement of Alden's United Church. They have organized an after-school group called "The Messengers" at Johnstown school and children in executive positions are president — Larry Church; vice-president — Brian Henley; secretary — Danny Stickle; treasurer — Reginald Fleming. The first meeting of the year will be on January 30.

HOME OF THE WEEK

This Split Level combination brick and frame design with its sculptured wall spaces and floor areas is a comfortable labor-saving home which every family will enjoy. The three levels, divided into work, living and sleeping areas are planned for easy traffic circulation. With the garage and area designed for the lower level, the first level includes a separate entry, fireplace in the living area and a terrace opening off the dining room and kitchen. The plan calls for two bedrooms and a study which could also be used as a third bedroom. When completed, this will surely be one of the finest looking HOMES in the neighborhood.

Standard Blueprints for this design No. 303 cost $18.00 for the first set and $5.00 for additional sets. They are available in Canada by return mail. (Ontario residents must remit 3% SALES TAX). Now available at this Newspaper Office is our new DESIGN BOOK entitled "Suburban And Country Homes Designed For Canada", price $1.00 tax free. This edition includes information on Cost of Building and Financing in Canada, Heating and Insulation, Constructional Details, etc., plus many outstanding new designs — Ranch, one and a half storey, split level, two storey colonial, and duplex homes. And included in this book are full details on how to order Blueprints.

Mayo Clinic Canadians Are a Key At Famed Medical Centre

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians have played key roles in the history of the famous Mayo medical centre at Rochester, Minn., celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Here are some of the Canadian-born leaders and the years in prison or both.

It's "too chancy to stay in it."

Canadians have played key roles in the history of the famous Mayo medical centre at Rochester, Minn., celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Here are some of the Canadian-born leaders and the years they served:

HEROIC ERA

The oldest living Canadian connection with the Mayo Clinic is Dr. James Masson, 83, born in Owen Sound, Ont.

"When he began to practise general surgery," the CMA Journal says, "Dr. Masson entered what now seems to have been the heroic era of surgery.

"Blood transfusion was not known, but methods of carrying it out were primitive or even theoretical. There were no drugs to prevent the formation of blood clots after operations, no swift-acting compounds to prevent or treat post-operative infections.

"In the early days, surgeons operated on a full schedule for six days a week."

Dr. Masson performed many operations in a sanatorium. The operating room was beneath a large skylight and the temperature sometimes exceeded 100 degrees.

The present head of physiology at the Mayo Clinic is Dr. Charles F. Code, 54, born in Winnipeg.

The CMA Journal article, written by three American doctors, says the Canadians at the Mayo Clinic have made contributions "beyond the proportion of their numbers."

Cross-Canada Survey
Favorable Winter Season For Ports Which Are Blessed By Year-Round Open Water

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Russians will be breaking the ice in the St. Lawrence River this winter but their navigational greeting is expected to get a frosty reception from Canada's dockers.

Denmark was the pathfinder in winter trade along the St. Lawrence, trade which the sailwater ports say could cut deeply into their traditional business if more and more countries get into the act.

The Danish Laurition fleet, engaged for several years in winter navigation on the river, in 1964 brought its first ship into Montreal Jan. 4, earliest date in Montreal port history.

So, as the Russian traffic fell to a trickle, the port was truly closed for only seven days.

Plans have been announced for the Russian line, Arctic Steamship Lines of Murmansk, to send at least four vessels into St. Lawrence ports this winter, the first with an anticipated arrival in Montreal Jan. 2.

The Russian ships will be especially strengthened so that they can handle winter conditions, including the services of regular ice-breakers only in extreme instances.

Several other companies also have indicated they are ready to join in the winter trade which, not too long ago, was considered impossible.

COAST PORTS CONFIDENT

Nonetheless, the Canadian Seaway Pilots Association expects a favorable winter season for the ports which are blessed by year-round open water and which count on winter for their bread-and-butter business.

Ray March, executive secretary of the Port of Halifax commission, said shipping should be "pretty good—it all depends on the weather and the situation which is good at the moment."

"We're going to lose some cargo due to winter navigation in the St. Lawrence but I don't think it will be more than last year."

Mr. March said Halifax experienced a surprising increase in shipping traffic last year, largely a result of the Russian wheat deal.

He said Halifax may get a shipment of Canadian flour bought by Russia for Cuba "but these things are not announced until the last minute."

G. C. Mouland, Saint John, N.B., port manager, said a favorable summer trend is continuing "and this makes the winter prospects look good."

"St Lawrence Seaway traffic also was up in the summer," he said, "and that's another indication of a good season here."

Lumber exports will continue intermittently through the winter and New Brunswick potato shipments will continue during the next two or three months.

Winter shipping prospects are better than ever for the port of Vancouver, which normally experiences its busiest period when many Eastern ports are closed by winter ice.

A record year is anticipated with exports already running 25 per cent above last year.

Major export cargo includes wheat, flour, lumber and logs, coal, ores and concentrates, sulphur and potash.

Import business also is up considerably over last year but will not reach 1963 levels of the peak year of 1956 when imports handled totalled 1,500,000 tons.

Capt. D. D. L. Johnson, Vancouver port manager, said the present high level of business for seamen for the winter months is expected to continue to the end of the year."

Vancouver in past years tended to be a wintertime port with a heavy grain movement during the winter months.

However, the port is more evenly balanced throughout the year, with increasing tonnages of shipments such as coal, ore, potash and sulphur.

The port is not affected by winter weather except for periods of fog which can close down activity, especially during the morning hours.

The government has taken a series of steps to ingratiate itself with the population, including an end to the annual holiday to fill out a three-day New Year's weekend and cuts in the price of drugs, watches, cameras and radios.

It has increased the size of the wage fund for private farming by agricultural workers and a double-barrelled bid to reduce the source of discontent and to jack up agricultural production.

But this does not mean that they have abandoned Khrushchev's policies.

On the domestic front the drive to increase and improve consumer goods production goes on unabated.

An editorial in the party newspaper Pravda illustrates the double-edged nature of commitment to this policy by which the ousted leader also championed.

Color Missing Since Khrushchev Deposed

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — Three months after the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev, the chief discernible change in Soviet politics is the absence of a flamboyant personality at the top.

The Communist party first secretary, Leonid Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei Kosygin have been as efficient and inconspicuous as Khrushchev was colorful and outspoken.

The change squares with the new collective leadership formula charge that the former premier and first secretary was more of a "one-man show" than a "leadership" type—than a true statesman and leader.

But this does not mean that they have abandoned Khrushchev's policies.

On the domestic front the drive to increase and improve consumer goods production goes on unabated.

An editorial in the party newspaper Pravda illustrates the double-edged nature of commitment to this policy by which the ousted leader also championed.

No Salt in Victoria, Autos Age Gracefully

By LESLIE MILLIN

VICTORIA (CP) — Old cars, like old people, age gracefully in Victoria.

The city's gentle climate, which has eased the twilight years of generations of Canadians, has also enabled venerable automobiles to run well beyond their normal span.

There is no rock salt to eat away their body and exposed parts. And until recently governments had no facilities for inspecting them.

In an age when corrosion in colder regions may mean retirement after less than 10 years, a respectable minority of Victoria cars are 20 to 30 years old.

Some are owned by enthusiasts or persons who bought them new and see no reason to retire a perfectly good car.

PUTTER THROUGH CITY

One man drives a Hupmobile to work and there are half a dozen wire-wheel Austin 7s puttering through the downtown area.

A paint company executive owns a three-litre Bentley and uses it for daily transportation.

Other rare birds include an elderly Alvis, a two-litre Bristol, an Armstrong-Siddeley and an Allard.

For vintage car enthusiasts the barns of surrounding farmlands have yielded old Lincolns, Packards, Rolls-Royces and even an occasional Cord.

Members of the local vintage car club have been heard to complain that the several owners of classic Rolls-Royces don't seem interested in joining. The explanation may be that the owners don't regard their cars as old.

MODEL-A POPULAR

In the same class are a flock of Model-A Fords that their owners insist will be kept going just as long as their components cling together.

However, for some the end may be in sight.

A government automobile - testing unit has already been at work in Victoria and is being brought back to check other cars for mechanical safety. The tests are voluntary but even some who volunteered last year were upset later.

Some cars were tagged as unsafe and police followed up by handing out tickets if the vehicles weren't brought up to standards of the Motor Vehicle Act.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mr. Lindsay McKeown, president of the Central Cheese Manufacturing Company received word on Friday that the government had approved a grant for the building of a new curing room and a new receiving room. The new plant will be 33 by 50 feet and it is expected that the old portion of the factory will be torn down. The work will be commenced at an early date in order to have everything in readiness for the spring activities.

Last Sunday morning the regular church service, at Bethel United Church was cancelled owing to furnace trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. John Carlisle and Mrs. Jog. Grill, attended the funeral of Mr. Cecil Carlisle at Hamilton on Monday. Messrs. George and John Carlisle were bearers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Neal, Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mount Pleasant and Mrs. Charles Carter, Burnbrae visited Mrs. Cecil Carlisle at Hamilton, recently.

Mr. Ross Hoard returned home on Monday after a week's holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hoard and daughters.

Mrs. Thomas Sarles spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ketcheson of Trenton.

Messrs. Ross Hoard, James Hoard and Robert H. Hoard attended the funeral of their cousin Arthur J. (Ted) Anderson at Trenton on Saturday. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant-Rawdon Cemetery beside his first wife the late Annie Farrell. Ted was born at Hoards and lived in that area until his marriage.

Wellmans L.O.L. held the first euchre party in the lodge hall on Friday evening with five tables in play. The awards: Akins; low, Mrs. Glenn Hinds; ladies' high, Mrs. Alfred men's high, Harry McAdam and low, Jim Scott. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Mr. Arthur Broadworth of Stirling spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sharp and family at Wellmans.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Sharpe and family attended the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hugh McMullen in Belleville on Saturday.

Last Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay McKeown attended a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. McKeown of Springbrook in honor of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKeown who were observing their 60th wedding anniversary. They were former residents of the Mount Pleasant Rawdon community.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Couch and son Lyle visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blakely of Napanee, recently.

China Allows Primitive Medicine

TORONTO (CP) — China is keeping alive primitive medical practices alongside sophisticated modern medicine, a Canadian doctor reports after a visit to the world's most populous country.

Dr. K. A. C. Elliott of McGill University, Montreal, says traditional medicine is being preserved partly because of a shortage of doctors trained in modern methods and partly to permit studies of the old methods to see if they have any sound scientific basis.

Writing about his visit in the journal of the Canadian Medical Association, Dr. Elliott says the best of medical training and practice in China compares favorably with that in the West.

Traditional medicine, based on thousands of years of lore, includes such treatment methods as acupuncture, whereby pain is relieved by the counter irritation of needle injections. The needles also are used to draw off body fluid.

"The modern physicians are not obviously disturbed by it (traditional medicine) and some feel that it often succeeds though they don't know why," Dr. Elliott says.

"I was told that 85 per cent of appendicitis cases treated by acupuncture do not need surgery—but there is modern surgery for those who do need it. . . ."

STUDY LORE

"Colleges of traditional medicine are maintained so that the lore and know-how associated with it can be kept going until it can all be scientifically assessed. . . . There has been and still is a shortage of doctors and for this reason also it has been necessary to keep trained practitioners of traditional medicine at work."

Dr. Elliott, head of the McGill biochemistry department and an experimental neurologist, went to China as the first Canadian delegate in the Norman Bethune Exchange Professorship under the professors at McGill and the Chinese Medical College in Peking will make alternate annual visits of a month each between China and Canada.

The exchange program was arranged in memory of Montreal-trained Dr. Norman Bethune, who served as surgeon, teacher and hospital organizer in China before his death during the war against Japan.

"I got the impression that my Chinese colleagues were remarkably well-informed and interested but also that they were starved for contact and exchange with foreign scientists."

Your newspaper is YOUR SHOPPING GUIDE

In newspapers the news of better products and services is as important to today's modern family as that of current events or features concerning home and family, food and fashion, hobbies and health.

For newspapers are the medium by which most people shop. No other medium supplies the variety and detail of advertising by which one may compare prices and benefits and choose the comforts and conveniences that make for a full living standard.

There's much significance in this for local advertisers. For only in the newspaper can people of all age and income groups find the information and inspiration so necessary for good citizenship and for the enjoyment of a better way of life.

And because newspapers gain their friendship and regular readership, newspaper advertisers are provided the most productive medium of communication with customers.

NEW APOSTOLIC VISITATOR—Bishop Michael Rusnak, 43, was consecrated January 2 as apostolic visitator to 25,000 Slovaks of the Byzantine rite and as auxiliary bishop to the Ukrainian diocese in Toronto and to all Slovaks in the diocese of Eastern Canada. Freedom of Thought Has Deep Personal Meaning for Bishop Rusnak of Greek Ch.

By DON HARVEY

TORONTO (CP)—Freedom of thought has a deep personal meaning for Bishop Michael Rusnak of the Greek Catholic Church.

He was a prisoner of the Czech Communists for 18 months until he escaped March 6, 1951.

"The Communists worked me over until I could no longer think for myself," he recalls.

"Someone else had to do my thinking—which was what the Communists wanted. I merely responded to orders. When I went to the United States after my escape I found my freedom there too much for me for a few months.

"I was then in a land where I had to rely on my own ability to think. But I was grown unaccustomed to thinking for myself because of the psychological techniques the Communists had used on me. I was afraid everytime there came a knock at the door or someone spoke to me. I 'saw' Communists everywhere."

Almost 14 years have elapsed since he escaped and "I'm not afraid anymore." There's no doubt about his ability to think, either, a fact recognized by the church he serves.

Bishop Rusnak, 43, was consecrated Jan. 2 as apostolic visitator to 25,000 Slovaks of the Byzantine rite and as auxiliary bishop to the Ukrainian diocese in Toronto and to all Slovaks in the diocese of Eastern Canada

TO VISIT WEST

As a visitator he has the right to visit all Greek Catholic parishes but has no jurisdiction outside his own dioceses.

He plans, for instance, to make his first visit to the Prairie provinces in February or March. There he will "study the spiritual needs" of Slovaks of the Byzantine rite before deciding whether parishes should be established. At present there are no parishes in the West that adhere to the Byzantine rite, he says.

A native of Beserdale, Pa., Michael Rusnak first went to Slovakia with his parents, now dead, when he was 10. He was ordained in 1949 after studying at seminaries in Slovakia and Bohemia.

Three months later he was among 600 priests rounded up by the Communists in Slovakia "because we were Christians" and taken to a concentration camp.

"It was part of their effort to wipe out all religion."

Fifteen months later, while eating his noonday meal, "something told me to escape—now."

"I left the dining hall, literally knocked down an electric fence, walked past armed guards unnoticed and made my way to the U.S. embassy.

"The guards, who had orders to kill anyone attempting to escape, paid no attention to me. To this day I don't know why I made it to freedom. Perhaps the guards took me for a Communist and didn't expect anyone to try to escape."

Bishop Rusnak says that for three months the Communists tried to get him out of the embassy but his U.S. citizenship protected him.

Once back in the United States, he was appointed to a church in Newark, N.J. After a few months he was transferred to Toronto, where he was named Bishop last Oct. 7.

The Byzantine rite is a form of celebrating the mass or eucharist in which no one language is used exclusively. The rite also has adopted local customs and music and incorporated them into an order of worship "to make the service more meaningful," Bishop Rusnak says.

"I hope some day to see the Greek Catholic Church in Canada become distinctively Canadian with its own Canadian spirit incorporating customs and melodies that have originated in this country."

Bishop Rusnak says about 70,000 Slovaks live in Canada although not all follow the Byzantine rite. He has established nine parishes in Ontario which follow the rite and hopes to increase their number.

EARLY HAZARD

Despite the considerable reduction in infant mortality in recent years in Canada, more deaths still occur in the first year of life than in other single year.

Premier Robarts

who will retire within the next 10 or 15 years without having been able to pay pension premiums because of illness or unemployment.

ANTS FLAT BENEFIT

Ontario proposes that as of Jan. 1, 1967, the Canada Pension Plan should pay a flat benefit of $25 a month to any person in these agregories. This would be in addition to $75 a month old age security payments.

A minimum benefit of $25 a month should be established under the Canada Pension Plan even if the pensioner's premium payments do not entitle him to that much, the Ontario brief says.

These others benefits could be financed by premium payments on the first $000 of earnings.

Bill C-136 proposes that both employer and employee make premium payments of 1.6 per cent of earnings up to $5,000 with the first $600 exempt. This would provide a maximum monthly pension of $104 at age 70.

Ontario calls the $600 exemption a complicating feature and recommends that it be eliminated.

WOULD BE SIMPLER

"If the constant saving were applied towards increasing benefits to those already retired and to provide only a minimum pension, a simpler and more equitable arrangement would be possible," the brief says.

"This would be of greater benefit to low income groups than the contribution exemption."

At a press conference Premier Robarts said Ontario's decision to participate in the Canada Pension Plan would stand even if the federal government were to turn down its recommendations.

His government already had been influenced to remain in the plan by amendments and changes made by the federal government at Ontario's request.

In his statement to the legislature he said Ottawa had granted safeguards requested by Ontario to prevent unilateral withdrawal in the provisions of the Canada Pension Plan by the federal government.

AGENCY NEEDED

The assent of two-thirds of the provinces with two - thirds of the population would be required before any changes Add — PREMIER could be made. This gave Ontario a clear voice on any future amendments.

Ontario also would have the right to opt out of the plan and set up one of the same financial position as if it had been operating its own pension scheme from 1966. Ontario said this request was made only to protect the constitutional powers of the province in the pension field.

The federal government also has acquiesced to Ontario's demands for 90 per cent of funds built up under the plan from Ontario contributors and for the provision of survivor benefits.

Mr. Robarts said he hoped Ontario's remaining proposals to be made before the joint committee would be given serious consideration by the government.

He said studies made by the province had convinced him that if Ontario were to operate its own plan it could make improvements and simplifications in the benefits, contributions and administrative features while still keeping the provincial plan comparable to the federal plan.

TRADITIONAL

But the position of Ontario with respect to the whole of Canada was one for which Ontario was proud and had traditionally maintained, Mr. Robarts said. Any decision by his government must consider the welfare not only of Ontario but of Canada.

"In this context, I have come to the conclusion that . . . it would be in the best interests of the people of Ontario and in the best interests of Canada that we in Ontario accept the Canada Pension Plan in principle and bend every effort to make this plan truly national in scope

MR. MELTZER ON REAL ESTATE
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

A few weeks ago we explained that when an owner engages a real estate broker to sell his home, a "Principal and Agent" relationship is established; that the broker is legally and morally responsible to his principal, and can look only to him for his fees for services; and that he is not the buyer's agent. Our explanation was calm — reaction was not! We stirred up a veritable hornet's nest. The following are excerpts from the flood of mail we received.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: You said that when an owner hired a broker to sell his house the buyer was the seller's agent, not the buyer's and that the seller was the only one from whom he could collect payment for his services.

That's what you think! The broker who sold me my house was a double agent. I was forced to pay him, too — directly. At settlement he produced a five-year fire policy. Even though I had my own policies he said that I had to take his. I raised the roof but to no avail . . . . L. H. L.

. . . You said the real estate broker is the agent only for the seller. Why is it then I had to pay him $200 for his services in getting for his services in getting me interested and when I bought my house? He told me nothing of this before, and I didn't authorize it. I was not told then, I am madder now . . . . Mrs. E. W.

. . . The real estate broker who sold me my house charged me $300 for representing me at the settlement. At no time did he tell commission from the seller . . . . T. H. W.

. . . When I bought my house the broker charged me a $300 "finders fee." The only one he represented was the seller, insofar as he also collected a 6 percent commission from the man who sold us his house. . . . E. C.

. . . If that's the case, why did the realtor's license test that only he was allowed to order the little insurance — I had to pay for it . . . . S. T.

. . . I had to pay $100 for the attorney the broker brought to the settlement even though I had one of my own . . . . A. E. E.

. . . I was charged $80 as my share of the broker's advertising expenses . . . . O. H.

. . . I had to pay $120 for the for the benefit of all citizens of Canada."

Other recommendations which Ontario will make to the joint committee include:

—A transition period of 20 years for the plan to reach maturity, rather than 10 years;

—A retirement test to determine the entitlement to benefits between the ages of 65 and 70 but only for age-reduced old age security benefits but for pension benefits too;

—The abandonment of the 42-year earnings base in determining the amount of the pension and the replacement of it with a base of perhaps the last 10 or the 10 best years of earnings;

—The disregarding of certain years between retirement and age 65 in calculating the earnings base of persons who retire before age 65.

business to the ministers of state at the foreign office, until he appoints a new foreign secretary.

Conservatives were jubilant over their triumph at the end of the Labor government's first 100 days in office.

Steel stocks shot up at the opening of the London Stock Exchange on the prospect that Prime Minister Harold Wilson with his razor-thin majority in the House of Commons will not dare now carry out his election promise of nationalizing the steel industry.

If the crushing defeat meant the end of his career in government, Gordon Walker remained as the prime minister must make the decision.

The result, coupled with a second by-election in which the Labor leader's majority was cut by half, was a shattering blow to the government in its first test since being elected by a four-seat over-all margin three years ago.

This gave the first Labor government in 13 years a temporary overall working majority of seven in the 630-seat House of Commons. But this will almost certainly be cut to three after voting soon in four vacant seats now considered "safe" ones for the Conservatives.

Ford Strike Is Settled

TORONTO (CP) — Agreement was reached early today between union and Ford of Canada negotiators in a settlement to end a walkout strike by 16,300 workers at four company plants in Ontario.

Officials of the United Auto Workers (CLC) said the agreement must be ratified by membership meetings this weekend. No details of the agreement could be released before the meetings.

The strike began Jan. 13 when 5,200 workers at Oakville assembly plant walked out eight hours before the official strike deadline.

Juniors Win 6-0 Over Apple Kings

PICTON (Staff) — Picton Merchants climbed to within one point of second place in the Old's Eastern Junior Hockey League here last night by blanking Trenton Apple Kings 6-0 in a penalty-riddled affair.

The victory left Picton with 35 points, one less than Belleville and two ahead of Trenton.

Goalie Larry Holmes played well to earn his first shutout of the season, kicking out 30 Apple King shots. The Merchants fired 38 pucks, at the Trenton net, 13 of them coming in the third period.

Picton scored in every period. Ernie Sharpe bagged the first goal, aided by Haddock and Riley, at 9:08 of the first. Billy Hicks made it 2-0, with help from Jones, in the final seconds of the period.

Only one goal was scored in the middle heat. Billy Hopkins completed a play with Haddock to up the Picton lead to 3-0.

In the third, Harold Haddock scored on Sharpe's assist while his club was shorthanded. The fourth goal was on a power play, Ron Riley pulling the trigger and Bart Frederick assisting. Billy Hopkins got the last goal with Haddock earning his third assist to complete the scoring.

There were 29 penalties called in all. The total was made up of 26 minors, three misconducts and one major sentence.

The largest crowd of the season turned out and saw the most exciting junior game played here to date this year.

Picton's next game will be in Napanee on Monday night. Meanwhile Kingston plays in Belleville tonight and Trenton goes to Gananoque on Sunday.

Two Fund Drives Slated For County

PICTON (STAFF) Fund drives will be launched in the Picton area next month. Feb. 1, the opening day for the March of Dimes was announced by Mrs. Carl Reid. Some 60 marching mothers are expected to call at homes in town during a two-hour period. The general chairman of the appeal is John Colden with Jack Murphey, manager of Picton's Bank of Montreal, as treasurer. February is also Heart Month and the Prince Edward Chapter is planning a county-wide appeal under the chairmanship of William Pettingill The drive in Picton is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bessie Ward with Thers Falconer as co-chairman. Jack Murphy is treasurer and Mayor H. J. McFarland as honorary chairman.

May Organize Jaycee Unit

PICTON (Staff) — The Belleville Jaycees are asking industry, trade and commerce in the town of Picton to help in organizing a Jaycee unit. They feel that with a cross section of these three fields Jaycee unit (Junior Chamber of Commerce) would be most effective in Picton and district.

Representatives from all businesses are invited to the organizational meeting which will be held at the Royal Hotel on the night of Monday, January 25th, at 7.30 p.m.

Indonesia Turns to Peking Following Its Withdrawal From the United Nations

TOKYO (AP)—Indonesia now has turned to Peking and away from Washington and Moscow following its withdrawal from the United Nations.

President Sukarno had seemed to wobble and waver after choosing his new course away from the international organization.

But events of the last few days confirm he has made a firm fix on Peking and will lean on the Chinese for guidance, ideological inspiration, military and economic help.

Any doubt about this was dispelled by two messages to the fourth plenary session of the Indonesian women's movement Tuesday from First Deputy Premier Subandrio and Sukarno's wife, Hartini.

"We cannot coexist peacefully with imperialism, old and new colonialism and this has been reflected by President Sukarno's decision to withdraw Indonesia from the United Nations," said Subandrio in a parroting of the Chinese line, which runs head-on into Russia's firm policy of coexisting even with the forces of capitalism. It was no coincidence the text of his message was carried by the New China news agency.

Continuing the Peking view of the UN, he said: "All facts have shown to the world that the present United Nations is not a world body which reserves the interests of the new emerging forces in settling international problems. On the contrary, it is a body that has done much more to serve the interests of imperialism, old and new colonialism."

Mrs. Sukarno, in a rare speech as honorary chairman of the Indonesia-China Friendship Association, was more explicit.

"We should not be afraid of imperialism," she said. "We must march forward. Let us stand together with our Chinese comrades-in-arms to carry on our common struggle and be ready to face and take up any challenge in 1965."

Shortly after this, Subandrio, who also is foreign minister, left for Burma en route to Peking. The composition of the large delegation accompanying him left no doubt as to his objective: To align Indonesia's policies with China's, to get military and economic aid including shipping and possibly to get some training for its police force to replace a program now carried on by the United States.

The delegation, studded with military men, includes Supreme Chief Danduksumo. It also has officials from industry, mining, trade, state enterprises and the Bank of Indonesia.

Before leaving, Subandrio reaffirmed he will explore in Peking the possibilities of Chinese military assistance, but will not seek a military alliance.

Chronic Bronchitis Victims Live Healthier in Winnipeg, Which Has Cleaner Air

TORONTO (CP) — The person wracked by smokers' hack should throw away his cigarettes and head for the wide-open prairies, a medical survey suggests.

A study of chronic bronchitis victims reported at the annual meeting of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons Thursday shows it is healthier to live in Winnipeg than in Toronto, Montreal or Halifax because the Manitoba city has cleaner air.

A survey begun seven years ago and still in progress keeps a running tab on a total of 216 bronchitis sufferers in periodic tests at chest hospitals in the four cities.

The long-term aim is to find out if bronchitis victims are predisposed to lung cancer, said Dr. D. V. Bates of McGill University, Montreal, director of the study.

The typical subject is 48, began smoking at 18, developed a chronic cough at 30 and was smoking 110 cigarettes a week when the study started—in 1958 in Toronto, three years ago in the other cities.

Only two of the men studied had never smoked and all but about 10 per cent had what he "easily measurable impairment of lung function."

But in other key comparisons the Winnipeg group came out significantly best, Toronto second and Montreal and Halifax worst. Winnipeggers had the least severe impairment of lungs.

In Winnipeg, only about 20 per cent of the group had lost time from work because of chest infections. Almost half the Toronto men were stricken with chest infections that kept them home from work at times and 80 per cent of the Montreal and Halifax men suffered this disability.

Deterioration of the bronchial condition, lung function and disabling infections results from "additive insults" to the bronchial tubes, said Dr. Bates. That is, a heavy smoker is subject to chronic bronchitis and the risks increase if he lives in an area of atmospheric pollution.

Halifax, where a lot of coal is burned, has a high level of air pollution with sulphur. Montreal and Toronto are oil-burning centres but have air pollution of dirt. Winnipeg by comparison has virtually no pollution, except for dust in the summer.

Some of the men in the study have put a minor crimp in this 10-year survey by giving up cigarettes, Dr. Bates said, thus improving one of the causes of the trouble. For example, 15 of the 44 Toronto men have quit smoking.

However, this will be a new factor for study in the coming years, Dr. Bates said.

Sod Turned in First Phase Of Hospital Bldg. Program, Many Guests in Attendance

After many months of hard work and difficult planning by members of the Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors yesterday saw the official start on their hospital building program expected to cost more than seven-and-a-half million dollars.

The day marked the official sod turning for the new hospital bolter house, the first phase of the over-all construction program.

Hospital building committee chairman J. E. Buchan turned the symbolic sod (actually a shovel full of dry earth) and then the party, including members of city and county councils, convened in Education Hall for noon luncheon and speech making.

"This culminates four years of hard planning," said Mr. Buchan as he turned the official sod, but will result in a hospital to serve this community as it should be served."

Guest speaker for the luncheon was W. B. Lewis, MLA for York-Humber, and the health minister's representative on the Ontario Hospital Services Commission. Grace was said by Mr. G. R. Woodcock, president of the Belleville Ministerial Association.

TRIBUTE PAID

Hospital board chairman A. McLean Haig said it was a day which many had looked forward to for a long time.

He said the sod turning marked the actual commencement of a vast building program which would enlarge the Belleville hospital to 600 beds.

The physical and professional services departments of the hospital would be extended and more in preparation for later expansion increasing the hospital capacity to 700 beds.

Mr. Haig paid tribute to building committee chairman J. E. Buchan, who, he said, had made a "great contribution" to the hospital.

He also expressed his appreciation to the county of Hastings in becoming joint owners of the hospital and in agreeing to assume 35 percent of costs.

"We will be proud of the new building when it is completed and the services it will provide" he said. "Its facilities may some time be equalled but never exceeded."

GUESTS WELCOMED

Mr. Haig welcomed city and county councils to the hospital and introduced head table guests who included architect Herbert Agnew and Mr. Gordon Preisen, Washington hospital consultant, and administrator of Belleville General Hospital when the 1939 wing was constructed.

Outside ceremonies were brief with opening remarks by Mr. Haig, invocation by Msgr. J. Sullivan and benediction by Rabbi I. Levin. Mr. Agnew presented the silver plated shovel to Mr. Buchan for the sod turning.

At the luncheon Mr. Buchan outlined features of the new hospital, which he said would have an ultimate capacity of 700 beds in 14 storeys.

But lack of funds required that the construction be done in stages. The initial stage would be the seven-storey patient tower with two floors of service rooms on the lower level.

The hospital design provided the most modern concept in hospital care, he said.

Mr. Lewis, as the guest speaker for the luncheon, paid tribute to the hard working, dedicated pioneers responsible for starting the original hospital in Belleville, back in 1884.

He said their public mindedness planted the seed for what has become the very centre of health services for this community.

Down through the years the dedicated citizens at considerable personal sacrifice and often personal expense, have given volunteer leadership in hospital affairs.

Very often, Mr. Lewis said, the type of service was considered by those on the outside as being a cushy prestige position.

"But if this ever was the case, it certainly is not so today," he asserted.

COMPLEX BUSINESS

In this 20th century, the provision of hospital care has become a very complex business and to be a hospital board member is no sinecure.

"It is a responsibility which requires the best brains in the community. Those men and women who are willing and able to give generously of their time and talents, and who are ready to roll up their sleeves for plenty of plain slugging."

Mr. Lewis outlined the functions of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission established in 1958 saying that the Commission played an important role on Ontario's hospital "stage".

The commission doesn't build, own or operate hospitals. He said its basic responsibilities could be summarized as 1. to ensure development throughout Ontario of a balanced and integrated system of hospitals and related health facilities; 2. — to administer the provincial act and private hospitals act and the regulations under these acts; and 3. to administer the plan of hospital care insurance under an agreement with the provincial and Federal governments.

MANY BENEFITS

Approximately 6,500,000 people (88 percent of Ont. citizens prepay for hospital care through the government sponsored hospital services commission.

Last year benefits for well over one million patients amounted to about 315 million dollars and this year the total is expected to be about 340 million dollars.

Mayor Jack R. Ellis introduced the speaker while appreciation was extended by 1964 Hastings county warden, Thomas Burnside.

SYMBOLIC SOD TURNING — Mr. J. E. Buchan, building committee chairman, prepares to turn symbolic sod marking commencement of hospital building program. Looking on are board chairman A. McLean Haig and Rabbi I. Levin.

Newsman Recalls Some Meetings With Sir Winston Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Twenty-four years ago Winston Churchill stood on the steps of 10 Downing Street with Wendell Willkie and said:

"You need a tin hat, Mr. Willkie. Some of those Nazi bastards may drop something on your head."

"Where do I buy one?" asked the man who had just been defeated for the U.S. presidency by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"You don't," said the leader of a Britain that then was fighting Germany almost alone. "I'll send one around to your hotel."

I had flown to bomb-shattered London with Willkie on Jan. 26, 1941, and stood across Downing Street listening to the two men's booming voices.

Glancing across the street, Willkie motioned. I crossed the street in about two seconds flat.

Taking advantage of this rare opening, I asked him a question. I can't remember what it was, but I remember his reply:

"Young man, I'm not giving a press conference."

Then he smiled, blew a puff of smoke from his cigar and said: "But I'll send you a tin hat, too." He did.

In 1942, on the first of two visits to Joseph Stalin, I again got within asking distance of Churchill.

When he ducked a direct question, I asked him when he would give a press conference.

"Press conference," he snorted. "I don't like press conferences. The House of Commons is my press conference."

Of all the Churchill stories, perhaps the most touching came that grey day in April, 1955, when, tired and worn, he retired as prime minister.

In his staff ringing For He's a Jolly Good Fellow, Churchill toddled through the door, down those same steps and climbed slowly into the back seat of his car and, giving the V sign, was sped away, weeping.

NEW FLAG COMES DOWN—New maple leaf flag at the Hastings County Administration Building is seen coming down — at the order of county council. The action was taken yesterday when council decided Ottawa should have the honor of first flying the new flag. Palace of Westminster Hall Will Be Centre of Mourning

LONDON (CP) — The great hall of the Palace of Westminster, where it has been the custom this century for sovereigns and their consorts to lie in state, is a vast stone cavern evoking the passions, power and pain of six centuries of English history.

Once again, when Sir Winston Churchill lies in state there, it will be the centre of the nation's mourning.

One of the few parts of the medieval Houses of Parliament to escape the ravaging fire of 1834, the original hall was built by King William II in 1097 and rebuilt by King Richard II in the last years of the 14th century. The architect, Henry Yevele, also designed the naves of Westminster Abbey and Canterbury Cathedral.

In the German blitz of 1941, when the House of Commons was destroyed, four bays of the roof were badly damaged. They were restored after the war.

It was in this hall that the chief courts of England sat from the late 13th century until 1826 Guy Fawkes and his fellow saboteurs who tried to blow up Parliament were tried here in 1606. Other historic trials included those of the Earl of Essex, Queen Elizabeth I's one-time favorite and Earl Marshal of the day, in 1601; Perkin Warbeck in 1498 and Sir Thomas More in 1535.

The most historic and tragic event to take place in Westminster Hall was probably the trial of King Charles I in 1649. He was sentenced to death and beheaded on a scaffold in Whitehall.

Oliver Cromwell was installed here as Lord Protector in 1653, inaugurating England's only republican era. Eight years later, after his death and ignominious exhumation by Royalists, his head was stuck on a poll and set upon the roof of the hall where it remained for 23 years.

The last public trial in the hall was that of Viscount Melville in 1806, accused of corrupt administration of navy funds.

It has only been in comparatively recent years—since the death of Edward VII in 1910—that sovereigns and their consorts have regularly lain in state in the hall prior to their funerals in Westminster Abbey. Queen Victoria lay in state at her country home, Osborne House on the Isle of Wight, where she died.

The only commoner or non-royal person to have homage paid him after death in this ancient and awe - inspiring setting was William Ewart Gladstone, four times Liberal prime minister in the 19th century. His body rested here for three days in November 1898 before burial in Westminster Abbey.

Tory Papers Call Defeat 'Black Friday' for Labor

LONDON (Reuters) — Conservative - leaning newspapers today were gleeful over the surprise defeat of Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker in a byelection Thursday.

Two right-wing papers labelled the defeat "public discontentment" and "black Friday" for the Labor administration.

The Times, independent, under the headline "deep damage to government," says Gordon Walker's failure to win a theoretically-safe seat threw doubt on his political future and inflicted deep damage to the morale of a government already struggling with difficulties.

Gordon Walker's defeat was linked with the other byelection at Nuneaton in central England where fellow cabinet member Frank C. Soskice, minister of technology, was elected, but by a much-reduced margin.

The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, says the first two byelections since the new government took power last October "administered a stinging slap to Labor."

The political correspondent for The Daily Mail, Conservative, says the Labor Party is engaging abroad for the government especially, and it must bring speculation about a spring general election much closer."

Overshadowing the personal embarrassment for the foreign secretary was the dramatic public censure of the government and its record, The Daily Mail says.

The right-wing Daily Sketch says in an editorial Gordon Walker's defeat was "startlin proof of public disenchantmen with the Labor government . . . His defeat is due to the hopeles muddled record of Labor's firs 100 days. . . ."

The right-wing Daily Expres said it was "a black Friday for Labor." Gordon Walker's defeat was "a tremendous blow to Mr. Wilson's administration. It is a remarkable humiliation for a man chosen by the prime minister to be foreign secretary."

The pro-Labor Sun says the government suffered a shattering defeat in the byelection and that Gordon Walker's second defeat at the polls in three months was a tragedy and a humiliation.

A new and absolutely safe seat will have to be found for him soon. It is impossible for Mr. Gordon Walker to remain foreign secretary much longer outside Parliament."

The independent, left - wing Daily Mirror says:

For Premier Harold Wilson's Labor government the Leyton disaster cannot be regarded as anything but a serious set back.

Mr. Wilson must now decide whether he can allow his foreign secretary to go another try at getting a seat in the Commons. He could send Mr. Gordon Walker to the House of Lords. But it is doubtful whether the premier would be willing for him to remain in his present key job."

Quebec Govt. Gives Priority To Setting Up Pension Plan

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a day for welfare legislation in three provincial legislatures as Canada Thursday.

Ontario heard that it will participate in the Canada Pension Plan, Quebec got details of why it won't. And in British Columbia, there was news of a new medical care insurance program.

The work of the provincial legislatures has begun in earnest. Ontario's session started Wednesday, Quebec and B.C. Thursday. But it will be another month before all of the houses have begun sittings.

The Quebec government announced in the speech from the throne that legislation to establish a portable pension plan to take effect by Jan. 1, 1966, will be given priority.

A government spokesman stressed Lab the Quebec plan will dovetail with the federal one, forming no obstacles to workers moving to and from the province.

A surprise announcement was that a bill to limit the powers of Quebec's legislative council will be tabled in the assembly shortly.

The legislative council in Quebec is the only remaining upper house in Canada's three provinces.

The legislature will be asked later in the session to pass a resolution approving the repatriation of the Canadian constitution, but before this is done, the government feels it necessary to install the powers of the legislative council, which is dominated by members of the opposition Union Nationale.

In the British Columbia legislature, a highlight of the throne speech was the announcement that the Social Credit government plans a voluntary medical health insurance program aimed at low-income groups.

The plan—to provide a voluntary medical health care plan for those who are not on welfare but whose incomes are insufficient for them to afford the full cost of medical insurance—will be operated through private insurance plans.

MINOR HOCKEY WEEK

If he is a hockey-playing knight of your family round table, Mom, tomorrow is his day and next week is his week to receive the accolades.

And I hope you will pass the word along to Old Mervyn the Magician, his dad, that tomorrow is one Saturday he should go snowshoe and take his way to the arenas to watch the jousstings of the blade-shod young knights and squires.

C'mon, Pop, its no tougher climbing out of the hay tomorrow morning at a decent hour than it is in late February when you shed the pajamas at the crack of yawn, and take off, slit-eyed, for some cabin back north on your annual sashay for brook trout.

Besides you owe it to the kid. The young gaffer has been going to the arena with over a thousand counterparts all winter where he has been using that heritage you handed down to him to good advantage.

Oh, you've done all right by the boy. You have bought him skates, sticks and other hockey paraphernalia but you've missed one of the greatest paternal thrills of your life. You haven't seen him come off the ice eyes shining with the thrill of victory.

Or have you been there to give him an encouraging pat on the back when he troops slowly to the dressing room after the team has lost a close thriller.

You haven't heard the shrill boyish patter in the dressing room prior to a game, or the shouting, laughing post-victory prattle that replays every match. Or the sad could-have-beens of the gallant little guys who found out that somebody must lose.

Sure, you've looked at Junior at ninety-time with a glow of pride. That report card was good; he is healthy, bubbling over with boyish exuberance; good to his brothers and sisters; eats like a horse and from what a guy at the office tells you, quite a hockey, softball and baseball player.

But you wouldn't know that, first hand, would you, Pop?

But you will admit when Mom tells you Junior is at the arena playing hockey, or at some diamond slugging flies or fungo-hitting balls that you feel that there's nothing wrong with the kid.

You read the newspapers or listen to air-waved media and learn that some juveniles have been arrested for petty —or in some cases, serious-misdemeanors.

And you experience a sense of inward pride that Junior is above this sort of thing; that he's a clean-living kid who loves sport, tolerates school and loves his family. Just a normal life-living youngster.

That inward sense of pride is something telling you that you are mighty glad Junior, through the media of minor sports — family and other environments — is dodging body checks not policemen and stealing bases, not purses.

Don't just be a dad to him — be a pal. Don't take that office guy's word for it that he is a potential Bobby Hull, Mickey Mantle or Jimmy Brown. Go see for yourself. You won't be sorry.

And he knows you are in the arena watching him, there will be a little extra effort go into every move he makes. For — and don't forget this — you are DAD, his dad, his number one.

Go to the arena tomorrow or some day next week and watch him play. Better yet take him there yourself. You don't know what that will mean to him. Later on when you take the water-cooler or coffee-break at the office and the talk drifts into minor hockey, you won't have to retire to the fringe and listen. You will be an authority, especially if Junior happened to score the winning goal — or any goal for that matter.

How about it, Pop?

SPEAKING OF "MOMS":

The Minor Hockey Mothers' Association under President Mrs. Grant Stickle, vice-president Mrs. Ed Adamson and their committee have completed arrangements for accommodation for the visiting Ottawa Alta Vista peewee team over the weekend.

The boys will be given a "potluck" hot dinner with their Belleville counterparts at the Legion Hall on Saturday and will be billeted overnight at the homes of Belleville mothers.

President Stickle today expressed appreciation of her association to the city firms who generously donated articles of food for the dinner.

Wings' Crozier Bars Gate To Bruins

★ ★ ★ Vezina-Bound?

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fourteen years ago Detroit Red Wings granted an exhausted Ted Lindsay a mid-season vacation and he wound up winning the National Hockey League scoring championship.

The Wings prescribed the same medicine this season for fatigue but for a new patient, goalie Roger Crozier. And the result could be the same—a trophy, the Vezina as the NHL's top netminder.

Crozier was shipped off to Florida with his wife two weeks ago for a rest after giving up 19 goals in four games. The Wings were floundering in a three-game losing streak, their longest of the season.

Crozier returned to the Detroit nets Thursday night in Detroit and blanked Boston 3-0 on a three-way tie for fifth place in the National Hockey League scoring race.

The other scorers in the single game did not affect the leaders.

Howe now has 33 goals and 33 assists, moving him even with Phil Esposito of Chicago Black Hawks and Phil Goyette of New York Rangers, all having 38 points.

Bobby Hull is on top with the league-leading 37 goals and 33 assists for 66 points. His Chicago teammate Stan Mikita is second with 32 goals and best-in-the-league 34 assists for 66 points.

Red Wing Norm Ullman is third with 31 goals and Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens fourth with 30.

The standings:

	G.	A.	PTS.
R. Hull, Chicago	37	29	66
Mikita, Chicago	32	34	66
Ullman, Detroit	31	33	64
Provost, Montreal	17	22	39
Esposito, Chicago	19	21	38
Howe, Detroit	13	25	38
Goyette, New York	17	21	38

But since his return, Crozier has been between the posts for four Detroit victories in three games, allowed six goals, and Thursday night posted his fourth shutout of the season as the Wings dumped hapless Boston Bruins 3-0 in the only game played.

While Crozier stopped 21 shots for his first shutout since last Oct. 29, his teammates grabbed a goal in each period and moved within two points of third-place Toronto Maple Leafs in the standings.

Defenseman Marcel Pronovost scored what proved to be the winner on a power play in the first period—his first goal of the season. Teammates Paul Henderson and Alex Delvecchio added insurance markers later.

It was another frustrating night for Crozier's counterpart, Boston goalie Ed Johnston as he made 35 stops, but hardly had a chance on the other three.

Pronovost's goal, scored while Ab McDonald was penalized, came on a shot from the point that bounced crazily in front of the net. Johnston had first-labed making four quick saves.

Henderson struck in the second period. He walked at the open corner for a perfect pass from Larry Jeffrey and had Johnston at his mercy. He showed none and registered his fourth goal of the campaign.

Delvecchio added his 11th this season in the third, tipping in a 45-foot shot by Parker MacDonald.

Five games are scheduled this weekend. Saturday night league-leading Montreal Canadiens play host to the Bruins and New York Rangers visit Toronto.

The Canadiens play the Bruins in Boston Sunday night while Toronto plays in Detroit and the Rangers tangle with the Black Hawks at Chicago.

Minor Hockey Week in Canada starts Jan 23

McKenney Goes To Rochester

TORONTO (CP) — Don McKenney, left winger with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, has been sent to Rochester Americans, Leaf farm club in the American Hockey League.

Leaf coach Punch Imlach said McKenney had been sent to Rochester "to give him a chance to play himself back into shape . . . He'll get more ice time down there than with the Leafs."

Imlach made the announcement after a Thursday afternoon strategy session. He also announced that Peter Stemkowski, called to Toronto as an emergency stand-in, will remain with the Leafs on a regular basis.

McKenney, who has had eight 20-goal seasons in his 11 years in the NHL, has only three goals to his credit so far this season.

Stemkowski, a centre, started for the Leafs against New York Rangers Jan. 3 and has played in every game since. He has picked up two goals and six assists in nine games.

Minor Hockey Week Starts Jan. 23

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Minor Hockey In Canada takes the public spotlight for a week starting tomorrow, January 23rd.

Large cities, small cities, towns, villages and hamlets will focus attention on their hockey-playing youngsters, and the fine men who make the sport possible for them.

It is estimated that some 175,000 youngsters across the nation will take part in special observances of their week in this part of eastern Ontario 10,000 moppets are involved, Ontario as a whole has 67,000 youngsters ready to go.

Minor Hockey Week will face off in this city tomorrow. The special attraction will be the first of two games between the Ottawa Alta Vista peewees and the Belleville All-Stars. The game starts at 2 p.m. with Mayor Jack Ellis and OMHA first vice president Doug Patterson of Stirling facing the puck.

The observances follow through Sunday with Ottawa and Belleville playing at 11:30 a.m. Several other games will background the featured attractions. These are listed elsewhere.

GREAT EFFORT

"Minor hockey is a great phase of the popular winter sport because of teamwork and co-operation between the boys and the men who mentor them," says vice president Patterson.

"If it were not for the deep interest in hockey and boys on the part of so many men, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association — or any other organization, would have no reason to exist."

"For these fellows are the men who make things tick and click. They are the heart and soul of minor hockey. Long may they live."

Under the jurisdiction of many fine presidents, executives and area representatives, the OMHA has noted tremendous growth over a period of twenty years.

Last year with current president Albert Watkin of Peterborough at the helm, ably assisted by his vice presidents and executive, the OMHA recorded a record season.

Eastern Ontario, that part of the province extending from Port Hope - Peterborough, east to Gananoque and north to the Bancroft area, kept pace with other districts in the record-breaking achievement.

Player registration in this district is expected to exceed the 11,000 mark this season. This is an approximate increase of nearly 20 per cent over last year.

Last year the OMHA registered almost 48,000 minor hockey players in its area of jurisdiction. This does not include those registered with the Toronto Hockey League, the Western Ontario Amateur Athletic Association or the Northern Ontario Hockey Association.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association minor hockey committee said recently that during the 1964-65 season 171,886 youngsters were playing hockey in Canada.

This notes an increase of almost 40,000 over the previous year. Upper brackets hockey may be falling off in some parts of the country, but it cannot be said that the source of supply is letting the sport down.

According to vice president Patterson almost every centre in eastern Ontario has a local or district league. Last season noted a large increase. The three largest centres, Belleville, Kingston and Peterborough all have registration well over 1,000.

If the smaller centres, minor hockey activities have also noted a big upsurge. This, said Mr. Patterson, points up the fact that eastern Ontario centres are interested in giving everybody an opportunity to play hockey, regardless of whether he is a Leaguer or not.

ARTIFICIAL ICE

Indicative of the increased interest in hockey and minor hockey in this district is the number of centres that have installed artificial ice during the past year or so.

Wellington and Tweed, to name two, are feeling the benefits while the new arena at Tweed is a standing monument to the fine people of the area and their efforts to better winter sports with emphasis on minor hockey.

Artificial ice installation has proved a boon to minor hockey men and players in these districts. Gone is the former uncertainty and waiting upon the whims and vagaries of the weather man.

Practice hours are now definite and schedules are being played on original dates. Hockey plans can be made with an "on" and "buts" while other ice attractions can take place with no qualms or worries on the part of organizers.

In every community in eastern Ontario many persons are engaged in organizing, supervising, coaching, managing and sponsoring the activities of hundreds of players.

These men who devote long hours on behalf of the youngsters are the people who make minor hockey what it is.

Often they fail to receive the appreciation due them and often they do not receive the financial and other support that is vitally necessary. Minor Hockey Week is everyone's opportunity to show his appreciation and support.

IN THE CITY

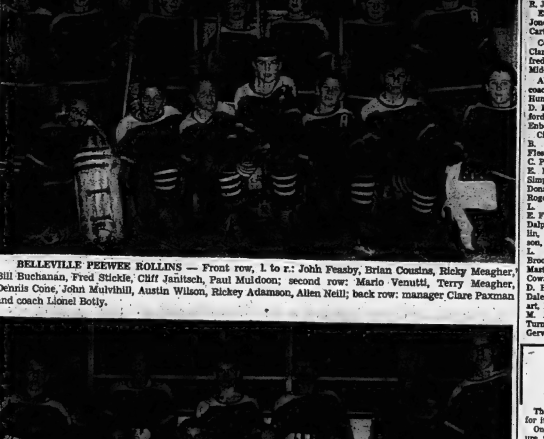
Under the able administration of President Ed. Adamson, the Belleville Minor Hockey Association is headed for one of its best years.

A hard - working executive ably aided by the large number of coaches and managers are looking after the hockey well-being of some forty-seven teams in seven classifications.

The top classification is the all-star group consisting of juvenile, midget, bantam, peewee and novice clubs. These are the teams that will represent the city in the OMHA playdowns.

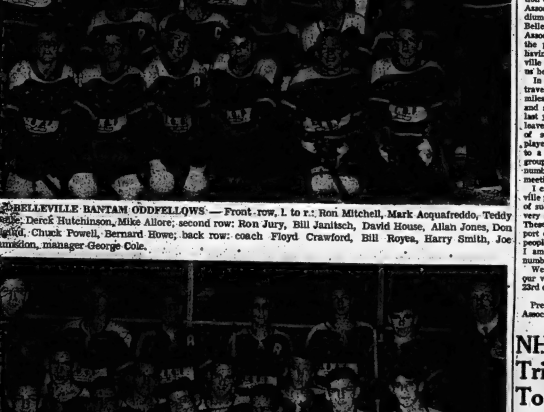
They mark a remarkable step forward in minor hockey. In previous years, the representative teams were picked from league clubs, hastily assembled and shot into the playdowns with very little team experience.

This year, they were formed at the beginning of the season and became members of an OMHA Group in which all clubs played a full schedule with those of other centres.



With a full season teamwork and active competition under their collective belts, the teams will be far - better equipped play-wise to meet the challenges of outside clubs in the march to the Ontario championships.

Another hockey milestone this year is the formation of the "Minor Hockey Mothers Association" under the able jurisdiction of its president, Mrs. Allison Sickle.



Members look after the comfort of visiting teams as well as the city youngsters, providing meals, accommodation and whatnot. Many of the mothers travel with the squads when playing out of town. This was definitely a move in the right direction.

BMHA president Adamson has some 47 teams under the aegis of the organization. Besides the five all-star ensembles, there are four juvenile squads; ten novice; eight bantam; ten peewee; four midget and six tyke teams.

Some 50 or 60 dedicated adults take time out to look after the hockey needs of the youngsters. Nor should those fine fellows, the referees be forgotten. They are doing an excellent job filling highly necessary positions. After all what league could get along without officials, despite oft-uttered unnecessary criticism.

Kingston, B's Clash Here Tonight

Belleville "B"p, unhappy with two whippings at the hands of Peterbrough, will face another stiff test here in tonight's OHA Eastern Junior League affair.

Kingston Frontenacs will clash with Gordie Bell's "B"s in a nine o'clock tilt.

This will mark the Frontenacs' initial appearance on Belleville ice this year — but they are well remembered from previous invasions.

Both clubs are hurting.

The "B"s have lost goalie Bob Moon for an indefinite period with a broken hand. That puts the pressure on Bill Bell, Moon's backup man, who is expected to guard the local's cage, at least until Moon returns. Bell proved himself in four earlier games and if the club plays hockey in front of him, club officials are confident the youngster can do the job.

Kingston's scoring punch has suffered through the loss of their top scorer for the past several years, Bonnie Ferri. The starry forward quit the club recently to join the Kingston intermediate A crew.

Coach Les Douglas has also had trouble finding a regular goalie this season. Four or five have seen action and the team's goals-against average is high. The "B"s hope to keep it that way tonight.

Team captain and hard-rock defenceman Gary Lavelle is said to be back with the Frontenacs after a serious injury, which should add to the excitement.

Tribute From Ottawa

The following letter speaks for itself:

Once again it is my pleasure to express the appreciation of the Alta Vista Hockey Association through the medium of your paper, to the Belleville Minor Hockey Association, for allowing us the pleasure of playing and having the boys of the Belleville Pee Wee team visit with us here.

In the course of a year we travel over three thousand miles and meet a lot of teams and supporters. The same as last year the Belleville group leaves us with a nice feeling of sportsmanship and fine players. This is due, I am sure to a hard working and fine group of parents. Quite a number I had the pleasure of meeting here in Ottawa.

I can assure you the Belleville people can well be proud of such a fine group and very skilled group of players. These people deserve the support of all the sports minded people of Belleville, of which I am sure there is quite a number.

We are looking forward to our visit to your city on the 23rd of the month.

Steve Hook,
President Alta Vista Hockey Association, Ottawa, Ont.

NHL Pays Tribute To Minors

MONTREAL (CP)—Clarence Campbell Thursday threw the weight of the National Hockey League behind Minor Hockey Week, which begins Saturday.

Speaking on behalf of the league, the NHL president said:

"Minor Hockey Week in Canada affords a welcome opportunity to recognize and pay tribute to the wonderful service provided by a host of community - minded and public - spirited citizens who devote the hundreds of thousands of young boys with the facilities and the opportunity to learn to play our national game."

His praised team and league organizers, managers, coaches and officials.

Have Impressive Record

Ottawa's Alta-Vista peewees, who will help Belleville Rollins pedwees officially open "Minor Hockey Week" here tomorrow, own a proud record to date this season.

BRIAN HOOK

Managed by Steve Hook, well-known in local sport circles, the Alta-Vistas have played 30 games, won 28, tied one and lost one. That tie was against Rollins in Ottawa a couple of weeks ago.

Hook has kept most of the players together for the past four years. Four new players have been added since the club played here last season, replacing boys who moved up to bantam ranks.

In league play, the team heads their grouping and has scored 166 goals while allowing only nine, a most impressive record.

STEVE HULL

The Alta-Vista will play in Peterborough's "Young Canada Week" next weekend, in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens on February 13 and in the big International peewee tournament in Quebec on February 19. Later, the team will compete in the Easter weekend tournament at Goderich, and finish the season with Ottawa's minor hockey night, in aid of the Rotary Crippled Children's Fund.

LA Meet Is Star Studded

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 1965 track season gets under way in Southern California in distinctive fashion Saturday night with 25 Olympians among competitors in the Los Angeles Invitational track meet.

The cast for the sixth annual event is billed as the finest ever.

Here's a rundown on some of the stars:

Billy Mills, surprise winner of the 10,000 metres at the 1964 Olympics, meets 18 - year - old Gerry Lindgren, George Young and Geoff Fyne of New Zealand in the two-mile run.

Dyrol Burleson, Oregon's great miler with a best time of 3:55.6, takes on Gary Weisiger and Bill Dotson.

Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., who finished second in the Olympic 800 metres, is entered in both the 1,000- and 600-yard runs. In the 600, he tackles Mike Larabee, winner of the Olympic 400 metres, and Ulis Williams, who teamed with Larabee on the winning 1,600-metre relay foursome.

Harry Jerome of Vancouver, who won a third - place bronze medal in the 100 metres, is entered in the 60-yard dash.

Quinte Hockey League

Ter-Haar Daubers nicked Rosimore 3-2 and SACO defeated Horlock Electrics 7-4 in a pair of Quinte Hockey League games here last night.

Daubers came from behind to grab their tight victory while SACO built an early lead and hung on in the latter stages to top Horlocks.

Hubert Pointer sparked the Ter-Haar win, scoring two goals and helping on the other. Ron Keller netted the winning goal with Ron Pointer getting one assist.

Ron Archer and Doug Reid scored for Rosmore, both in the second period, to give their team a 2-1 lead. It was scoreless in the first frame and Ter-Haar potted both third-frame markers. Pat O' Connor had a lone Rosmore assist.

SACO jumped into a 2-0 lead in the opening stanza and led 6-1 going into the third. Horlocks held a 3-1 margin in the final frame but it was not enough.

Gary Genereaux was the only two-goal man for SACO, one each coming from Art Deline, Stan Woodcock, Don Forsythe, Ken Forsythe and Larry Potter. Ken Forsythe had three assists, Genereaux and Don Forsythe two apiece, Potter, Jim Johnson and Harry Reid one each.

Don Stewart starred in a losing game with three goals. He also assisted on the other goal, scored by Bob Wannamaker. Bill Hill and Leroy McBride had two helpers apiece, Wannamaker and Bruce Seames one each.

Moira SS Sweeps Hoop Series

By DAVID BRAMMER, And BARRY CAMPBELL

All three Moira basketball teams journeyed to Picton last night and cam eup with a clean sweep. The seniors won 76-58, the juniors triumphed 76-41 and the bantams won a real thriller, 42-41.

The senior game was never in doubt as Moira outplayed Picton in every department and led 43-25 at half time. The second half was fairly even as both teams scored 33 points to make the final score 76-58 for Moira. George Pugh scored 26 points and Bob Dunsmore netted 21 points to lead Moira. Also scoring were Bob Bailey 10 points and Rick Crabine with 7. Hobson scored 19 points for the losers.

The juniors didn't have any trouble at all, defeating Picton by the score of 76-41. Bob Watson led Moira with 27 points. Dave Beresford netted 22, Dave McLean 8 and John Hayman 6.

The bantams won a real thriller by virtue of a missed foul shot by a Picton player. Ted Beresford scored 18 points and rebounded very well. Bruce Larue come up with 8 points, Pete Bishop 6 and Rick Moffat 6.

Carrots, Lettuce for 'Rabbit'

Cassius, Patterson Feud Looms

By JOE REICHLER

MARLBORO, N.Y. (AP)—A grudge fight between Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson appeared to be in the making should the former world heavyweight title-holder hurdle past George Chuvalo Feb. 1.

There's no doubt about it. Clay and Patterson do not like each other.

This became evident Thursday when Clay visited Patterson's camp in a promotional stunt to help ballyhoo the 12-round bout between Floyd and the Toronto heavyweight at Madison Square Garden in New York.

It began as an act, at least on Clay's part, with Cassius presenting two heads of lettuce and a half-dozen carrots to Patterson, whom he calls the rabbit.

Floyd accepted them smilingly and listened as Clay launched into a shot at his title and a chance to "regain his pride and prestige" if he defeated Chuvalo.

SHOOK HANDS

The two shook hands and Patterson climbed into the ring for his workout.

Sixty seconds later the place was in an uproar.

Clay, very angry when Patterson, asked his reactions to Clay's continuous reference to him as the Rabbit, replied:

"Talk you can get anywhere. It's when you touch me that I get bothered. Despite the lettuce and carrots, I'm very happy that Mr. Clay took the time to . . ."

He got no further. Clay, listening from the other side of the ring, yelled: "Hold it, hold it, man. What's my name? What do you call me, Rabbit? My name is Muhammad Ali. And you'd better call me that. You hear, Rabbit?"

Patterson, speaking softly but deliberately, said: "I'll call him by the name he was born with." Clay, who prefers the name he adopted when he joined the militant Black Muslim sect, grabbed the ropes and screamed:

"You are nothing but an Uncle Tom Negro. You're a white man's slave. I'm a free man. I'm nobody's slave. You're a slave and a scared rabbit . . ."

It was then that Clay challenged Patterson. "You apologize," he screamed, "or else I'll come at you right now. I'll jump you this minute. . . ."

Patterson took two steps toward Clay, banged his gloves together, and shouted back: "C'mon, let's do it now. I'm ready."

Clay ducked his head between the strands, but was held by several persons. Patterson, obviously shaken by this sudden turn of events, left the ring from the other side.

"Come back, you quitter, come back you rabbit," Clay taunted. "Don't worry about me. I won't bother you yet. I knew you'd be scared to work out.

"You done quit twice already by Sonny Liston. Don't quit a third time. Come on back. Go to work. I promise I won't bother you."

Whether it was the taunts or Patterson's with not to disappoint the large gallery, Patterson returned without a word and boxed one round each against two sparmates.

Engineering Leadership is a fine-sounding claim.

But what's in it for you?

Plenty!

Roof Insulation Blanket absorbs nerve-wracking, tiring noises, quiets the ride . . . defies summer and winter temperatures.

Treated wood deck with steel skid strips withstands tough treatment, doesn't drum when empty. Double-wall construction adds rigidity and extra strength to load-carrying compartment. Soug-fitting tailgate is sand-tight and grain-tight.

A printed circuit replaces the tangle of wires behind the instrument panel . . . helps prevent shorting, makes maintenance easier.

Proven GMC engines keep going where others quit . . . give that extra margin of economy and reliability your job needs.

Wideside Pickup

All 'round weather sealing keeps out dust, drafts and downpours . . . maintains sedan-like cab comfort.

Independent front suspension is equally at home on highways or byways . . . ensures easy riding on an even keel.

Dual headlights help pick out stop signs, sharp corners . . . give broad reach for extra safety at night.

GMC's Engineering Leadership didn't come easy. It had to be earned. That's why—year in, year out—GMCs are built to be best. So you get more for your money when you buy one. North Shore Hockey League

Melville Shoreliners dumped Demorestville 5-1 and Proctor Silex defeated Cherry Valley 6-3 in a pair of Prince Edward North Shore Hockey League games at Wellington last night.

Most of the scoring came in the third period of a well played Silex-Valley game. The winners led 3-0 after one period but the losers knotted it 3-3 in the second.

Bob Heffernan and J. Hicks triggered two goals apiece for Proctor Silex. R. Irvine and R. Cummings also scored.

Cherry Valley marksmen were G. Fraser, H. Brummell and B. Woods.

There were eight minor penalties called, four per team.

Melville led all the way against Demorestville, 3-0 and 4-0 by periods.

The Shoreliner goals were divided among Ed Ross, Larry Root, Dave LaRue, Larry Wright and Ron Carson.

John Milford was the lone Demorestville scorer.

Referee Jim Ware assessed in this game, including a misconduct to D. DeGazie.

Reduces 'Hurricane' Indictment

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A grand jury has refused to indict Hurricane Carter, contender for the world middleweight boxing title, on charges of atrocious assault and battery.

Two complaints, resulting from separate night club incidents, had been referred to the grand jury Dec. 29. The panel sent the case back to a magistrate's court Wednesday to be tried as a simple assault.

The grand jury apparently found not applicable a state law providing that a boxer who attacks another person with his fists may be charged with atrocious assault and battery.

Carter, 27, allegedly was involved in a fight with another fighter Oct. 34 at a tavern.

Scots Win Four Games

SUDBURY (CP) — The touring Strathcona Cup Scottish curlers had the second match win of their tour Thursday night when they took four of eight games here.

Playing rinks from the Northern Ontario Curling Association, the visitors collected 69 shots to give them an aggregate of 661 points since they arrived in Vancouver Jan. 7.

The Scottish curlers scored 52 to put the Canadian aggregate total at 592. The aggregate score of the 100 games played on the tour determines the cup winner.

Three problems face opponents of Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series—Leo Thiffault, Andre Lacroix and Danny Grant.

They form the most productive line in the league this year and are responsible for the third - place standing of the Petes.

Thursday night they showed their stuff for home - town fans as Peterborough turned back the cellar - dwelling St. Catharines Black Hawks 6-3.

In Thursday's other games, Toronto Marlboros moved to within two points of first place by edging Hamilton Red Wings 7-6.

The Grant - Thiffault - Lacroix combination accounted for 11 of Peterborough's 17 scoring points. Grant got three goals and an assist, Thiffault accounted for two goals, and Lacroix, the league's leading points - getter, picked up five assists. Jim Paterson scored the other goal for the Petes.

SCORE FOR HAWKS

Ken Hodge, Brian McDonald and Ken Laidlaw fired the goals for St. Catharines.

Mike Byers and Paul Laurent, the league's leading goal scorer, paced the Toronto attack with two goals each. Mike Corrigan, Rick Dalby and Neil Clark added one apiece.

Jimmy Peters picked up the first two Hamilton goals with Real Lemieux, Gary Doak, Jim Male and Fred Speck getting the others in the rough game.

Clark picked up a major for spearing, then had a misconduct and game misconduct added on when he argued with the referee in the third period.

UFL COACH RESIGNS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tom Keane resigned Thursday as coach and general manager of Wheeling Ironmen in the United Football League and was hired as a defensive backfield coach by Pittsburgh Steelers of the National League. Keane, 38, played in the NFL eight years for Los Angeles, Dallas, Baltimore and St. Louis. He coached at St. Louis in 1957.

LONDON (Reuters) — Loafing ahead, Leeds United, leader of the English League, will send four representatives to film big European soccer clubs in training this summer.

The party, including manager Don Revie, will spend four days filming in several countries. Revie believes that the movies will be valuable in training methods for Leeds, especially if Leeds qualifies for one of the glamorous European competitions.

Leeds hopes to move a step nearer to the English League championship and a place in the European Cup for club champions when it takes on nearest rival Chelsea Saturday.

This clash should prove the highlight of Saturday's league program, though both clubs are likely to have their thoughts on the fourth round of the Football Association Cup competition to be played Jan. 30. Both have tough cup ties.

Leeds will be at home to another formidable First Division club, Everton, in the cup, while Chelsea travels across London to take on West Ham United, the cup holder.

Everton showed its strength when it held Manchester United to a draw in Manchester Wednesday night in the first leg of the Inter - City Soccer Cup quarter-final tie.

Manchester United had a number of players under treatment Thursday for knocks received in that rugged match. But manager Matt Busby hoped to field an unchanged team for Saturday's league match against Stoke City in what will be a preview of the following Saturday's FA Cup clash.

Laperriere Given Honors

OTTAWA (CP) — Defenceman Jacques Laperriere of the Montreal Canadiens was named Thursday night the outstanding French - Canadian Professional Athlete of the Year in Ontario and western Quebec.

The 25-year-old Rouyn, Que., native was awarded the Gil O. Julien Trophy at the annual dinner sponsored jointly by Le Droit, Ottawa's French language newspaper, and the University of Ottawa.

Golfer Andy Nezan, 38, of Ottawa, Quebec's match play champion, was named the area's top French - Canadian amateur athlete and received the Jean - Charles d'Aoust Trophy.

Laperriere and Nezan were chosen by a committee of sports writers from Ottawa and Hull, Que. The trophies are named after former sports editors of Le Droit.

Both winners also received scholarships by the University of Ottawa.

Other finalists for the Julien Trophy were winger Claude Larose of Canadiens, tackle Moe Roche of Ottawa Rough Riders, and Maurice Levesque, a lineman with Montreal Alouettes.

Nezan won five tournaments in 1964 including the province of Quebec and Ottawa district match play championships.

Good News for Teenagers, Beatles Are Coming Back

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — There's bad news for assorted police departments, but good news for the teen-agers: The Beatles are coming back for another North American tour next August.

The news comes from Brian Epstein, the long - haired British rock 'n' roll quartet's manager and agent. He's in New York to make some arrangements for a coast - to - coast Beatles tour, set up another of his clients, singer Cilla Black, for a forthcoming Ed Sullivan appearance on CBS, and discuss his participation in the new NBC show Hullabaloo.

Epstein, a 29 - year - old bachelor, recently has blossomed as a television performer himself, introducing singers in a special weekly segment of the show that is taped in London.

Epstein's association with the Beatles started when he was running a London music shop and began receiving requests for their records. He believes that their phenomenal success is no flash in the pan and is based on their musical in-ship rather than their way-out hairdos and tailoring.

"Most of the boys are fine composers, too," Epstein noted. "And while I think that the teen - age excitement will continue on for another year or so, I expect they will go on to better things, including some more fine films. They have great talent."

My Favorite Martian Hurt By 'Kiss Me, Stupid' Furore
By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ray Walston commented about the furore over Kiss Me, Stupid: "It has been great for my inside—made me seem racy without getting me in hot water with my wife."

But his is a comment hiding the hurt inside the barrage of criticism directed at the Billy Wilder sex-comedy has puzzled and pained him.

Walston bicycled from the My Favorite Martian set to a nearby restaurant to discuss the affair over lunch.

"I can tell you this about Kiss Me, Stupid, the comedian said. "There is a big hurt in here." He tapped his chest.

He said that he was probably more upset by the film's content than anyone except Wilder. "And I can assure you that Wilder, for all his flippant exterior, is a serious man," he added. "I know that he is terribly hurt by all this."

Kiss Me, Stupid, intended as a satire on modern morals, was castigated as just plain dirty by many film critics. The National Legion of Decency went further. It condemned the movie as unfit for Catholic movie-goers and blasted the film industry for laxity in self-censorship.

CONCERNED OVER IMAGE

Walston was at first concerned that the effect the controversy might have on his juvenile following for the TV series My Favorite Martian in which he plays the Martian. He was less worried when an "adults only" policy was applied to the movie.

What went wrong with Kiss Me, Stupid?

"When I read the script, it seemed to be a beautiful story about a little man who almost sold his wife and his honor for a song," Walston remarked. "If we failed to achieve that when then we deserve to be critized for it, and not because the picture was too sexy."

AT THE SMILE — Shirley Jones is co-starred with David Niven in the hilarious romantic comedy in color, "Bedtime Story," showing Tonight and Saturday at the Belle Theatre.

Sled Crews Beat Time

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (Reuters) — Canadians were among several crews which tied the bobsled record time for the bob-run here in Thursday's final practice for the world two-man bobsledding championship starting Saturday.

Canadians Vic Emery of Montreal and Mike Young of Port Credit, Ont., who beat the previous best time on both their runs with 1:18.78 and 1:18.89, had an aggregate of 2:36.37.

Emery was captain of the four-man Canadian team which won a gold medal at the Winter Olympics in Austria last year.

Among other timings Events. Canadians Dr. John Emery of Toronto and Peter McDougall of Montreal had 2:40.80.

Red Press Blasts Tips

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet press is off again on one of its periodic campaigns against tipping.

But the practice, regarded as a regrettable holdover from the capitalist past, is far from dead.

With individual exceptions, it may even be spreading.

The latest attack on the habit is aimed at both sides.

"Theoretically, I think it is just as shameful to offer tips as to take tips," writes a correspondent in one Moscow newspaper.

"It is a psychological barrier between two peoples, the roots of which go down to inordinate and servility. You can see the stability of this barrier everywhere when you go to a restaurant, hairdresser . . ."

The article, written by A. Shelyapin, tells of a doctor who, after performing a successful operation, is besieged by the patient's relatives offering presents. When h refuses to accept them, the relatives become offended.

"It is like tips—it is so disgusting," the doctor is quoted as saying.

HALF-HEARTED EFFORT

The article suggests that some, who profess to oppose tipping, are reluctant to confront the practice head-on.

"You can put up a notice. We do not take tips," as is done in some places. Hence they hang in invisible places."

Another newspaper ran a series of letters from irate readers denouncing the attitude of repairmen who solicit tips for prompt, efficient attention.

"Millions of people work every day in our country and they never ask for tips," wrote one. "But somebody said he is ashamed to pay his employee who did repair something," which is impossible to re-educate them."

There are also love scene stories. One reader, a hairdresser, told how she dealt with a would-be tipper.

"Madame, take away your money. Do not disgrace yourself."

At which the customer is said to have turned red and fled into the street.

"For me," said the hairdresser proudly, "the best reward is customer satisfaction."

Melrose

MELROSE — The Melrose Women's Institute sponsored a euchre party in the township hall on Wednesday evening. Twelve tables were required for euchre. Ladies' prizes went to Miss Audrey Scott and Mrs. Raymond Clarke and Miss Pauline Wales men's prizes were won by George Abrams, Jack Sherman and William English.

Mrs. Ivan Mallaro, Provincial field representative of WMI, called a meeting of the officers of the four institutes in Sidney division 5 for Saturday afternoon, Jan. 16 at the Quinte WI hall. Owing to the cold weather a full attendance was not present to receive the annual report of the executive of the Provincial Board.

The January meeting of Melrose WI was held in the church on Thursday evening. Mrs. Smithrim of Trenton was guest speaker. Several ladies from Shannonville joined the Melrose members for this special meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates and Milli Brenda Bates accompanied by Mr. Wells of Queen's Theological College (who assisted Mr. Bates in the presentations on the Shannonville circuit) were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. McLaren. Mr. and Mrs. J. McLaren and boys also visited at the same home.

Members of the Township School Board met in the council room in the Township Hall on Wednesday evening.

Mr. R. Grahame and Mr. K. McMechan attended a meeting of the Foxboro Co-operative recently.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Doyle moved into the home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. Cook last weekend.

Mrs. Cuthill of Napanee has spent a couple of weeks with her daughter, Mrs. M. Lasier.

The Shannonville circuit of official church board met in Melrose Church on Friday evening.

The Hi-C group enjoyed an evening of skating at the quarry on Friday and later met for refreshments at the Township Hall.

ORDERS PAY REVIEW

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer has ordered a review of the salaries of the armed forces, a department spokesman said Thursday. Decisions on pay raises "are not too far off, probably within the next few months," the spokesman said.

United Church Tells Youth:

Bible's Description Not Infallible

By DON HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The stories of the Creation in the first two chapters of Genesis are "not to be taken literally."

"Adam and Eve were never intended to be thought of as the actual parents of the human race."

Biblical descriptions of "the future life are to be taken metaphorically, rather than literally."

"The Bible was written by men who were inspired to do so. This inspiration is neither infallible nor mechanical . . . (God) speaks the word, but the remainder is the process of making the word known is a human responsibility."

The quotations are from The Mighty Acts of God, a study book for 15-to-17-year-olds which is one of 10 volumes of text-books and study guides produced by the United Church of Canada. They constitute the United Church's New Curriculum of Christian education launched nearly six years ago with 4,200,000 adherents last September.

These and many other opinions expressed in the volumes have stirred protests from some Christians, a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows. But others have taken issue in defence of the curriculum, which took about 10 years to produce and now is being expanded.

The survey indicated that most of the criticism comes from fundamentalist or "evangelical" Christians.

SEPARATE VIEWPOINTS

Author of The Mighty Acts of God is Rev. John M. Hardie, professor of Old Testament and Hebrew at Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax.

Discussing the account of the Creation as recorded in Genesis, Prof. Hardie says:

"If we are looking for a scientific account of how the universe came into existence or how it developed, then we must look to science and not to Genesis. But if we seek the meaning of creation, or a statement of the spiritual nature of man and his relation to his Creator, then science is of on use to us. We must go to Genesis."

There are dissenting voices.

Rev. J. M. Watts of Vancouver's Broadway Pentecostal Tabernacle says the United Church "is just trying to get rid of the supernatural."

Rev. H. I. Bronk of the Alliance Tabernacle in Vancouver says the curriculum is in terms of evolution, or whatever happened to be the dominant theory."

Rev. Peter Gordon White, editor of the Presbyterian Publications, says the program was initiated by a denominational venture with the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec participating. But group of Baptists has indicated it may ask its General Assembly next June to withdraw from the Baptist participation in the curriculum on the grounds that its contents are at variance with accepted Baptist views.

Rev. W. F. Clarke, Christian education field secretary in the United Church's Alberta conference, says the Creation account attempts to describe what has been taught in United Church Sunday schools for a generation or more.

Rev. Dr. Leslie Cuelbe, who heard of this column at the recent Baptist Federation of Canada Congress in Bombay, India, is now on for a pen pal from Canada. She writes: "I am a girl of 20 years and my chief hobbies are reading, correspondence and travelling." Her address: Grotta Villa, Chiney Colony, Juhu Road, Bombay 54, India.

Other names for today: Miss Attracta G. Mbachiu, Box 110, Nsukka, Nigeria; Miss Theresa N. Emafuli, Holy Rosary Secondary School, P. O. Box 5, Shiomo, East Nigeria, West Africa; Miss Juliet N. Emafuli, Mission Road, Onitsha, W-S, East Nigeria, West Africa. (Sorry I don't know the ages) Now back to that pile.

Teenage Canada Project Pen Has Turned Out to Be Big Success

By JACK HUTTON

As Perry Como used to say, "We get letters."

Not only is this column getting letters, but the letters are travelling a lengthy part of Canada to Japan, Ghana, Nigeria, Jamaica, Great Britain and other scattered points of the globe.

Eight weeks after its launching, Project Pen Pal is proof of a success than one month ago. Too much of a success, in fact. Project Pen Pal is closed to now about one month behind in answering the mail.

A grade 7 girl wonders how long students grow their hair in Ghana. Two boys from Ghana want to write to children in Canada. An 18-year-old girl from Nigeria wants to know if we really belong to the United States.

I expected a small number of Canadian to be interested in finding friends overseas when I first offered names in the column. Not the "handful" of people who have replied so far.

Here is the letter for this column. All of a sudden I've got a secretary (good-looking too) who will help me type and collogize to all those I haven't answered yet, but we're working through them.

NAMES CLASSIFIED

And we're going even further. Every name I've received so far from the age, grade, interests, country and specific address.

That list will be available for individuals, schools, communities, groups — or anyone who wants to catch a glimpse of another part of our shrinking globe — by Feb. 1.

How do you get a list? It's easy. Just drop a line to me, care of this newspaper. But I can't do it if I can cut down the front of your pretty dress. I'm a PEN.

I'll ask just one small favor. Could you let me know if you establish contact with one or more pen pals? If I can cut down the number of names in future lists, possibly replacing them with others.

It's difficult to make a prediction right now. But I hope to revise the list at least once or every eight weeks. That should save quite a few disappointments being avowed under by more new friends than they expected.

POST OFFICE DEPOT

And believe me, I know what it's like. My desk resembles a dumping so much snow as a post office depot caught in the middle of Christmas rush. I don't make progress — and very soon I won't be able to see over the pile.

At least two young people in Canada, I've found, have taken great deal of their spare time to helping Canadian pen pals find friends elsewhere. And I'm glad to help their work.

Barbara Redlich tells me she has 400 letters from India seeking homes here. "I can cater to almost any interest or hobby," she says. "Coins, stamps, post cards, Beatle pictures are just a few."

She also runs a project known as Friendship Through Magazines, matching the interests of people who write to her with magazines she knows are available. Her address: Barbara Redlich, 141 Erakine Ave., Apt. 409, Toronto 12, Ont.

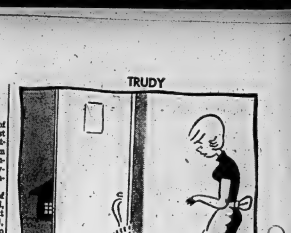
ISSUES BULLETIN

Raymond Bourguignon esa put you in touch with any part of the world you mention and makes a regular bulletin called Raymond's Roundup Plus with local news of Ottawa. His address: Raymond's Incorsup, P. O. Box 4102, Postal Station E, Ottawa 4, Ont.

(A sample joke from his last bulletin might be in order. What is the invention of physical fitness? Try and touch your knees without bending the knees.)

Miss Cecile Coelho who heard of this column at the recent Baptist Federation of Canada Congress in Bombay, India, is now on for a pen pal from Canada. She writes: "I am a girl of 20 years and my chief hobbies are reading, correspondence and travelling." Her address: Grotta Villa, Chiney Colony, Juhu Road, Bombay 54, India.

Other names for today: Miss Attracta G. Mbachiu, Box 110, Nsukka, Nigeria; Miss Theresa N. Emafuli, Holy Rosary Secondary School, P. O. Box 5, Shiomo, East Nigeria, West Africa; Miss Juliet N. Emafuli, Mission Road, Onitsha, W-S, East Nigeria, West Africa. (Sorry I don't know the ages) Now back to that pile.



Jaycee Driving Tips

With the kind of sub-zero weather we have been having lately, many people are having starting difficulties. If they push or a booster was the only answer to get on time for work or school. With a little attention in such type of weather, many cases can be avoided. Antifreeze in the radiator is a must for our Canadian winters. Keep the gas in a garage, but if this is not possible, a block heater helps. Many cars are not equipped with one, and in this case, attaching a light bulb beneath the hood allowing it to remain lighted, may help. Starting a cold engine gives off enough heat for easy starting in the morning. Before you start the motor, make sure the headlights, radio, and other electrical equipment is turned off, to preserve power in the battery. Press the gas pedal to the floor twice and then the ignition key to start the engine. If the car does not start at once, don't have your battery checked.

Writer Should Be Glad of Happy Marriage—5 Kids

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Our five children are in bed and I am looking at a huge basket of clothes that I should be ironing but I'm writing this letter to you instead.

It's so exhausted if I walked past the bed and looked at it I'd fall asleep standing up.

My husband is a wonderful person and a terrific father. He doesn't drink or gamble and wouldn't think of spending a dime on himself. He always puts me and the children first. He works hard at his job, but every week they take something out of his paycheque. I don't think we'll ever be a dollar ahead. In 19 years this house will be paid for, and then it will probably fall apart.

The kids, God love them, are wonderful. They help me by doing for themselves and by just being good. Never do I hear a complaint because they have to wear their cousin's hand-me-downs or because there is no money for treats or Scout uniforms.

If I could get my hair done in a beauty shop and eat dinner out once in a while I'd think I was in heaven. Is this what life was meant to be? — TIRED.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR TIRED—Only if you're lucky. Money and leisure time are two of the most over-rated commodities in the world. The only rich people I know who are contented are the hard-working ones. The idle rich are miserable. They can't decide whether to take pills or more Scotch to anesthetize themselves against boredom and/or anxiety.

Would you trade your wonderful husband or one of your five children for six million dollars? Of course not. Many millionaires would happily trade everything they have for a decent marriage and five wonderful kids.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have been working in this store for several months. I used to take the bus down to work every day and invariably I run into a man who works in the same store. He lives near me and whenever I encountered him at the bus stop I was in for it. He talks incessantly and is a general pain in the neck.

I bought a car a few weeks ago and thought, "Hooray, I'm rid of Old Clattertrap," but no such luck. When I see him standing at the bus stop I can't pass him up. Every evening he says I'm putting on my hat and trying to sneak out the door he rushes over and says, "I'd sure like a ride home."

I have no reason to take him except that he goes on my nerves. I enjoy listening to the news on the car radio and I am deprived of this pleasure because this guy has captured me.

What can I do short of getting nasty? Or am I a louse? — TAXI.

* * *

DEAR TAXI — You do not owe this man transportation, but in order to avoid trouble the convenience of riding with you he owes you silence if you want it.

Tell Old Clattertrap the next time he rides with you that you want to listen to the radio and to "save it for later."

If he talks anyway — deeper around his bus stop in the morning and take another way home at night.

* * *

Confidential to SICK AND TIRED OF LISTENING TO HIM BRAG — You'll have to agree that one thing can be said for this "conceited jackass" — he doesn't talk about other people.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Confederation' for N.S. Was Not Fair to Us Says Government Official

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

HALIFAX (CP) — Any Nova Scotian worth his salt can say central Canada in a way that sounds like an epithet.

Nova Scotia, struggling to lift its economy after decades of lag, has some strong and bitter views on the manufacturing growth experienced by Ontario and, to a lesser extent, Quebec since the turn of the century.

"Confederation," says a senior government official with the patient air of one pointing out the obvious, "was not fair to us.

"It ended what had been our historic trading patterns and led to tariffs that greatly benefited central Canada—but hurt us.

"People in Ontario now complain about government subventions on our coal going into their markets, but I say what about the tariffs we pay on cars or washing machines so their industries are protected?

"If we could get them from the U.S. instead of having to buy through the tariffs put up to help central Canada, we could get a Ford $1,000 cheaper than we now pay."

The economic problems facing Nova Scotia, and the rest of the Maritimes, are well known: Lack of capital investment, troubled key industries, long distances from major Canadian markets and a general reputation as a depressed area.

SHIPPING COSTS HIGH

Aggressive selling nd a sudden surge of confidence in their star is changing much of that, but many problems remain.

A major one, especially in view of Nova Scotia's new emphasis on manufacturing industries, is the cost of shipping goods to central Canadian markets.

The situation may get worse; many people now expect the end of the Maritime freight subsidies is in sight. If so, says Premier Robert Stanfield, substantially higher freight rates will follow.

"That," he said in an interview, "will make it difficult to ship goods."

As a result, suggests one businessman, Nova Scotia will have to concentrate on industries that either will supply a product to central Canada that is not now made there, or will settle for the smaller—though still potentially lucrative—Maritime market of 2,000,000 people.

The flow of investment capital is increasing, helped by some potent benefits offered through the government's industry - promotion arm, Industrial Estates Ltd.

But, says a Toronto banker, Nova Scotia will have to show the money capitals it can offer returns as well as inducements before it gets the investments it wants and needs.

COAL FUTURE UNCERTAIN

Coal mining, long a key in Nova Scotia's economy, is showing signs of rehabilitation after years of difficulty—but no one can say how long the situation will last.

After the Second World War, mine closings cut the work force of 12,000 by half, although the value of production during that period increased to $45,000,000 from $20,000,000.

Markets, however, are at best uncertain. Much of the present-day production is used in electrical generating stations, and economically competitive nuclear stations are waiting in the wings.

When they take the stage, and some engineers say this could happen within five years, the last major market for coal will disappear.

Some potentially serious competition is seen for Dominion Steel and Coal Co. Ltd., another long-time industrial giant, in new steel mills to be built in Quebec and New Brunswick.

One union official says the company already has lost some of its competitive edge because it did not expand its operations as did Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. at Hamilton and Algoma Steel Corp. at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

EMPLOYMENT UP

Company officials, of course, disagree. They emphasize the company established a production record in 1963 and employment is up to 3,600 men compared with 1,900 in 1961 when 1,500 men had been laid off because of poor business.

One difference with today's situation, however, the union executive says, is that everyone — government, business and labor—is aware of the problems and is determined to do something about them.

"I'm not saying everyone agrees on what the solution should be, but at least we do agree a solution must be found. "And that's half the battle right there."

EMPHASIS ON MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES — Envelopes roll along the production line at the Canada Envelope plant at Stellarton, N.S. Nova Scotia, struggling to lift its economy after decades of lag, has emphasis on manufacturing industries since the closing of most of the coal mines, long a key in the provinces economy. One businessman suggested that Nova Scotia will have to concentrate on industries that will supply a product to central Canada that is not now made there, or settle for the smaller Maritime market. SHIPPING A BIG PROBLEM — A major problem, especially in view of Nova Scotia's new emphasis on manufacturing industries, is the cost of shipping goods to central Canadian markets. Here rails from the Dominion Coal and Steel works are loaded for shipping to markets. (CP Photo)

New Community Centre Nearing Final Stage

CAMPBELLFORD—A Campbellford project, the new community centre has at least reached the point where it is hoped that it can now be considered an assumed completion. Since the old rink was sold early in 1962 the new arena has been planned, a continuous effort has been made by the committee to arrange a site, collect sufficient finances, choose a suitable architectural plan and all the numerous details involved in the building of an $80,000 community centre.

On Monday night the two municipal councils, Campbellford and Seymour met with the Community Centre committee to discuss and meet the mutual arrangements necessary for the construction and administration of the centre.

FUNDS RESTRICTED

Up to the Monday night meeting funds for the building of the centre had been restricted to government grants, donations plus money from sale of old arena.

The clans restricting the acquisition of funds from the two municipal councils involved was removed and thus the councils can now contribute by debenture if necessary. Speaking for the community centre committee Howard Wilson was quite confident the money can be raised and that tax money will not have to be used.

VARIOUS GRANTS

At the present time approximately $68,000 is in sight made up of a Provincial grant of $10,000, expected centennial grants from Campbellford and Seymour and $22,000 from individuals as the result of a canvas not quite completed. Seymour Agricultural Society donated the land for the site.

BOARD MEMBERS

As the building will be owned by the town of Campbellford, according to the Community Centres Act, four of the seven man board must be ratepayers in the town. As the project could not have been so successfully carried out without the co-operation of the township the members of Campbellford Council felt the Board should be more evenly divided with the result the first board should be composed of three appointments, each from Campbellford and Seymour township with the seventh named from Seymour Agricultural Society.

Appointments will be made annually at the July meeting of Campbellford Council. It is hoped succeeding councils will be not bound to do so will follow this initial procedure.

FURTHER DISCUSSION

Further discussion took place regarding possible future sale but under the Community Centres Act sale is forbidden for the first 20 years that such a building is in operation. Should sale take place after 20 years, satisfactory terms were agreed upon by all parties concerned.

Size of the building is 105 by 227 feet at an estimated cost of $80,000. It is anticipated it will be completed by December 1st, 1965.

Three Jailed In Driving Demerits Case

TORONTO (CP)—Three persons involved in charges arising from a motorist's complaint that they offered to destroy the record of his demerit points for driving convictions Thursday were sentenced to jail.

Evelyn Rose, 28, an employee with the Ontario department of transport who was found guilty of theft, was given three months.

Leonard Caselia, 25, was given three months and William Elliot Manock, 27, Caselia's brother-in-law, six months for possession of stolen documents.

All pleaded guilty last week but testified they accepted no money for their actions.

JOHNSON HAS RESPIRATORY ILLNESS

Can Prove Integrity Says Yvon Dupuis

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the mystery, but not all of it, was cleared away Friday night from Yvon Dupuis' resignation as minister without portfolio in the Pearson cabinet.

Prime Minister Pearson made it apparent in a bombshell announcement Friday morning that he had fired the 38-year-old Quebec minister. He gave no reason for the move.

Throughout the day Mr. Pearson steadfastly refused to elaborate on the original 35-word statement that said:

"On Wednesday of this week, the prime minister asked Mr. Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, to relinquish his position in the federal administration. Effective today, Mr. Dupuis no longer is a member of the government."

Meanwhile, reporters were unable to reach Mr. Dupuis. Callers to his home at St. Johns, Que., were told he was en route to Ottawa. His staffers here confirmed that he was expected.

Then Friday night Mr. Dupuis telephoned a statement from his home to The Canadian Press in Montreal. It read:

"On my return from a long trip to Asia and Africa on an official mission for the Canadian government, I learned that a vague rumor was circulating in certain circles to the effect that I could be involved in a scandalous affair concerning a proposed racetrack at St. Luc in St. Jean County.

"I immediately asked the prime minister and the justice minister to start an RCMP inquiry with the aim of throwing some light on the matter. They immediately agreed to my request and the inquiry is currently in progress.

"Last Wednesday, I agreed with the prime minister that it would be preferable that I take no part in the cabinet during the course of the inquiry. Consequently, I asked him myself Friday to accept my resignation immediately as minister without portfolio.

"I must point out that I am in a position to prove my integrity. I have never, in the course of my political career, permitted any act which could be, directly or indirectly, incompatible with my duties as an honest servant of the people.
